A

GEOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTION OF THE

WORLD.

A brief Account of the several Empires, Dominions, and Parts thereof.

As Also th Natures of the People; The Custom, Manners, and Commodities of the several Countreys

With a Description of the Principal Cities in each Dominion.

Together with a short

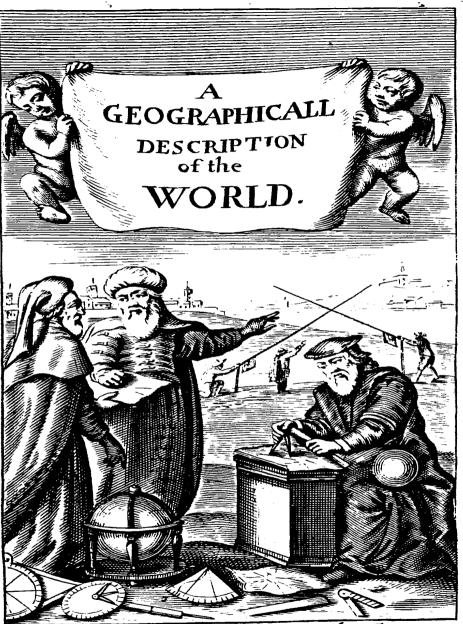

Direction for Travellers.

The third Edition Enlarged, and Amended, with an Addition of feveral Islands, Countries, and Places, not extant in the former Impression.

By G. MERITONGent.

LONDON,

Printed for William Leake, and John Leake, at the Crown in Fleet-street, between the two Temple-Gates, 1679.

Sold by William Leake at the Crowne in Fleetstreet.

A

GEOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTION OF THE

VV ORLD.

A brief Account of the several Empires, Dominions, and Parts thereof.

As Also the Natures of the People; The Customs, Manners, and Commodities of the several Countreys

With a Description of the Principal Cities in each Dominion.

Together with a short Direction for Travellers.

The third Edition Enlarged, and Amended, with an Addition of feveral Islands, Countries, and Places, not extant in the former Impression.

By G. MERITONGent.

JLONDON,

Printed for William Leake, and John Leake, at the Crown in Fleet-street, between the two Temple-Gates, 1679.

THE EPISTLE TO THE READER.

Judicious Reader, this Geographical Description of the World, having the happiness of a Candid acceptance upon its last Appearance abroad, did embolden me to bestow a little more forreign breeding upon it; for the making it not only an universal Traveller, but also a kind Imparter of its Discoveries; so that now, I hope, it will be able to give thee satisfaction in most Queries as to any of the Whole Universe. For it brings with it now the Description of several Islands, Countries, and Places, which it was altogether ignorant of and filent in before; With an Amplification of those Countreys and Places which were too briefly flipp'd over, or carelessy described. So that now, Reader, I hope, it hath attained those Accomplishments, that may not only fit it for, but make it deserve thy service; for if that saying be true, Brevitas memoriæ Amica, than mayest thou reap some profit by this Abstract: for as some stomachs, at the sight of a large Table plentifully furnished, instantly lose the Edge of Hunger, so may thine at the fight of several large Folio's on this Subject: Wherefore I have provided Thee a little and dainty, variety, and plenty, short and sweet: for here is Magnum

A 2

ing

173

at-

in Parvo, and I hope Veritas in Omnibus. Truth it is, I challenge nothing in this work to my self, for the Materials were all found to my hand; for I confess, I was never a Traveller, and so nct going abroad my felt, I have taken Air at the window, and given you the Relation of Countries, Cities, and Places, upon others Relations, in which if my Authours do sometimemistake themselves, as well they may (for Humanum est Errare) They have ledd me into the same Bypaths paths with themselves. So I hope Reader, Thou wilt gently Censure or lovingly Correct, what here thou find it amiss. And so I shall wind up without further enlargement, lest I make the Epistle like the Gates of the City Mindus, which were too big for the City, in so much that Diogenes bid the Citizens have a care that their City did not run away from them out at their Gates. Let the Book speak its own praise, or if ashamed, let the Stationer speak for it. If the Reader A 4 may may reap in few houres what cost me more months, just cause have I to rejoyce, and he (I hope) none to complain: Thus may the Faults of this Book redound to my self, the Prosit to others, the Glory to God, and this is the desire of,

To the Reader.

Reader,

North Allerton Thine in what. 3 May, 1673

he may serve thee

GEO. MERITON.

THE

THE

BOOKSELLER TO THE READER

His Piece is not published so much for the Profit of the Bookseller, as of the Reader: For it is but a little one; and there is but Little to be gotten by it: So that without any other Recommendation, I shall leave the Work to speak for it self. The Drawing of the WORLD into this Epitomy, is out of pure good will to such as have Curiosity enough perchance, but neither Time nor Money, to take a view of it more at large. And this Charitable Intention of the Abstracter, hath been accompanied with a singular care in the manner of doing it, and to supply in Weight, what is ing in Bulk: That is to say,

Here is a most exact account given of the Universe it self, and of every part of it; the Situation of the Kingdomes in it, States, Provinces, Cities, and Dominions; together with their respective Limits and furisditions, their Growth and Commodities; with the Principal Rivers, Palaces, and other things remarkable; the Quality of the Soyl, the Temperature of the Climate, with the Religion, Manners, Despositions, Laws and Customs of the People; and some Touches upon their Interests, Aliances, and Dependences.

To which are added, certain advices for Travellers.

This is the Brief of this Compendium; and the Bookseller hath nothing more to say, but that he wishes bealth to the Reader.

W. L.

ATABLE

\mathbf{A}^{2}

TABLE

Of the Names of the Principal Places contained in this Book.

A	•	A
A Bacoo	373	Anglesey	344
Abruzzo	47	Angote	234
Absitides	288	Antego	381
Achaia	135	St. Anthony	365
Adea	235	Anguilla	382
Adriatick Sea	287	Apulia	46
Africa	215	Aquitan	30:
St. Agnes	341	Arabia	173
Aian	235	Arachan	333
Albania	137	Aragon	21
Alderny	347	Arbe	288
Algiers	219	Arcadia	13$
Alpes	38	Argolis	ibid.
Alfatia	85	Armath	338
Amara	232	Armenia	167
Amboyna	353	Artoys	73
America	349	Afriatica	194
Andalusia :	267	Afia	326
animon ju	/	1	Affr

A TABLE.			A TABLE.
Affyria Avira Infula	176 357	Austria Azores Insula	8 0 367	Cano Canora Cappadocia Capra Insula	204 152	Ciba Cilicia Cimbrick	373 147 Cher sone sus
Balleares. Baily Balleares. Baily Balliama Baltick I flands Banta Barbada Barbados Barbary Barnagass Bavaria Beavois Bengalia Benin Benomotopa	202 290 355 101 354 382 375 216 231 82 29 203 228 237	Blesida Bocuro Bohemia Boluccoes Boriquen Bornbolmia Bornum Bosnia Botone Brabant Brama Brandenburga Brasile Bresar Bretaign	104 356 87 369 26 102 229 146 353 71 206 93 269 341	Capra Insula Caramania Caria Caribbee Islands Caribbee Islands Carinthia Carinola Carolina Cartegana Castella Aurea Castella Cauchine Cathaie Cauchine Chino Cœlo-Syria Cephalonia Chaldea Champaign	148 375 81 16 254 267 226 19 21 196 206 155 28 5 179 32	Colebis Congo Coes Corfu Corduba Corno Corfica Crangor Creta Croatia Cubagna Curateo Curzola	167 239 278 285 16 367 294 291 289 125 373 368 378 288
Bermudes Berry Betia Beminye Biscay Bisbynia	373 31 136 273 17 154	Brunsick Lunebur Buenavista Bulgaria Burgundy Dutchy Burgundy County Burneo C	36 5 146	Chile China Chios St. Christophers D Acia Dalmatia	379	Cyprus Cyrene Cytherea Denmark	378 360 248 283 D
Calabria Califormia	238 : 45 368	Cambala Canaria Islands Candia	205 366 289. Cano	Daulphine Delli e Delos	3 Į	Dithmars Doris

A	TABLE.	A TABLE.
Echinades Egean Sea Egilla Egypt Elba Elis England	E 95 Enaria 298 296 Eolian Islands 297 285 Eolis 15 273 Epirus 137 282 Estoitland 264 240 Ethiopia Suserior 230 298 Ethiopia Exterior 234 299 Euboea 277 263 Europe 10	Gedrosia Gelderland Georgia St. Gorges Isle Geneva Genoa Germany Gialesie Giola La Gomera Gorgades	374 Goyame 223 184 Grand Canary 366 77 Nova Granada 366 168 Gratiofa 367 367 Greece 132 37 Greenland 348 65 Griffa 288 78 Groyning 78 228 Guadalcanal 367 354 Guaftachan 252 365 Guiana 267
New England 2 F	E .	Gothland H	107 Gninea 228
Farn Fatagar Fayal Fez Finera Finland Fionia Flanders	Florida Florence C32 Del Fogo G67 Forte Ventura C22 France C307 Francia Nova C307 Freizland C307 Freezland Island C307 Frinly C308 Frinly C309 Frinly	Hainault Hassia Hebrides St. Hellens Helvetia Hesperides Hety	Hircania 184 73 Holland 76 94 Holfatia 100 341 Hispaniola 375 341 Holy Island 346 83 Holy-port 367 Holy Empire 72 340 Hungary 119
G Allaria Gallicia Nova Gallatia	G 17 Galilea 159 252 Gallinaria 298 152 Gaoga 229 Gatao	ST. Fames Isle SFamaica Fapan Pava Minor	1 367 Farsie 343 269 Fava Major 354 350 Edumea 163 16 Ila 341 Ilia

Α.	TA	BL	E:
**.

Itiris:	124	St. Isabel	398
India	198	Ischia	297
Inoutan		Island	249
Infula Salis	365	Isle of France	34
Insula Latronum	368	Istria	55
Insula Salomonis.		Italy	39
Iona	34 I	Ithacay	286.
Ionia	149	Judea	164
Ireland	336	Juitland	loi

. . I

Aba .	273	Lipara	297
Labaquen		Lissa	288
Labeausse	29	Lituania.	115
Labress	33	Livonia	16
Laconia	135	Loris	136
Laglante	103	Lorrain .	34
Lancerotta	366	Loylant	103
Land of Negross	226	Lucaoneque	373
Languedock	31	Lucca	65
Lappia	106	Lucy Islands	367
Lavoro	45	Lusatia	89.
St Laurance Isle	363	1	358
Lemnos	274	Luxemburgh	70
Leon	15	Lybia	225
Lesbos	276	Lacoonio	153
Lesina	287	Lycia	148
Leucadia	286	Lydia	149
Ligurian Islands	298
Luneburg	69
	;		Maca[-

A TABLE.

M		M
M Acassar Macedonia	3 5 .4	Media	187
AVA Macedonia	137	Mediterranean Se	4200
Machian	353	Megaris	136
Machin	205	Mevis	380
Machlyn	74	Meliy	228.
Macir	3 5 3	Mena	103
Madagascar	363	Mesopotamia	171
Madara	366	Messena	134
Madera	3 5. 5 (Mexicana	29 î
St. Majo	366	St. Michaels	367
Mallabar	200	Migdonia.	139
Malta	292	Milain	59
Mandro	203	Mindanao	358
Man	342	Moldavia	145
Mantu	60	Modena	62
Marca Trevigia	na 55	Moluccoes	352
Marchia	49	Montserrat	38 r
Margarica	368	St. Maure	287
St. Maries Isle	342	Moravia	89
Mary Land	260	Morocco	223
St Martins	341	Mosambique	236
Mazovia	118	Moscovy	108
Mechoachan	252	Mula	44.I
	- 97 97	Murcia	18
Medenburgh	71	Mytelene	275

_1	T	ABLE.			A T	ABLE.	,
N		N	-	Pernana Peru	265 268	Poland Pomerania Pomonia	93 340
Amar Naples Isles of Naples Natolia Narsinga Navarre Neivis	74 42 297 146 199 15	New England St. Nicholas Nigropone Nilus Normanay Norumbega Nova Zembla	263 365 313 241 27 264 349	Pearos Phœnicia Phillippine I sles Phocis Phrygia major & a Picardy Piedmont	248 154 357 136 Minor 150 26	Pontus Pontus Euxinus Portugal Princes Island Procepensis Provence Prussia	151 71 19 365 194 32
Netherlands New Found Land Nicaragua	67	Nova Albion Norwey Nubia Numidia Nova Trantia	253 104 229 224 254	Podlassa Podolia Poidu	118	Pfidia Puglio Pico Pyrenean Hills	153 46 367 21
O Lbiusa	335	Ormus	186	Queola	236	Quivira	253
Oleron Oquaato Orchades Oristan	347 420 340 204	Ormus Otranto Overissel	402 46 77	R. Achian	404	Rhodes	362
P .	-	P		Rascia Rhe Rhetia	146 347	Romandiola Rusco Rusia Nigra	47 341 117
Pallohan	158 158	Parma Parthia Patmos	63 190 278	S		S
La Palma Pamphilia Paphlagonia	366 148 177	Pegu Peloponesus Persia	207 134 180 Per	SAlamis Salvador Sa mana	277 373 26	Samaria Samogitia Sampson Isle	160 116 341 Same

·	AT	ABLE.			AT	ABLE.
Samos	278	Silesia	102	Le Triangulo	37 3	Turky	128
Samothracia	273	Slesia	ICÓ	Tunis	217	Tyrolis	8 I
St. Peters Patrin	ony 50	Sofola	237	Turcomany	173.		. •
Sardinia.	295	Sorlings	341	. ,	, -	·
Sarke	348		_13	V	•	\mathbf{v}
Savoy	3 5	Spoletto	50	T Alentia	29	Virginia	² 57
Saxony	91	Sporades	277	V Venice	51	Volinia	116
Scandia	103	Sporades	342	Veteraria	91	Urbin	6
Scania	_	Strombolo	297	Viemo	374	Verech	77
Sclavonia	123	Stropbades	283	St. Vincents		Vulcanian Isles	297
Spotland	333	Styrca	8 r	er and			-
Scyros	277	Suezia, or Swa		W	7	W
Seeland	101	Sumatra	356	TAles	330	Wight	345
Selebes	353	Susiana	184	🖢 🗸 🗸 Wallach	ia 146	Willoughbies Isles	350
Serigo	283	Sweeden	107	Wagger		Worldin general	11
Servia	146	Sweedland:	105	Westphalia	95
Siam	206	Swizzerland	83	ייייייייייייייייייייייייייייייייייייייי		•
Sicilia	289	Syria	154	X		\mathbf{X}
		Syro-Phænicia	155.	X ^O a			.
	·	-		Λ			232
T		T		Y	:	¥	· ?
	1					*	262
Amen	213		139	V New York			202
1 Tandair	358	St. Thomas Isle	_	Z		Z
Tartaria	192	Tider	353	•			TOS
Telensin	219	Tigramahon	23 I	Z Agatby Zant	124 283	l	195
Tenendos		Toledo	18	Zanzibar	-	Zocratina	35 I 364
Terenate	353	Tombutum	228		235	5
Seneriff a	~ .	Tourein	32	Zealand	75	Zutphen	77
Tercera		Transilvani a	122			• • • •
Teara Cortelialis	. ,	Tremistaton	252	1.			- .
Thesaly	138	Trinidado	368.	÷		, s	Za-
			Thrace.			.	216

25.

LARER RECENT OF THE PROPERTY O

Books Sould by William Leake and John Leake at the Crown in Fleet-street between the two Temple-Gates.

FOLIO.

Tower of London, from the Reign of King Edward the Second, till King Richard the Third: by Sir Robert Cotton, Knight and Baronet: price bound 203.

Sir Walter Rawleighs History of the World, in five Books together: with his Life and Tryall: price bound 1 l. 10 s.

The Works of Josephus, Newly translated from the French. 30 s.

Plutarchi lives in English 30 s.

Bishop Nicholson on the Psalmes 12 s.

A Commentary on the Prophesies of Micab and Malachi, by Edward Poock D. D.

Gualteri Charltoni Exercitationes dedifferen-tius& n ominibus Animalium.

Fifty Comedies and Tragedies all in one Volum, written by Francis Beaumont and John Fletcher Gent. 30 s.

QUARTOS.

A Bible of a very fair Letter with Service, Appocriphy and Pfalmes: Printed at the Theatre in Oxford.

A Sur-

Books Sould by

A Survey of Mr. Hobbes Leviathan by Edward Earl of Clarendon.

A Conference between a Papist and a Protestant by Gilbert Coles, D. D.

The result of false Principles, or error convicted by its own Evidence, managed in several Dialogues, by Dr. Womack 3 s.

The Parable of the Pilgrim, written to a freind

by Simon Patrick D. D.8s.

OCTAVO'S.

Mensa Mistica, or a Discourse concerning the Sacraments of the Lords Supper, by Simon Pa-rick 60. D. D. 65

The Worthy Communicant or a discourse of the Natures, Effects and Blessings, Consequent to the worthy receiving of the Lords supper by feremy Taylor D. D. and late Lord Bishop of Down and Connor. 5 sr

Trotmans Abridgement, of the Lord Cooks reports. 5 s.

The Compleat Attorney and Sollicitor. 5 s.

The lively Oracles or the Christians birth-right and duty in the Custody and use of the holy Scriptures, by the Author of the whole Duty of Man.

The Voyage of France, by Peter Heylin D.

D. 2 s. 6 d.

Nyes Art of Gunnery. 2 s. 6 d.

Mathematical Recreations, or a Collection of Sundry Problems extracted out of the Ancient and Modern Philosophers as secrets and Experiments

William and John Leake.

ments in Arethmetick, Geometry, Cosmography,

&c. Translated from the Greek. 4s.

Saul and Samuel at Endor, or the new wayes of Salvation and Service; which tempt Men to Rome, and detain them there. Truely represented and confuted by Daniel Brevint D. D.

The Garden of Eden, or an accurate Description of all Flowers and Fruits now growing in England in 2 parts by Sr. Hugh Plat. 2 s.

The Office and Duty of Executors by Thomas

Wentworth Esq. 35.

Dr. Fulkes Book of Meteors. 1 s. Corderius in English by Brinsly. 2s.

Didimus on Homer, Greek; Printed at the Thea

TWELVES.

Hearts Ease or a Remedy against all troubles

by Simon Patrick D. D. price 2 s. 6 d.

A Geographical Description of the World, with a brief account of the several Empires, Dominions and Parts thereof. The third Edition by Geo. Meriton Gent. Price 3 s.

Maximi Tyrii Disserationes, Greek and Lattin. Printed at the Theatre in Oxford 3 s. 6 d. Novum Testamentum Domini nostri Jesu Christi Interprete Theodoro Beza. Printed at the Theater in Oxford.

OF THE

WO R L D

IN GENERAL.

Note beginning the Divine ma- World jestie Created this lower world how created out of a Rude Masse, which bested. It is might be made habitable, the Lord seperated the dry Land from the waters upon the third day: yet so as still they make but one Globe, whose Center is the same with the Middle World; and it is the point and rest, as it were, of all heavy bodies, which naturally apply themselves to it: and there are supported by their own equal weight and poize.

It hath seemed incredible (to such as The measure the wonders, of God, by mans worlds wisdom) that this Massie part of the subsistence world should subsist by it felf, being in-ence wonder-compast only with subtil and sleeting ful.

В

Air,

Air, such as can neither help to sustain nor resist the fall thereof, could the Earth be moved from her due place. But the wonder will cease, if we remember that the Lord fitteth upon the Circle of the earth, Esay 40. He set it upon her foundations so that it shall never move. He covered it with the deep as with a garment, the waters would stand above the mountains, but at his rebuke they fled: yet he set them a bound which they (hould not pass; Psal. 104.

Of the world.

The fi-

Thus ordered by Divine providence gure of the earth and Sea composed themselves the world into a Spherical figure. And is caused by the proper inclination of each part, which being heavy falls from every part of the Circumference, and claps about the Center: there settles as near as it may towards his place of rest, and in the bosom of the earth, every part meets upon equal priviledge of nature, and can press no further than the Center: to destroy this compacted Figure, for it must still meet there with a Body that will oppose it. Or if not, yet could it not pass, fince every motion in the middle were to Afcend, which Nature will not admit, in a body of weight as the Earth is.

Now this compass of the whole Globe The of Sea and Land, is cast up by our latest Compais and most Learned to be twenty one Thousand six Hundred English miles, which though none ever yet fo paced, as to measure them by the feet; yet let not the ignorant reject this Account, fince the rule by which they are led, cannot fail: for wee see by continual experience that the Sun for every degree in the Heavens, gaines fixty Miles upon the Earth, towards his Circuit round, which after three Hundred and fixty degrees returneth to the same point, in respect of us as before it was, which number of degrees being multiplied by fixty, amounts just to twenty one Thousand six Hundred. And the Diameter of the world is reckoned by the most Learned, to fix Thoufand eight Hundred seventy two English miles. But it is to be considered that in this Computation we cannot reckon to a hairs breadth: for we see the mountains of the Earth: and oftentimes the waves of the Sea, do make the superficies unequal, but this is no sensible difference in so great bulk: for a Ball of stone rudely hewen is still a Ball, though not fo smooth as one of Crystal; And although a Mote fall and remain on a Sphere of Glasse, yet it changeth not its figure: far less are the Mountains which we fee, in respect of the whole Lump or Globe of the world.

Thou-

When

Plants brought forth.

When the Earth and Sea were thus and fruits prepared with a due form and Figure, nature (at the Command of the most High) began to use her Art, and so the ground brought forth her Plants, the Skies were filled with the Fowls of the Air; the waters yielded their Fish, and the fields their Cattell, and soit became a fit habitation for Man whom God made in his own Image the fixth day of his work.

Man made.

And Man being made, God gave him possession, and placed him in the Garden of Eden: but in what part of the world this was, is not for me here to determine, being that hidden things belong only to God: yet in some measure to satisfie the Inquisitive; you may take notice that Roger Higden, Monk of Chester, and John Trevisa, do place this earthly Paradise in the Field of Damascus: and mamy others (probably enough) have thought it was in the land of Canaan, for that in divers places, it is noted with Attributes proper to the Garden of Eden. Yet Franciscus Juneus, Dr. Willet, Sr. Walter Rawleigh, and others make it a part of Mesopotamia, North-west from Babylon, about the degrees of 78 in Longitude, and 35 of Latitude; where still the Rivers meet, mentioned in Genesis: and where Prolomy hath his Audanites, a corrupt name (as is supposed) from Eden? but I will leave this to the inquiry of the more Curious.

Of the world.

But Adam was soon eiected and lost Adam possession of this pleasant place by his cast our disobedienee : and was cast out on the of Para-East side of the Garden, where he placed himself; And Cain killing of his brother Abel, then fled into the land of Nod, and their built him a City, and called it Henoch after his Sons Name: this was the first City, and as some think was seated about Mount Libanus, and this suppofed to be about two or three Hundred years after the Creation, when the world was replenished, as well it might be within that compass. Abraham having in 200 and fifteen years space, fix Hundred Thousand of his own stock, in the blesfed Line, besides women and Children, and after this proportion, it is supposed in the beginning, and so for the space of one Thousand six hundred fifty six years; which of necessity must be thought to fill a large portion of the Earh.

But now man, so the sin of man was The grown to an height: fo the wrath of World God fell upon them in a flood, that de-drowned? stroyed the whole Earth, saving eight persons, Noab and his family, who were commanded into an Ark built by Gods own direction, and is held to have been

Of the world.

Plants and fruits brought forth.

When the Earth and Sea were thus prepared with a due form and Figure, nature (at the Command of the most High) began to use her Art, and so the ground brought forth her Plants, the Skies were filled with the Fowls of the Air; the waters yielded their Fish, and the fields their Cattell, and so it became a sit habitation for Man whom God made in his own Image the sixth day of his work.

Man made.

And Man being made, God gave him possession, and placed him in the Garden of Eden: but in what part of the world this was, is not for me here to determine, being that hidden things belong only to God: yet in some measure to satisfie the Inquisitive; you may take notice that Roger Higden, Monk of Chester; and John Trevisa, do place this earthly Paradise in the Field of Damascus: and mamy others (probably enough) have thought it was in the land of Canaan, for that in divers places, it is noted with Attributes proper to the Garden of Eden. Yet Franciscus Juneus, Dr. Willet, Sr. Walter Rawleigh, and others make it a part of Mesopotamia, North-west from Babylon, about the degrees of 78 in Longitude, and 35 of Latitude; where still the Rivers meet, mentioned in Genesis: and where Ptolomy hath his AudaniOf the world.

tes, a corrupt name (as is supposed) from Eden? but I will leave this to the inquiry of the more Curious.

But Adam was soon ejected and lost Adam possession of this pleasant place by his cast our disobedienee : and was cast out on the of Para-East side of the Garden, where he placed himself; And Cain killing of his brother Abel, then fled into the land of Nod, and their built him a City, and called it Henoch after his Sons Name: this was the first City, and as some think was seated about Mount Libanus, and this suppofed to be about two or three Hundred years after the Creation, when the world was replenished, as well it might be within that compass. Abraham having in 200 and fifteen years space, fix Hundred Thousand of his own stock, in the blesfed Line, besides women and Children, and after this proportion, it is supposed in the beginning, and so for the space of one Thousand six hundred sifty six years; which of necessity must be thought to fill a large portion of the Earh.

But now man, so the sin of man was The grown to an height: so the wrath of World God fell upon them in a flood, that dedrowned stroyed the whole Earth, saving eight persons, Noab and his family, who were commanded into an Ark built by Gods own direction, and is held to have been

B 3

th

T'he bate.

the pattern for all Ships to all Posterity. When the anger of the Lord was ceaswaters a- ed and the waters abated, after 150 days float, the Ark rested upon the mountains of Ararat in Armenia: and they are supposed by most to be the same which Ptolomy calleth Montes Cordios, about the degrees in 75 Longitude, and 39 Latitude.

> But now again God bleffed the remnant which he had preserved, and gave them the Rain bow for a fign of his mercy, that he would no more break up the fountains of the great deep, not open the Flood-gates of Heaven upon them to root out all flesh : and so by degrees they descended from the Hills East-ward, and feated themselves upon a plain in the Land of Shinar, and this was the lower part of Mesopotamia, which compassed Caldea and Babylonia, lying under the mount Singara, a Hill lying near the degrees of 77 in Longitude, and 36 in Latitude, in the direct way from Araras towards Babylon.

Confusion of . tongues.

When their number increased, they were forced to feek new Colonies: but they were very ambitious to leave a Name behind them to posterity: for they Adventured upon a building whose Top they intended should reach Heaven: and fo indeed it did; for it fetcht from thence Gods

Gods second vengeance. For he confounded their speech, so that they no longer understood one another. Thus were they broke off from their Impious attempt, and scattered abroad upon all the earth into seventy two several Nations, as some have punctually numbred them; and this was about an hundred years after the flood.

Whether Noah himself were present at this building of Babel, or to what place he removed is uncertain: he had at this time yet 290 years to live, and is thought to have had his abode in Phenicia North ward from Palestine about the degrees of 66 and 33.

The fons of Noah, Shem, Ham, and Sons of Japhet, after this possessed themselves of North posthe several quarters of the world: to selsthem-Japhet is allotted Europe, to Shem Asia, the severof which the land of Canaan is a part: al quarto Cham Africa, especially those Counters of the tryes of it which are most touched in our Histories for Idolatry. And no question but America too had her portion in this division, though not so soon, or so immediate; it is thought by most to have been first inhabited by Jocktan and his 13 Sons, who were also of the Issue of Shem. But to fay truth we have little certainty of the first inhabitants which were seated in America, or of the patts of Asia near about her; or whether they were known so long since as focktan or no.

B 4

Of the world.

Worlds first divifion.

For our first Authors of Geography bounded their descriptions within a less compass, and divided the world into those three parts only; of Europe, Asia, and Africa, which sye closest about the point of the earth; where the first Men, first Religion, first City, first Empire, and first Arts were: and in Ptolemy's time (about an hundred and forty years after Christs time) we hear not of either land. or Sea, known more than in the three parts of Asia, Africa and Europe.

World Ptolomy.

And of that Ptolomy never knew the how far East and North parts of Asia, nor the known to South of Africa, no nor the most Northernly parts of Europe: but placed the end of the world that way in ultima Thule about 63. degrees from the Equator, and South-ward the otherway not above 17. degrees. So the whole Latitude of the world then known did not reach the fourth part of the compass. But in the Longitude they came not so far short, yet lest they just half to the search of their posterity.

How far known fince Ptolomies E inc.

But God in these latter times hath inlarged our possessions, that his Gospel might be propagated: and hath discovered Inhabitants to us almost in every corner of the earth. So that our latter Geographers have fet their mark beyond. Ptolomys 60 Degrees East-ward: and west-ward to the utmost parts of America: fo that there are already known above 340 degrees of the earths Longitude. And towards the North Pole we have gained more in proportion, as far as Nova Zembla.

When America was discovered it America: was called by some a new world, and when first diffo it might well; for it comprehends in cover deit two Continents, either of them larger than two parts of the other are. The one is that Western Hemisphere, that bears the name America, from Americus Vesputius. But was indeed discover'd (seven years before he knew it) by Christophorus Columbus, in the year 1491. And the other is the Terra Magillanica, seated about the South pole and first found out by Ferdinand Magillanus fome twenty years after, or thereabouts. and is thought to be greater than the whole Earth besides. Hitherto it is but conjectural, and some few Provinces have been rather descryed than known.

And with these Additions the world by some is divided into six parts, Europe, Asia, Africa, America, Septentrionalis Incognita, & Terra Australis Ma- Of the gellanica.

worlds: But in this small abridgment now in division.

B 5 hand - Of the World

hand I shall (as others have done before) reduce the world to the common parts which generally pass in our descriptions of the World; that is, Europe, Asia, Africa, America.

And thus much shall suffice to speak of the world in general, we shall now proceed to the particulars of the four parts, and first begin with Europe.

Of Europe.

Vrope, the least, (as being in length but 3800 miles, and in breadth but 1200) is yet of moit renown amongst us: 1. Because of the temperature of the Air. 2. From the fertillity of the Soyl. 3. From the study of all Arts. 4. Because of the Roman and Greek Monarchies. 5. From the purity, and fincerity of the Christian faith.

And were she minded for to quarrel for Antiquity, she would not want Abettors, such as would have some parts of Europe, to flourish within 30 years after the confusion of Tongues. The original of the Germane Kingdom is drawn by Aventinus Helirus, and others from Tuisco

Curove

Tuisco the Son of Noah, and he began his Raign in the year 1787, after the Creation, and that was but 131, years after the deluge, not above thirty from the time that they were dispersed out of Babel, But to pass by those uncertain stories which may admit dispute, we have to this day the Germane Triers, a City standing from the time of Abraham, and bears as yet the marks both of the Art and ambition of the Babylonians. As if here they strove to reach Eternity, as they did before in the plain of Shinar to top Heaven it self.

But however, what ever part of the World was first famous, Europe soon got the start, and took the Scepter of the Earth into her hand? she had the name with Pliny, of Orbis Domitorum genetrix: and well she might if we but read her story fince first the came in view. In the Greek Monarchy Alexander was her Champion, in the Latine Empire the · Romans bare the sway, and scarce left a corner of the Earth then known unconquered. And to this day the Princes of Europe, enlarge their Dominions upon the Regions of the other three. As small a portion as we are of this little Isle of England, in respect of their vast Contint, yet have we a part too in America to our peculiar, and hope still to bring more

more into our possessions, that we may bring them unto Christ.

Europe is joyned to Asia, by that space of earth betwixt Tanais, and Duina. Asia is joyn'd to Africa by the Egyptian Isthmus; and America is divided from all of them. Europe is separated from Asia by Duina, Tanais, Palus, Maotis, Pontus, Propontis, Hellespont, and the Egean Sea. Asia is parted from Africa by the Red Sea. Africa from Europe by the Mediterranean. Africa is greater than Europe; Asia than Africa; and America bigger than all.

Europe is divided into Continent, and Islands. The Continent is Subdivided into Spain, France, Italy, Belgia, Germany, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Moscovia, Poland, Hungaria, Dacia, Sclavonia, and Greece. The Islands are also in General either dispersed in the Greek Sca, Egean, Cretan, Ionian, Adriatick, Mediterranean; the British, or the Northern Seas.

Europe is so call'd of Europa, Daughter to Ægenor King of the Phanicians, brought hither (as the Poets feign) by Jupiter, in shape of a Bull.

Of Spain.

The most Western Country of the Continent of Europe, is Spain invironed on all sides with the Sea, Ex-Situation cept towards France, from which it is separated by the natural Strength of the Pyrenean Mountains, and the artisticial Fortresses of Pampelune on the North-West, and Perpigna on the South-East.

The whole circuit of this Countrey is 1893 English miles. It is situate in the more Southerly part of the Northern temperate Zone, and almost in the midst of the sour and six Climates; the longest day being sisteen hours in length.

They are a people much given to wo. Natures, men; and boasting, extreme proud, and and Manners of the gate very stately and majestical. the Peo-And the silliest of them pretend to a great ple. portion of wisdom, which they would seem to express, in a kind of reserved state and silent gravity, when perhaps their wit will scarce serve them to speak sense. But if once their mouth be got to open, they esteem their breath to pretious to be spent upon any other subject than their own glorious actions. They are most unjust neglecters of other Nations, and impudent vain flatter-rers of themselves. Superstitious beyond any other people: which indeed commonly attends those which affect to be accounted Religious, rather than to be fo. They are to their King very obedient; and of their civil duties to their betters, not unmindful; of an unmoved patience in suffering adversities, accompanied with a fetled resolution to overcome them.

CIS

The Women are fober, loving their Husbands or Friends; wonderful delicate: curious in painting, or perfuming.

Fertility.

This Country is enriched with Sacks, Sugars, Oyl, Metals, Liquoras, Rice Silk, Lamb-skins, Wool, Cork, Rosin, Steel, Oranges, Raisons, and fruit of the like nature, which owe most of their being to heat; but in Corn it is very defective, and receiveth from Italy, France, and Sicily. The Cattel hereof are neither fair, nor many; so that their fare for the most part is on Sallets, and fruits of the earth : every Gentleman being limited what flesh he shall buy for himfelf and his family.

Division.

Diet.

This Kingdom is divided into twelve Provinces, which were anciently Kingdoms, (viz.) 1. Leon and Oniedo.2. Na varr. 3. Corduba. 4. Gallicia. 5. Bis-Eny. 6. Toledo. 7. Marcia. 8. Caftile. 9 Portugal. tugal. 10. Valentia. 11. Catelogne; and 12. Aragon. Of which in order.

This Kingdom hath on the East and South, Biscay and Castile; North, the Ocean; and West, Gallicia. The chief Towns of it are, 1. Aviles. 2. Palenza. 3. Oniedo. 4. Astuga. 5. Leon.

This Kingdom of Leon, was hereto- Leon Onifore called Austria: and the Region is edo.; reported to yield plenty of Gold, Vermilion, Red-lead, and other Colours. But else she is barren and her Inhabitants not many, and those live most upon Hunting and Fishing. It is the Title of the eldest Son of Castile, as Wales is to our Prince of England.

This is the second Kingdom for Anti-Navar. quity in Spain. It hathou the East, the Pyrenean Mountains; West, Iberus; North, Biscay; and South Arragon. It is a woodless Champain Country, or Field, naturally fenced about with Trees. The chief Cities of this Kingdom are, 1. Victoria. 2. Vianc 3. Sanguessii. 4. Pampelune; the freegth of which City is made use of by the Saniard, as a Bulwark against France, whose King hath the title, though not the possession of it.

The Vascones are said to have lived in this Kingdom, who afterwards placed themselves in France, and kept there their their Name to this day of Vascones, corruptly Gascoignes. Viana is the Title of the Navarran Prince; the Annual Revenue of this Kingdom hath been estimated at 100000 Duckets.

Spain.

Corduba.

This Kingdom comprehendeth Andaluzia, the Countreys of Granada, and Estremedura.

This is the most rich and fertil Countrey in all Spain; the chief City is Corduba: Hence comes our true Cordovan-Leather, made of the skin of a Sardinian Beast; and near unto this City is a Wood of thirty miles in length. 2. Xeres whence cometh our Sherry Sack. 3. Sevil, the fairest City in all Spain; it is in compass fix miles, invironed with beautiful walls, and adorned with magnificent and stately Buildings: Hence come our Sevil Oranges. 4. Granada from whence come our true Granada Stockings. 5. Malaga, from hence come our Malaga Sacks. 6. Almeria, a great Haven Town. 7 Guadalcanal, famous for her mines of gold and filver.

The Arch-Bishop of Sevil in this Kingdom, is second to Toledo, as well in Revenues as degree. On the South edge of the Region Andiluzia, stand one of Hercules Pillars, which answers to the other Promontory in Mauritania: The Sea betwixt both is called Fretum Herculeum, and Straights of Gibralter.

Gallicia hath on the East, Asturia; Gallicia. West and North the Sea; and South, the River Nimius. This Country is very mountainous, and almost inaccessible. The chief Cities are, Compostella, the Seat of an Arch-Bishop, called St. Jago in honour of St. James, who lyeth buried here. 2. Baionna. 3. Corronna or Groyne.

This Country of Gallicia breeds Jennets in abundance, insomuch that they have been Poetically feigned to be conceived by the wind. In this Region is the Promontory Nerius, called by our Mariners Capo de finis Terra.

Biscay is betwixt Navarr, East, old Biscay. Castile, South; Leon, West; and the Cantabrean Ocean, North. The chief Cities are, 1. Tholosa. 2. St. Sebastians. 3. Fonterabia. 4. Bilbo, from whence comes our best Blades, called Bilbo Blades. It is a Town of great traffick, and great riches; the Country is mountainous and woody, out of whose Hills arise 150 Rivers, of which Iberus and Duerus are chief.

This Region heretofore was called Cantabria, it was the last People which yielded to the Romans, and after to the Moors: This Country affords excellent Timber for Ships, and good Iron.

Toledo

Toledo.

Toledo is now accounted part of New-Castile, and extendeth over the South-East of Castile, now called Campe de Calatrava, and so downward toward Murcia. The chief Cities of it are, 1. Toledo, feated on the River Tagus, is passing well inhabited, as well of Noblemen, who reside there for pleasure, as of Merchants, who resort thither for Commodity. It is now the Seat of an Archbishop, who are the chief Prelates of Spain, their revenue amounting to 300000 Crowns yearly. This City of Toledo is in the midst of Spain, it was the Seat of the Gothish Kings and successively of the Moorish Princes: Here hath Sate eighteen National Councils in the time of the Gothish Kings.

The second is Calatrava, seated on the River Ava. The third is Talboia, seated on Tagus, a very neat Town.

Murcia.

Murcia is invironed with Toledo west; Granada, South; Valentia, North, and the Mediterranean Sea. The chief Towns are, I. Alicant, from whence comes our true Alicant Wines, made of the juice of Mulberies. 2. Murcia, on the River Segourg. 3. Nova Cartbago. This Countrey is not much peopled, but yet is famous for several Commodities, especially pure Earthen Vessels, and fine Silk. Heretosore it inriched the Romans with a daily supply of 25000 Drachmes of Silver.

Castile is bounded on the East with Castile.

Navarr, Aragon, and Toledo; West, with Portugal; North, with Asturia; and South, with Andaluzia. It is divided into the old and new.

The old Castile is situate on the North Old Caof the new. The chief Cities are, 1. So-stile.
ria. 2. Segovia, a Town famous for Cloathing. 3. Valadolis; here is a Colledge for the education of young English Fugitives. 4. Salamanca, the samousest Academy of this Country.

This Countrey abounds not much with Fruit, yet it breeds many Cattel:

the Metropolis of it is Burgess.

It is on the South of the old. The New Cachief Cities are, 1. Madrid, the Kings Stile.

Seat. 2. Alcala. 3. Alcantra. This Country abounds more with Corn, than Old Castile, is watered with the River Tagus and Ana.

Portugal on the North is limited with Portugal. with the River Mingo; on the South with part of the Mediterranean; on the West, with the Atlantick; and on the East with the Castiles, Andiluzia and Estremadura. The Inhabitants were formerly esteemed the most valiant, crafty, and agile Souldiers of the whole Region;

gion; yet they are now held but simple, but it is their Neighbour Spaniards cenfure, who indeed have over-reached them in Cunning. But give them their due they are excellent Sea-men, and the belt alive to atchieve adventurous actions, for they have added to their Territories much in Africa, Asia, and America.

This Kingdom is about 320 miles long. and 60 broad; the Air is very healthful; the Countrey for the most part hilly, and bare of Corn, which defect is recompensed with abundance of Honey, Wine, Oyl, Allum, Fruits, Fish, white Marble, Salt. The chief Cities are 1. Lis-Notethat bon, upon Tagus, a famous City for trafis at pre- fick; it is in compass seven miles, and contains 20000 Houses, all of neat and elegant building. 2. Miranda. 3. Bratheir own ga, the Metropolis of Portugal. 4 Conimbra: Porto, or Portus Galloram.

Valentia-

Portugal

fent un-

King of

der a

Valentia is invironed with Aragon, Castile, Murcia, and the Sea. The chief Cities are, 1. Valentia, giving name to the whole Countrey. 2. Cullera a Sea-Town standing at the mouth of the River Kucar. 3. Segorbe.

This Country is reported for the most pleasant and fruitfull Region in all Spain: in this is the University, where St. Dominick Father of the Dominicans studied. And old Saguntum besieged by

Han-

Hannibal, now called Morvedre.

Catelogne, is between Iberas, South & Catelogne. Aragon, West; the Sea, East; and Pyrenean Mountains, North. The chief Cities of it are, Tyronne, the title of the Aragonian Prince, seated on the River Betulus; and 2. Barcelone.

This Countrey is supposed to have its name from Gothi and Alani, people which heretofore possest it after the Vandals lost their hold. The Region is but barren, vet hath in it many Cities.

Aragon hath on the East, Catte; West, Aragon. Castile; North, Navarr; and South, Valentia. The River Iberus runneth through the middle of the Countrey. The chief Cities of it are, 1. Lerida, seated on the River Cinga. 2. Moson. 3. Tordesillo; and 4. Saragossa.

The Antient Inhabitants of this Country of Aragon, were the Jacetany, Lucenses, and Celteberi: her chiefest City is Casar Augusta; at Saragossa was St. Vincent born, saith Prudentius.

Thus much of Spain.

Betwixt Spain and France are the Mountains call'd Pyrenei, & are that neck The Pyreof Land which tyeth Spain to the Con: i- nean hills. nent: the highest part whereof is Mount Canus; whereon if one stand in a clear day, he may fee both the Seas. The French fide of these Hills is naked and barren; the Spanish very fertil, and adorned with Trees. On this side standeth the Roncevals, so famous for the Battel betwixt the French-men and the Moors, in which 20000 of the French were put to rout together with Rowland, Cousin to Charles the Great.

France.

Rance is bounded on the North, with Low Germany; on the North west it is washed with the british Ocean; on the West, with the Aquitain Sea; on the South, it is thwarted by the Pyrenean Mountains, which part it from Spain; being towards the East lickt with the Mediterranean Sea, and on the full East the Alps divide it from Italy.

The French are great pretenders to Antiquity, and fetch the Original of their first Inhabitants from Mesech the sixth Son of Japhet: not above an hundred and fifty years after the Ark rested: but this passeth not for currant truth amongst her own Historians. The first Inhabitans certainly that can be made good were the Gauls: a people of whose beginning we can give no unquestionable account: yet this of them is most sure, they were a Nation of noted valour above sour Hundred years before Christ.

France.

The figure of it is almost square, each side of the Quadrature containing 600 miles.

The Air hereofin the Northern part situation of France is purer than that of England, as being not covered with Clouds drawn out of the Sea, as England is; for that cause it becomes more cold in Winter, and more hot in Summer, and far less annoyed with mists and rainy weather. But the parts of France lying towards the Pyrenei, and near the Equinoctial line, are subject to intemperate, yet often allayed by the winds blowing from the Sea, and by the shadow of the Mountains.

The chief Rivers of France are Garronne the greatest, Loyre the Sweetest, Seyne the richest, and Rhosine the swiftest.

It aboundeth with all Manner of good Fertility. Fruits, besides store of fresh Fish; but the chiefest thing which draw forein Coyns unto them, are four especially, Wine, Salt, Linnen, coarse Cloth, and Corn. They have plenty of Flax and Hemp, wherof they make Canvas, Sails, Ropes

of

Ropes and Cables, neither want they Wool, whereof they make Cloth, though not in quantity to be exported. It also yields Saffron and Oad for dying; besides other things of less moment.

Natures ners of the people.

The French are very various and unand man-constant, and in nothing more they shew it, than in their familiarity, with whom a stranger cannot be so soon at his House, but he will be acquainted with him, and as suddenly without occasion lose him again. Also they are great scoffers, and cannot away with patience and modelly. Likewise he is wondrous talkative, so willing is he to make himself rediculous.

The generality of the French are of a fiery spirit for the first On-set in any action: they defire change of fortune, and pass not greatly whether to better or worse. Their women are very Jocond of a voluble tongue, and as free of their Speech, complemental to strangers, and win more by their wit than their Beauty, one and the other are great ent cers of mens affections; and they enjoy them as freely and securely, without either check of conscience or report. For it is esteemed Vitium Gentile: and indeed they can hardly hear ill for it from any there, which is not equally guilty.

The Nobility and Gentry, reckon the PesanPefantory but as their flaves, which the poor Sneakes take as a favour, and are glad to be employed by their betters. that by their protection they may stand more free from the injury of their Equalls, for the meanest of them are cruel and affect to oppress their Adversaries, though to their own ruine.

France.

As well the Gentlemen as the Citi- Diet. zens live more spairingly than the English, in their ordinary private Diet They Dine most with sodden and liquid meats, and sup most with roast; but their feasts are more sumptuous than ours, and confit for the most part of made fantastical meats and sallets, and fumptuous Compositions, rather than of flesh or Birds. Their temperancy I cannot commend; for befides dinners and suppers, they use Breakfasts, and Bevers, which they call Collutions, and Gouster, fo eating four times a day.

In general Men and women (excep- Apparel: ting Courtiers, and some of the Gentry) wear light stuffs, and rather delicate than Sumptuous Garments. Your Countrey people wear close Doublets. with large Breeches, with a large Coat hanging down to their knees all of light stuffs, and their wives in like fort attired, have their Heads all over wrapped in linnen.

Con-

Buildings

Concerning their buildings; they are magnificent and stately; for in Generall all the Towns and Cities in France are fairer than ours in England.

Their King bears the Title of the most Christian King of France; and his Eldest Son the Daulphin of France: by their Salique Law, no Women or her Heirs may inherit.

Provinces.

The divers Provinces of this Kingdome are many; of which are Picardy Normandy, the Isle of France, Beavois., Poiltu, Aquitain, Bretaing, Daulphin, Languedoc, Provence, Champaione, Burgundy, Of these in order.

Picardy.

Picardy is invironed with Normandy, Belgium, Champaigne, and the Sea.

It is divided into the higher and lower; in the Higher are the Towns of Calice, distant from Dover about 28 or 30 miles. This Calice by Cafar is called Portus Iccius, won from the French by our Edward the third, and lost by Queen Mary. 2. Bullen, taking by our Hen. 8.

In this Picardy also stands Terwin, besieged by our King -Henry in person, where the Emperour Maximillian served under his Collours, and received pay as his Souldier.

In the lower Picardy are S. Quintin, Abevile, Amiens, and Roan.

In the lower Picardy, is the Dutchie of Terache, whose chief City Guisa gave name to the family of the Guises; and the Countrey of Vermendois. where stands Retelois, & Retel her Metropolis; Artelois, and Laferre her's, and Ponthein Normandy Normandy hath on the South Main, and the Isle of France; East, the River Some; and other parts, the Ocean.

This Dukedome contains divers fair Cities and Towns; the chief whereof are, 1. Constance. 2. Cane. 3. Bayeux. The chief Haven-Towns are Harflew, Deep, and New-Haven.

This Dukedome of Normandy was heretosore called Newstria, their sirst Duke was Rollo; and the fixth from him our William the Conquerour. was lost from his Successors in the time of King John. Cane is famous for the Siege of our King Henry the fifth. In this Dukedom Normandy also in Rhoan and Nervile; the last of which being besieged by Philip the second of France, in the time of our King Richard the first: when he first heard it, being then sitting in his Pallace at Westminster, he swore he would never turn his back to France, till he had his revenge, and to make good his Oath brake through the walls of his Pallace, and justly performed his threatu pon the Besieger. In the Dukedome of Normandy stands also Albemarle,

marle, which gives title to his Grace Christopher Monk, who is Duke of Albemarle.

Ifle of France.

This Isle is sited in the circlings and constuences of Seine, and other petty Brooks. The chief City of it is Paris, the Metropolis of all France, the circuit of which (excluding the suburbs) is said to be six miles. The buildings of this City is for the most part stately, of unpolished stone, with the out side plaistered and rough cast; and the houses for the most part are sour stories high, and in some places six. The streets are somewhat large, and among them the sairest is that of St. Denys. The 2.S. Honore. The 3.S. Antony. The 4.S. Martine.

The Market-places which are in this City, are eleven in number.

The chiefest buildings in this C ty is the Cathedral Church of the blessed Virgin, vulgarly called, Notredam. It is supported with 120 pillars, whereof 108 are less, and 12 very great; being all of free stone. The Chauncel is in the midst of the Church; which hath 174 walking paces in length, and 60 in breadth. It hath 45 Chappels in the circuit thereof, which are shut with gates of Iron, In the front it hath two double doors, with fair statues of 28 Kings. Upon the sides are 4 Towers or Belfreyes, 34 Cubits high.

high. The greatest Bell, called S. Mary requires 24 men to ring it.

The second Town of note is St. Dennis. 3. Charenton. Here is in this Isle the Royal Palace of Fountainbleau, the fairest house, not of France, but (as they say) of all Christendom. In this Province also of France stands St. Vincents, where our King Henry the fifth dyed. And also Soissons and the Dukedome of Va-loys.

This Province hath on the east France Beavois. or the Ille; west, Main; north, Normandy; and fouth, the Loyre. the chief Cities are, 1. Estampes 2. Chartres; this is a fair and goodly City, a Bishops See, and one of the Vidamates of France; through the midst of this City runs the River Eure, which as foon as it comes to the walls of the City on the Southside, divides it self into three branches, two whereof encompass the City round about, and the 3. running thorow the midst thereof, serveth the Town with many Mils for the use of the People: doth afterwards unite it self with the rest into one main channel again. The third and principal City of it is Orleans: It is seated on the Loyre, and is one of the most pleasantest Cities in all France.

Poietu hath on the North, Britain and Poietu.
Anjou; east the Dukedome of Berry;

 C_3

fouth

fouth Xantoign and Guieon? west, the Aquitain Sea. The chief Cities are Poistors, seated on the River Claive, being next to Paris for greatness. 2. Mailfay. 3. Lasson.

This Region of Poittu is both pleasant and plentiful: In this Province was fought the great Battel betwixt our Black Prince, and John of France, when with eight Thousand hee vanquished fourty thousand: took the King prisoner, and his son Philip, 70 Earles, 50 Barons, and 12000 Gentlemen.

Aquitain.

Aquitain containeth the Provinces of Gascoign Xantoign. It is Bounded with the Pyrenean Hills, the Aquitain Ocean, and the Garond.

The chief Cities are 1. Tholoufe. 2. Bourdeaux a Town famous by the general concourse of Merchants, trading for French Wines.

It is also a Parlimentary, an Archiepiscopal Seat, University of good esteem; honoured with the birth of our King Richard the Second.

Bretaigne is invironed with Main Tourein, and the Sea. The chief Cities hereofare, 1. Nantes on the Loyre 2. Rhenes. 3. S. Ereine. 4. Rhoan, seated on the North side of the River Seine, partly in a plain, partly on the side of Hills and the building is for the most part of free-stone.

This

This Region of Bretagne is reckoned one of the most Fertile in all France for Corn, Wine and wood; it breeds also good Horses, and speciall Doggs, Iron, Lead &c. It is Divided into the higher and Lower Britanny: her chief ports are St. Malo and Breste.

Daulphine is environed with Avergn Daulphine West; Province, South; Savoy East; and Bress; North. The chief Cities are 1.

Lyons a fumous Mart-Town, and University. 2. Valence. 3. Vienna.

This Countrey is divided into the Berry. higher and lower Daulphine: in the first is Embrum where Agaric and Manna is plentifully gathered: in the Lower Grinnoble, Daulphine, St. Ramans, &c.

Is almost encompassed with the Pyre-Languenean Halls. The chief Cities are, 1. Nar-dockbon. 2. Montpelier seated on the side, and is an University most samous for the study of Physick: 3. Nimes where there is at this day many Reliques of Antiquity, and Pons Sancti Spiritus &c.

This Country is environed with Poiltu; Tourein, Lobeause, Champaign, Bourbon, and Limasin; the chief city is Burges. The Citizens at six Fairs in the year sell great quantity of Woollen Cloth: it is also an Archiepiscopal See and University: This Region of Berry is exceedingly stored with Sheep, and sufficiently well C4

Tourein.

with other Merchandize of value

2. Sancere, 3. Argent 1. On the South East of Anjon, te:wixt it and Berry lyeth Toureine. The chief City of it is Tours. 2. Amboys. 3. Bloys. And a little higher upon the Loyre stands Orleance; This Region of Toureine is said to be the Garden of France.

Provence.

Provence is environed with Languedoc, Daul, hine, Piedmont, and the Mediterranean Sea.

The Principal Towns are, 1 Marseilles, a famous Mart-Town. 2. Aix. 3. Arles; the Metropolis of the Burgun. dian Kingdome. 4. Aveignon, a very fair City seated on the Rhosne, samous in that it was the seat of the Popes for 70 years.

This Region of Provence belongs part to the Crown of France, as the 3 Towns first named viz 1. Marseilles&c. And part to the Pope, viz Aveignon an Arch-Bishops See, with the whole Comitatus Venissimus. And part to the Prince of Orange, viz. Orange on the River Meine a chief City, Estang, Boys de S.

Poll, &c.

Champain Champaigne, so called because it is a Champain Countrey. It is environed with Picardy, Belgium, Lorraine, the Burgundy, Berry, Bourbon, and the Isle. The chief Cities are, 1. Rheims. 2.

Treys.

Treys. 3. Brir, and 4. Chalons. Within Rheims is a Colledge for the education of young English fugitives, and in this City the Kings most commonly are Crowned and anointed with an Oyl fent (as they fay) from Heaven, which (as oft as it hath been used) yet never decreafeth, it is the seat of an Arch-Bishop; And so is Sans also.

This Dutchy so environed with Cham- Burgundys paigne, the Country of Bress, and Bour-Dutchy. bonoys. The chief Ci ies are, I Digion. 2. Antum. 3. Beaulne, where there is an Hospital, equal to the Palace of any Prince in Europe. At Digion above na med was St. Bernard born: in this Dutchy also stands Aliza, once the samous City of Alexia.

On the South-East of Burgundy. Dut-Labresschy, and North of Savoy, is the Countrey of Labress. The chief Townsare: I Castilion. 2. Monkeal, and 3. Bourge, an exceeding strong Town.

Within the limits of France TE four Provinces, which as yet acknowledge not the French Command, viz. The 1. Seignure of Geneva. 2. Savoy. 3. Lorrain and A the County of Burgundys

 $\mathbf{C} \cdot \mathbf{g} =$ Burn

France.

Burgundy Countr.

THis County is invironed with Champaign, Lorrain, Switzerland, Bress, and the Dutchy. The length of it is 90 miles, the breadth 60.

The people are much renowned for warlike affairs, marching under the colours of divers Princes, under the name of Walloons.

The Ground is so exceeding ferril, that as France may be call'd the Garden of Europe, fo this may be accounted the faired flower of that Garden.

The chief City is Befanson, the Metropolis of both the Burgundies. 2. Dole a Town for strength, riches, and beauty, to be prefer'd before any in Burgundy. 3. Salines, rich in salt-Fountains. 4. Cafilion. Here also are more than 26 walled Towns, and 160 Lordships.

Lorrain.

His Dukedom is compassed about with part of Belgium, Alsatia, the County of Burgundy, and Champaigne. The length of it is about four dayes journey; the breadth almost three.

It aboundeth with Corn and Wine, Fertility. an excellent race of Horses, plenty of Mines, and store of salt Fish.

The chief Towns of it are, Nancy, feated on the Mense, the Dukes Scatz

This City is strongly fortified, and the Houses are fairly built of free stone. 2.S. Nicholas, a strong Town. 3. Vancoleus.

In Manners these people much resem-Manners ; ble the French and German; the French in their courtesie and civility, and the German in their drinking.

Savoy.

THe County of Savey is confin'd with Daulphin, Bress, Switzerland, and Piedmont. Also it comprehendeth under it almost all Piedmont on the Italians fide of the Alpes.

The Inhabitants of Savoy are naturally dull and very fimple, as to the common fort of people; but the Gentry are of a very pleasing conversation, Civil and ingenuous, affecting all good exercise.

The chief Towns of it are, 1. Chambiers, the seat of the Duke when he sojourneth in these parts. It is seated in a pleasant valley among the Mountains, and is full of neat Houses, belonging to the .

the Gentry of this Province. 2. Tarantaile, this is an Arch-Bishops See, and is fituate in the midst of the Mountains. 3. Aquabelle. 4. Muurienne, or St. John Maurienne, an Arch-Bishops See, situate in a valley of the Alpes so called.

Piedmont.

Piedmont is a Country now wholly under the Savoyen and Alantuan Dukes; of this Countrey the Mantuan possesseth Monserat, and the Savoyen possesseth the rest; This Countrey is seated at the foot of the Mountains, and is bounded on the East, with Millain; West, with Savoy; North, with the Switzers; and South with the Mediterranean Sea. It is wondrous sertil and contains besides Lord-Thips and Baronies, 52 Earldoms, and 15 Marquifates.

The principal Towns belonging to the Savoyen are; 1. Turin, the Dukes Seat. This City is situated on the River Po, it is the See of an Arch-Bishop and an Univerfity; in which the Renowned Erafmus took his degrees in Divinity, it is one of the sweetest situations in Europe. 2. Aosta. 3. Niza, a Haven Town, it stands at the influx of the River Varus, which divides it from Provence; beautified with a Cathedral Church, the Bishops Palace, a Monastry of Nuns, and an impregnable Cittadel. 4. Susa. 5. Saluzzes, a Marquisate, and Bishops See: fortified with a very large Castle. The

The Signerry of Geneba.

TA7 Ithin the limits of Savoy, towards Labress, standeth the famous Signeury of Geneva, the territories of it being yet not 8 leagues, out of which they raise a revenue of about 60000 Crowns.

The Women here are more referved then in any other place of. the world; dancing by no means is tollerated here either in publick or private; Adultery punished with death, Fornication first time, punished with 9 days fasting with bread and water in prison, second time with whipping, and the third time banishment: But notwithstanding this severity they make Love in Secret, and are as Amorous in their daliances, as in other places.

The Town standeth at the end of the Lake Lemanus, and by the Rhosen; is divided into two parts, the lower part of which, call'd vulgarly La bas rue, is feated in a plain, and the rest upon a hill. The buildings are of free-stone; the lower part thereof on the North-side, Iyes close, to the South-side of the Lake, is a little Haven for Gallies, which they have built to keep free the passage of the Lake, and on the same side is a strong Fort, and there the River Rodanus comeing out of the Lake, enters into the City, and and runs through the lower part thereof, having two Bridges for passage.

This City entertains people from all Countryes, of any Religion, in so much that it is said if one have lost his Religion he may here find it again; But yet they inforce a Law upon Fugitives, not common elsewhere: For what soever Malesactor is there apprehended for mischief done in his own Country, suffers as if he had been there condemned.

Fertility.

It aboundeth with all manner of good fruits, besides store of fresh sish. It also standeth well for trade of Merchandise, by reason there are many great Merchants, especially Italians, who deal here; the Inhabitants being most mechanical persons, making excellent good Muskets and Calevers. They likewise work Sattin, Velvet, and Tassaty. The people are very civil both in their behaviour, speech, and apparel, all licentiousness being severely corrected.

Thus much of France.

The Alpes.

The natural bounds betwixt Germany, France, and Italy, are the Alpes, Mountains which require 3 dayes to be afcended. There

There are five passages out of these hills into Italy, viz. 3, out of France, and 2 out of Germany. The 1. from France is through Provence, and so close upon the Tyrrhenean Seas, through Liguria, which is the easiest. The 2. is through the hill called Geneara, into the Marqu sate of Saluzzes, and so to Lombardy. The 3. is over Mount Cents, and through the County of Turin. The 1. way out or Germany into Italy, is through the Countrey of the Griffons, by the Countrey of Valtolin. The other way is through Tyrolis, by the Towns of Inspruch and Trent.

Italy.

Italy.

Region, situate under a Clime most temperate, commodious for traffick, and most fertil for Corn and Herbage. It contains in length 1020 miles in breadth at the broadeth not above 410.

It aly by some is said to be the Mother of Countreys, for that she was first Inhabited by Janus the Father of Nations, about 200 years after the flood. But Helvicus and other Authentick observers of time, place their Dynastia 966 years after after the Flood and before Christ 1327. It is an Island almost in shape of a Mans Leg, being bounded on the East, with the Adriatick Sea; South and West, with the Tyrrene Seas; and North with the Alpes.

It aboundeth with Corn, Wine, and Oyl; yields plenty of Orange-trees, and the like fruit, as Citrons, Limmons, and Cedar trees: and of these fruits they transport great store into foreign parts. Also they have Woods of Chefnut-trees, little esteemed amongst them, only the poor people eating some of them, and with the rest they feed their Hogs. Also they have plenty of Almond trees, and some Pomegranates; and also the Cyprus, Poplar, and the Oak, so that you would fay, the whole Province were but as one Garden.

Her chief Rivers, are Poe, Athesis,

Rubica, Tyber, Avernus, &c.

Natures, and Manners of the people.

The people for the most part, are honourable, courteous, prudent, and brave withal; to their superiors obedient; to equals respective; to inferiors courteous; to strangers affable, and desirous by kind offices to win their love; and in expence and love of his money very Apparel. wary. In apparel they are modest, in furniture of house, sumptuous.

Yer notwithstanding, the Inhabitants are as deeply engaged to their peculiar Vices Vices as any; for they are hot Letchers, and those seldome stand quit from that horrible torture of Jealousie over their Wives, for it measures others actions by its own Rule. And both these Vices in them are incredible: and makes Treachery, and murder feem no fault in their Eye, If they be provoked by suspicion. They are most unnatural in their Lust: and their Women when they have their free liberty differ not much, but their close keeping either hinders, or at least hides their faults, fo as they appear modest, Lively, aud witty, for as much as they dare speak.

In their Diet, compared with the En- Diez glish or French, they are most spairing; generally they require small preparation or furniture of the table; they eat neatly and modestly; they seldom make feasts but if they make any, they make them fumptuous, and that much more than ours. The greatest expences are about their Gardens, in fitting places for birding, in drawing water to them, and adorning their Conduits head with Imagery, in Chappells, and other buildings.

The usual division is into fix parts, Lombardy, Tuscany, the Land of the Church, Naples, Genoa, and the Land But. of Venice.

Italy.

But according to the present divers Principalities that are, it is divided into.

The greater, as

The Kingdome of Naples.
The Papacy.
The Commonwealth of Venice.
The Dukedome of Fiorence.
The Dukedome of Millain.

The leffer, as

The Dukedome of Mantua.
The Dukedome of Urbine.
The Dukedome of Modena.
The Principallity of Parma..
The State of Genoa.
The State of Luca.

The Kingdome of NAPLES.

His Kingdome is separated from the Land of the Church, by the River Axofenus; on the other part it is environed with the Sea; the compass of it being 1468 miles.

Fertility. This Kingdome is the fertilest place in all Italy, abounding with Mines of divers metals, Saffron, Silk, Oyl, and Wine.

This Kingdome contains the Provinces of Lavoro, Calabria, Inserior and Superior Otranto, Apulia, Puglia, and Abruzzo.

Lavoro: This Province contains in it Lavoro. the City of Naples being the chief of the whole Kingdom. Near to this City is the Mountain Vesuvius, now called Somma. This Mountain is most high, and the top is dreadful, where is a Gulph casting out flames; the rest of the Mountain aboundeth with Vines, and Olivetrees. This City is seated at the foot of Hills and Mountains, extending in length from the North-East to the South-west or rather feemeth to be triangular. If any Ship going to Naples, carry any Bread into the Port, they forfeit 20 Duckats for every Loaf, so they throw their bread into the Sea before they go in; this Country of Lavors is exceeding fruitfull in Wines and Wheat.

The Houses of this City of Naples are four roofs high, but the tops lye almost plain, so as they walk upon them in the cool time of the night.

The buildings are of free frone, and the windows are all covered with paper or linnen cloth, for glass windows are most 44

It hath three fair, broad, and long Streets, namely La Toletano, La Lapuana, and La Vicaria; the rest are very narrow.

There be 8 Gates toward Land, and as many towards Sea; amongst which the Capuan Gate is decked with Monuments and Statues.

The City is strongly walled; and hath three strong Castles, one of them Impregnable, standing alost behind the City; on the Top of Mount Hermus or Erasmus. This is the only Regall City of Italy. The women here are very Beautifull, and the meanest Artificers wife goes in her Silks every day: there are allowed Curtizans in this City to the number of about 30000. In this City the disease called Morbus Galliens, was first known in Christendom.

There be in this City many Palaces of Gentlemen, Barons, and Princes.

There be 4. Publick Houses, called Segii in which the Princes and Gentlemen have yearly meetings; and there also is the daily meeting of Merchants. They are exceeding delightful having Gardens on all sides, as well within the City, as near the same; and the Fields are no less fruitfull, bringing forth abundantly all things for the use of Man. The Spaniard governs this Kingdom of Naples. by a Viceroy, it is said that there are in this Kingdom 1563 Citics and Towns; 20 of them the Seats of Arch-Bishops, and 107 of Bishops. The body of the Nobility consists of 14 Princes, 25. Dukes, 30 Marquesses, 54 Earles, and 4000 Barons.

Also within this Territory are many famous Antiquities, and wonderful things to bescen. 2. Capua. This City is of little compass, but it hath a fair Senate-House, and a fair Church, call'd l' Annonciata, with a fair Alter. 3. Cuma, the oldest City in all Italy. In this City, was the Sybils Cave. by which Æneas went down to Hell: And not far of it, the Lake Avernus, the Stink whereof have poysoned Birds as they flew over it. 4. Baia, an ancient City. The situation is most sweet, but all the Houses near the shoar are drowned except the Bathes. 5. Nola, built on the ruins of old Far-

Calabria is another Region belong- calabria. ing to the Kingdome of Naples, It is bounded with the River Iano the Tyrrene, and Ionian Seas. It is in compass about 500 miles, and it is divided into the higher and lower. In the higher, the chief Cities are, 1. Consentia 2. Salernum, famous for the study of Physick. In the the lower is Caterzary, a strong City. Calabria Inferior was formerly called Magna Gracia from a multitude of Greek Colonies, which their built Citics and possest a great part of the Countries. The Principal of Note was Terdutum. here are great store of Tervantulas? a Serpent peculiar to this Country.

Ctranto.

Otranto hath on the West, Puglia; and on the other three parts the Sea. The chief Towns are, 1. Tarentum. 2. Brundustum. glorying in one of the best Havens in the world, but it is now but a mean Town, and the Haven of it very much choked, that a Gally can very hardly enter, 3. Otranto. 4. Gallipolis.

The Country of Otranto abounds in Corn, Oyl, Melons Citrons, Safron, and other Commodities of good price.

Apuli.

Apu'ia: This province extendeth from the confines of Brunduse, to the River Fortore. It is divided into two Provinces, the one called Bari, the other Puglia. The chief City is Manfredoin; it lyeth under the Hill St. Angelo.

It is a stately and magnificent City the Seat of the Arch-Bishop of Siponto beautified with a Capacious Harbour for receit of ships, and an Impregnable Castle for defence thereof.

Puglia.

Puglia is another Province of this Kingdom. It is bounded with the River

For-

Fortore, and the River Tronto. It is a fruitful Countrey, in the midst rough and Mountainous. The chief Cities of it are, 1. Barlet. This is an Haven Town, and reckoned for one of the 4 strong Holds of Italy. 2. Canna; the wealth thereof confirts in, Cattel, and Suffron.

The chief City of Apulia or Puglia formerly was Arpinum, the birth place of that famous Oratour Tully.

Abruzza is another Province in this Kingdom. The chief Cities of it are, Aquino, 1. the birth-place of Thomas Aquinas. 2. Sulmo, Oria's birth place.

The Papacy.

THe cltate of the Pope is twofold; the one consisteth in his temporal Domion, the other in his spiritual jurisdiction. As touching his temporal Dominion, he is Lord of a great part of Italy; as of all that lyeth between the River Fiore and Cajetta, between Preneste and the Truentian Streights, (except the Dukedom of Urbin.) In that compass are incircled the Provinces of Romandi-Romandiola, Marchia, Spoletto, and St. Peters ola. Patrimony.

This Province extendeth from the Rubicon East, to the Venerians West.

The

Italy.

Italy. The chief Cities are, I. Bononia the, chief University of Italy, and the retiring place of the Popes. This City of Bononia is very populous and of a round form, and great Circuit, the Building Antick, the foundation of the houses of free-stone, the rest of Brick, built with Arched Cloysters towards the Street, under which one may walk dry in the greated Rain; the Civil-Law is much Studied here, and hence proceed the famous Civilians Johannes Andreas, Aza, Bartolus and Socnus, 2. Ferrara, This City is feated in a plain, and compassed, with a fenny bank, and is of a triangular form. In the heart of the City is a large Market-place. The Streets are broad and very dirty in winter, and no less subject to dust in the summer. The Houses are built of free-stone and not near one to another, but with pleasant Gardens between, The whole circuit of this City is to contain 7 miles. This City Ferrara is commodiously seated on the River Po; which by reason of its breadth, depth, and violent swiftness of the current is sufficient Rampart to it on that fide, the other fides being fortified with, astrong wall, and a spacious Mote; near to the Market-place is a little Island in which the former Dukes had a Stately Pallace, called Belvedevere from the fair prospect which it had or gave to the whole City, and on the North fide of the City a large Park, for Pleasure. 3. Ravenna. This is a most ancient City; the buildings hereof are of Brick and Flint-stone and are so old, as they seem ready to fall. On the East-side the Sea lyes some 2 Italian miles distant, where is the Haven for Ships, so much spoken of in the Roman Histories.

Marchia reacheth from Tronto to Marchia. Puglia, between the Apenine and the Sea. It is divided into little Hills and plains. It is rich in Wine, Oyl and Corn. The City of greatest trading is Ancona, by reason of the Haven, to which many Eastern Merchants do resort. It is a very fair City, encompassed with three Mountains and hath the form of a half-Moon. The streets of it are narrow, and ill paved with flint. The Haven is of a triangular form, about which is pleasant walking, and the place where Merchants meet, called la Loggia, lying upon the Sea, is a most sweet open room but narrow. 2. Ascoli, a very fair City; and 3. Firmo a strong City.

In this Province of Marchia Anconitana, stands Loretto, the place where so many Miracles are performed by our Lady, as they deliver amongst the rest of their Legends.

Spo-

Spoletto.

Spoletto, of old called Umbria. The chief Cities of it are, 1. Spoletto. 2. Onietto, feated on a high Rock. 3. Asis, where St. Francis was born. This Province is abundantly stored with Wine, Cattel, and some Saffron, Olives and Figgs.

S. Peters
Patrimony.

This Province contains all Latium, (or Campaigna di Roma.) In this Countrey are the Mountains called Gallicanum. The chief City is Rome, seated on Tyber. It is in compass 11 miles, within which is not a little waste ground. This City in its Infancy was but 2 Miles about; but after she grew fut, she burnished to 50 Miles about; upon the walls 740 Turretts, and the Inhabitants Inumerable: She was built upon seven Hills, Pallatinus, Capitolinus, Viminalis, Aventinus, Esquilinus, Cælius, & Quirinalis, was Ruled first by seven Kings and hath been since subject to seven several Forms of Government; this City is faid to be about 15 Miles from the Sea.

The Inhabitants are about 200000, 2 parts of them being Clergy-men and Curtezans. The most worthy places in it are the Church of St. Peter, which were it once finished, would be the rarest building in the world. Then the Castle of St. Angelo, impregnable, unless by famine. Next the Popes Palace, called Be-luidere.

Italy.

Inidere. And lastly, the library of the Hill Vatican, called commonly the Vatican Library. 2. Titer. 3. Preneste 4. Veii, a City of great wealth and compass.

The Commonwealth of U.E. T. E.

The Commonwealth of Venice is now as famous for State Policy as it hathbeen heretofore for warlike Atchievements, and though they have a Duke, yet it is a free State, and governed by an Aristarchy: for he is ordered to the very Clothes on his back by a certain number of the chief Citizens of Venice, and hath his Allowance out of their Treasury (little enough to keep him from the thought of Tyranny about 40000 Duckets by the year.

Their Arfnal keepes in continual readiness 200 Gallies: in their Magazia of war, there is ever Furniture for about 100000 Men at Armes.

The younger Brothers of the Gentry may not Marry to encrease the Number beyond Maintenance: yet to make up their Liberty, they allowe them Stewes.

On Ascention day, the Duke Espou-

 D_2

feth

feth the Sea, by throwing a Ring into it, the Nuptiall pledge and symbols of Subjection; This Ceremony received a beginning from that same Sea Battel sought and won by the Venetians under the Conduct of Sebastiano Zani against the Forces of Frederick Barbarossa, in the quarrel of Pope Alexander the Third.

In the very bottom of the Adriatick, called at this day the Gulf of Venice, is a ridge of land, reaching from the Limekilms, called by them Fornati to the mouth of the River Pi, in form of a Bow, and containeth in length 35 miles, and in breadth 2 where it is the broadest. This Ridge is cut into 7 principal Islands, the Ports of Brondole, Chiozzo, Malam Ocso, of the 3 Castles of St. Erasmus, the Lito Moggiore, and the Troports. Betwoen the part of this Ridge call'd Lito, and the Continent, standeth the Lake of Venice, in compass 90 miles; and in this Lake is feated the City of Venice upon 72 Islands, distant from the shore 2 miles, and from the firm Land 5. This stately City is in compass 8 miles, and hath 70 Parishes, wherein each Church hatha little Market-place, for the most part four square; and a publick Well, for the common fort use Well-water, and Rain water kept in cisterns. It hath 31 Cloisters of Monks, and 28 of Nuns, belides belides Chappels and Almes-houses. channels of water pass through this City (confifting of many Islands) so that a Man may pass to what place he will both by land and water. The great Channel is in length about 1300 paces, and in breadth 40 and hath only one Bridge called Rialto. The passage by this Channel is very pleasant, being adorned on both sides with stately Palaces, And that Men may pass speedily, besides this bridge, there be 13 Places called Traghetti, where Boats attend, called Gondorr, which being of Incredible number, give ready passage to all Men. The rest of the Channels be narrow, and over them is many Bridges to be passed under. The Buildings of this City are very rare, there being at least 100 Houses (or rather Palaces) fit to entertain any Prince.

The magnificentest buildings of this City are the Church of St. Mark, which Saint is the protecting Saint of this City. The Building hereof is become admirable, for the singular Art of the Builders and Painters, and the most rare pieces of Marble, Prophyry, and Ophites, (stones so called of speckels like a Serpent) and like stones. 2. The Market-place of St. Mark, being paved with Brick, and consists of 4. Market-places joyned in one. Again, the Houses opposite to the Palaces of the Procurators of St. Mark, are call'd the Houses of State, and they belong to the Church of St. Mark, having some fifty shops under the Arches of the upper roofs; these yield great Rents to the Church. Also the Steeple or Belfrey of St. Mark, distant some 80 foot from the Church, and set over against it; it is to be admired not only for the foundation strangely laid, but for divers other causes.

D 3

op-

There is also in the second Marketplace of the Palace the library, whose Building is remarkable. Also in the said market-place is the stately Palace of the Duke, all covered with Marble, and most sumptuous in the carved Images and Pictures, and in the pillars of the Arched Walk on the out fide. The four square Market-places of Rialto, is compailed with publick Houses; under the arches whereof, and in the midle part lying open, the Merchants meet.

About this City are seated 75 other Islands the chief whereof are, Onurano, and Barano especially Mucano which aboundeth with Goodly Orchards and Gardens, and a 1000 other objects of delight and pleasure. Also here are the famous Glass houses.

The whole Dominion of the Venetian Signeury, is divided into firm Land and Sea.

Sea. On the Land they possess in Lombardi, Marca Trevigiana, Friuli, & Istri. Again, it is divided into Continent and

Island. In the Continent they have Istria, Da'matia, Sclavonia, and Albania, or fome parts thereof:

The Islands are Corfu, Cephalonia, Zant, Candia, Conigo, and other in the Adriatick Sea.

The State of the firm Land contains Marca Trevigiana, lying East of Friuli, Marca and the Gulph of Venice.

The chief City is Padua, a very fair City, the building whereof is with Arches of stone, hanging over the Street under which they walk dry in the greatest rain; but the Streets are thereby made narrow, and in the midst very dirty; 2 Brescia, the Seat of an Arch-bishop, who is an Earl, a Marquess and a Duke. The Cities Building is of Brick; the Streets are large and paved with flint. 3. Bergamo, a City feated on a Mountain; and 4. Vicenza.

Friuli, environed with Histria, the Friula. Alpes, Trevigiana, and the Adriatick. The length of it is 50 miles, and in the breadth as much, the chief Town of it is Palma, built by the Venetian, 1583 and the best fortified of any in Italy.

The greatest Territory of this Conti-Istria. nent is Istria, and the best, unless it were

for :

for that the Air is naturally unwholesome especially about Nolo, It yields great abundance of Oyl, Fish, and Salt. The chief Cites are, 1. Istinopolis 2. Pola. This City is an Episcopul See. There are in the Provinces of this common-wealth of Venice, two Patriarchs, and sixteen Bishops.

The Dukedome of Florence.

He Dukedome of Florence containeth the greater part of Tuscany, parted from Genoa by the Magra; and the West, from Romagna, and Ancona; by the Alpenine, on the North; by the Pisseo, East and the Pyrrbene Sea, South. The chief City is Florence, seated nigh the Confluence of Arnus. This City is of a round form, and upon the Walls thereoflye 8 Forts, wherof the greatest and Strongest lyes towards the South. The Houses after the manner of Italy, are. built with a low roof, excepting the Pallaces, which are stately, built of free-stone, engraven. The Streets are most broad, and have an open Air, and the pavement is of a very broad and fair free-stone. The River Arno running from East to West, divides this City, but into unequal parts, the greater part lying on the North

North, and the Bridge to pass from oneto the other is almost in the midst of the. City. Also there be 3 other Bridges over-Arno, But far less in bigness and magnificence than the Former.

Towards the North and East this City is encompassed with pleasant Hills, planted with excellent Fruits; and behind them the high Mountains of the Appenine somewhat removed, are instead.

of strong walls to the City.

Also on the South side are the like-Hills and distant Mountains; but towards the West it lyes open to the most pleasant Valley Arno. On all sides without the Walls, Palaces of Gentlemen are most frequent, and Houses of Citizens, not distant above three or four closes one from the other.

Within this City the Duke hath two Palaces, the one called Palazzo Dipitti, the other Palace of the Duke is feated in the corner of the market-place of Piazza della Signoria, It being the fairest and largest market-place within this City; there being four more, (viz.) Merchato Vecchio, S. Spirito, Sancta Croce, and Vecria Novella.

2. Pisa; the River Arno runs through this City, from East to West. It is seated in a plain, and toward the Northwest by North is a Gate, and a fair Cathedral

D 5

two Havens for Gallies and small Barks. In this City our English Factors do reside for the traffick of Italy.

Ityla.

The Dukedome of Milain.

He Dukedome of Millain hath. on the East, Mantua and Parma; on the South, Liquria; North, Trevigiana; and on the West, Piedmont. It is in circuit 300 miles. The chief Cities are, 1. Pavia: this City lyes in length from East to West, and a new fair Street divides it in the midst from the North to the South. On the West-side are two market-places, one greater than the other. The buildings of the City are of Brick and seem to be of great antiquity. 2. Alexandria, 3. Cremona: The form of this City is like unto a Cardinal's Hat, with broad brims; scated in a plain. Within this City is a Tower built of Brick, which requires 492 stairs in the Ascent. 4. Millain: This City is of a round Form, and hath 9 Gates; the Building shews antiquity, and the Houses are of brick, and low built, excepting some stately Palaces. The Streets are broad, and the Pavement of Brick, raised in the midst with broad stones. In this City is thought to be inhabited 200000 souls, of the best Artithedral Church, paved with Marble, and most curiously wrought. In the midst of this City, upon the Bank of Arno, is the Palace of the Duke of Florence, 3. Sienna; the situation of this City is most pleasant upon a high Hill; all the pavement of the Street is of brick, which lasteth the longer because their be neiher Carts nor Coaches, but all burthens are carried on the backs of Asses. It is vulgarly said, that Sienna abounds with Fountains, Towers and fair Women. There is no better places to live in through all Italy, than the State of Flarence, and more especially this City of Sienna. Besides it is commended for the best language in all Italy.

4. Massa, samous sor her quarries of white Marble:

plain, being somewhat longer from North to South; than it is broad from East to West, and the Sea lyes upon it partly on the North, partly on the South, and altogether on the West side; and it hath one Tower on the North-side, and another on the South, reaching into the Sea; and between these two Towers, full on the West-side there is a Haven for great Ships; farther out into the Sea, and also near the City and compassed with the Walls thereof, are two

Artizans in Italy. This City was the Seat of St. Ambroses B. shoprick.

The Dukedome of Mantua.

He Dukedome of Mantua hath on the East, Romagna; West, Millain; North, Trevigiana; and South, Parma and Placentia. The chief Cities are 1 . Mirabella. 2. Modena. 3. Lucera. and 4. Mantua; a very strong Town being environed on three sides with a Water being a quarter of a mile broad. The Form of this City is round, fave that the foresaid Lake on the North and East-sides, enters into the City in form of a half Moon, The buildings are partly of Brick, and partly of freestone; and the Streets are large and clean. In the midst of this City is a large Market-place, wherein the Jews have there, and sell all manner of Wares; for all traffick is in their hands, growing rich by the poverty of the Citizens. It is unlawful to were a fword without licence of the Magistrate, either at Millain, Cremona, or Mantua, or almost in any other City of Italy; only at Venice and Padua, and the Cities of that State, strangers may wear fwords; and only the wearing of Pistols or short Guns is forbidden.

Mantua was the birth-place of that excellent Poet Virgil. And to this Principallity belongs the Dukedom of Mount-ferrat in the South East of Piedmont.

The Dukedome of Arbin.

THe Dukedom of Vrbin lyeth in the midst of the Papal Territories, having on the North, the Adriatick; on the South, the Apenine; on the West, Romagna; on the East, Marca Aconitana. The length of it is 60, the breadth 35 miles. Here are in this Dukedom 200 Caitles, and 7 Towns; the chief of the feven being Orbin, feated on the bottom of the Apenine, and built in the fashion of a Miter. 2. Pisauro, a good Haven. 3. Belforto, seated in the Mid-land. The chief of the Castles are the Rock of S. Leo, and Marivola. At Urbin was another Virgil born, though not equal in fame: yet one in whom we have somewhat more Interest: he writ an English History, being at that time here resident and Collector of the Popes Peter pence.

The Dukedome of Modena.

THe Dukedom of Modena containeth the Cities of Modena and Reggio, with the Territories adjoyning to them, both of them situate in that part of Lombardy which is called Cispadana; and consequently partake the pleasures and commodities of it.

The people of this Dukedom are faid to be better natured than most of Italy: those of Modena being quick in their refolution; easie to be pacified when wronged and friendly in their entertainment of strangers; the Reggians being affable, of present wits, and fit for any thing they can be imployed in: the women in both Towns of a mild disposition, neither too Courtly, nor too froward, as in other places.

The first principal City is that of Modena, anciently better known by the name of Mutina; and famous in those times for the first battel betwixt Antony and Augustus Casar; this latter being then not above eighteen years of age, and yet made Head of a new League against Antonius, whom the Senate and people looked upon as a common enemy. It was ruined by the Goths and was afterwards Rebuilt by the Citizens, situate in very good soyl, and of indifferent sair buildings. 2. Reggio the second Town of note, hath taited much of the same fortunes with Modena, both which are now in a flourishing condition.

The Principality of Parma.

THis Principate hath on the North, Mantua; and on the South, the Apenine; on the West, Millain; and on the East, the Countrey of Modena. The city of Parma is seated on the River Pirnia. Placentia is seated on the Po. To this Principate belongeth Mirandula, with her territories, a place often heard of by reason of Learned Picus de Mirandulo.

The City Parma is beautified with very hansom buildings, and peopled by a Race of ingenuous men, whether they do betake themselves to Arts, or Arms, the grounds about this City of are excellent Pasturage, and yield great plenty of Cheese which is called Parmesan, and so do the grounds about Placentia yield excellent Cheese, and also Sa't pits and Mines of Iron.

Zens

The State of Genoa.

THe State of Genoa was once very great, but now they have nothing lest but Liguria and Corsica.

Liguria hath on the East, the River Varus; West, the River Magra by which it is parted from Tuscany; North, the Apenine; and South, the Ligurian, or Tyrhene Seas. The chief Towns are, 1. Noli.2. Sarazena; 3. Savona. And 4. Genoa. This City is feated upon the sides of Mountains, declining from the highest Mountain on the West-side toward the East, and to the Sea side. On the Southfide is the outward Haven, in form of an half-Moon; upon the horn thereof, towards the East, lyes the Sea-bank, called Lamola, about 600 paces long, which keepeth off the waves of the Sea that beat upon the City. On the East-side, and in the midst of this Bank, is a Fort built to defend the Navy. The whole circuit of this City is faid to be 8 miles. The Streets are narrow, but the Palaces are stately, built of Marble, and the Houses of free-stone, 5 or 6 stories high; and the Windowes are glazed, which is rare in Italy; the streets are paved with flint, and the Houses of the suburbs are almost as fair as within the City. The

Italy.

The people of Genoa, are noble minded: and forward to any honourable action, be it in wars by Land, or Hazard by Sea, one Christopher Columbus is sufficient to make good this Elogie, for whose birth the deserves to be honoured to the worlds end. The Women of Genoa are the most happy of any in Italy, for they may see a Man, and speak, and be courted, if not too boldly, without suspicion of their Friends or Jealousie of their Husbands.

The State of LACCA.

THe State of Lucca is situate in Tuscany, and comprehendeth the Territory and Town of Lucca. This Town is seated in a plain, and strongly fortified, and compassed with Mountains on all sides, but somewhat distant, and only tyes open on the Sca-side towards Pistola, being 3 miles in compass. The Streets are, narrow and paved with broad free stone most easie to be walked on. The Palaces of the chief Gentlemen are built of freestone, but with a low roof, after the Italian fashion, and they have many pleafant Gardens within the Walls. Within this City no man may wear any weapon Petherland.

rth_

pon, no not a Knise, except the point beblunt.

Thus much of Italy.

NETHERLAND.

ON the North-west of Italy lyeth Germany, which is divided into the higher and the lower: this latter is called Netherland. It is bounded on the East, with Ems, and part of Germany; on the west, with the German Sea; on the North, with East Friezland; and on the South, with the Some, Champaign, and Lorrain.

The fitu-

The Air of this Countrey is very intemperate, the winter-cold being excelline, and the Summers-heat far exceeding the ordinary heat of that Clime. But the Air is not altogether so moist and unwholesome as in former times: for the multitude of Inhabitants, and those wonderful industrious, have laboured out many of her Marshes, and drawn their Pools into running Chanels, and by this means sewer vapours arise; Their Summer abounds not with such troublesome Knats and Flies as ours doth. There is seldome any Thunder heard :

heard, or Lightning feen, or Earth-Quake felt.

The men for the most part are well Natures proportioned, much given to our En- of the glish Beer, being excessive in their drinking, so that you shall hardly find a Dutchman sober in an asternoon, the Women generally are of a good compléxion, well proportioned, especially in their leg and soot; honourers of virtue, active, and samilliar; both within doors and without they govern all.

And as to the generality of the Peaple, they are very thrifty, painful, and Ingenuous in the Invention of many. pretty things, which draw many other Nations to them for Traffique: they are very skilful Sea Men, and love rather to Fight at Seathan Land, and yet at Sea too they get often more by pollicy then valour, though they will fight desperately when once Engaged. They have the name of the first Authours of the Compass, Clock, and Printing. They are excellent Artificers for working Pictures in glass, for laying colours in Oyl, for Tapestry, and other hangings, in brief for any other Oeconomical commodity either for use or Ornament : and in their own private families excel any other people. They neither love nor hate any extreamly, but will foon forget Netherland.

69

both a good turn, (and they fay) an injurie: they are not very open or eafie of belief, nor apt to be deceived, not very proud nor exceeding base, nor much given to Venus, but great odorers of Bacchus, especially when he presents himself npon an English Beer Barrel: for they will hardly make a bargain before they be well whetted.

Diet.

In their Diet, Butter is the first and last dish at the table, whereof they make all fauces; as well your men as women passing from City to City to trade, carry with them Cheese, and Boxes of Butter' for their food. They use no Spits here but feethe little pieces of flesh with Roots, and Gobbets of fat mingled without any curiofity; or else bake them in earthen Pipkins.

Fertility.

They have abundance of Butter, Cheese, and Roots; for Corn, they have not sufficient for their own use, yet by traffick at Dantzick they furnish themfelves and many other Nations therewith. They have little plenty of Riverfish, but Sea fishes salted and dryed they make great traffick therewith. There is great abundance of Sea fowl, and they want not Land-fowl.

Commodity

The Commodities in which they most abound, are Tapestries, Sayes, Searges, Worsteds, Frigadoes, and divers forts

of

of linnen Cloath, with abundance of other small trifles. This Countrey is divided into seventeen Provinces, viz.

Into 4 Dukedoms, S. Luxenburg.
3. Gelderland.
4. Brabant. Into 1 Marquisate, Sof the Holy Empire. 1. Flanders. 2. Artois. 3. Hainault. 4. Namurre. Into 7 Earldoms, 5. Zutphen. .6. Holland. 7. Zealand. 1.West-Friezland 2. Utretcht. And into 5 Barronies 2. Overysell 4. Machlyn. 5. Groyning.

Limburg.

His Dukedom of Limburg hath Mastrich for the chief City, and the Bishoprick of Leige pertains to it, wherein the City of Leige is the Bishops Seat, and and hath under him 52. Baronics, this City is also an University and memorable for this one story above any other in Christendom: that at one time there studied nine Kings Sons, twenty four Dukes Sons, and 29 Earls Sons &c.

This City is feated on the Meuse.

The Buildings of this Town are, very fair, especially the Monastries and Abbeys.

This Bishoprick comprehends in it 24 walked Towns, and 1800 Villages. Also the Eastern part (which is properly called the Dukedom of Limburg) contains in it five Towns and 23 Villages. The chief of these is Limburg, this City stands upon the River Wesa: The whole Region is exceeding Fert I, and affords almost all necessaries, except Wine: among other Commodities, it abounds with a kind of stone, of excellent use in Physick, called Lapis Calaminaris.

Inxenburg is bounded with Limburg, on the North; Lorrain, South; the Bishoprick of Triers, East; and the Meuse, West. It is in circuit 240 miles, in which are contained 1169 Villages, and 23 walled Towns; the chief whereof is, I. Luxenburg, on the River Asnaius, or Elze. 2. Bostonake, a fair Town. 3. Danvillers. The Inhabitants of the upper part of this Dukedom are Germans, but the lower part are French, both in language and manners.

the

Near to this Dukedom is the Forest of Arden, once 500 miles in compass, now scarce 90 round.

Near to Ardenna is the Spaw-Bathes, of great fame for the cure of fundry discases, within this Region is seven Earldoms, and many other petty governments, in the South is the Dutchy of Bouvillon, belonging to a Peere of France.

Brabant hath on the East, North, and South, the Mense; and West, the Schald. It is in length 75 miles; in breadth 60, comprehending under it 700 Villages, and 26 Towns; the chief being Lovain. It is in compasse within the Walls four miles, and 6 without, within which compass are many goodly Gardens, Valleys, Mountains, Meadows. It is a famous Univerlity in which are 20 Col-2. Bruxels, the Dukes Seat. 3. Bergeapzone; this City is strongly fortified, and is seated in Brabant.4. Breda, this was the place of the Prince of Orange, got from the Spaniard by a defperate pollicy of a small number of Gentlemen, which ventured themselves into the Castle, being conveyed in a Boat covered with Turves: when they were past Recoyl, they were forced to set their their best strength forward, as well for their lives as the Victory; and were blest with a success beyond hope, Bruxels is strengthened with a double Wall, and is adorned with elegant Buildings; and in Lovain is a Seminary for our English Jesuits.

The Marquisate of the Empire is contain'd in Brabant. The chief Town is Antwerp, being in circuit seven miles. It was a Town of infinite trading, but now the Hollander hath so blockt up the Haven that the trading is removed from hence to Amsterdam.

Antwerp formerly had two Martes every year qualified with an extraordinary priviledge, that during the time no man might be arrested nor his Goods feized; and questionless this invited many which were in debt, and could not have the freedom of traffick elswhere.

Flander s.

Gallicam, and Teutonicam, this last is severed from the other two by the River Ley. The chief Towns of it are, 1. Gaunt, whose Wall is in compass seven miles, in which there lyeth much waste ground, Gaunt was the Birth place of our John Duke of Lancaster: she is severed by the River Shead into 26 Issands, and hath passage from one to another by Ninety-eight Bridges. 2.

Burgis

Burgis. 3. Ypres, a strong Town. The four principal Ports are, 1. Dunkirk. 2. Scluse; it hath a very fair Haven, able to contain five Hundred good Ships. 3. Newport 3. Oftend.

Imperial Flanders is severed from Brabant by the River Dender. The chief Towns are, 1. Alost, on the Dender. 2. Dendermond, on the mouth of the said River, 3. Hulft.

Gallica Flanders; so called because it properly belongs to France. The chief Towns are, 1. Liste, the third Town of traffick in all the Netherlands, in this Gallica Flanders also stands Doway an University: and Tornay taken by King Henry the eighth, and ransomed by the Inhab tants for 100000 Duckets. There are in all Flanders 35 Towns, 1178 Villages. It is in length 95 miles, and in breadth much less.

Artoys contains 854 Villages, and Artogs12 Towns; the chief being, 1. Arras; whence comes our Cloth of Arras. 2.
Lilliers. The chief of the Frontier Towns between this and Picardy are Hedinfort, a very defensible town. 3. Ayre.

4. Pernes, as also St. Omer.

The length of this Province is fixty Hainalzmiles, the breadth 48; in which space are 950 Villages, and 24 Towns. The chief are, 1. Mons strong, ancient, and E rich rich. 2. Valenciens, so seated that it cannot be besieged but with three Armies at once. 3. Conde, in this Region also stands Banais, supposed to stand in the same place where the Ancient Belgium was built.

Namurre.

The County of Namurre, so called of the chief City, hath Mines of Iron, and plenty of Stony Coal, contrary to all other Coals, in that it is quenched by the infusion of Oyl, and burns more clear having water cast upon it.

This Countrey hath also quarries of free-stone, and Marble of divers colours, and hath but four Cities, and 182 Villages, the chief places besides Namurre, are Charlemont, Valen Court, Bornies,

&c.

Machlyn.

Machlyn is a Town in Brabant, and contains besides it self 9 Villages. It is a goodly strong Town, and seated in the midst of the waters of the River Dole, that it may on all sides be drowned.

This Town of Machlyn before the Spanish Wars was a Parliament place for the States: since a great part of it was scattered and by unfortunate chance of Fire which catcht among 800 Barrels of Gunpowder, in this Monastry, which at sometimes hath in it sixteen. Hundred Nuns; and within these aforesaid Limits is the power of the Arch-Duke confined.

The State of the LOW-COURTHIES.

The Provinces united are these, Zealand, Holland Utretch, O-ve, Yssel, Zutphen, Groningen, and Gelderland, with some pieces of Brabaut and Flanders.

This Union was made 1581, the Fleets and Forces of which Confederation are from the chief Province, called altogether Hollanders.

The first of these Provinces is Zea- Zealand. land, this Province stands in the North tract upon the Seas, from whence it hath the name as it were of Zeland; and indeed it oft falls out, that they can hardly say whether they Live in Sea or upon Land; eight Islands have been utterly lost, what remains of this Province is by the water divided, into 7 Islands, to wit, Walcheria, South Beeveland, North Deeveland, Wolfers dicke, Scheven, Tolen, and Deeveland. The chief City whereof is Middleburg, famous for traffick, and the Staple for Spanish and French Wines. Near this City is Ulishing or Flushing strongly fortified. 3. Vere. All these Islands are fertil, and yield exellent good Corn, more plentiful ful than any other Province. Madder for dying of Wool grows plentifull here, which likewise they export; as likewise Spanish and French Salt, and like traffick.

77

The Inhabitants of this Province, are most of them a fiery people, crasty in Merchandize; good Sea men, and great Fishers.

Holland.

The Countrey of Holland is in situation the second of the United Provinces, but the sirst in dignity; the Cities where-of are, 1. Amsterdam, samous for trasfick. 2. Rotterdam. 3 Leyden, and an University. 4. Harlem. 5. Dort, the Staple for the Rhenish Wine. And 6. Delph; all very fair Cities. And there is likewise the most pleasant Village of the Hague, call'd Gravenbage.

This is a woody, but a small Region such as be a Man where hee will within her Compass; he may Travel it out in 3 hours: This Province is said to comprehend 400 Villages, and 20 walled Towns, The City Harlem sirst sent out a printed book into other parts of Europe: And the Hague though but a Village is yet said to be the fairest in Christendom, and is the Seat of the States Councel: It is said that Margaret sister to the Earl of Floris, in this Province brought forth 365 Children at one Birth all Living till they

The Low-Countreys. they were Christned.

Viretch contains 70 Vilages, and 5. utretch. Towns; the chief whereof are, Utretch, Rhenen, and Mont-fort.

This Province hath the Name from her Mother City Trajectum; and she hers (as is supposed) from a common Ferry which was there; for before it was called Antonia.

Overissel contains 101 Villages, and Gverissel.
11 Towns; the chief whereof are, Swall, Campene, and Deventree.

The City Deventer, was won by our Robert Dudly Earl of Leicester, from the Spaniard to the States.

Zutphen is a Town in Gelderland, Zutphen. which long hath been an Earldom; it is feated on the River Issel, and is a Town of very great strength: It was subdued by the States Army 1591.

At this place, did that valiant Souldier, and incomparable Poet Sir Phillip Sidney receive his last wound.

This Dukedom contains 300 Vilages, and 24. Towns, the chief being 1. Mimegue, seated on the part of the Rhene which is called the Whael. 2. Ruremond 3. Arnhein; This countrey is fit for seeding of Beasts, which grow so great and sat, that Anno 1500 a gelt Bull was at Antwerp, which weighed 3200 l.

This Dukedom is faid to have its

E. 3 Name:

Bermany.

Name from Gelduba once her chief City; it is a very fertil Soil, especially if it be well tilled, it returneth the Husbandman a liberal reward for his Labour.

Greining

Groyning is a Town of West Frizeland, containing under her command 154 Villages; the chief being Old-haven and Keikerk.

Frezeland It containath 345 Vilages, and 11 Towns: the chief are, 1. Lewarden. 2. Harlingem. 3. Zwichen. This territory aboundeth with excellent pastures for fatting of the greatest herds of Cattel, and yieldeth it felf all kinds of Cattel of extraordinary bigness Also near unto this province is the Island Scelinck, the shores whereof are plentifully stored with Dog fish.

Although this be the leffer part by far, and more in respect of the Soyl, yet it is more populous, and by the Industry of the People far more rich.

Thus much of the Netherlands.

GCRMAND.

rermany is bounded on the West, I with France and Belgium; on the North, with Denmark, and her Seas on the East, with Prussia, Poland, and Hungaria; garia; and on the South, with the Alpes. The compass of this spatious Countrey is 2600 English miles: the figure of it is almost an exact square, each side containing 650 miles.

It is situate in the Northern tempe- Situation rate Zone, under the 7 and 11. Climates; the longest day being 17 hours and an half.

Of all Eurepe this is the greatest Fertility. Countrey, and beautified with the best and richest store of Cities, Towns, and Castles, and Religious places.

It also doth abound with many things necessary for life, and many things to be transported. They have Corn sufficient, and for Cattel they want not of all kinds, but they are commonly lean and little: so are there Horses many in number but little in stature.

The Commodities wherewith it is in-Commoriched, are mines of Silver, and other inferior Metals: Wines, which they transport into other Countreys, together with fresh Fish, Linnen, Quick-silver, Allum, Armors.

The Air in this Countrey is wholsome, and her Bathes healthful, her Gardens pleasurable, her Cities fair, her Castles strong, and her Vilages very many, and well Peopled.

The Inhabitants, for honesty of conversation...

of the people.

Natures versation, probity of manners, assurance of loyalty, and confidence of disposition, fetting aside their imperfect cultomes of drinking, excelling all people.

Generally the poorer fort of people Mechanicks, and the rest-for the most part Schollars. The Gun and Gunpowder was first brought to light in Germany by one Bartholdus Smart a Franci-Ican Fryer.

Upper Germany containing Savigzerland.

Germany is divided into the higher and lower; the upper lying on the Alps is subdivided into Austria, Bavuria, Suevia, Helvetia, (or Swizzerland,) and Allatia.

Austria.

Austria. This is an Arch-Dukedom. and was formerly called Pannonia Superior. This is a goodly and Rich Countrey, yeathe best of all Germany, both for Corn, Cattel, Wine, and Fish. It is separated on the East from Hungaria, by the River Leire; West, from Bavaria, by the Ems; North, from Moravia, by the Tems; and South, from Styria, by the Muer.

The chief Cities of it are, 1. Wien, or Vienna, a samous Fort against the Turk. The City is of a round form; the Streets are narrow, but the buildings are stately of free-stone; two Towers of the Church is curiously engraven, the like whereof is not in Germany, except

Germany.

cept Strasburg. 2. Emps, so called on the River Ems, on whose Banks is feated. 3. S. Leopald. 4. Neustat. 5. Hamburg. 6. Crems.

It containeth the Provinces of Styrias Carinthia, Tyrolis, and Carniola.

Styria is a small Region in the midst Styria. of the Alpes. The chief Cities are, 1. Murpurg. 2. Hall. 3. Greits, the chief

City.

Carinthia: this Countrey is seventy Carinthia; five miles in length, and 5 in breadth. The chief Towns are, 1. Vellach. 2. Spittal. 3. Veit, the Metropolis of this Countrey.

Tyrolis: this Countrey is 72 miles Tyrolis. in length, and as many in breadth. It hath on the East, Carinchia; West, the Griffons; North, Schwaben; and South, Marea Trevigiana. The Soyl of this Countrey is very good, and full of Silver Mines. The chief Towns are, 1. In-Spurch. 2. Tyrol. 3. Trent, on the River Odesis, at this Town was the General Councel held Anno Domoni 1 546 called 3 the Councel of Trent.

Carniola: this Countrey is 150 miles Carnialas. long, 45 broad; it is environed with Sclavonia, East; Italy, West; Carinthia, North; and Istria, South.

The chief Cities are, 1. Newmarcht 2. Esling, upon the Sanus.

Br= -

Bavaria: This Dukedom hath on the East, Austria and Styria; West, the Leike; North, Danubins. And part of Françonia; and South, Tyrolis and Corinthia. This is a large rich and goodly Country lying in great length on both sides the Danubius. And is divided into the upper and lower Bavaria; at Saltzburgh in this Countrey lyes Paracelsus buried. The chief Cities are 1. Munchen, upon the River Aser, the Dukes Seat. 2. Inguistad, on Danubius, an University. 3. Ratisbone seated on the Donow. 4. Passaw. 5. Saltzbourg; it is seated on the River Saltzech.

This City is honored with a Bishoprick, whose revenue is the greatest in Germany. 6. Frising. The whole number of Cities in Bavaria are 34; besides 46 great walled Towns, the Soyl about which is sufficiently fruitful in all things, saving Wines, with which they are supplyed from Austria.

Rhitia.

Rhetia or the Countrey of the Grifons hath on the East, Tyrolis; West, Swizzerland; North, Suevia; and South Millain. This Country is half in Germany and half in Italy, so that they use both Languages, The chief Towns are,
I. Coyra, the Metropolis of the Grissons, seated about half an hours journey from the Rhene. For form it is a triangular; the Houses indifferent handsom, but not uniform, form, one within another. 2. Musocco 3. Bormia. In this countrey they have free use of Religion, both they of the Romish, and they of the Reformed Churches.

Suevia or Schwaben hath on the East, Sueviais Bavaria; West, Danubius; North, Franconia; and South, Tyrolis and the Grissons. The chief Towns are, I Ulm, fo call'd from the company of Elms which inviron it. 2. Lindair: this is a free City and it is almost an Island, seated in the Lake called Acronius. 3. Auspurg: this is a stately Gity, the beauty whereof lyeth on the West-side; the Houses being built upon a Hill, are of free-stone, fix or feven roofs high. Also there be many Palaces built of the Fugares, and other Citizens; but in other places it is more Poorly built. 4. Norlingen. 5. Wherlingen. 6. Ravensperg, all imperial Towns.

The Countrey of Suevia is full of people, and those of goodly Personages, great wit, and valiant. In this Province is the head of the great River Danubius, which runs through the middle of this Country: The City Auspurgh is a Mar-quisate.

Helvetia, (or Swizzerland) is almost Helvetia.

Situate among the Alpes, and therefore fupposed to be the highest Region in Europe; and the rather, because the most famous.

Germany. famous rivers in those parts of the world, (viz.) Rone, Rhodan and Po, falling from those high places disperse their channels through Christendom. It is bounded on the East with Tyrolis; North, with Lorrain; West, with France; and South, with Italy. The length of it is 240 and the breadth 180 miles. The chief Cities are, 1. Zurich + this City is one of the Cantons of Swizzerland, and is divided in the midst by the Lake Zurechsea, having three Bridges for passage, the greater whereof the Merchants use for their meetings. The Streets are narrow, and the Houses built of timber and clay, and the City it self is seated upon and between Hills, 2. Basil, now one of the Swizzers Cantons. Herein was that famous Council held by Eugenius the Pope, in the year 1431. 3. Constance, seated on the Bodeuse, over against Lindaw. It is within the Confines of Swizzerland, but belongeth to the House of Austria. This Town is famous by a Councel held there, where John Hus was condemned of Herefie, and burned. Near unto the City in a fair Meadow and the Stone to which he was bound when he was burnt; where also his fellow, Jerom of Prague, was burnt in September the year following. 4. Berne: this City is built upon a Mountain, yet it seems to be seated on a Valley, because it is compassed with mountains. The Houses are uniformly and fairly built of free-stone, and round about this Mountain the Citizens have their Gardens, so that it is a most fair and pleasant City. 5. Baden, feated in the Midst of the Countrey, and is for that cause the place of meeting for the Council of Estate, Near unto this City are the famous hot Bathes being 30 in number.

feems

This Country of Helvetia or Swizzerland contains 13 Cantons; Zurich, Berne, Lucerne, Prenii, Glaris, Zugh, Basil, Friburg, Schaffhansen, Apensel, Soloturn, Vadenew, and Suits. The City Baden is a Marquisate. Alsatia hath West, Lorrain; South Alsatia. Helvetia; East, the Rhene; and North, the Palatinate. The chief City is Strafburg: this City is in circuit three hours walking; the Building and Churches are fair and high, of free-stone; most of the Streets are narrow, but those divided by the water are broader. Many things in this City are remarkable, but especially the steeple of the Cathedral Church, which is counted one of the 7 miracles of the world: the Clock hereof is of all other the most famous. 2. Psaltburg. 3. Wesenberg.

The lower Germany is divided into Fran conia, Bobemia and its territories; the three Electorates of the Palatinate, Brandenburg, and Saxony, with its members, Pomerania, Medenburg, Brunswick, Luneberg, Hassia, East Friez-Bohemia land, Westphalia, Cleveland, and Veterais reckon- via, or Weteraw.

Fronconia Franconia is an ancient & noble Nation; it is bounded on the East, with Bohemia and Saxony; West, with Elfas, North, with Hassia; and South with Bavaria.

> The Inhabitants of this Province of Franconia, were converted to Christianity by Boniface. The Bishop of Weirzthere is entituled Duke of Franconia. In the Bishop of Bambergs limits stands Forchia where, they fay, Pontius Pilat was born.

> This Province hath many ancient and fair Cities; as namely Bamberg a Bishops seat: Weirztberg, and Mentz, or Metz both Bishops Seats; the latter whereof is the Seat of the chief Elector Bishop, and is a fair City, and well fortified: it is seated on a Hill, and in a fertil Soyl, fruitful of Corn, at this place was Pope Joan born, that famous Virago and only the Pope. The free Cities in this Province that belong to the Emperour, are. 1. Norimberg: this City is seated in a barren sandy ground, yet is very rich by the Citizens Industry. This is a most itately :

Germany.

stately City; the Buildings whereof are of free-stone, six or seven roofs high. In this City is a Granary, which is so large, as divers years provision may be laid up'therein. It hath also ten Churches whereof only four are used for Prayer. and Preaching. 2. Rottenberg, a very fair City. 3. Francfort this City is famous for the Electors meeting here to choose the Emperour, and for two yearly Fairs. It is compassed strongly with a double Wall; upon the East-side the Jews have a Street, who are permitted to dwell in this famous Mart-Town. This City is of a round form, seated in a large plain; the Streets are narrow, and the Houses being built of Timber and Clay, the foundation of some being laid of free-Stone. All the Province (excepting the free Cities, and the three Cities belonging to the Bishops) is subject to the Marquess of Brandenburg.

The Kingdom of Bohemia containeth Bohemia. Bobemia, the Dukedom of Silesia, the Marquisates of *Lusatia, and Moravia. It is in a manner round, and incompaffed with great Mountains. It contains in circuit 550 English miles; in which compassare comprehended 780 Cities, Walled Towns and Caltles 32000 Villages. The Soyl is pleasant and fruitful, a- Fertility. bounding

Germany.

Natures of the People.

bounding with Corn, Wood, Wine, and Grapes, and affords Gold & Silver, Copper, Iron, Tin and Lead great quantity. Thepeople for the most part live in great plenty and delicacy, much resembling the English. The Women, be very beautiful, but somewhat luxurious, and that with confent of their Husbands.

The Inhabitants generally are of tall and portly Personage, broad shouldred, and strong Breasted, generall Yellow haired, which they wear long and curled, of great spirit, which seldom goeth without Pride, Ambition, vain glory, and contempt of others. The King of Babemia is one of the seven Electors of the Emperour, and in case the other six be equally divided he hath the casting voice: at the Coronation of the Emperour he is Cup Bearer, and performs it himfelf in person if he be present.

The chief Cities are, 1. Prague, the Metropolis of Bohemia, feated on the River Mulda. It is a very great City, as being three Towns in one, each divided from other by the River Mulda, and all three conjoyn'd together by a wooden Bridge of 24 Arches. The Streets of this City are filthy; there be divers Market places; the Buildings of some houses are of free-Stone, but the most part of Timber and Clay, and are built with little.

little beauty or Att. The second Town of note is Egra, and the third is Budweis.

Silesia is in length 240, and in breadth Silesia 80 miles, it is a most delicate and plentiful Countrey, divided in the midst by the River Oder. The chief Cities are,

1. Breslaw, a Bishoprick. 2. Jadendorf.

3. Glogaw.

In this County of Silesia, the Air is fomewhat cold, but mild: and the Land Fertile. The Inhabitants good Husband Men to make the best. They have here a kind of forced Wine, which the meaner Sort Drink freely. The City Perslaw or Breslaw in this Country is one of the Stateliest Cities of Germany.

Lusatia: this Countrey although but Lusutia. little, is able to arm 20000 Foot as good as any in Germany. The chief Cities are, Gorliz, and Trabel on the River Nisse.

Lusatia is divided into the higher and Lower, and is watered with the River Nisso: it is very fruitful in most kind of Grain: And the Inhabitants though much imployed in husbandry yet are they a warlike people as most of Germany.

Moravia: this Countrey is the most Moravia fertil in Corn in all Germany; it aboundeth also with good and pleasant Wine; besides it hath also no small store of Myrth Myrrh and Frankincense. The chief Towns are 1. Brinne, the Seat of the Marquess. 2. Almutz, an University. This Country is very mountainous and woody; the people are very warlike and sierce, especially the Mountainers.

They are a People which use a kind of a confused mixt Language of Sclavonick Bohemick, and Teutonick This Countrey was formerly called Marcomanna, and received the latter name from Moravia, a River which runs through the Country.

The Ele- The Electorate of the Palatinate: His storate of Dominion contains the upper and low-tinate. er; the lower being the chief of the two, as being both richer and Larger, and the Seat of the Elector. It is called the lower, to distinguish it from the upper. This Palatinate is said to be the most pleasing and delicious part in all Germany, stored with all Fruits and Metals, abounding with those Wines which with us are called Rhenish Wines.

This Prince Electorate in the vacancy is Governor of a great part of Germany: at the Coronation of the Emperour he is Arch-Sewer, and placeth the Meat on the Emperours Table. The Rhenish Wines take their Name from the River Rhene. This Countrey of the Palatinate is about 96 miles long, and 72 broad. It is adorned with many Gallant

Towns

Towns; the chief whereof is, 1. Heidleberg, the seat of the Palfgrave. It is encompassed with high Mountains on the South, East, and North sides; but towards the West it hath its Suburbs, being longer than the City. 2. Openheim. 3. Crutznach. 4. Frankendale. On the East-side of this Countrey standeth Winheim and Lauden; on the West side are the Towns of Newstat and Keifers.

Opper Palatinate: this Countrey lyeth East and North of Bohemia. The upper Pochief Towns of it are, 1. Amberg, the latinate. birth-place of the present Elector, whose filver Mines yield yearly to the Prince's Coffers sixty Thousand Growns. 2. Newberg. 3. Castel, where the Palatinates of the Rhene when they journey in this Countrey, use to keep their Court. Saxony is bounded on the East, with Lusatia; west with Hassia; north, with Bruns- The Elewick; & South, with Franconia and Bobe- Storate mia. It containeth the Countreys of Tu- of Saxoringia, Misnia, Voitland, and Saxony. ny. Turingia is invironed with Hassia, Franconia, Misnia, and Saxony. It Comprehends the Principalities of Anhalt, and Mansfield. The Prince of Turingia is a Lantgrave, this Countrey though notabove 12 miles neither in length nor breadth according to the German miles; yet is very Rich and contains 12 Counties, as many many Abbies, 144 Cities, as many Towns, and above 2000 Vilages, and 25.0 Castles, as Maginus reports. The chief City is 1. Erdford, the Dukes Seat. This City is large and ancient, and one of the free Cities of the Empire. 2. Jene; an University of Physicians. Misnia is invironed with Bohemia, Voitland, Thuringia, and Saxony. The chief Towns are, 1. Dresden, seated on the Albis. This City is very fair, and strongly fortified, in which the Elector keeps his Court. It is of a round form, seated in a plain, running between two Mountains, but somewhat distant; and the Houses are fair built of free-Stone, four or five roofs high, whereof the highest roof after the Italian fashion, is little raised in steepness. 2. Leipzich is a famous University for Philosophers and Physitians. It is seated in a plain of most fruitful Corn ground; the Streets are fair, the Market-place large and stately; and such are the chief Houses, built of free-Stone, four roofs high. 3. Rochlits. 4. Misen; and 5. Wittenberg; seated in a Plain sandy ground: one Street lyes the whole length of the Town, being all the beauty thereof. Voitland is a little Countrey, South of Misnia.; whose chief Cities are, 1- Olnitz. 2. Werda. This Dukedom is seated almost in the midst of Germary; all of it togetheris imagined to be about the bigness of a third part of England.

In this Province of Saxony, was Luther born, at Isleben; this Prince Electorate is Lord Marshal, and bears the sword at the Emperours Coronation.

The Electorate of Brandenburg: The Elethis Marquisate is simited on the East, ctorate of with Poland; West, with Saxony; Branden-North with Pomerania; and South with Lusatia. It is in circuit 520 miles; in which are contained fifty Cities, and 64 walled Towns. The chief is, 1, Brandenburg, 2. Francfort and Oderam. It is an University, and situate in a Soyl most plentifully stored with Corn, and Wines. It is most famous for the Mart here kept. 3. Berlin, the Prince's Seat; it is situate on the River Spre. 4. Havelbourg, the Seat of a Bishop. This Marquisate is divided into the New and old; the River Odera watering the last, the Albist the first.

And the Province Electorate thereof is chief Chamberlain, and serveth the Emperour with water to wash at the Coronation.

Pomerania hath on the East, the River Vistula; West, Medenburg; North, the Baltick Ocean; and South, Brandenburg. The chief Towns are, 1. Ste-tin, the Prince's Seat, and the Metropolis of the Countrey. 2. Wolgast 3. Wallin, once a famous Town, and flourished in traffick, but now decay'd. 4. Gripswald. 5. Newtrepon, a Sca-Town.

To this Province belong three Islands

Rugia, Wisedonia, and Volinia.

Medenburg.

Medenbourg is on the West-part of Pomeren. The chief Towns of it are, 1. Malchaw. 2. Sternberg. 3. Wismar.

4. Rostock an University.

Brunswick.

Brunswick, Lunebourg: these two Dukedomes are bounded on the East, Luneburg. with Brandenburg; West, with Westphalen; North, with Denmark; and South, with Saxony and Hassia. The chief Cities are, I. Brunswick. It is a free City of the Empire, strongly fortified, and not any way subject to the Emperor. 2. Wolfbaiten, where the Duke keeps his Court. 3. Halberstad a Bishops See. 4. Lunebourg. 5. Cala, the Seat of the Duke of Lunebourg.

Hassia.

Hassia, this Lantgravedom is invironed on the East, with Saxony, South, with Franconia; and West, and North, with Westphalen.

This Hassia, is a Mountainous Countrey but fruitful.

The chief Towns are, 1. Dormstad, the Seat and Inheritance of the youngest. House of the Lantgraves. 2. Marpurg, an University, and the Seat of the second House of the Lantgraves. 3. Dryes. 4. Frankenbourg; and 5. Caffels, three Towns belonging to the elder Houseof the Lantgraves, whereof Caffels is chief, as being the Seat of their residence, This City is seated in a fruitful Countrey, and is well fortified with strong earthen Walls, and deep Ditches; yet are the Houses of no great beauty being composed for the most part of Wood, Thatch, and Clay. Unto this Province belongeth the County of Waldeck and Corbach. And also the Countyes of Naffaw, and Hannaw.

East-Frizeland hath on the West, the East-Ems; East, the Weser, South, Westpha- Friezlia; and North, the Sea, The chief land. Towns are, 1. Emden. This City lyes in the utmost borders of the Empire, and is only divided by the River Ems, from the United Provinces of the Netherlands

This City is fairly built of Brick, and is almost of a round form. It is an Earldom of it felf. 2. Oldenbourg, which hath an Earl of its own.

Westphalia is bounded on the East with westpha-Brunswick; West, with Belgium; lia. North, with the Sea; and South, with Hassia. This Countrey of Westphalia, is famous for Swine and Bacon, which we call Westphalia Hams, esteemed a great.

great dainty to commend a Feast.

The Northern Part of this Countrey is called Bremen, from the chief City Breme, the Bishop whereof is Lord of this Tract. The next part belongeth to the Duke of Saxony.

The chief Cities of which are, Clappenburg, Exenberg, and Alsdrop. The other parts belong to the Bishopricks of Cullen, Munster, and Triers.

1. The Bishoprick of Cullen containeth a great part of Westphalia. The chief City is, 1. Collen; the Arch-bishop whereof is said to be the second special Elector of the Empire, and Chancellour of Italy. 2. Ernance, or Andernach. 3. Lints. 4. Bonna, where the Bishop hath a Palace, esteemed to be one of the sairest Houses of Germany.

The Inhabitants of Cullen have received Tradition among them, that the bodies of the wife men, which came from the East to worship Christ are here Interred, None almost but have heard of the three Kings of Cullen.

The chief Towns under the Bishop of Munster are, 1. Warendorp. 2. Munster seated on the Ems.

The chief Towns belonging to the Bishop of Triers are, 1. Bopport, seated on the Moselle. 2. Engers. 3. Coblents. 4. Triers.

This is the Seat of the Chancellour of France, and third spiritual Elector; it is built on the Moselle.

Cleveland: this Dutchy containeth Cleveland Cleve, Gulick, Berge. The Dutchy of Cleve conjoyneth to Gilderland. The chief Cities are, 1. Cleve, 2. Calker.

3. Wesel. 4. Emmerick

The commodity of Cleve, is the Tophus stone, of which they make Cement.

2. The Dutchy of Gulick: The chief Citie is Aken, where the Emperour after his Election is invested with a filver Crown, and doth worship to a Clout, which they take to be our Siviour's Mantle, in which he was wrapped.

The Dutchy of Berge or Monte is in compass 130 miles. The chief Towns are, 1. Duseldorp. 2. Hattingen, and

3. Arusberg.

Veteravia: On the South-West of Veteravia Hassia is the Countrey of Veteravia, or Weteraw containing among others the Countrey, of Nassaw, Hannaw, and the free City of Friberg, situate in the midst of most pleasant and delicious Corn-Fields. The City Hannaw is distant from Francfort and Moenum ten miles, and is a County of it self. The next Town of Note to it is Windeck.

As for the County of Nassaw, it hath in it many prime Towns; as 1. Del-E linbourg linbourg, the principal. 2. Nassaw. 3. Catzenelbogen, an Earldom of it self; and 4. Hebron.

This

Denmark.

99

Thus much of Germany.

DERMARK.

DEnmark hath on the East, Mare Balticum; on the West, the German Ocean; on the North, Sweden; and on the South, Germany.

Situation

It is fituate near the Artick Circle, and therefore must needs be subject to great cold; howfoever, the misty Air caused by the frequent liles, doth in some sort mitigate the Extremity thereof.

Fertility.

The Soylof the Countrey is rather fit for pasture than herbage; for in regard of the Clime it cannot be expected that fruits thould grow here, which are only ripened by the heat of the Sun. They have Corn sufficient; and likewise feed such a multitude of Oxen that 50000 are said to be sent hence yearly into Germany.

Commodity.

Their other Commodities are Fish, Tallow, Furniture for Shipping, Armors, Ox-Hides, Buck-skins, wainscot, Firwood Filbeards, and the like: and great store store of goodly Horses, Cattel, Butter, and Cheese.

The People are naturally good Soul-Natures diers both by Sea and Land, fitter for the of the Sea than the Field. The Magistrate is People. wise rather by experience, than Study; the old Man covetous; the young Man thrifty; and the Merchant ambitious. The Women are of the same conditions as the Women of Belgium.

The men for the most part, are strong of Body, bigg boned, and of a terrible Countenance; ambitious of a glorious Death, rather than assuggish Idle life.

Their Diet is much like the Germans, Diet. and their Neighbours the Saxons. Their dainties are Bacon, and Salt meats; but the common people feed most on dryed Fishes.

It contains the Cimbrick Chersoness, the Islands of the Baltick, and part of Scandia.

The Cimbrick CHERSOPESS.

THis Chersoness hath on the South-West, the Albis; on the South-East, the River Trave; on the South, a little F 2 piece piece of Germany; and on all other parts, the Sea. It is in length 120 miles, and in breadth 80, and containeth 28 Cities, 4 Bishops Sees and 20 royal Castles or Palaces. It is divided into the Provinces of Holsatia, Dithmars, Slesia, and Juitland.

. Holsatia.

Holsatia is the most Southern province of Denmark, towards Germany, having on the North, Slessa; and on the other sides, the Sea. The chief Towns are, Niemunster, and Bramstead. Upon the Consines of Holst lye the fair Imperial Cities of Lubeck and Hamburg.

Dithmars

Dithmars, taketh up the West-side of this Chersonesus. The principal Towns of it are, Marnes, and Meldorp.

This Countrey of Dithmars, is fituated betwixt the Rivers Albis and Endera; and is the Title to the first Son of the King of Denmark, as Wales is to England, and Dolphine to France: The Metropolis of this Countrey is Breme.

The Soyl by reason of the moist Air and many Marshes is generally unsit for Tillage, and indeed unpassable for Travellers: upon which Impediments the Inhabitants have made this Advantage, to keep out all forrein Invaders, and appropriate what wealth they have to their own secure possession.

Slesia hath on the North, Juitland; and South, Holst. The chief Towns are, Sleswick, Goterpe, and London, an Haven-Town situate upon the River Ender.

Juitland is the most Northern part Juitland. of this Cherfoness. The chief Towns of it are, Rincopen, Nicopen, Haine, and Arhausen.

This Countrey of fuitland is a fruitful Region, for wheat, Rice, Barly &c. and transports into other Countreys great store of good Horses for Service, besides Barly, Cheese, Butter, Suet, Hides, and Rich skins, Nuts, and Fish.

The Baltick Islands are in number 35, The Baltands and are so called, because they lye dispertick sed in the Baltick Sea. Of these, Eight Islands are of more special note, viz. Zeeland, Fionia, Barnbolm, and Finera, Laglant, Loylant, Mæna, and Falsteria.

I. Zeeland is in length 64 miles, and zeeland. in breadth 52. It containes the 7 strong Castles belonging to the King and about 13 Cities. The chief is Haffen or, Hafinia, call'd by the Germans, Copenhagen. It is the Kings Seat, yet of no great beauty. It is of a round form; and the Houses are of Timber and Clay. It hath a fair Market-place, and is reasonably well fortified. The Castle of the King is built of free-stone in a Quadrangle. This Copenhagen is an university, and all there is within the King of Denmarks Government.

Slesia.

vernment. 2. Helsinura, standing on the Sca-side. At this Town the Mariners which are to pass the Sound, use to pay their Custome. 3. Roschilt, the sepulchres of the Danish Princes; it is not walled, yet hath it the title of a City.

Fionia.

2. Fionia contains in it 8 Towns; the principal whereofare, Ottonium, or O-sel, and Sweinbourgh.

This Countrey is 12 miles in length, and four in breadth, a pleasant Region, Fertile, and Fruitfull, the second to Zeeland in bigness and plenty of rich Commodities.

Bornhol-Met.

3. Bornholmia is situate on the Baltick Sea, not far from Gotbland The chief City is called Bornbolm.

This Countrey is full of Butter and Cheese, Wool, Hides, &c. And sends into other Countreys much of her Provifion for Victuals, powdered and Barrelled up.

Simila.

4. Finera is the Island in which Tyco Brahe, that famous Mathematician, built an artificial Tower, wherein are many rare Mathematical Instruments. The chief Tewn is Petersborne.

The Castle built by Tycho Brahe, is called Vraintourg.

Laglant.

5. Laglant, is seven mil s in length, and hath in it many Villages and fair Buildings, the City Kutheopinga, and the the Castle Trancura.

6. Loylant, is so full of Hazels that Loylant. they fraught Ships with Nuts, and Traffick for them into many other Countrevs: the chief Towns are Nistad, Nasco, Togropp, Rothus, and Marilus.

7. Mona, in this Island stands the Mana:

City Steck, and Elmelanda.

8. Falsteria, is in length four miles, Falstera: her Cities are Stubegopen, and Nicopen, a pleasant and fair one, for which she is by some styled the Neopolis of Denmark.

Scandia is invironed with the Seas, save Scandia. where it is joyned to Muscowy. It lieth part on this side, part beyond the Artick-Circle; so that the longest day in the more Northern part is about three moneths. It contains the Kingdoms of Denmark, Norway, and Swedeland. That part which belongeth to Denmark is situate on the South of this Peninsula, and is divided into three Provinces, viz. Hallandia, Scania, and Blescida.

I. Hallandia hath on the North, Hallan-Sweedeland; and South Scania. The dia.

chief Town is Halanego.

2. Scania hath on the South, Hallan-Stania. dia; on all other parts, the Sea. It is in length 72 miles, and 48 in breadth, and is the pleasantest Countrey in all Denmark, most abundant in Fruits, and most most rich in Merchandise. The chief Towns are, 1. Lonpen, a great Haven-Town. 2. Elbogen. 3. Falskerbode. Here is Elsimbourg, one of the keys which openeth into the Sound.

This Countrey is faid to abound with dainty Rivers, store of Fish and Cattel, Mines of Iron, Lead, Silver, and Gold.

Blescida.

3. Blescida hathon the North, Swedeland. It is a Mountainous and barren Countrey. The chief Towns are, I. Malmogia. 2. Colmar, a strong Fortress against the Swedelander.

At Malmogia was Casparus Bartholinus born, a late approved Author in the Arts.

PORMED.

Orwey on the East respecteth Denmark; on the West it is bounded with the Ocean, on the South, lyeth Suevia; and on the North, it is separated from Lapland.

Fertility.

The Land of it self is not sufficiently fruitfu!, and towards the North yieldeth no fort of Corn, therefore the Inhabitants instead of Bread eat dryed Fish, called by us, Stock-Fish, which is transported through Europe, in exchange of Corn. The Swedeland.

The Countrey, especially the South-Commoern part, transports rich Furrs, Tallow, dity. Butter, Tanned Leather, Train-Oyl, Pitch, Clap-boards, all forts of Timber-Works, and Masts, Firr-wood and that with great ease and little charge.

Their buildings are base and poor; Natures. the Inhabitants honeit, lovers of Stran- of the gers; liberal of gift; and most serviceable. Amongst them are neither Filchiers, Thieves, nor Pirats. Their chief towns are, 1. Nidrosia, the See of an Archbishop, who is Metropolitan of Norwey. 2. Bergen, one of the four Ancient Mart-Towns of Europe. 3. Anfloyn, a Bishops See.

> Thus much of Denmark, and Norwey,

SWEDELARD.

Wedeland is bounded on the East, with Muscovy; on the west, with the Dofrine Hills; on the North, with the frozen Seas; and on the South with the Baltick Seas This Countrey alone without the adjacent Provinces of Lappia, Scricsinia and Biarmia, is little less than Italy and France joyned together; and with the Additions of the said Nation, is bigger by a tract of 900 miles.

F 5 Ono

Fertility. The Soyl is so fertil, that to see a beggar is a difficult matter; and the Air is dity.

fo healthful, that it is ordinary to fee Men of an 130 or 140 years of age. It a-Commo- boundeth with Mines of Lead, Copper, and Silver, which are transported into other Nations; together with Hides of Bucks, Goats, and Oxen, Tallow, Tar, Barley, Malt, and Furrs.

Natures of the people.

The People participate much in nanature with the Norweians, hospitable and valiant as they.

It containesh the Provinces of Lapland, Finland, Gothland, and Sweden.

Lappia.

Lappia is the most Northern part of all Scandia, and is divided into the Eastern, containing Biarmia and Corelia, which belongeth unto the Duke of Rufsia; and the Western comprehending Lappia and Scricsinia, which are under the King of Sweden.

These two Provinces use to give worship and divine honour to that living creature, whatere it be, which they see at their first going out of their doors in the morning; and are so poor, that they pay unto the King of Sweden for tribute, rich Skins and Furrs.

The Inhabitants of this Countrey of Lapland, are much given to Witchcraft and live to a great Age, of 140 years. Fin-

Finland is situate between the Baltick Finland. Sea, and the Finland Bay. The chief Towns are, 1. Abo, a Bishops Seat. 2. Narve, a place of great strength: Rangina and Augo, both famous Mart-Towns; Vames, Viburg. and Cafteholme, places of good strength.

This Countrey is called Finland, quasi Fine-land, as being a very fine brave Countrey.

Gothland is the best and richest Pro-Gothland vince of the North. It is divided into Iland and Continent; the Island is feated in the Baltick Seas, being in length 18 miles, and five in breadth. The Continent of Gothia, is the hithermost part of Scandia, next to Denmark. The chief Cities are, 1. Stockholme, seated after the manner of Venice. 2. Lodusia, a Town of great traffick. 3. Waldbourge, a well fortified place; and 4. Colmar, famous for its impregnable Castle.

This Countrey is called Gothland, quasi Goodland, the Soyl being very fruitful for Corn, and Cattel, affording also plenty of mines, with great store of Fish, and generally a better conditioned Countrey, than any of the rest of these Northern Regions.

Sweden is fituate on the South of sweden. Gothland. The Countrey is very fruitful and delicious, unless in some places, where.

where the cragginess of the Mountains maketh it more barren, and less pleasant. The chief Cities of it are, 1. Upsal, a famous Bishoprick. 2. Nicopia, a Sea-Town of good strength. 3. Copperdel. famous for its abundance of Brass. There is also Finmach, bordering on the Northern Ocean, whose Inhabitants be Witches, and Idolaters; they use to sell windes to Merchants, to carry their Ship to any Port. Bodia is also under his Dominion; whose chief Town is Helsinga, honoured with the title of a Dukedom.

This Countrey of Bodia, is not very plentiful of Grain or Fruits but full of great variety of wild Beasts, whose rich skins yield great profit to the Inhabi-Thus much of Sweden. tants.

Moscoby, or Russia.

Moscovy, is bounded on the East, with Tartary; on the West, with Livonia, Lituania, and part of Sweden; on the North, with the Frazen-Ocean, and on the South, with Mare Caspium, the Turks, and Palus Maotis. This Countrey containeth in length from East to West 3300 miles, and in breadth breadth 3065 miles. This Countrey is also known by the name of Russia Alba; the whole Region is subject to the Emperour of Russia.

It is situate partly in Europe, partly Situation in Asia, which separation is caused by the River Tanais, bounder of Asia, and running through the middle of the Countrey.

The People are for the most part of a fquare proportion; broad, short, and thick; gray-ey'd, and broad bearded; the Commons live in miserable subje-Ction to the Nobles, and they again in as great flavery to the Duke or Emperour. they are perfidious, unnatural, and ma- Natures licious; altogether unlearned; even of the the Priests themselves are meanly indoctrinated; it being cautionated by the Great Duke that there be no Schools, lest there should be any Scholars befides himself, the women are private, fearful to offend, but once lascivious, intolerably wanton. It is the fashion of those women to love that Husband best which beateth them most, and to think themselves neither loved nor regarded, unless they be foundly swadled two or three times a day.

The People are generally very base, contentious, Ignorant, and fottifuly Superstitious; they Bury their Dead upright, right, with a Staff in his hand, and a penny in his purse, and a Letter to Saint Nicholas, to procure him enterance into Heaven.

Badia.

Cities.

IIO

The chief City of this Kingdom is Mosco, where both the Emperour and Patriarch refideth. Roscovia and Novogrod are the Seats of Arch-bishops; the latter of these containeth about 20000 Housholds, and was one of the four ancient Mart-Towns of Europe. Vologda, Smolensko, and Plescovia, the only walled-town in Muscovy, Mosayce; St. Nicholas, Sugana, Ustium, Gargapolia, are Bishopricks.

The foyl, and Climate.

The Soyl of this Countrey is of a flight, fandy mould, yet very much different one place from another, for such things as grow out of the earth. Northwards towards the Port of St. Nicholas, and Chola; and North-Eastward towards Siberia, it is barren, and full of defart Woods, by reason of the Climate, and extremity of cold. So likewife along the River Volga, betwixt the Countreys of Casan and Arstrachan, notwithstanding the Soyl be fruitful, it is ill inhabited, faving that upon the West-side the Emperour hath some few Castles and Garrisons in them. From Fologda, that lyeth almost 1700 versts from the Port of St. Nicholas down towards Mosco, and so toward toward the South parts that border on the Crim, containing the like space of 1700 versts, it is a very pleasant and fruitful Countrey, yielding pasture and Corn, with Wood, and water, in great store and plenty. The like is between Rezan, (lying South-East from Mosco to Novogrode and Vobseo, that reacheth farthest toward the North-West. So betwixt Mosco and Smolensko, (that lyeth South-West towards Lituania) is a very fruitful and pleasant Soyl.

Muscoby.

For the most part it is covered with woods and Lakes. Here grow the goodliest and tallest Trees of the world; an unspeakable deal of Rozin distilleth from them. Here is the never wasting Fountain of Wax and Honey; for without the industry of Man, the Bees make their Hives in the barks and hollows of trees. Here is also plenty of Cattel and wild Beafts, as Bears, Mastives, Wolves, and black Foxes, whose skins do bear high prices.

The native Commodites are, Furrs, Riches Sables, Martines, White Fox, and the and Comlike; Corn, Fruits, and Cattel, Wax, modities. Honey, Tallow, Hides, Train-Oyl, Cavear, Hemp, Flax, Tar, Slad, Salt-petre, Brimstone, and Iron. these wares they barter for Cloth, and divers other Commodities, which the Armenians bring to Astrachan by the Caspian Sea, and the English to St. Nicholas, by the Bay of Graduicam. They will not suffer any Stranger to enter into their Countrey, further than the necessity of vending their Commodities and taking in of forreign doth inforce them.

Government.

This Government is more tyrannical than any other Prince in the world; for he is absolute Lord and disposer both of the bodies and goods of his subjects.

In matter of Ceremony they follow the Greek Church. The Priests marry; and maintain adoration of Images; fait, and compell to confession.

Thus much of Moscovy.

POLAND.

Doland is limited on the East, with Boristhenes, which parteth it from Moscovy; on the West, with Vistula, which parteth it from Germany; on the North, with the Baltick-Sea, and Sinus Finnicus; and on the South, with Hungary.

Situation In general, Poland is subject to as great cold as the lower part of Germany, lying under the same parallel; and the Countreys as they lye more Northerly, fo they fuffer more cold: they use stones heated with earthen Ovens, for remedy against the cold, as the Germans do.

Poland.

Poland aboundeth with Beasts, as Fertility. well wild as tame, and yieldeth excellent Horses, not great, but quick and stirring; neither do the Gentlemen more delight in any thing than in their Horses, so as they hang gold Chains and Jewels at their ears, and paint them half over with exquisite colours. It likewise aboundeth with Fish, White-meat, Birds, fresh-water-Fish, (it being far within land) and all kinde of Pulse, as Peafe, and the like. It hath some Mines of Gold and filver, towards the Carpatian Mountains of Hungary.

. The chief commodities that go from The nahence are Wax, Flax, Linnen Cloaths tural made thereof, Hemp, Pitch, Masts for Commo-Ships, boards, and timber, rich furrs dities. Salt digged out of pirs, Amber, Sopeafthes, and all kind of Grain, especially Rye, which hath made Dant sick samous for relieving all Nations therewith in time of dearth.

This Countrey hath store also of milk, butter, cheese, and Rozin, &c. And in her Forrests is seen a kind of wilde Horse, with an horn like an Harts horn; and the Alces &c.

The People are very Industrious and studi-

People.

Natures studious of all Languages, especially the Latin, in which they are so devoted, that you shall hardly find a mean man which is not able in some measure to express himself in that tongue. They are according to their abilities rather prodigal than truely liberal; and are generally good Souldiers. The gentlemen free; the Peasants in miserable Subjection to their Lords; proud they are, and impatient; delicious in Diet; and coally in their attire.

Theft is a vice not yet known to the Polanders, on Peasant here is suffer'd to bear Arms, but only their Nobility, and Gentry of place in their common-wealth. All kinds of Religion are here tolerated; their King is chosen by the general States, and is for the most part some great warriour of their neighbouring Princes: for they have no peace on their East Limits, with the Muscovites, and Tartars, but what they make with their fword.

The women are for the most part indifferently fair, and rather witty, than well spoken.

The chief Provinces of this Kingdome are, 1. Livonia. 2. Lituania. 3. Volinia. 4. Samogitia. 5. Podolia. 6. Russia Nigra. 7. Mazovio. 8. Prussia. 9. Podlassia; and 10. Poland.

Livonia hath on the East, Moscowy; on Livonia. -the West, the Baltick Sea', North, Finland, and South, Lituania. It is in length 500 in breadth 160 miles, and is a Country exceding Mountainous and fenny, yet withal fo abundantly fruitful, that no fmall store of provision is fent hence into other Countreys. The chief towns are, 1. Riga, an Arch-bishops Sea. 2. Derpt, a town of great commerce. 3. Rivalia, astrong fort in the hands of the Swedelander; so also is Narve.

Poland.

This Countrey hath cattel good store wild and tame, especially Horses. They have honey, wax, &c. enough to exchange with other Countreys for wine and oyl, for this yields little or none. About some 12 miles from the Continent is the oyl of Ofel.

Lituania is a most large Province, sen-Lituania. ny and woody, fo as in fummer-time there is no passage into it, but in the winter when the Fens are frozen, Merchants trade with the Inhabitants. The chief Cities are, 1. Vilna, the Metropolitan City, the Seat of a Bishop, and an University. 2. Vilcomire. 3. Brestia. They have plenty of honey, wax, wilde Beafts, and rich Furrs, but they scarce know the use of money.

This Countrey bath great want of corn, wine, salt, &c. The People are of a Savish flavish disposition, and the women have a freedom by custom to keep many Stallions, which their Husbands love as themselves, and call them their Adjutories: but the men may by no means play false. their condemned persons (be it to death) must execute themselves, or be tormented till they expire; the City Norigredam in this Countrey by report is larger than Rome.

Volinia.

Volinia is invironed with Lituania, Podolia, and Russia; the people are strong and warlike, the chief Towns are Kiovia, and Circassia, on the Banks of the River Neiper; it is a small woody Province, but very fertil.

Samogi-. tia.

Samogitia, whose Inhabitants are most Idolaters. It hath no walled town, but the people live in Cottages; being rude, and of great stature. It is a Northern Region, having Livonia, North; and the Baltick Sea, West. It is very woody, and in the midst of the trees is sound excellent Honey.

The Peasants of this Countrey, are truely so indeed, for they reckon themfelves but little better than their Cattel, living under the same Rooff with them, without any partition between the Lodgings of the one and the other: the filly Blasphemers nourish in their House a poor Snake (like themselves) gathered out of some Ditch, and call it their God.

Podolia aboundeth with excellent pa-Podolia. stures, and the ground is so fertil that of one sowing they have three harvests. The chief Cities are, I Camienza, seated on a Rock. 2. Orkzacow. 3. Winiecza.

This Countrey of Podolia, is but very thinly and poorly Inhabited, by reason of the often incursions of the Tartars, who use great cruelty in their Victories.

Russia nigra hath on the East, Podolia; Russia ni-West, Poland; North and South, Hungara. gary. The chief towns are, 1. Leopolis, or Lemburg. 2. Grodeck, 3. Luckza. It is a very fruitful Countrey, well stored with fair Houses and numerous heards of Cattel.

The people of this Countrey are valiant, and in their Fights use weapons of exceeding weight and bigness: her Prince is intituled Duke: the name of King they will not endure. This Province concains these territories Leopoliensis, Lunt-Burg, Haliciensis, Belzensis, Pramistiens, &c. It is called Russia Nigra, to distinguish it from Moscovy called also Russia Alba.

Prussia or Borussia hath South, Ma-Prussia. zovia; North, the Baltick Sea; East, Lituania; and West, the River Vistula This Countrey yieldeth abundance of Amber. The chief Cities are, 1. Dantzick, out

zick, where are daily fold 1000 meafures of wheat; it is situated in Pomerania, but subject unto the Polonian. This is a very fair City; the Houses for the most part are built of Stone or Brick, six or feven roofs high. The Garners for laying up of Corn are very fair, and very many lying together, in which the Citizens lay up Corn brought out of Poland, and according to the wants of Europe, carry it into many Kingdoms. 2. Mons Regius, call'd by the Germans, Koningsberg, and by us, Regimount. It is the most famous University in these parts. 3. Holsperg. 4. Maneburg; and 5. Culme.

The chief commodity of this Countrey is Leather, which we call Russia-

Leather.

Podlassia.

Podlassia hath East, Lituania; and West, Mazovia. The chief towns are, 1. Tycokzin, a Fort well furnished with Munition, as being the place wherein the Kings treasure is reserved. 2. Biesco. 3. Knissen, where the Kings of Poland have a fine retiring House, as being well furnished with fishing Ponds, and Parks, abundantly stored with Game.

Mazovia.

Mazovia lyeth West of Podlassia. The chief City is Warsaw, where the Parliaments of this Kingdom are held. Poland, hath on the East Lithania; West, Hungary.

West, Germany; North, Mazovia; and South Podolia. The Metropolisis, Cracovia, feated on the banks of Vistula; here the Kingand Councel reside. The buildings are very fair, of free-Stone, four roofs high, but covered with tiles of wood for the most part. It is of a round form, but somewhat longer from the East to the West. In the midst of the City is a large Market-place, wherein is a Cathedral Church; and in the midst of the Market-place is the Senate-house for the City, about which are many Shops of Merchants. 2. Lublin. 3. Guisna, an Arch bishoprick. 4, Bosnau; and 5. Ladislavia seated on the River Vistula. The Bishop of Guisna is Primate of the Kingdom, and during the Interregnum hath the power of a Prince, & Crowns the new King at his Inauguration.

Thus much of Poland.

HURBAKY.

Hongary is bounded on the Eat, with Transilvania and Wallachia; on the West, with Austria; North, with Poland; and South, with Sclavenia.

It was formerly called Panonia inferior, rior, to distinguish it from Austria; which was called, Panonia Superior.

Hungary.

Situation

It is situate in the Northern temperate Zone, under the seven and nine Climates. This Countrey by some hath been flyled the Cock-pit of the world, where once in a year at least a prize is played, and some ground either won or lost, by the Turks or Hungarians.

Fertility.

The Soyl is wonderful fruitful, yielding Cornthere thrice in a year; the Grass in some places (as in the Island of Comera) exceeding the height of a man, which doth feed fuch a number of Cattel, that this Countrey alone is thought to be able to feed all Europe with fleth. It hath also fruits of all kinds in abundance, and Grapes which make an excellent, wholesom, and rich wine: Venison is here no dainty; Does, Hares, Harts, Goats, Boars, &c. are every mans meat, and the Game common, aswell to the Boors as the Gentry.

Also they have Deer, Partridge, Pheafant, in fuch abundance, that any man that will may kill them; which in other places is prohibited, these creatures being referved as Game for Gentlemen.

The other Commodities which are transported, are Gold, Silver, Fish, Copper, Wine, Iron, and Steel.

The People for the most part are ftrong, strong, sierce, revengeful, harsh to strangers: briefly ill mannered and worse learned; for they affect not either Liberal Arts or Mechanick Trades, yet one great father of the Church, St. Hierome, had his birth-place here: they even hate to put up the name of a coward, yet the person charged may not acquit himself upon his upbraider, but must make good his honour in single combate with a Turk when he hath overcome him (and no: till then) he may (by order of the Count trey) wear a Feather, as a note of his true Gentility. In this Countrey if males fail, the Estate is forfeited to the common Treasury: for it descends not here to Daughters; they have no portion with their wives but a wedding-Garment: and till they be Married, neither Men nor Women are accustomed here to lie in Beds; it is thought there are more Protestants than Papists here.

This Kingdome now standeth divided betwixt the Turk and Hungarian; the Turk. former having 1. Buda, once the Metropolis of the Countrey, and Court of the Kings. 2. Gyula, a strong Town in the confines of Transilvania. 3. Pest, over against Buda. 4. Alba Regalis, called by the Germans, Weisenberg. 5. Quinque Ecclesia; and 6. Jaurinum, or Rab.

7. Newbansel.

Nature of the people. Emperour.

In the Emperours part the chief towns are, 1. Presberg, seated hard upon the edge of Austria; it hath been the Metropolis of Hungary, since the taking of Buda by the Turks. 2. Strigonium, or Gran. 3. Agraria. 4. Commora, in an Isle so called. 5. Tellac. 6. Camsta. 7. Alkenbourg.

TRAPSPLUAD IA.

This Countrey hath nature it self both fortified and honoured; for the woods and Hereynian Mountains do round about inviron it. The length of it is 225 English miles, and the breadth 200.

It is bounded on the North, with the Carpathian Hills; on the South, with Wallachia; on the West, with Hungaria; and on the East, with Moldavia.

Their chief Towns are, 1. Weisenberg. 2. Clausenberg. The whole Countrey is fruitful in one Commodity or other; Corn, Beeves, Fish, and Mutton they have great plenty, and very cheap. It is very rich in Salt-pits, Stone-quarries, and Mines both of Gold and Silver, Iron, Quick-silver, and other Metals.

It breeds also fair and sierce Horses, and wilde Bulls; indeed their men in some fome parts are not very tame, for towards the North they live most upon the spoyl, warring continually with the Turks and Germans; and acknowledge no difference of worth among themselves. Their Government or rather want of Government is compared to the Helvetian. There Places they have (Hisay, Corbay, and Scepty) whither they resort to determine of their State-business.

Sclavonia.

Thus much of Hungary and Transylvania.

SCLAUDRIA.

Sclavonia hath on the East, the River Drinus, and a line drawn from thence to the Sea; on the West, part of Italy; on the North, Hungary; and on the South, the Adriatick Sea.

It is in length 480 miles, and 120 in Situation in breadth. It is fituated under the fix and seven Climates; the longest day being fifteen hours and an half.

This Countrey is more fit for grazing Fertiles, than for harvesting; for the Sheep and other Cattel bring forth young twice a year and are shorn four times.

The people are couragious, proud, and stubborn, and use their own Sclavonian

G 2

toague,

tongue. They are of the Christian Faith, and follow the Greek Church. It is dividedinto Illyris, Dalmatia, and Croatia. The meaner fort will tugg lustily at an Oare, and are by their Soveraigns of Venice (fuch of them as remain under that State) imployed to that purpose. The women not marryed till the age of 24, nor the men until thirty; perhaps the cause of their strength, and so big Proportions: or for that they are bred in a Mountainous Countrey, who are generally observed to oversize those that dwell on low Levels. 3000 Horsemen of this Countrey and the Islands hereabout, are inrolled in the Venetian Militia. The Men wear half sleeved gowns of Violet-Cloth, with Bonnets of the same: they nourish only a Lock of Hair on the Crown of their Heads, the rest is all shaven off. The Women wear theirs not long, and dye them black for the most part.

Illyris.

Illyris was once the name of the whole Province, but is now accommodated to one part. It hath on the East, Danubius; West, Carniola; North Draws; and South Saws. The chief Cities are, 1. Zatha, on Danubius. 2. Zacaecz. 3. Windishgretz, on Draws; and 4. Sagona, nigh unto Saws. This is now a member of the Kingdom of Hungary.

Dal-

Dalmatia hath on the East, Drinus; Dalmatian West, Croatia; North, Savus; and South, the Adriatick Sea. The chief Cities are, 1. Ragusa, situate on the Adriatick Sea; a City of great traffick and riches: it is tributary to the Turks. 2. Sebenicum, or Sicum, standing on the Sea-shore. 3. Zara, or fadera, on the same shore. 4. Scorda, or Scrutary; and 6. Lissa. It is now divided betwixt the Venetians, (who keep the greatest part) and the Turk.

Croatia, called by the Ancients Li-Croatia. I burnia, and Valeria, hath on the East and South, Dalmatia; North, Savus; and West, Isria and Carniola. The chief towns are, 1. Gardiska, situate on Savus.

2. Bruman. 3. Novigrod, situate on the Savus also, hard upon Germany; and

4. Sisseighk.

The Croatians are generally called Crabats: their Countrey hath the Title of a Dukedom, and is subject partly to the Austrian, and partly to the Venetian.

Thus much of Sclavonia.

Q OF

Of ASJA,

SIA is the greatest and vastest part of the world, exceeding Europe and Africk both in largeness and circuit.

Upon three parts it is bounded with the Vast Ocean, sirnamed the Orient; on the South, with the Indian; upon the North, with the Scythian; upon the West, it is somewhere disjoyned from Europe and Africk with the Red Sea; somewhere with the Mediterranean; somewhere with the Euxine; and somewhere with the River Tanais.

Through the midle runs the mount Taurus, at full length with the whole Continent of Asia; and divides it towards the North and South, into Asiam Exteriorem, and Interiorem: with somany windings, that the length is reckoned about 6250 English miles. Generally it enjoyeth a most excellent temperature of Air, and is so rich and sertil, that it excelleth all Countreys whatsoever. For here are to be found divers forts of living creatures, and plants, the like whereof the whole world affordeth not; as Balm, Sugar Canes, Frankincense, Myrth, Myrrh, Cassia, Cinamon, Nutmegs, Pepper, Sassron, Sweet wood, Musk, and divers other forts of Drugs and Odours; excellent Gold, all forts of Minerals and precious stones.

Of Beasts it affordesh the Elephant and Camel, with divers strange fort, both wilde and tame.

The People are of excellent wits, exceeding rich and happy in all good things.

This Countrey hath worn the Garland of super-eminency: 1. Because here man was created, 2. Here was our Saviour Christ born, wrought his divine miracles, and suffered for our salvation, 3. Here were done the Actions memorized by the holy Pen-Men, mention'd in the Old and New Testament.

The principal Regions are, 1. Natolia. 2. Syria. 3. Palestine. 4. Armenia. 5. Arabia. 6. Media. 7. Assyria. 8. Mesopotamia. 9. Chaldea. 10. Persia. 11. Parthia. 12. Tartaria, 13. China. 14. India. 15. The Islands: a great part of which Regions are at this day possessed by the Turk.

G 4 Turky.

His

In Afia.

TURBY.

THe great Turk, commonly called the Grand Seigneur, for wealth, territory and command of Souldiery, all other Princes come short of him; witness the Countreys which he posses-Countrys feth : in Europe he possession all Davis, in Europe Grecie, all the Ægean Isles, and the Tau-rica Cher sone sus.

In Asia he possesseth wholly Asia minor, now Natolia, with all the Regions within the Propontis and Hellespont, as Phrygia, Galatia, Bithynia, Pontus, Lydia, Ceria, Paphlagonia, Lycia Magnesia, Capadocia, and Comegena. Near the Caspian he hath Georgia Menteglia, and Armenia; next hath he Assyria, Syria, Palestine, Mesopotamia, Judea, the three Arabies: to which if you add the Empire of Trebisond, you shall find him great Comptroller of the black Sea. Likewife all the Islands of the Archipelage, except some few, are under his subjecti-- on.

In Africk he possessein Ægypt, and the In Africk Kingdoms of Tunis and Algiers, and whatsoever he hath taken from Prester 70bn.

The fertility of the Soyl generally Fertility. through this vast Empire, is exceeding great, great, yet have they less plenty of all things than Europe; for they very spairingly, and only to serve necessity, fet, plant, or fow, by reason they have no free fruition of their own goods in the great tyranny under which they live, as well of the Emperour, as under Governours; and the general rapacity and licentiousness of the Souldiers.

They have divers kinds of Grain, as Wheat, the Grain call'd Milet, Barley, Oats, Rye, Peafe, and all kinds of pulfe, which for the kinds are like those of Enrope, but for the bigness are to be preferred before them. There is great abundance of Ryce, Flax, and Cotton growing in the Fields: they have good plenty of all kinds of cattel; yet are they no more industrious in grasing and feeding, than in sowing and planting. They have Hens, Ryce, Honey, Fruits, and Bread for daily food: they defire no other dainties, nor greater riches, fince they can neither enjoy their goods while they live, nor yet bequeath them at death; and nothing is more dangerous than to be accounted rich.

The Turks are generally well complexi- Natures oned, of good stature; proport onably of the compacted, no idle talkers, no doers of things superfluous, hot and venereous; servile to the Emperour, and zealous 🝜

lous in Religion. They nourish no Hair on their Heads, and therefore keep on of all sides, counting it an opprobrious thing to see any uncover their Head. In their familiar falutations they use to lay their hands on their bosom, and a little decline their bodies; but when they accost a Person of Rank, they bow aimost down to the ground, and kiss the hem of his Garment. They prefer as they pass the Streets the left hand before the right, as being master of his Sword with whom they walk, but in Constantinople they carry no Swords about them, but they thrust under their Girdles great crooked Knives of a Dagger-like fize, in Sheaths of Mettal, the hafts and Sheaths of many being fet with Stones; and some of themworth 500 Sultanies. Some of the people perfume their Beards and Turbants with Amber; and they never so much as make water but they wash both their hands and Privities, at which business they fequester themselves and couch to the Earth; Reviling the Christians whom they see pissing against a wall, and sometimes beating them. They use no exerercife but shooting, wherein they take as little pains as may be, fitting on Carpets in the shadow, and sending their Slaves for their Arrows. Every man is allowed four Wives of his own Religion, and as many Concubine-flaves as hee's able to keep of what Religion foever. If a Christian through Ignorance chance to wear Green Clothes there, he shall not only have them torn from off his back but be foundly beaten besides.

and

The Women are small of stature; for the most part ruddy, clear and smooth, as never russed with the weather; and often frequenting the Baths; they seldom go abroad, and then masked; lascivious within doors; pleasing in matters of incontinency; and they are accounted most beautifull which have the greatest eyes, and are of the blackest hue. These Women live in great awe and respect of their husbands, never sitting with him at the table, but waiting till he hath done, and then withdrawing into some by-room.

The Husbands may put away their Wives at pleasure: The Wives give Reverence to them as to their masters, and receive Chastisement from them, and that they hold to be an argument of the Husbands affection: no Male accompanies the wives above 12 years old, except they be Eunuches.

In their Diet they are very sparing, Diets and negligent, not using any pomp or magnificence. The richer fort sit like Taylors (bending with their knees) upon a Carpets, or on the Grass; and their table is so low, that they may well reach it fitting on the ground: they use no Knives, but seeth their Meat until it be very tender, that they may break it with their fingers; neither have they variety of Dishes, but one, all sitting in a round circle, fall upon one Dish, and talk not whilit they eat, but filently fall hard to work.

ble e

All the Turkish Houshold-stuff confists in one poor Pot to seeth Meat in; one Spoon of wood, one Cup of leather or wood, to drink in; a poor Bed or Mattress; yea often a single Coverled, and the Earth serves them for Bedstead, Table, and Stools.

Of those Countreys which the Turks term ROMANIA, anciently known by the Names of GREECE and Davia, Rreece is bounded on the East, with Uthe Egean Sea, the Heilespont, Propontis, and Thrace Bosphorus; on the west, with Italy, and the Adriatic Sea; on the North, with the Mountain Hamus; and on the South, the Ionian Sea.

Situation

132

The fituation of this Countrey is in the Normern temperate Zone under the 5 and 6 Climates. The

The Greeks were once brave Men, Natures found Scholars, and addicted to the love of the of virtue and civil behaviour; but now Greeks. they are an unconstant People, destitute of Learning, and the means to obtain it; uncivil, riotous, and fo lazy, that for the most part they endavour their profit no further than their Belly compels them. The Women for the most part are brown complexioned, exceedingly well-favoured, and excessively amorous: Painting they use very much, to keep themselves in grace with their Husbands: for when they once grow wrinkled, they are put to all the drudgery of the House.

Turky Bonania.

The Grecians are immoderate drinkers; they pledge one another in order, and he that calls for wine out of his turn is accounted uncivil: Their Glasses are little, but at every draught emptied, and when they have once drankhard, they observe no Rule, but provoke one another to excels. Never filent, and ever and anon kissing those that its next them on the Cheek and Fore-boad, and so likewife they do in their falutations after a long absence, and to those to whom they would give Affurance of their good Will.

The more natural Commodities that this Country affords, and from hence are transported into other Countreys, are, Wine Wine, Oyl, Copper, Vitriol, some Gold and Silver, Velvets, Damasks, and Tarquess-Grograms.

The ordinary division of this Countrey is into Peloponnesus, Achaia, Epirus, Albania, Macedonia, and Thessalia, Migdonia, and Thracia.

Pelopone-∫₩5•

Peloponnesus is a Peninsula rounded with the Sea, except where it is tyed to the main land of Greece, by an Isthmus of fix miles in breadth. Upon this Isthmus stood the renowned City of Corinth, in hearing of both Seas, and having a port unto either, to which City St. Faul wrote 2 Epistles, from Philippos, and of this City of Corinth was Silas Bishop.

This Peninsula is in compass 600 miles, and is at this day called Morea.

In this Countrey are contained the Provinces of Elis, Messenia, Arcadia, Luconia, Argolis, and Achaia propria.

1. The Countrey of Elis. hath East, Arcadia; West, the Ionian Sea; North, Achaia propria; and South, Messenia. The chief Cities are, 1. Elis 2. Olympicum, famous for the Statue of Jupiter Olympus, one of the seven wonders, being in height 60 cubits, composed of Goldand Ivory.

2. Messenia hath East, Arcady; Messenda. North, Elis; South and West, the Sea. It takes name from the Metropolis, Mer Messene now called Golfo di Coron. 2. Pilon, now Navarino.

3. Arcadia hath East, Laconia; West, Arcadia. Elis and Messene; and North, Achaia propria. The chief Cities are, 1. Psophis.

2. Mantinea. 3. Megalopolis.

4. Laconia hath East and South, the Laconia. Sea; North, Argolis, and West, Arcadia. The chief Cities are, 1. Lacedemon, once a famous Common-wealth. 2. Thalana, nigh unto which is the Lake Lerna, where Hercules slew the monster Hydra; and the Mount Tenarus, from whence he drew the three-headed Dog Cerberus.

5. Argolis, so called from the chief Argolis. City Argos. It hath East, and North, the Sea; West, Achaia propria; and South, Laconia. The 2d. City is Micene; and 3. Nema, where Hercules slew the Lions.

6. Achaia propria; the chief City is Achaia. Corintb, seated at the foot of the Acro Corinthium Hills.

Achaia hath on the East, the Ægean Sea; on the West, Epirus; on the North, Thessaly; and South, Peleponnesus. It is divided into Attica, Megaris, Botia, Phocis, Ætolia, Doris, and Locris.

The chief City of this Countrey is Athens, seated in Attica, from this place St. Paul wrote his first and second Epi-solon, Aristotle, Demosthenes, Socrates, Plato and many others, as Dionysius, Arcopagitus whom St. Paul converted, who asterwards was first Bishop of Athens: here was Hyginus the eighth Bishop of Rome born also. This City hath been famous for many things; especially first for the samous Scholars that are here taught, and flourish. And 2. For the excellent Souldiers it hath brought forth.

Megaris.

2. Megaris is a small Region; the chief City was Megaria.

From hence was the Setta Megari-ta, of which Euclid was the chief.

Bootia.

3. Bæotia is a very large Region; the chief City whereof is, 1. Thebes, built on the Brook Cephisus, by Cadmus the Phænecian. 2. Aulis. 3. Platea.

Phosis.

4. Phocis; the chief Town whereof was Delphis; seated at the foot of the Mountain Pernassus, having the temple of Apollo.

Loris.

5. Loris; this is a small Region. The chief City is now called Lepanto, which once belonged to the Venetians, but now to the Turks; near unto which the Christian Navy gave a great overthrow to the Turkish Navy.

Lichta.

6. Ætolia is divided from Epirus by the River Pindus. The chief towns are, I. Chaleir. 2. Thermum, the Parliament-City City of all Ætolia.

7. Doris pertains to the Region of Doris. Locri. The chief Cities are, 1. Amphissa.

This Tract of Doris is near Parnaffus Mount, and Mother to the most elegant Greek Dialect, in this Countrey also is Guidus, a Town in which St. Paul was, in it was a goodly Temple dedicated to Venus, in this Town were Eudoxus, Agatarchides, Parapateticus, Theopompus, and several other Learned meaborn.

Epirus was once a famous Province, Ezirus. and had in it 70 Cities, now most of them destroy'd; but the chief of the remainder are, 1. Antigonia. 2. Cassiope. 3. Toronna; and on the Westhern part is Nicopolis and Allium.

This Countrey of El

This Countrey of Epirus was formerly fertile and populous, but now lyes wast, and breeds better Cattel than men: especially Bulls, Sheep, and Dogs, of wonderful bigness, and among the rest extraordinary Mares, which from thence were called Epirotica; it was the Kingdome of Pyrrhus formerly.

Albania hath East Macedonia; Albania. West, the Adriatick Sea; North, Sclavonia; and South, Epirus. The chief Cities are, 1. Albinopolis. 2. Sfetigrad.

3. Durazzo; and 4. Croya.

Massdonia hath on the Bast, Migdo- Macede-nia; West, Albania; North, Mysia superior; and South, Epirus and Achaia. The chief towns are, Scydra, Andariftus, Ædessa, all mid land Towns; Eribea on Albania fide, now called Pressa; and Pidna seated on the Influx of the River called Alaicmon, into the Bay called Sinus Thermaicus.

This Countrey of Macedonia is fertil and pleasants rich with Mines of Gold and filver: and the qualities of the Inhabitants were in former times answerable. Here great Alexander who Conquered the World, set the throne of his third Empire: In this Countrey also stood the City of Philippos from which place St. Paul wrote his second Epistle to the Corinthians; and St. Paul also wrote an Epistle from Rome, to the Christians of this Town, and fent it by the hands of Epaphroditus: And Hermes whom Paul mentions in the 16. of the Romans, was Bishop here.

The Southern part of Macedon is Thessalia. Thessalia, a fruitsul and pleasant Countrey. Here is the Olympium, of fuch an infinite height, that it seemed to transcend the clouds. Here is also the Hill Othris, and the Hills Pelion and Offa, about which the Centaurs dwelt; and here lived the Myrmidons, over which at the siege of Troy Achilles was Captain

The

The chief towns are, 1. Tricca. 2. Lamia. 3. Pharsalia, nigh unto which was that bloody Battel fought between Cesar and Pompey. 4. Philippi.

In this Countrey also is, Tempe, Pindus, Nymphaus, Athos, &c. and the Rivers Axius, and Erigonius.

Migdonia; this Country is by some Migdonia accounted a part of Thrace. Herein is the Hill Athos, which is 75 miles circuit, three days journey in ascent, and casteth a shadow as far as Lemnus, which is 40 miles distant. The chief Cities are 1. Nicalidi. 2. Apollonia. 3. Pallene. 4. Neopolis; 5. The salonica, vulgarly Salonichi, feated in the Sea, a town of great traffick: to the People of this City St. Paul wrote two of his Epistles. It is a populous City replenished with Christians, Turks, and Jews, in which there is abundance.

Silvanus one of the 70 Disciples, was Bishop of Thesfalonica.

Thrace hath on the East, the Euxine Thrace. Sea, Proponeis, and Hellespont; West, Macedon; on the North, the Hill Hamus; and South, the Ægean Sea.

This Countrey of Thrace hath the Name from the sharpness of the Air: And indeed it is very unpleafant for the most part, and so unnatural to its own Fruit, that it scarce ever Ripens what it brings

could have been brought to a joynt force, it is faid they would have been Invincible

It is a most noble Province; cold, plain, and admirable populous; stored with Grain, Pulse, and excellent Wine toward the Sea-side, whereof Sestos on the Hellespont (just over against Abydos) not above two miles different, the one being in Asia, and the other in Europe.

The Castle of Sestes is seated in a most fertile Soyle; here the Ships that come from Constantinople use to be detained some three dayes, to the end that if they carry away private mens flaves, the Masters may have time to follow them; likewise the searchers and customers look that they earry no prohibited wares; neither can the Ship nor any Passengers be suffered to pass these Castles, except they bring the Pasport of the great Tark, which is granted by the chief Viziere or Basha.2. Abdera. 3. Cordia, seated in the Thracian Chersonesms. now called St. George's Arm.4. Lysimachus.5. Callipolis, situateon the northern Promontory of the Chersonesus, and the first town that the Tarks had in Europe. 6. Trajano polis, Turky Komania.

janopolis, founded by Trajan, 7. Adrianople, built by Adrian. 8. Constantinople, seated in a most commodious place for an Empire, over-looking Europe and Asia. It was built (663, years before Christ was born) by Pansanias a Lacedemonian, and was first called Byzantium. The Turks took this City from the Christians 1453 and by them is at this day called Stambolda. It is built in form of a triangle, whereof two fides towards the North and East lye upon two Seas; and towards the West it ives upon the Continent of Greece. For many causes this Oity is famous, and for two especially may be preferred to any in the world known to us; namely, for pleasantness of situation, and the largenesse and safety of the Haven: the fruitfulnesse of the Fields, the sweetnesse and beauty of the Flowers. and the goodnesse of the Fruits, cannot sufficiently be praised. The Haven will receive an huge number of Ships; and upon both the bauks of the City, and Gallata, Ships of 500 tun once unloaded, may so lye with their Cables fastned on the Land, as they can passe from the Ships to the Land without any Boats.

This City is walled with Brick and Stone, intermixed orderly: having 24 Gates, and Posterns; whereof five do regard regard the Land, and 19 the water, being about 13 miles in Circumference: Than this there is hardly a more delicate object in Nature, if beheld from the sea or adjoyning Mountains: the lofty and beautiful Cypress trees so intermixed with the buildings that it seemeth to present a City in a wood, to the pleasant beholders. The magnificent Mosques all of white Marble, and round in form, coupled above; being finished on the top with guilded Spires, Reslect the Beams they receive with a marvellous splendour: fome having too, some four, some fix adjoyning Turrets, exceeding high, and very slender: Tarrast alost on the outfidelike the main Top of a Ship, and that in several places equally distant. From whence the Talismanny with elated voices (for they use no Bells) do Congregate the People; pronouncing the Arabick; La Illab, Illella Muhemet re Sul Allab, viz. There is but one God and Mahomet his Prophet.

There is not in the world an object that promiseth so much asar off to the beholders, & once entered so deceiveth the Expectation; for the buildings of this City have no magnificence, being partly of a matter like brick, but white, and (as it seems) unhardened by sire; Partly of Timber and Clay, excepting some few Palaces

Turky Romania.

Palaces which are of free stone, but nothing at all so stately built as may be expected from the pride and riches of the great Turks servants; and these Houses are built two stories high, with a low roof, without any windows, after the manner of Italy. The Streets of this City are narrow, and shadowed with Penthouses of wood, and upon both sides the way raised some foot high, but of little breadth, and paved for Men and Women to pass; the midst of the Street being lest low, and unpaved, and no broader than for the passage of Asses, or Beasts loaded.

There are two Houses for the same Use as the Exchange is at London, but not to be compared to it for the buildings, where Merchants use to meet for the selling of wares; they are called the great and less Bezestan, and use to be opened for certain days of the week, and for some six hours; at which time are to be fold, Jewels, Semitars, or Swords, pieces of Velvet, Sattin, Damask, and the like: and the Marketplace is not far distant, where captives of both Sexes are to be fold; and the buyers if they will may take them into a House, and see them naked, and handle them, to know their fatness and strength.

The

Turky Romania.

The chiefest buildings of this City, are the Palace of the great Turk, the Church of St. Sophia, now made a Mosche, the stately Mosche (or Turkish Church) built upon the Paface, which of old belonged to the Grecian Patriarch; the Mosches and Sepuichres of the Turkish Emperous, amongst which that of Solyman is numbred amongst the Miracles of the world. This City of Constantinople is seldom or never free from the Plague. It is death to bring any Wine into this City. The Turks prefer our Beer above alf other drinks.

The principal Commodities that our Merchants fetch from hence; are Turky-Carpets, Chamolets, Grograms, Raw Silk, and Carpets of Persia, brought over Land from thence by the Armenian Merchants.

Thus much of Greece

BRDRC

Acia of old belonged to the King-I dom of Hungary, but at this day is tributary to the Turks.

It is bounded on the West, with Hungary; on the East, with the Euxine Sea; North, Turky Romania.

North, with the Carpathian Mountains: and South, with Hemus, by which it is divided from Greece.

The People are generally stubborn and untractable; they read like the Jews, from the right hand to the left; and are of the Christian Faith, following the Greek Church.

The Countrey is sufficiently fruitful, abounding with mines and Horses, whose Manes hang down almost to the ground.

It is divided into Transplvania, Moldavia, Wallachia, Servia, Rascia, Bulgaria, and Bosnia.

Of Transylvania I have already spoken in the Kingdom of Hungary.

Moldavia, is seated on the North end of Malda-Transylvania, and extendeth to the En- viz. xine Sea. The chief Cities are, Occazonia, Fucciana, and Falezing.

It is exceeding fertile in Corn, Wine, Grass, and Wood; it affordesh great plenty of Beef and Mutton; a fat Ox being sold here for 30 s. and a Sheep for 3s. To this Moldavia belongeth the little Countrey of Eeffarbia: It lyes between Mount Hemus, South; and Lituania, North; and is seated very commodiously on the black Seas. The chief Towns are, 1. Kslim. 2. Chermen, or Moncastrum, the Seat of a Turkish Sanziack.

Servia.

Bosnia.

wallachia Wallachia is a plain fertile Countrey, stored with excellent Horse, Cattel, Mines of gold and filver. The chief Cities are, I. Sabrinum. 2. Prailaba. 3.

Tergovista, the Vaivods Seat.

Servia lyes between Bosnia and Rascia. The chief Cities are, I. Stonibourg. 2. Samandria. 3. Belgrade, on the Danubius.

Rascia lyeth between Servia and Bul-Rascia. garia. The chief City is Boden, famous for her annual Fairs.

Bulgaria hath East, the Euxine Sea; Bulgaria. West, Rascia; North, Danubius; and South, Thrace. The chief Cities are, 1. Sophia, the Seat of the Beglerbeg of Greece. 2. Nicopolis.

Bosnia hath East, Servia; and West, Croatia. The chief Cities, Gazachium the residence, and Laiza Sepulture of the Bosnian Kings.

Thus much of Dacia, and of the Continent of Europe.

RATOLIA.

Matolia was formerly called Asia minor: It hath on the East, the River Euphrates; on the West, the Thraetan Bosphorus, Propontis, Hellespont, and the Ægean Sea; on the North, Pontus Euxinus; and South, the Rhodian and Lycian Seas.

Turky Patolia.

This Countrey was once of great fertility, but is now laid waste and desolate. The people were once valiant and industrious, but now given over to Iuxuriousness and effeminacy.

Here once flourished the Faith of Christ; and here likewise stood the seven Churches to whom St. John dedicated his Revelations: All which are long since removed, so that few Christians remain, and they which are, follow the Church and Communion of Greece.

This Region comprehendeth the provinces of Cilicia Pamphilia, Lycia, Caria, Ionia, Lydia, Eolis, Phrygia major, & minor, Bythinia, Pontus, Paphlagonia, Gallacia, Capadocia, Lycaonia, Psi-dia, and Armenia mir.or.

On the South-East of Anatolia, is Ci- cilizia. licia: It lies under the Mountain Taurus, under the bosom of the Mediterranean Sea, or lecian Gulf, where Alexander the great overcame Darius, he having but 30000 and the other 600000 men. The chief Cities are, 1. Nicopolis, built by Alexauder. 2. Pompeiopolis, built by Pompey. 3. Alexandria, built alfo by Alexander. 4. Tarsus, the birthplace of St. Paul. The Inhabitants are given giving for the most part to seeding of Goats, of whose sleece they make their Chamblets.

Pamphilia. On the West side of Cilicia lyeth Pamphilia. The chief Cities are, 1. Seleucia. 2. Perga. 3. Faselis. In this Countrey are woven those sine Cloaths which we call Chamblets, watered and unwatered: at Perga was usually every year a great feast kept in honour of Diana, but Paul and Barnabas coming hither converted the Inhabitants.

Lycia.

Lycia lies upon the Sea, between Pamphilia and Caria. The chief Cities are, 1. Patras, or Patara, this was St. Nicholas his birth-place, and here Apollo in certain moneths of the winter-Seafon, by help of the Devil gave answer to them that sought after him. 2. Isaurus. 3. Phaselis.

Caria.

On the West side of Lycia, is Caria. The chief Cities are, 1. Mindum; upon this City Mindum, it was that Diegenes broke his Jest, and bid the Citizens take heed that their City did not run away out at their Gates. 2. Halicarnassus, in which was the Sepulchre of Mausolus the King, held for one of the seven wonders of the world. 3. Magnesia.

These sour Countreys are now called Carmania, and is a Turkish Zanziackship.

On the North side of Caria, is Ionia, Ionia. whose chief Cities are, 1. Miletum; here Paul made his Oration to the Elders of Ephelus. 2. Smyrna. This is the fecond City to whom St. John dedicated his Revelations; here was Homer born, as Herodotus saith; and of this City was Polycarpus Bishop: and so was Apelles also, whom St. Paul mentions Rom. 16. 3. Colophon. 4. Ephelus, where Timothy was Bishop: to the people of this City did Paul directione of his Epistles. This Town is famous for the burial of St. John, and for the Temple of Diana, which was accounted one of the World's wonders; it was 200 years a building. In this Countrey is the Hill Latinus, the dwelling place of Endymion.

Turky Patolia.

Phigellus whom St. Paul mentions, 2. Tim 1. 2. was Bishop also of Ephe-sus; and so was Gaius, mentioned 1. Cor.

I.

On the North East of Ionia, is Lydia. Lydias This Countrey is watered with the Rivers Cæstrus and Aleander; the sirst is samous for its abundance of Swans. The chief Cities are, 1. Sardis. 2. Pergamus; where Galen was born. 3. Laodicea. 4. Theatyra. 5. Philadelphia. Of these Sardis was the strongest, but now are they only known in their names and ruins.

H 3:

A$:

151

At Sardis did Cræsus keep his Court; near this place is a precious Stone sound, called Sardis. At Pergamus was the Seat of Attalus, that made the Romans his Heir; these two Cities with the other three Laodicea, Theatyra, and Philadelphia, were sive of the seven Churches, to whom St. John wrote his Revelations; at Philadelphia also was Lydia born that gave entertainment to Paul and Silas at Philippa.

Turky Patolia.

Phrygia misor. On the East side of Phrygia major, is Phrygia minor. The chief Towns are, I. Adramyttium, mentioned in the 17th. of the Alts. 2. Trajanopolis. 3. Sigeum, the Haven-Town to Troy. 4. Ilium or Troy, a samous Town, in this Countrey also is Mount Ada, samous for the judgement that Paris past upon the three Goddesses.

Anlis and Myfia. On the North of Lydia, is Æolis. The chief Towns are, Merinia, and Hidra: night to this Province are both the Mysias, whose chief Towns are Lampsacus, and Cyzicus.

Phrygia major. Phrygia major lyeth East of Phrygia minor. The chief Towns are, 1. Gordion. This is the town where Gordius hampred his plough-tacklings into such a knot, that none might unty, but he that should possess the Monarchy of the world: and indeed it proved true enough in Alexander the great. 2. Midaium; here it was that Midas Son to this Gordius, turned all to gold with a Touch. 3. Coloffe, where dwelt the Coloffians, to whom St. Paul directed his Epistles.

On the North side of the Phrygia, is scated Bythinia. The chief Towns are, I. Bythinia Nicomedia; at this place was Prochorus Bishop. 2. Phasso. 3. Hercalia. 4. Nice, where the first General Councel was held. 5. Chalcedon, where the fourth General Councel was held, to repel the Heresie of Nestoran. 6. Prusa, or Bursa, where the Turks eldest Son is sent until he be dead. Pontus lyeth on the North-East of Pontus. Bythinia. The chief Towns are, I. Tomos, to which Ovid was banished. 2. Claudiopolis. 3. Pithius, where Chrysostome lived in exile: This Countrey, together with Bythinia, are now called Bursia.

These two Countreys were governed by Mithridates, who sirst found out the medicine that still bears his name.

On the East side of Pontus, is Paphla. Paphlagegonia. The chief City is Pompei-nia. opolis, built by Pompey the Great. 2. Sinope, samous for its plenty of Brass and Lead. 3. Amisus, a Sea-Town, now called Simoso; the Venetians had their Original from this Countrey of Paphlagonia, as is reported by some Authors; Philologus, mentioned Rom. 16. was made der

H 4 Bishop

Bishop of Sinope by St. Andrew the Apostle.

On the South-side of Paphlagonia, is Galatia; to this Province did St. Paul direct one of his Epistles. The chief Cities are, 1. Gutia. 2. Ancyra, (now Angauri) famous at this time for the making of Chamblets; at this place heretofore was a Synod held, called Synodus Ancyrana. 3. Pisius, a Town of great traffick; and 4. Tavium. This Countrey yieldeth the Stone called Amethists, which are said to preserve the man that wears them, from Drunkenness.

Capado-Eig.

On the East-side of Galatia, is Capadacia. The chief Cities are, 1. Erzyrium, situate on the confines of the greater Armenia. 2. Amasia. 3. Mazaca; where St. Basil lived. 4. Sebastia; and 5. Trapesus, or Trapezond, once the Imperial feat of the Comneni. This Empire contained the Provinces of Pontus, Galatia, and Capadocia; here the Amazones are said to have lived, from the destruction of Troy, to the time of Alexander the Great.

The Countrey of Galatia, was the Seat of King Deiotarus, Clycnt to Cicero, as appears by an Oration in his behalf; into this Province were many Jews dispersed after the Passion of Christ.

On the South of Capadocia, lyeth Ly- Lycamias caonia. The chief Cities are, 1. Iconium. 2. Lystra, where Timothy was born; where Paul and Barnabas were adored for gods; Pan! for Mercury, and Barnabas for Jupiter. 3. Derbe.

In this Countrey of Lycaonia, is the Hill Chymera, that gives occasion to a Poetical fiction of a Monster with a Lyonshead, a Goats Body, and Tail of a Serpent: for on the top of this Hill were Lyons, in the midst Goats, and in the Valleys below the Hill, Serpents. Sosipater mentioned by Paul Rom. 16. was Bishop of conium, and Artemas mentioned Titus 3. was Bishop of Lystra.

On the East-side of Lycannia, is Psidia, Psidia. whose chief Cities are, 1. Antiochia, mentioned in the 13th, of the Acts; at Antiochia was St. Luke born; and here were the faithful first called Christians. St Peter was here Bishop, and after him Evodius, mentioned by Paul. 4. Phil. 2. Lysimia.

East ward from Psidia, is Armenia mi- Armenia nor, thought to be the land of Ararat, minor. upon whose Mountains the Ark of Noak rested after the Deluge. The chief town is Malexona, whose territory abounds in Oyl and Wine.

SPRIA.

CYria hath on the East, Euphrates; on the West, the Mediterranean Sea; on the North, Cilicia; and on the other parts, Asia minor.

The Inhabitants of this Countrey are either Mahumetans, or Christians: these latter are divided into Sects of Melchies, Jacobites, and Maronites: these last inhabit only Mount Libanus, so much renowned for its goodly Cedars.

In this Countrey, between it and Armenia minor, live a certain people whom they call Cardi, or Coerdes. These men worship the Devil, and with good reason, as they think, because God is a good man, and will do no man harm; but the Devilis a Knave and must be p leased.

This Countrey is divided into three Provinces, viz. Phænicia, Cælo-Syria, and Syro-Phoenicia.

Phenicia:

Phænicialyeth South towards Canaan. The chief Cities are, 1. Acon, seated in a fair plain within a Creek of the Sea of the same name, and compassing the City: and fuch a plain lies all along the Coast from Joppa to Tripoli. This City was famous for the Armies of Europe pafing fing to conquer these parts. 2. Sarepta, where Elias was sustained in a Famine by a widow. 3. Sydon, once a famous City, now contracted into a narrower compass. 4. Tyre, the ruines whereof witness the old magnificence. This Countrey aboundeth with Wheat, Honey, Oyl, and Balm.

The second Province is Calo-Syria; calo-Sysia; whose chief Cities are, 1. Hieropolis, ria. famous for the Temple and worship of the Syrian Goddess. 2. Damascus; this City is feated in a very fruitful Soy!, bearing Grapes all the year long, and girt round with most curious and odoriferous Gardens. The Syrian Kings mentioned in the Bible, were of this Syria. It is said that Adam and Eve dwelt here at Damascus after they were driven out of Paradife; and here Cain slew his brother Abel; here was Ananias Bishop.

The third Province is Syro-Phænicia, Syrowhose chief Cities are, 1. Beritus, a famous Mart-town, nigh unto which St. George is faid to have deliver'd the Kings Daughter by killing the Dragon; in memory whereof there was a Castle and an Oratory built in the same place, and dedicated to St. George. 2. Aleppo; this City was of old called Aram- Sohab, (mentioned in the 2 . Sam. 8. chap. and. 3 vers.) The Traffick in this place is exceeding ...

great₃

great, so as the goods of all Asia, and the Eastern Islands, are brought hither, Turky Syria.

or to Cayro in Ægypt.

This City lyes within land; the port whereof (called Alexandretta by the Christians, and Scanderona by the Turks) Thall hereafter describe. The building of this City, as of all houses of Syria, is one roof high, with a plain top plastered to walk upon, and with Arches before the Houses, under which they walk dry, and keep Shops of Wares. This City is well fortified, pleafantly scated, and hath many fair Gardens. The air is here exceeding hot and subtile, so as the Christians coming hither from Scanderona, (a most unhealthful place, choaked with Fens) commonly fall fick and dye; and this is the cause the English Factors imployed here, seldom return into England. Within this City the English Merchants have three houses, as it were Colledges, where they live. In these parts they have Sheep, the tail of one wreathed to the ground, doth weigh 30 or more pounds in fat and wool.

The 3. City is Biblis. 4. Tripolis, (10 called for difference from Tripoly in Africk:) The Haven lies on the West-side, and is compassed with a Wall, wherein were many little Barks, and some ships of Marseilles in France. The Haven is forti-fortified with seven towers, and upon it are built many Store-Houses for Merchants. The City lyes fome half a mile from the Haven, and is seated on the side of a Hill; near unto this City Iyes Mount Libanus, this Mountain is very pleasant, abounding in fruitful Trees; and with Grapes yielding a rich Wine; upon the North-side without the Gates they keep many Silk-worms, in most pleasant Gardens. The building of Tripoly, is like to the other buildings in Syria. The Street which leads to Aleppo is broad, the rest narrow; and the air and waters are unhealthful. The chief Traffick of this City is for the most part removed to Damaseus, and Aleppo; the 5th City is Antiochia the Metropolis of all Syria: not fir from hence is the River Orantes, which beginneth in Cœlo-Syria and passeth under the Earth till it come neer to Apamea, were it riseth and watereth all Antiochia, so passing thence it runneth some 16 miles, and so falls into the Mediterranean Sea; here St. Paul Preached and kept a Synod at Tripolis &c. In this Countrey are made great store of excellent Tapestrey-Hangings, intermixed with curious Colours, most glorious to behold; it is faid by some Authors, that there are above 4000 Men M in Tripolis that do little else but weave and make Hangings.

Turky Palestine.

159

PALESTIRE.

Palestine hath on the East, Euphrates; on the West, the Mediterranean Sea; on the North, Phænicia; and on the South, Arabia. This Countrey was first call'd the land of Canaan, from Canaan the Son of Cham. 2. The Land of Promise, because the Lord promised it to Abraham. 3. Israel, from the Israelites. 4. Judea, from the Jewes. 5. Palestine, quasi Philistin. 6. The Holy Land, because here was wrought the work of our Salvation.

It is in length 200 miles and not above 50 in breadth, yet of that falubrity of air, and fertility of Soyl that it maintained the 2 potent Kingdoms of Ifrael and Juda, wherein David reckoned 1300000 fighting Men besides the tribes of Leviand Benjamin.

The People hereof are now accounted a perjured, vagabond Nation, and great Ufurers.

It is divided into the four provinces, viz. Galilea, Judea, Idumea, Samaria, and is watered with the Rivers Cedron and Jordan.

Gali-

Galilea is the most Northern part of Galilea. all Palestine; it is divided int the higher and lower; the higher Galilea contained the tribes of Asher and Nepthali, and part of the tribe of Dan; in Asher the chief Cities were, 1. Acon. 2. Tyre. 3. Sydon. 4. Sarepta; at this place it was were Elisha multiplyed the widdows Oyl: 5. Cana the great; whereof was that woman whose Daughter Christ dispossessed of a Devil. 6. Aphek, whose falling down slew 27000 of Benhadad's Souldiers. 7. Giscala the birth-place of Jehu, In the tribe of Nepthali the principal Towns are and were, 1. Jabin. 2. Capernaum; here Christ healed the centurions fervant, and not far off fed an Army of Guests with five loaves and two Fishes. 3. Riblah were King Zedekiah (more unhappy that he saw so long, than that he was blind so soon) had his eyes put out after he had beheld the flaughter of his Sons. 4. Genesareth. The chief Cities of that part of Dan, are Hamath and Ramath.

The lower Galilea contains the tribes of Zabulon and Isacher. In the tribe of Zabulon the chief Cities are, 1. Hippopolis. 2. Cana, where our Saviour turn'd water into wine 3. Bethsadia, the birth-place of Peter, Andrew, and Philip; this is the place that was upbraided by Christ.

of

Christ, famous for her great means, great Inrgatitude, and great punishment. 4. Tiberias, on the Sea of Galilea. 5. Nazareth; in this tribe is the Brook Chison, and Mount Tabor, in this Mount was our Saviour transfigured, the Earnest of his future Glory. 6. Naim, where our Saviour raised the Widow's Son to life. 7. Bethulia, where Judeth struck off Hoiofernes head. In the tribe of Isacher the chief Cities are, 1. Tarichea. 2. Enbadda; near this Saul slew himself. 3. Daberoth, seated in the valley of Israel, in this lower Galilea was our Saviour very conversant. 4. Shumen where Eli-Tha was so often entertained by an honourable Woman. 5. Naim, where Christ raised the Widow's Son to life at the Gates of the City.

Samaria

Samaria is here taken for that part of Palestine seated between Judea and Galilea; the People whereof were the descendants of such Assyrians as were by Sallamanser sent hither to possess the Inheritance of the captive Israelites. This Province of Samaria contained the tribes of Ephraim, Gad, Reuben, and the two half tribes of Manasses, the one situate on the Mediterranean, the other beyond Jordan. In the half tribe of Manasses on the Mediterranean, the chief Cities are, 1. Bethsan; on the walls of this City the Philistins hanged up Sauls Body. 2. Thebes; here Abimelech prodigal of his life, but nigardly of his reputation, not so pained with his death, as angry with his killer, (because a woman) would needs be killed again, by his Armour bearer; in the tribe of Manasses also is Dothan, where Holofernes was slain, and Elias the Prophet being belieged here by the Syrians, shewed to his fervant the Host of Angels that defended him with Chariots of fire; here also was Joseph cast into a Ditch by his Brethren, and fold to the Ismaelites. 3. Ephra, where Gideon dwelt. 4. Endor, where Saul consulted with the witch. 5. Jesreel; nigh unto this place lay the Vineyard or rather blood-yard of Naboth.6. Cesarea Philippi seated in a plane 25 miles distant from Joppa, now for the most part ruin'd; here was Herod eaten up with worms: and here lived the Woman healed of the bloody Issue. 7. Antipatris, whither the Souldiers led Paul, by command of Lysias. 8. Megiddo; at this place Josiah that bright Sun fet in a Cloud, engageing himself in a needless quarrel, wherein he was flain. In the tribe of Ephraim the chief Cities are, I. Samaria, the Metropolis of the Kingdom of Israel. This City now shews more Ruines than Jerusalem. 2. Bethel, this.

Turky Palestine.

this Town stood partly in Ephraim and partly in Benjamin; here it was that God appeared to Jacob. 3. Sichem, here Dinah bought the satisfying of her curiosity with the loss of her Chastity. 4. Lidda. 5. Arimathea. 6. Silo, here the Ark lay long Leiger; and here Eli heart-broken with bad news breaks his neck with a fall.

On the other side Fordan was the habitation of the Children of Gad and Reuben, and the other half of Manasses: the Countries of these last was called Basan, whose last King was Ogg. The chief Cities are, 1. Edry, the Seat of King Ogg. 2. Astaroth, in this City the four Kings of the East conquered the Giants of Karnaim, that were mighty Princes and Commanders there. 3. Gaulon; and 4. Hus, the birth place of Job. The chief Cities of the Gadites are, I. Gergesa. 2. Gilead. 3. Succoth. Gideon caused the Citizens of this town, to be torn to pieces with thorns. 5. Gadara; neer to this place is a venomous Lake, of which what Beast soever drinketh, he immediatly loofeth his horns, his hoofs, and hair, and therefore there are many that think that this Lake became thus venomous, because of the 2000 Swine that were drowned in it, when our Saviour suffered the Devils to enter into them.

them.4, Ramoth-Gilead, where 7acob and Laban swore, r. Rabba now called Philadelphia, under the walls whereof Uriab was flain by the command of David. In the tribe of Reuben the chief Cities are, 1. Macherus; in this Town was John the Baptist slain. 2. Bethbara, where Mofes made his divine exhortations to the People; here also John taught the People the doctrine of Repentance and Baptism, here Elias was taken up into Heaven in a fiery Chariot; and here also John baptized Christ. 3. Abel Sittim, scated in the plains of Moab. 4. Ramath-Baal, to which place Baleck brought Balem to curse the People.

Idumea was the habitation of the E- Idumea, domites, the off-spring of Esan, who also inhabited the Countreys called Mount Seir, in which the Children of Israel were stung with the fiery Serpents.

This Countrey of Idumea contained the tribes of Dan and Simeon. The chief Cities of the tribe of Dan are, 1. Joppe, now Jaffa, a famous Mart-Town, fituate very pleasant upon a Hill declining towards the Sea; herethe Prophet Jonas took Ship to fly to Tarsus. 2. Gath, the Countrey of that huge Giant Goliah. 3. Ekron, where Belzebub was worshiped. 4. Asotos, where a Temple was built in honour of the Idol Dagon. 5. Ciriatharim, where the Ark of the Lord was kept twenty years. 6. Timnath, where Judah committed incest with Tamar, here Sampson married his wife, and by the way killed a Lyon, the chief Cities of Simeon are, 1. Ascalon; here was Herod Ascalonites born, 2. Gaza, a very fair and strong Town, The Gates of this City, Sampson carried away, and hither being fent for to make sport in the House of Dagon, acted such a tragedy that he plucked down the stage, slew himself and all the spectators. 3. Baersheba, where Abraham and Abimelech swore to each other, where Hagar wandred with her Son Ismael. Judea is of the same extent now, as it was when it was the Kingdom of Judea containing the two great tribes of Juda and Benjamin. The chief Cities of the tribe of Juda are, 1. Carioth, the birthplace of Judas Iscariot. 2. Maresa, the native Soyl of the Prophet Micah. 3. Hebron, the Seat of the Giants called the Anakims: adjoyning to this Town is the plain of Mamre, where Abraham was visited by the Angels. 4. Tecoa, the City of Amos the Prophet. 5. Libna, seated in the wilderness. 6. Ziph, in the wilderness wherein David hid himself from the fury of Saul. 7. Bethlem, where Christ was.

Saul

Judea.

Turky Palestine.

was born: this Village is from Jerusalem some three miles. In this Countrey also are the Hills of Engaddy, in a cav e of which David cut off a Lap of Saul's garment. 8. Zoar, Lots Refuge, neer to which his wife for one farewel-glance at Sodom, was turn'd into a Pillar of Salt; adjoyning is Lots Cave, where he affecting folitariness, had too much company of his own Daughters. 9. Carmel, where Nabal lived as Richas Foolish; but those grains of wisdom which were wanting in him, were found over weight in his wife. 10. Gerar; here King Abimelech kept his Court, at such times as Abraham came thither; and here Isaack was born. In the tribe of Benjamin the chief Cities are, 1. Gilgal, near unto which Joshua pitched the 12 stones, as a memorial that the waters of Jordan divided themselves, to give passage unto the Children of Israel. 2. Mispah; in this Town Samuel dwelt. 3. Geba. 4. Ai, a strong Town; here the Israelites were flain for the facrilege of Achan. 5. Gibbeon; the Inhabitants of this place couzened Joshua with a Pass of false dated Anstiquity; here also Joshua sent his Mandate to the Sun to stand still, and to wait on him whilest he Conquered his Enemies; here stood the Tabernacle of the Covenant and the Brasen Altar; here

Saul was first made King of Israel; and here he put the Sons of Abimelech the Priests to death. 6. Jericho, destroyed by the founding of Rams Horns 7. Mispah. 8. Jerusalem, the City of the Lord, built by Melchisedeck Prince and Priest of Salem. This City is strongly seated on Mount Sion, encompassed with stately walls of red and black stone, more than an ell long and about half an ell broad. Here are seven Gates well fortified with Ordnance; it is strong enough against fudden tumults, although no way able to hold out a siege. The Houses here, as in all parts of Asia, are built very low, of Flint-stone, only one story high, the top whereof is plain and plastered, and hath Battlements almost a yard high, All the Citizens are either Taylors, Shoomakers, Cooks or Smiths, and in general poor rascal People, mingled of the fcum of divers Nations, partly Arabians, partly Moors, and partly the baseft Inhabitants of neighbour Countreys. In this City are still to be seen divers of the places mentioned in the Old and New Testament, or the ruines of them, if you will credit your Guides, which shew them unto such Travellers and Strangers as come to behold this City: but let a man believe no further than his own Judgment will warrant him.

Armenia

ARMENJA.

A Rmenia hath on the East, Media, and the Caspian Sea; on the West, Euphrates, and the Euxine Sea; on the North, Tartary; and on the South, Mesopotamia, now Dierbechia.

This Countrey is very mountainous, which are reputed to be those parts of the Hills Taurus and Antitaurus, which are called Periadres, Scodrisci, and Amamus.

The People hereofare more famous for nothing, than their want of all things: frout, cruel, and warlike; maintaining themselves by hunting and stealing, as men living in so barren a Soyl that Husbandry were vain and soolish. They are generally good Archers, merry, careless of honour, desirous of ease, great bodyed, comely and willing to be soothed. The Women tall, but homely, having Children commonly at ten years old; it is accounted a great credit unto them if they can please and be acceptable to such Guests as the Husbands bring in.

The whole Countrey is divided into three Provinces; 1. Colchis. 2. Georgia; and 3. Turcomania.

Colchis lyeth on the Euxine Sea to-colchis. wards the North and the East.

The

The People are barbarous, defending themselves from the Turks by their rough hills and ragged poverty, they are so inhumane, that they sell their own Children to the Turks.

The Countrey of it self is very sertile; but the People are so careless, that they neither plant nor sow to any purpose.

The chief Towns are, 1. Alvati. 2. Phasis, or Phassum; and 3. Dioscurias.

Georgia: This Countrey is now called Mengrelia Georgia; is bounded on the East; with the Caspian Sea; West, with Colchis, North, with the Tartars of Astracham; and South with the greater Armenia.

In this Countrey is a thing monstrous and Wonderful; for in it there is a Province called Hamsen, containing in circuit three days journey; and so far it is covered with an obscure darkness, that none can fee any thing, nor dare enter into it: the Inhabitants thereabouts affirm, that they have often heard the voice of Men howling, Cocks crowing, neighing of Horses; and by the passige of a River it appears to have figns of habitation, This Province was formerly called Iberia: the chief Towns of it are, 1. Lori. 2, Bascapan. 3. Teflis, exceeding well fortified by the Turks. 4. Tomanis, For the greater part, this Countrey is covered red with Mountains, woods, and thickets; it is notwithstanding sertile, and adorn'd with many large plains and valleys.

Turky Arabia.

Turcomania is seated on the South of Turcoma-

Colchis and Iberia: the chief Towns are, nia. 1. Albanopolis. 2. Van, a strong Bulwark against the Persians Invasions. 3, Arnimig, the Metropolis of the Countrey. 4. Artazata, now Coy. 5. Sebastia the residence of the Patriarch of Armenia. This Countrey was formerly called Armenia the great, to distinguish it from a less in Natolia; is now vulgarly called Turcomania. It is invironed with Mountains, and beautified with Plains, amongst the which Chalderan and Mons niger are most renowned. The People by not tre are much given to theft and spoil; some of them inure themselves to tillage and mechanical trades, in weaving of Chairblets and Hangings watered and unwatered.

ARABIA.

A Rabia is bounded on the East, with the Persian Gulf; on the West, with the Red Sea; on the North, with Me-sopetamia, and Palestine; and on the South, Georgia.

South, with the Ocean.

The People hereof are extreamly addicted to thest, which is the better part of their living. They are mean of stature, fwift of foot, raw-boned, and tawny: they are indifferently called Arabians, Saracens, or Moors. Those that are the true Arabians live out of Cities in Tents dispersed over Syria, Ægypt, and Africk, these give themselves to feed Cattel and droves of Camels. Those that Inhabit the Cities are called Moors; thefe are difpersed over all the Southern part of Asia, as Pedia, East-India; and likewise are advanced to divers Kingdoms, famous Cities, and worthy Mart-Towns; yea and over all the South coast of Africk. This Countrey is 4000 miles in compass: the People use the Arabick Language, which extends it felf through Palestine, Syria, Mesopotamia, Egypt, and all Barbary, excepting Morocco. It is divided into Deserta, Petrosa, and Felix.

Arabia Deserta. The Defart Arabia hath a name anferable to the nature of it, being in great part without Inhabitants for the barrenness of the Soyl; only towards the River Euphrates, and the Mountains of Arabia Felix, it hath some Towns, and is frequented with Merchants; other ans, as having no Houses wander to and fro, seeking where to find pasture for their Beasts, and lodge in Tents. Bosra the City.

Arabia Petrosa joyneth on the West Petrosa. and North, to Syria; on the East to the Desart Arabia; and South, to the Happy, nigh to Syria. This is somewhat fertile, but other-where exceeding barren. Both in this part and the former they had need go ftrong and well accompanied, for fear of robbery and spoil which the Arabians attend, This passinge is samous for the passage of the Israelites through the same, and abode therein forty years. The memorable things herein, are the Mountains Sinai and Horeb, upon the former whereof is built a Monaitery of Christians, following the Greek Church, and the only receptacle (or Inn) for wayfairing Christians; other place of releif there is none. Within this Countrey are good store of Dromedaries, which will carry a Man an hundred milesa div: here is also good store of Ostriches. The chief Towns are, 1, Petra. 2. Aresh. 3. Eziongeber, on the coast of the Red-Sea, where Solomon's Navy kept station before they put forth to the land of Ophir.

Arabia Felix containeth a Peninsula, Felix.

I 2

girt

Turky Allyria.

girt almost round with the Persian Gulf, the Red Sea, and the Ocean. In this Countrey is the Phænix, which growing old burneth her self to ashes, and from the ashes another Phænix is ingendred.

This is the most fruitful and pleasant Countrey in all Asia, abounding with Gold and Pearl, Balfamum, Myrrh, and Frankincense, besides Cassia and Cinamon. This feemeth to be the Countrey wherein Saba stood, the chief City of the Sabeans, whose Queen visited Solomon. 2. Medina. 3. Meccha, where Christians are not permitted to enter. Within this City is the body of Mabomet inclosed in an iron Chest. 4. Oran, the key of the South Ocean. 5. Elter, the only Town of Arabia, where the Christians are of the greatest number. Besides, it is full of Villages, especially toward the Sca-fide, where are many excellent places of trade.

assynga.

Signia hath on the East, Media; on the West Mesopotamia; on the North, Armenia major; and on the South, Snsiana, a Province of Persia.

The Affyrians were much addicted to Astrology, which questionless they were led to by the opportunity of their Situation, which gives them a more perfect view of the Heavens, and several courses of the Plancts, than any other Parts of the world besides.

It is a custome in this Countrey, that the maids which are marriageable, are yearly brought forth in publick, and set to sale to such as would marry them, and the money which was given for the sairest, was given to the most deformed for their portions.

The chief Cities were and are, 1. Ninewe; It was once a great City, containing 66 miles in circuit, but now almost ruined to nothing. To this City was Jonah sent to preach. 2. Arzeri, whence the whole Region is called Arzeri, 3. Arvela, nigh unto which Alexander sought his third and last Battel against Darius. 4. Mosull, the Seat of the Nesstorian Patriarch. This City is in same for its Cloth of Gold, and Sik; and for its fertility. It is said that this Mosull stands in the very same place where Nineve stood.

I 3 Meso

MESODOGAMIA.

gris, on the west, Euphrates; on the North, the Hill Caucasus; and on the South, Chaldea. This Countrey in the Scriptures is called Padan Aram: it is invironed with the Rivers Tigris and Euphrates, which over-slow the Countrey as Nilus doth Ægypt, making it very fertile; and now it is called Dierbeck.

Fertility. .

The Soylis exceeding fertil, yielding in fome places two and in some three hundred increase. Here was Abraham born; hither fent he his Servant to choose a wife for his Son Isaac, and hither Jacob fled from his Brother Esau, and here Paradise is by most Men affirmed to have stood; and as some think, in an Island made by the River Tigris and Euphrates. The chief Cities are, 1. Rechiais, formerly Edessa the second Town of note is Caramit, the Seat of a Turkish Baffa, who is of great command in those parts; it is the Mother City of the Countrey, and is faid to be 12 miles in compass. Between this City and Orphawas the Paradise of Aladules, where he had a Fortress destroyed by Selim.

This City Orpha was formerly called Haran

Haran or Charan, and is a fair City well-inhabited, and indifferent great, compacted about with walls and Towers, Richly furnished with Merchandize: but especially with fair Coverlets of divers Colours which are made therein; here Abraham settled himself when he was call'd out of Chaldea; here also Marcus Crassus the Rich Roman lost his life: And here also is the well at which Rebecka gave drink to Abrams Servant and his Camels, and where Rachel sirst spake with Jacob. 3. Madrin.

CHALDEA.

CHaldea is bounded on the East, with Assyria; on the West, with Syria; on the North, with Armenia; and on the South, with Arabia deserta.

The chief Cities were, I. Ur, now Horrea, where Abraham departed when he went to live at Aram. 2. Erech. 3. Accad. 4. Bagdet, built out of the ruines of Babylon: this City standeth upon the River Euphrates, and is a great, rich, and strong City, with mighty strong Walls, whereon are planted one Hundred and twenty pieces of Brass Ordnance. It is a Town of great traffick, between.

I 4

tween which and Aleppo Carriers trave! very often with many hundred Camels laden with Commodities. There are only two Venetian Factors, who trade for inestimable wealth of all forts: also some fmall number of Armenians, which are all the Christians that are there resident. They have a custome here of sending Post Pidgeons, or sending by Pidgeons Letters of all Occurrences in hast. The chief Rivers of this Countrey are, 1. Euphrates. 2. Tygris.

Out of Chaldea the three wife Men are thought to have come, who worshiped Christ, and presented Gists unto him.

Thus much of Chaldea, and the Continent of the Turkish Empire in Asia.

The Islands, and his other Dominions, subject unto him, shall be mentioned in their due places.

pensia.

DErsia is bounded on the East, with the River Indus; West, with Tygris, and the Persian Gulf; North, with the Caspian Sea, and the River Oxus; and on the South, with the Main Ocean.

It is a spacious Land, and contains from East to West 38 Degrees, and about 20 rom the North to South. This variety. of distance in respect of the Heavens, must needs cause as much difference in. the qualities of her feveral Regions: in fome places there is that fertility which makes her equal to any part of Asia; in others again she is so barren, unfruitful, and unprofitable, that the Land is left wast, as being not able to nourish an Inhabitant.

The people of this Countrey are for Natures... the most part valiant and proper, being and Mana-Olive-coloured; they have no hair on ners of their head, nor their Chin, only on their ple. upper lip they have it very long, and turned downwards; their eyes are generally black, their nofes high, as be their foreheads. They are great warriours, great Scholars, especially in Astrology, Physick and poetry: the Mechanicks deal much in making of Silks, which they fend into all the Eastern Countries in great abundance: They are milde and courteous to strangers, yet very Jealous of their wives, which for the most part are very fair, & richly attired; but for all this they will go frequently to the Stews: The Ghristian Religion was once planted here both by St. Thomas, and St. Andrew, yet are they now fallen to Mahumetian,

and

Eall

very

and differ but as Schismaticks from the Turks, which occasioneth much hatred and perpetual war betwixt them.

Apparel.

In their apparel they are very fantastical; about their heads they wind great rowls of Callico, fome of Silk and Gold. Their outward Garment is commonly of Callico, quilted with Cotton; some wear them of party coloured Silks, some of Sattin and some of rich Gold or filver Chamblets.

The Women likewise are gorgeous in attire; their stature is mean, but streight and comely; their hair black and curled, their forehead high, their cheeks fat, round, and painted; they look wantonly, drink strongly, and covet mens moneys really. Hous-

Their Houses to speak generally, hold Fur- within are poor and fordid; a carpet, a pan, and a platter, epitomizes all their Furniture. The better sort sleep on Beds two foot high, matted or done with girthweb, on which is a snagg or yopanger, which riding serves as an Umbrella againstrain, and sleeping, for a Bed and Coverture.

Diet.

miture.

They feed most on Rice, boiled with Butter; also Mutton, Hens, and Almonds: The better fort fit on carpets, eross legged, using neither Spoon nor Knise; for the poorer sort the seed most on Roots, as Melons, Garlick, Opium, and Honey.

They hate Swines flesh, Veal, Beef, Hares, and Buffles, because Muhomet forbids it them.

This Empire containeth the provin-Provinces of Persis, Susiana, Caramania, Gedro-ces. sia, Drangiana, Aria Arachosia, Parapomisus, Saca, Hircania, and Ormus.

The chief Cities of this Kingdom are, Persise. 1. Persepolis, now called Siras, standing within the province of Persis. This City continued the mightiest in Asia 230 years, at which time Alexander the Great gave a period to its greatness, by the whorish councel of the Athenian Lais. It is in compass now some eight ornine miles, and seated at the North-West end of a large plain, some twenty miles long and 6 broad; the fides environed with mighty Hills, under one of which this City is plac'd. The prime beauty of this City, is her Churches and Gardens: there are some 14 or 15 Churches, most of which are round like Theatres, their out-fide tyling pargetted with Azure Stones; two of these have two pillars or Steeples as high as Pauls in London covered and wrought with Blew and Gold.

Their Houses are of Sun-burnt brick, flaton the top; the windows trelized wery curiously; and though generally within they have no ornament, yet some peculiar Houses, as the Dukes and some others, may be Competitors for delicacy with most in Europe.

The Gardens within this City abound in all kinds of Fruits. In a word, for all delicacy this City may compare with any part of Persia.

Bysana.

The second City of note is Sushan. deriving her name from the Province wherein she stands: this was once one or the three Royal Palaces of the Median Emperor, one being at Babylon, and another at Echatana. Here it was that Ahashuerus made a Feast, mentioned I. Hester; and yearly to this day the King celebrates a Feast of Roses; and the Duke of Shiras, who is Lord of Sushan, a Feast of Daffadillies of like continuance.

€aramania. Gedrosia. 3. Caramania, famous for Cloth of Gold, and the best Scymitars.

4. Gedrosia, or Geste. 5. Sige. 6. Aria; most of them deriving their names from the Provinces wherein they stand.

In this Region also is Laodicea, built by Antiochus, and Passagarda, where Cyrus had his Sepulchre, on the Sea-Coast also stands the City Cyrus, the Hyrcania Bishop-Seat of Learned Theodoret.

Hyrcania Or Strava

Hyrcania: This is now made a Province

vince of the Persian Kingdom. It hath on the North, the Caspian Sea; South, Mount Taurus; East and West, Media: this people are of late civilized by the Persians.

The Countrey of old, and yet abounds with Tygers, Wolves, Lyons, Wild-Cats, Bears, and Scorpions. It is full of Woods, which both befriends them against Winter cold, and Summers heat, which in their Seasons are extream.

The prime Cities of this Kingdom are, 1. Asharaff; she hath in her some two Thousand Houses, and is seated in a Plain not above two miles from the Cafpian Sea. The Buzzir in this Town is but homely, nor enjoys sheary Mosques or Prophets to be spoken of. 2. Fara. bant is a very fair City; this lies one mile from the Caspian Sea, and five miles West from Asharaff: it is yet the best Town for beauty, greatness, and wealth, in the Kingdom of Hyrcania. It is furnished with some long deep Prams. fowed together with Hemp, and Cord, (but unpitch'd or calk'd) in these the Muscovian Merchants sail down Volga, over the Caspian Sea, and arrive at Farabant, to traffick for raw Silks.

This City glories in her too large and beautifu! Buzzars, and fragrant Gardens, and in a sumptuous Palace of the Kings. 3. Omoall is built under Mount Taurus; it hath 3000 Houses, and inhabited by divers Nations. In this City is a Church or Mosque, wherein is intomb'd 444. Princes and Prophets of that Kingdom: the people of this City are very courteous, and beautified with complements, and dainty feature.

and.

The people of this Kingdom speak the language of the Persians; their apparel is like the Irish Trooses: their heads have a high woollen cap, furred with their Sheep-skins: they are very kind and loving unto Travellers, and upon any fignall will receive them; and hold it a point of rudeness in their Virgins if they be coy or disdainful unto ilrangers.

Ormus.

Ormus is an Isle within the Gulfait is in circuit 15 miles; at the end of this Isle appears yet the ruines of that late glorious City built by the Portugals, and lately taken from them by the Persians, with the help of some of our English Ordnance; so that it is now utterly ruined, and not worth the owning, which was but 15 years ago the only stately City of the Orient; it is now difrobed of all her bravery, the Persians each moneth conveying her ribs of Wood and Stone to aggrandize Gomtroone,

broone, not 3 leagues distant out of whose ruines she begins to triumph.

Perlia.

Gombroone is by the Natives called Bander, (or Port-Town) it is distant from Ormus nine English miles. It is feated on the Gulf, and in the Ormusian Kingdom: It containeth well-near 1000 Houses. In January here arrive Ships from India, English and Dutch, and here the English Agent receives custom of all strangers, that honour being granted for their good service done at Ormus. The English and Dutch Merchants have their Houses here: This Town in winter is inhabited by fundry Nations, as Persians, Indians, Arabs, Jewes, all which fly away in the Summer, to avoid the intollerable heat. In the winter Seafon there is abundance of all things necesfary, chiefly of Fruits and Flowers. In the Town also is some Moschees, and and Synagogues of Jews.

M C D J A.

M Edia is limited on the North, with the Mountain Taurus; on the South, with Parthia; East with Aria, or Sablestam; and West, with Armenia minor.

This

Fertility.

This Countrey is generally barren, especially in the Northern parts; so that they make their bread for the most part of dryed Almonds, their Drink of the Roots of certain Herbs, and feed ordinarily on Venison.

The great Cities of Media are, Casbeene, Tabris or Taurus, Ordavill, Tyrean, Cashan, and Coom.

Tyroan is situate in the midst of a fair large Plain, which although on fome parts is environed with hills of stupendious height, yet some ways it affords an ample Horizon. The building is of Sunburnt brick, and it is watered with a fmall Stream, which runs in two parts through the Town, and mellows most of the Gardens and Groves within it. The Town is most beautified with a vast garden of the Kings, succinct with a large towr'd Mud-wall, larger than the circuit of the City. The Houses are open at the tops, whereon are spread Carpets, where each Man fleeps with his Seraglio; fome have three, some six, and some twelve fleeping by them. It contains the fome 3000 Houses, and hath in her a Caravans Lodge, which exceeds her Mosque.

Tauris or Echatana, derives her name from the Mountain Taurus and is now a City both great and famous; her CIT-circuit is six miles; it is placed by a River, and is shaded by the Hill Baretano, and to the South sheweth a large Plain; 'eis well peopled, and much resorted to for traffick, which makes it famous throughout all Asia: it hatha small Mud-wall of little service; the Houses age flat above, and built of Brick dryed in the Sun; her best ornament is a Garden built toward the South-East, planted by Shaw Tamas.

Casbeene was of old called Arsatia: this City is situate in a fair even place, no Hills being near it. The compass of this City is seven miles; her Buzzar is large and pleasant; the Kings House and Seraglio are near the Market, built of raw bricks, but painted and varnished very rarely with blew, red, and yellow, the Mosques and Hummums are very resplendent with the Azure paint wherewith they are ceruleated; for their other buildings they are of no great magnificence.

Coom is a pleafant City, standing in the half-way betwixt Cazbeen and Spahawn, and in front of both. 'Tis a pleasant, fruitful, and healthy City, and the People courteous: it hath in her 2000 Houses well built, sweet, and well furnished; her Streets are wide; her Buz, zar fair; and her Mosque of most honourable nourable esteem among them. It is watered with a sweet but small River, and hath plenty of all fruits.

PARTHIA.

Parthia is bounded on the East, with Aria; West, with Media; North, with Hircania; and South, with Carmania.

The chief City is Spahawn, it being the Imperial City; it is situate in a fair and pleasant Horizon; 'tis by some called Hispaan. It is a City both great, antient and famous; it is of an Orbicular form, and is some 9 miles in compass; her Inhabitants some 300000 Souls. The chief Ornaments of this City, are the Mydan, (or great Market) the Hummums, (or Hot-Houses the Moschees, the Kings Palace, and Gardens. The Mydan is in the heart of the City; and to fay truth, all the beanty, concourse, wealth, and trade, is comprized inher. It is built in form of the Ryoal Exchange, with four Isles, and court within called the Hypodromo: It is stored with all Merchandizes, chiefly Drugs; and to this place daily refort most Nations, as English, Dutch, Portugal, Arabians, Turks, Jews, Armenians, Muscovians, and Indians; there are.

are many Surroyes, where are Housesmade of purpose for laying in and keeping Merchants goods, and to harbour and lodge themselves, and their Camels, Horses, and other Cattel. Within this Mydan is nothing fold but things of great value, as Cloath of Gold, Silver, and Tiffue, Sattins, Velvets, Jewels, and Pearles. In one end are nothing but raw Silks; in another end are twisted and wrought Silks; and in another those that fells all forts of Apparel, ready made after the Persian fashion, very rich, as as Suites of Cloath of Gold, Silver, and the like. The buildings of their Mosques or Churches, are large and handsom. In this City is a Column compact of feveral Heads of men and Beafts; 'tis at the base above 20 Foot in compass, and the height is three times as much.

Gashan is also a samous City in Parthia; the antiquity of it is not much in this name. It is well seated, well Peopled, and well built; the people are orderly, and more given to trade than in some Towns about her. Silks, Sattins, Cloth of Gold, are here in abundance, at reasonable prizes. The Caravans-Raw, the Mosque, and Hummums, are her only Ornaments, of which the Caravans-Raw exceeds any in Persia: it was built by Abbas for Travellers to lodge in upon free-Cost, by act of Charity. This City is distant from Spahawn some 9 miles Divers other Cities there are, but of less note.

Thus much of Parthia, and of the Persian King's Dominion.

TARTARIA.

Aartaria is bounded on the East, with the Eastern Ocean; on the West, with Muscovy; on the North, with the Frozen Sea; and on the South, with Mare Caspium, the Hill Taurus, and the Wall of China.

It extendeth it self from East to West 5400 miles; and from North to South 3600. It was of old known by the name of Scythia.

Natures the People,

They are generally of a fwarthy comand Man-plexion, square stature, broad face, hollow-ey'd, thin beards, and ugly countenances; barbarous in behaviour. especially in Antiqua Asciatica; for their Religion, some are Pagans, and some Mahumetans.

They have crooked Noses; their heads close shaven; their speech is boysterous and clamorous; their noyfe is finging, like the yell of Wolves; and their induindurance of hunger, thirst, heat, cold, and watching, equals them; in strength of Body they may compare with able Beafts, for it exceeds the common power of Man; Their lust is without Law, for they except no kindred, no species, for they mix with Beasts; no Sex, for for they are infatiate Sodomites : and yet take liberty for many Wives which they buy of their Parents.

Tartary.

They are given to Divinations, Auguries, Sooth-fayings, Inchantments; and when they receive answer from the Devil, they attribute the same to God, whom they call Stoga: they marveloufly fear and reverence him, offering him many oblations.

The Women are suitable to the Men, wanting, and scorning Money; adorning themselves with Gew-gaws of Copper, Feathers and Latton.

Their Meat is the raw Flesh of Hor-Their fes, without regard how they were kil-Diet. led, or of what Diseases they dyed: Sometimes they fuck blood from the Living to appeale their Hunger and thirst, if (in journey) they be distressed for want of Food. And this the ordinary course of the wilder fort of Tartars.

It is now usually divided into the Pro- Division. vinces of Procopensis, Asciatica Antiqua, Zagathay, and Cathaia.

Propenfis, or Tartaria minor. It containeth all Taurica Chersonesus, and the Asciatican Banks of Tanais. The chief Cities are, 1. Precops. 2. Crim, the ancient Seat of the Tartarian Rulers. 3. Ozaclow, the residence of the present Princes. 4. Capha, (anciently Theodosia) a Town of great traffick.

Assistica, Asciatica, or Deserta: This (called or Deserta also Moscovitica Deserta, as anciently Sarmatica Asciatica) is situate about the Bank of the River Volga. The People here for the most part live in tents made of Beasts skins; and account it a great misery to stay longer in one place than the pasture affords meat for their Cattel. They sow no Corn, but make Horse the Sun, and drink fowr Marcs-milk.

The chief Cities are, I. Cashan. 2.

Noyban. 2. Charackzicke. 4. Astrachan, a Town well frequented by Merchants.

flesh their chief food, either warmed a little at their saddle-bow, or roasted in Tartaria Antiqua.

Tartaria Antiqua is the old Habitation of the Tartars, from whence they dispersed themselves over Europe and Asia,

The People are of the same life and condition with them of Asciatica, and lye farthest North, extending beyond the Polar Circle. They have some sew Cities, as 1. Coras, samous for the Sepulchres of the Tartarian Kings. 2. Caracora. 3. Campanion; these Cities belong to the Kingdome of Tenduc: the People hereof account it a great honour to have their Wives and Sisters at the pleasure of such as they entertain.

In this Countrey is he Defart of Lop: and in this Countrey tgroweth Rheubarb; an Herb of that excellent nature, that the whole world is beholding to these Barbarians for it, as a sovereign help for many discases.

Zagathay: this Countrey was of Zagathay. old Scythia intra montem Imanum. It is fituate East from the Caspian Sea: they are now called Jeselbas, from the colour of their Turbants. They inhabit the ancient Countreys of Bastria, Sogdiana, and Margiana; in times past the Habitation of the Massagetes, so samous in Arms.

These are the most honourable People of the Tartars; indisferent civil; given to Arts; and Lords of many fair Cities; as 1. Istigias, one of the most pleasant Cities of the East. 2. Samarchand, which gave both a Cradle and a Grave to the mighty Tamerlain.

CATHAJE.

Athaie is bounded on the East, with the Oriental Ocean; on the West, with the other Tartarian Provinces; North, with the Scythick Seas; and South, with China; this is thought to have been the ancient Habitation of the Ceres. It is said of this People, that they have neither whore nor thief amongst them.

Fertility.

The Soyl aboundeth with variety of Fruits; superfluously surnished with Rice, Grain, Wool, Silk, Hemp, Rheubarb, Musk, and excellent fine Chamblets; fo that it fcorneth to give precedency to any of the flourishing Provinces of Europe.

Natures of the People.

The people are fearless of the greatest dangers; and patient of labour; they are of a very good wit; dress themfelves gorgeously; and on occasions fare very fumptuously.

The chief Cities are, I. Caraian, where the Women use to guild their teeth. 2. Tebeth, famous for her abundance of Coral, 3. Cambalu, scated on the River Polysanga, honoured with the great Cham's residence, enriched with a mighty confluence of Merchants of all forts: beside other Merchandize, there are every year 10000 Carts loaded with Silks sent thither from China. It is in compass 28 miles, besides the Suburbs. which beside other Inhabitants, are 50000 Astrologers, or rather Fortunetellers 4. Xamdu: within this City did Cublai Can build a stately Palace encompassing 16 miles of plain ground with a Wall, wherein are fertile Meadows, pleasant Springs delightful streams, and all forts of Beafts of chase and game; and in the midit thereof a sumptuous House of pleasure, which may be removed from place to place: here he doth abide in the monthes of June, July, and August.

are

The Government of this Emperour is Governtyrannical, the great Cham being Lord, ment. and in his tongue confifts life or death:

he is called by the simple People the fhadow of Spirits, and Son of the immortal Gods; and by himself is reputed to be the Monarch of the whole World.

At the Funeral of some of these great Monarchs, they use to kill some of his Guard-Souldiers, whereof he hath 12000 in continual pay.

These Chams for the most part are severe Justices, and punish almost every fmall fault with death, especially Thest, Lying, and Adultery.

Thus much of Tartaria.

Of India commonly called CASTIPPIA.

Ndia is bounded on the East, with China, on the West, with the River Indus, from whence it takes its denomination; on the North, with Tartary, and on the South with the Ocean. This is the biggest Countrey, comprehended under one name, of any in the world, except Tartary and China.

Rivers

The chief Rivers of it are, Indus and Ganges: abound it doth in all manner of Minerals, except Copper and Lead; and is stored with all forts of Cattle, except Horses; more particularly with Mines of Gold, pretious Stones, Spices of all forts, and Civet; Wheat only and Vines are wanting.

Riches.

Natures of the People.

The People are indifferent civil, and ingenious both Men and Women imitate a Majesty in their frame and apparrel, which they sweeten with Oyl and Perfumes, adorning themselves with Jewels, Pearls, and other ornaments befittting.

They are a Nation composed of five several sorts of People: 1. The Indians, Several Nations in India. or Natives, which are in part Gentiles,

In part Christians. The second fort are Mahumetans, Persians, Tartars. The third, Jews. The fourth Arabians, or Moors: and the fifth Portugals. The River Ganges divideth the Country into two parts, (viz.) India intra Gangem, and India extra Gangem.

India intra Gangem, called Industan, India inis divided into 47 Provinces or King- tra Gandome: where the contract the interest of the gam. doms: whereof two have yet their proprietary Kings; namely, Narsinga, and Calecute; the rest are under the Command of the great Mogul. The chief of the 47 Provinces are, 1. Narsinga. 2. Mallabar. 3. Balassia. 4. Cambaia. 5. Mandao. 6. Bengala. 7. Oristan. 8.Canora; and 9. Dellie.

PARSINGA.

Arsinga hath on the East, the Gulf of Bingala; West, the Mountain Guate; North, the Mountain Guadaverno; and South, the Promontory of Comary. It is in compass 3000 miles; and hath aKing acknowledging no superiour command: he keepeth in continual pay forty Thousand Nairos, and is able to bring into the Field many thoufands more, as his expeditions in War have specified,

K 2

Tie

The people hereof use to burn their Wives when their Husbands are dead; the cause some ascribe to their Wives wonted custom to poyson their Husbands, before this Law.

In these parts the chief City is St. Thomas, or Malleaper, where they fay St. Thomas was martyred, and burnt; to his Sepulchre the Indian Christians go on Pilgrimage, carrying a little of the earth with them for a great Relique. The Portugals now inhabit th's Town almost desolate; the Jesuits also have here a residence. There is also Narsinga and Bisnagar, fair and great Towns, standing within this Kingdom.

Mallavar.

Mallabar containeth the Western part, which of old was called Aurea Chersonesus. It is full of People, divided into many States by variety of Rivers, which causeth many Crocodiles, enriches the Soyl, and yields easie transportation of Commodities, which are spices of divers kinds. The chief Kingdoms in this tract are, 1, Kanonor. 2. Calecute. 3. Cranganor. 4. Cochin. 5. Cariolam; and 6. Travancon. Calecute is the chief of these Cities; the City is not walled, nor fair built, the ground not yielding firm foundation.

Fertility.

This Kingdom hath not above 25 leagues of Sea-coast, yet rich, both by the

the Fertility of the Soyl, which yieldeth Corn, Spices, Cocoes, Jaceroes, & many other Fruits; and by the situation as the Staple (especially before the Portugals unfriendly Neighbourhood) of Indian Merchandize, and therefore inher variety of Merchants being a Map (as it were) of all the Eastern World; the Ægyptians, Persians, Syrians, Arabians, Indians, yea even from Catay, the space of six Thousand miles, had here their trade and traffick. The People here do yield divine honour to divers of the deceased Saints, and build Temples unto Beafts.

Cast-India.

The Gentlemen and Merchants have a custom to exchange Wives, in token of great friendship. Some women amongst them have six or seven Husbands, fathering their Children on which of them she best pleaseth. The Men when they. marry get others to use them (if they be-Virgins) 15 or 20 dayes before they themselves do bed them.

CTINES Cranganor is a small Kingdom: the nor. Inhabitants of this City are Christians of St. Thomas his Profession, about feventy Thousand in n 1mber.

Cochin is now grown great by the Portugals traffick and friendship; of the rest there, there is not much worth recital.

The King of Conlam's Dominion stretchstretcheth some 80 miles, in which there are fome 23 walled Towns.

East-India.

Balassia.

Bulassia, or the Kingdom of Bocan, is famous for its inexhaustible Mines of Gold and Silver. The chief Cities of it are, 1. Balassia.2. Bocan, 3. Senergian.

Cambaia.

Cambaia is also called Guzant, containing in length from the River Bate to Circam, a Persian Region, 500 miles of Sea-coast, being on other parts invironed with the Kingdoms of Dulcinda and Sanga; on the North, Mandio; on the East and on the West the Gedrosians; the Sea, and confin's of Decan, are the Southerly bounds. It hath in it by estimation 60000 inhabited places, watered with many streams; the chief whereof is Indus.

Fertility,

This Countrey is very fertil, not yielding to any other in India, in the Fruits which the Trees, and Earth bring forth, beside the store of Elephants, Gems, Silk, Cotton, and fuch like.

Natures of the People,

The People are of an Olive colour; go naked, except about their privy parts; tney eat no Flesh, but Rice, Milk, Barley, and other lifeless creatures.

Their chief Sea-Towns are Daman, Bandora, Curate, Ravellum; and within Land, Cambaia, Mollar, Campanel, and Tanaa.

Cambaia hath bestowed the name on the

the whole Kingdom, which they call the Indian Cairo for the excellency thereof, it standeth three miles from Indus. The Inhabitants of it are a mixture of Mahometans, Moors, Persians, Bannyans, and from Arabia: hey are crafty and deceitful; the Priests are singularly reputed; of the Women proper, but vailed; and obscure in their best aspect, their faces: they colour their teeth black, thinking. that shews most delight and beauty, and to differ from Dogs, whose teeth are white; their Apparel is like the other Indians.

Mandao: this Kingdom is fo called of Mandao. the chief City, 1. Mandao which being 30 miles in compass, held out a siege of 12 years. 2. Molta, where the women ride booted and spur'd. 3. Scernus, 4. Polymbothia.

Bengala: the Kingdom of Bengala is very large, and hath a coast 120 leagues, and as much within Land; the River Chaberis watereth it. It is plentiful in Richs. Rice, Wheat, Sugar, Ginger, Long-Pepper, Cotton, and Silk; and enjoyeth a very wholesom Air. The Inhabitants near the shore are for the most part Mahumetans; Gouro, the State-Royal, and Bengala, are sair Cities; Chatigan is alfo reckoned among the Cities.

They are a most subtile and wicked Nature of the People K 4 People, people,&are esteemed the worst slaves in all India, for that they are all Thieves, and the Women Whores; although this fault is common through all India, no place excepted. Here are found great abundance of Rhinocerots, whose Horn and all other parts is good against poyson.

East-India.

Oriffan.

Oristan: the Kingdom of Oristan hath on the Sea-coast 350 miles, betwixt the richer Kingdoms of Bengala, and Bisnagar; poor of Ports and traffick; Raman is the Royal City. The inhabitants (except a few Moors) are Gentiles, little or nothing different in Rites from their Neighbours.

CALOTA.

Canora: the chief Cities of this Kingdom are, 1. Ultabat. 2. Dangar. 3. Lifpoe, famous for her quarries of Adamant. Six leagues from Decan is a Hill out of which the Diamond is taken; this Hill is kept by a Garrison and walled about.

Deliie.

Dellie: the Kingdom of Dellie is Northerly subject to cold and frosts, as in Europe. The chief Cities of this Kingdom are, 1. Dellie. 2. Besmer, famous for the study of Magick. 3. Tre-mel; and 4. Fultabar.

This Prince liveth in great state, having a Revenue correspondent thereunto: his Subjects do reverence him exceedingly, making it Holy day when he cutteth his Hair, or shaveth his Beard. He is alwayes carried on Mens shouldiers, in a pome - " pous Chair adorned richly. Thus much of India intra Gangem.

INDIA extra Gangem.

White extra Gangem hath on the East, L China; West, the rest of India. This India hath formerly been divided amongst twelve Potentates, but now by the prosperous fortune of the Kings of Siam and Brama it is wholly subject to their command. The most remarkable of these twelve Kingdoms are Machin, Arachan, Camboia, Cauchin China, Brama, Siam, and Pegi.

Machin: This Kingdom is accounted famous for the Wood called by us Machine Aloes, by the Latin Writers Lignum vita: this wood is valued at its weight in pure Silver. The chief City is Machin.

Arachan: This Kingdom is environed round with Mountains, and impe- Arac are netrable Woods. The chief Cities are: 1. Arachan. 2. Ava, famous for her abundance of Gems.

Camboia: This is a great and populous Countrey full of Elephants, and canbo. Abadas, (This Beast is the Rhinoceros.)

The

East-India. The chief City is Camboia, a Town of great Traffick and Commerce, for its plenty of Gold, Silver and Aloes, and other Commodities of great worth.

Treacherou people.

They are a treacherous People, as may appear by their dealing with the Hollanders in 1602. whom they invited to the shore with promise of certain Buffs, and then cruelly flew them.

Caushin-China.

Riches.

Cauchin-China: this Kingdom is situate between the River Cantan, and the Kingdom of Siam, divided into three Provinces, and as many Kings. It aboundeth with Gold, Silver Aloes, Porcelane, and Silk, Their chief City is Cauchin-China, fituate on the Sea, much frequented by Merchants for Porcelane, or China dishes, here made.

Ryania.

Brama: Of this Kingdom of Brama the Cty Royal is Pegu; the Nation where began the greatness. of the late Kings, not long fince. This Kingdom was of no estimation, but now hath made all his Neighbours his Homagers, having subjected to his Seigniory 12 Kingdoms, being all of them rich in the best Commodities that the Indians afford.

Siem.

Siam: This was not long since the Queen or Lady of this part of India, but now is subject to the King of Brama. The Principal Cities are, i. Malaca, now subject to the Portugals; they have there there their Bishop, and a Colledge of fesuits, besides the Castle, It is situate in a very unwholesom air, yet a Town of great resort unto for Trassick of Spices. 2. Siam, whose stateliness giveth name to the whole Kingdom; there are besides the Natives, 30000 of Arabian Houshoulds 3. Odia. confisting of 400000 Families; it is the Seat of the Kings of Brama. Patane is also another City, standing between Malaca and Siam, chief of that Kingdom, whereto, it giveth name in the height of 7 Degrees: The buildings are of Wood and Reed, but artificially wrought; The Hollanders have had much Trading here of late.

Pegu: This Kingdom is bleffed with Peghan a rich Soyl and a harborous Sea-shore, extending 300 miles in length, in which the principal Haven is Martabane. As for the City Pegu, it is the most fair and elegant City in all India; it is distant from the Sea 25 miles. This King lives in extraordinary great riches and Majesty; he keepeth 4 Elephants, 3 milkwhite, and one black, all which he divinely worships.

Thus much of India.

CHIRCH.

"Hina hath on the North, Catay, and the Tartars; on the South Cauchin China; on the East, the Sea; and on the West, Brama. It reacheth from 17 Degrees to 42 of Northerly Latitude, and Lyeth after their own description almost four square. On the West is separated and secure from unneighbourly Nations; by a Sandy Wilderness. On the North by a wall, which Nature hath framed partly of high Mountains, and Art hath supplyed with the nature and industry of men.

Natures 1 of the People.

The People are in composition of their body short-nosed, and small black eyes; their beards are thin, not having above twenty hairs: They are white, but not fo much as in Europe; the men as well as the women suffer their hair to grow long, colour it, and gather it into a Net or Cawl on the top of their head; those which are unmarryed, wear their hair curled on the top of their forehead They are for the most part an ingenious and politick people, much delighting in the exercise of manual Arts.

Fertility.

The air is very temperate, the Soyl pleasant and fertil; they have two, and and somewhere three Harvests in a year. It aboundeth likewise in Rice, VVool, Cotton, Olives, Vines, Flax, Silk, all kinds kinds of Metal, Fruits, Cattel, Sugar, Honey, Rheubarb, Porcelane-Dishes, Camphire, Ginger, all kinds of Spices, VVood, Musk, and Salr.

The Countrey is for the most part plain, in so much that they have Coaches and Carts driven ordinarily with Sails; few Mountains, but plains of an Hundred miles compass. They eat thrice in a day, but sparingly, not touching their Dier. meat with their hands, but with sticks of Ivory, Ebony, and the like.

China is of wonderful bigness, well Provinces nigh equallizing all Europe, it is said to be 3000 leagues in compass, and 1800 leagues in length. As for the name of China, it is only used by us, the Inhabitants calling themselves Tamans, and Tabencos. It is divided into fifteen Provinces, to the least of which our European Countreys cannot admit comparison: Six of these border on the Sea, Cantan, Foquien, Chequiam, Nanquin, Xantam, Paquin: the other nine be Inland, Quiansi, Huquam, Honan, Xiensi, Xansi, Suchnon, Queichen, Junan, Coansi; some reckon these names somewhat differently as, I. Canton. 2. Feguien, 3. Olam, 4. Sisnam, 5. Tolench, 6. Camsai, 7. Minchien, 8. Ochian, 9. Honan, 10. Pagina, It. Zaiton, 12. Quinchien, 13. Chequean, 14. Susnam, 15. Quinsay;

all of large extent, and contain in, them many Towns and Cities, in number more, in compass bigger, and in wealth more eminent than the best of ours.

In the Province of Canton, is 190 Towns, and 37 Cities, in Feguen, 99 Towns, and 33 Cities, in Olam, 130 Towns, and 90 Cities, in Sisnam, 150 Towns, and 44 Cities, in Tolence 235 Towns, and 51 Cities, in Cawsaye, 122 Towns, and 24 Cities, in Minchien, 29 Towns, and 25 Cities, in Ochian, 74 Towns, and 19 Cities, in Honan, 102 Towns, and 20 Cities, in Pagina, 150 Towns, and 47 Cities, in Zaiton, 78 Towns, and 27 Cities, in Quincheien, 113 Towns, and 45 Cities in Chequean, 95 Towns, and 39 Cities, in Susnam, 105 Towns, and 41 Cities, and lastly in Quinsay, 114 Towns, and 38 Cities. The King holdeth his Court in Naquin; his Predecessors before the Tartarian Conquest, are said tohave resided in Nanquin, or as some say in Quinsay. They have 244 Cities of name dignified by the title Fu; and as many smaller Cities entituled Cheu, with their several Jurisdictions: and a third fort called Hien, as big as the meaner Cities of Spain, above 3 120 Two forts of Castles, both for Fortification and Habitation, with priveledges also of Markets, the greater fort named named Hui, 293: the less of greater number, 2593 : their Villages are innumerable.

The Cities generally like one another, except in greatness; the Streets are straight, yielding prospect from one Gate to the other. Canton is accounted the least of the Metropolitan Cities, yet the walls of it have 83. Bulwarks; the Streets so broad that ten men may ride in front, and paved and adorned with many triumphant' Arches and Shopson both sides; the Bridges here and elsewhere are many, of large Free-stones, very costly; the High-ways which lead to the Cities, very stately; and the Kings Houses for the publick Officers, very magnificent, after their manner.

Nanquin is some eight or ten leagues from the Sea, with a River leading thither. It hath three fair brick-walls, with large and stately Gates; the Streets are of two leagues, or of two and a half in length, wide, and paved; the compass is at least eleven or twelve leagues, and containeth by conjecture two Hundred thousand houses. It equals or exceeds four of the fairest Cities in Europe; there are divers other Cities within a days journey hereof, which are great and famous for Traffick, of which Hancheum and Sucheum are chief, which are of the Chinians called Paradile, for the plenty of all things. Sucheum is seated as Venice is, having her Streets part by water, and part on land, so rich in Traffick, that twelve millions of Revenue do accrue from hence to the King yearly.

Quinsay, heretofore the Royal Seat of the Kings of Mangy; the situation of it is in the midst of China, and near the Sea; but now this famous City, containing heretofore a Hundred miles in compass, having twelve hundred Bridges, and fixteen Hundred Thousand Housholds, hath bequeathed her Land and greatness unto Nanquin, and her Sea-treasures unto Sucheum, both fucceding, but not together equalling this great and famous City.

These Cities of China want that elegance and magnificence which stately Temples and sumptuous buildings do afford to our Cities of Europe: Their Houses are low, without the ornament of Porches, Galleries, Windows, and prospect into the Streets: besides these habitations, there are many which dwell on Land, but in their Ships; for their Shipping is of two forts, one for Sail, and another for habitation also: these also are meaner or fairer, according to the wealth of the Owner: In the one fide they carry their Families, in the other their Passengers. Many Barks are as Victuallinghouses houses by the way, and likewise as shops of Merchandize. They buy and fell not with Gold, but S lver, and that not coyned, but every one hath his Scales with him to the Market, to weigh his Silver; and they are subtile and deceitful, if men be not wary. Things are there exceeding cheap, a hundred pound of Sugar may be bought there for nine or ten fix pences, and other things proportionable.

This Kingdom is called Tamen, and the Tamen. Inhabitants Tamegines; Chinais a meer stranger in China. The King is absolute Revenue. Monarch, and in Revenue exceedeth all the Princes in Europe and Africk together; his whole Revenue being reckoned, ariseth together to one Hundred and fifty millions: His expences are exceeding great, all the Mandarines, Eunuchs or Courtiers, Soldiers, Hospitals, and Priests, receiving Stipends out of his exchequer. The King hath one wife, but many Concubines, whose Children inherit if the lawful wife be barren. These women are not suffered to go abroad, nor likewise to speak unto their Kinsfolks His Court ers are Eunuchs, whom their poor Parents have gelded in their youth, in hope of Courtly preferment; of these there are supposed to be in the Court some 16000.

When any of these Chinoys dye, they Burials. cloath clothe him in his best Apparal, set him in his best Chair, and there all his Kindred kneel before him, and take their leave with tears; when he is Cossined they place him in a room rich ly furnished, and set by him a Table sull of Viands and good chear, with Candles continually burning; and when he hath layn thus sisteen dayes, he is carryed forth to his Funeral, where they burn his Body, Men, Cattel, and Provision for his attendance and sustenance.

The

Thus much of China, and of the Continent of Asia.

OF

Of Africa,

FRICAis a Peninsula, encompassed almost round with the Red-Sea, on the East; the Atlantick Ocean, on the West; the Southern Ocean, on the South; and the Mediterranean, on the North. Where the Sea is defective to make it an Island. there is a little Isthmus which tyeth it to Asia, which is but 60 miles in length. The form of Africk is like a Pyramis reversed, the Basis whereof is in breadth 1920 miles, but from the Pyris to the Basis it extendeth it self 4155 miles; being much less than Asia, and far bigger than Europe, and yet not so well peopled; Nature having made here her folitary place of retiring, attended here by scorching-heats, and showers of Sands, such are the many Defarts in Africa, fertile only in barrenness, yet in some places beyond admiration for fertility. Many are the Creatures which Africa yieldeth, not usual in our parts: Elephants are there in plenty, and kept in great Herds together; also Lions, Leopards, Crocodiles, Sea-horses, Hyenas, and such like.

Barbary.

The usual Division of this Countrey is into Barbary, Numidia, Lybia, the Land of Negros, Ethopia Inferior, Ethiopia Exterior, Egypt, and the Islands.

BARBARD.

ALI the Tract of Land between Atlas and the Sea, (stretching in length from Egypt to the Straights) is called Barbaria. It comprehendeth both Mauritanias, Africa minor, Lybia exterior; besides Cyreniaca, and Marmarica.

It is bounded on the East, with Cyreniaca; West, with the Atlantick Ocean; North, with the Mediterranean; and South, the Hill Atlas.

Division. It is divided into four Kimgdoms, Tunis, Algier, Fez, and Morocco; all which are of the like fertility, and peopled with the like Inhabitants; only the Cities speak the Arabick, but not pure, and the Countrey use the old African tongue.

Fertility. The fertility confifts in Fruites, Figs, Olives, Dates, Sugar, and Horses of excellent beauty, strength, and service.

In this Countrey also is a certain kind of Goat, whose hair makes a Stuffe as fine as Silk, here are also some Mines of very fine Gold, abundance of Oyla and Honey &c.

The Men are of a duskish colour; come- Natures ly of body; stately of gate; implaca- of the ble in hatred; constant in affection; laborious, and treacherous: they are also Covetous, and Ambitious, and Jealous of their wives beyond measure. The Women are sumptuous in Jewels; beautiful in blackness; having delicate soft skins, but they are not permitted to stir abroad, and seldom doe see any body but those of their own Houses.

Tunis: This Kingdom of Tunis con-Tunis. tainethall that which the Ancients called Africa propria, or minor, and Numidia antiqua.

and.

The Soyl is healthful, especially the West part; the Inhabitants are sound and healthful; feldom vexed with any fickness: hereof are reckoned five parts, Bugia, Constantia, Tunis, Tripolis, and Ezab: this Ezab is the most Easterly part, having many Towns and Regions, amongst which some account Mesrata: from these parts unto Capes is the Tripolitan Region. The chief Town is Tripolis, where the Turk hath his Bassa, or Viceroy, a receptacle of the Pirats which rove and rob in those Seas. This Region was named fo of three Cities, whose Colonies planted it, Abrotonum, Tophia, and Leptis; from Capes to Guadilbarbar is

_

the Birbary.

the Tunetian Territory. The Chief City is Tunis; it is a great City since the ruines of Carthage, near unto which it standeth. It hath in it about ten Thousand Housholds; it hath many Temples, especially one, of singular beauty and greatness.

Bizerta is also an ancient City supposed by some to be Utica, where Cato slew himself: from thence unto the Mountain of Constantia, is that Region, thereof bearing name. Constantia is the chief City; t is an an ancient city containing 8000 Families, and many fumptuous buildings, a great Temple, two Colledges, and three or four Monasteries, much resorted to by Merchants: every Trade having their peculiar Streets. In this Region is situate Dona, sometime called Hipio, where Ste Austin was Bishop. Bugia, so called of Bugia; the principal City extends it felf 150 miles: this Bugia was once adorned with Temples, Monasteries, Hofpitals, and Colledges of Students in the Mahumetan Law. Ezabis the most Easterly part of the Tunetian Kingdom: the chief Province whereof is Mesrata. The Inhabitants are rich, and pay no tribute: there grow Dates and Olives, and they traffick with the Numidians, to whom they carry the Wares which they buy of the Venetians.

The

The Great Turk swayeth with his Ottoman Scepter at this present the Kingdom of Tunis, and all Africa, from Bellu de Gomora to the Red-Sea, (except that little which the Spaniard hath.)

Algier and Telensin: these Kingdoms were of old called Manritanica. The Kingdom of Telensin containeth in length from East to VVest 380 miles, in breadth not above 25. It hath 2 frequented Haven-Towns, Oran and Merfalcabir, both taken and holden by the Spaniards. Oran is a fair City, having in it about ten thousand Families.

Algier is subject to the Turks: here is the Seat of a Turkish Viceroy or Beglerbeg, and of Turkish Rovers. It containeth about 4000 Families; the buildings very sumptuous; Inns, Bath-stones, and Temples, very beautiful; every Occupation hath a feveral place by it felf. It hath adjoyning Plains very pleasant and sertile, one whereof is 45 miles long, and thirty broad; it was semetime subject to the Kingdom of Telensin. Within these Kingdome standeth the Desart of Angad, wherein are store of Roes, Deer, and Ostriches, Arabian Thieves, and Lyons. Guaguido and Tegdimit are two Cities belonging to this Kingdom.

Fez: this Kingdom of Fez stretch- Fez.

Barbarr. eth from Azamor to Tangier; and from the Atlantick Ocean to Muldia. This River is the Eastern Border: on the North, it is washed with the Sea; on the South, is the Kingdom of Morocco; and on the VVest, the River Ommicabili: the Rivers Sube, Luccus, and others water it thereinare numbred 7. Provinces, Temes na, the Territory of Fez, Azgar, Elbabet, Errif, Garet, and Chaus; every one of which had in old times their several Governors. The City of Fez is now the Royal Seat; it hath this golden title given it, because the first day of the foundation of it, there was found some quantity of Gold. This City is now both great and strong; and for the sweet situation of it, both Nature and Art have played their parts; for it is watered with a delicate River, which disperseth it self by manifold channels into every Street and corner of the City, and by Conduit-pipes closely visiting every Temple, Colledge, Inn, Hospital, yea and almost every private House, from whence with an officious service it carryeth away the filth. Their Buildings are stately to admiration; the roofs of their Houses are adorn ed with Gold and Azure, and other excellent colours; they are made flat for the Inhabitants use and pleasure, whose houses are richly furnished within; beside the exquisiteness of the Portals, Pillars, Cisterns, and other parts of this Citiefurniture, there are above 700 Mosches Temples, and smaller Chappels within this City, which are adorned with Marble Pillars, and other ornaments; the Chapter thereof wrought with Mosiaque and carved work: every one hath his foundation of Marble, or of other Stones; the Floors are covered with Mats, as are the Walls, a mans height, lined therewith. There is one principal or Cathedral Church, called the Temple of Carven, containing about a mile and a half in circuit; it hath 31 Gates, great and high: the roofs 150 yards long, and little less than 80 broad: the roof hereof is exceeding high, supported with 38 Arches in length, and 20 in breadth: round about are certain Porches on the East, West, and North; in length, 40 yards, and in breadth 30 under which are Storehouses, wherein are kept Lamps, Oyl, Mats, and other necessaries. Every night are lighted 900 Lamps, for every Arch hath his Lamp. About the Walls are Pulpits of divers forts, wherein the Matters teach to the People such things as pertain to their Faith. The Revenues of this Temple are 200 Duckats a day. In this City are two principal and stately Colledges of Scholars, and also a goodly Fount in of Marble, and a stream continually running; the Gates of the Colledge are of Brais fairly wrought: in the great Hall where they say their prayers is a Pulpit, which hath Stairsall of Ivory and Ebony. All the Colledges in Fez. have some resemblance to this, and in every of them are Readers, and Professors of divers Sciences. There are many Hofpitals in Fez, not inferior to the Colledges where Learned Men and Gentlemen receive entertainment, and poor Men relief. There is another Hospital, for diseased Strangers, which have their Diet, but nottheir Physick. Inns here are almost two Hundred, built three stories high, and have one Hundred and 20 Chambersa piece; but here is no Provision of Bed nor Board for Strangers. These Innkeepers are so odious, that (unless base fellows)none of the better fort will speak to them. Each trade in Fez hath his itreet alotted thereto.

In the Suburbs of Fez are 150 Caves, hewn out of excellent Marble, the least of which will hold a Thousand measures of Corn: this is the Sink of Fez, where every one may be a Vintner, and a Bawd. Another Suburb hath 200 Families of Lepers, which are there provided for. In New Fez the Jews have a Street, wherein they have their houses, Shops, & Synagogues. The

The other Cities of this Kingdom, Septa, now in the hands of the King of Spain; Tangier, and Algier, nigh unto which the three Kings, Sebastian King of Portugal Mahomet, and Abdelmelech, Competitors for this Kingdom, were slain in one day.

Morocco: this Kingdom is divided Moroc: into seven Provinces, Hea, Sus, the Region of Morocco, Gazzula, Duccala, Hafcora, and Tedles. Morocco is the chief City, and was once the Metropolis of Barbary, as containing a Hundred thouand Housholds, but now inferiour unto Fez, for populousness, spaciousness, and beauty. The chief Buildings hereof are the Church and the castle; the Church is bigger, though not so beautiful as that at Fez, and hath a Tower so high that the Hills of Azasi, being 120 miles distant, may be thence easily discerned. The Cafile is very large and on a Tower thereof stand three Globes made of pure Gold weighing 130000 Barbary Duckats, divers Kings have gon about to take them down, but have desisted, by reason of some misfortune or other that have befallen them.

The other Towns of note are Tongovista, Fisedet and Massa, abounding in Amber.

The Revenue of the Xeriffs is very Revenue.

L 2 great

Pumidia and Lybia.

225

great, which they levy out of the tenth of their Subjects gain; besides a Duckat for every Poll, male or Female, above 15 years of age. In Merchandize, of a Citizen he receives two in the hundred; of a Stranger, ten. Church and Colledge-Lands are escheated to him.

Thus much of Barbary.

Pumidia and Lybia.

DEfore we come to Numidia, we must pass over mount Atlas, (now called Anchisa, or Montes Clari) a Hill of that height, that the top of it cannot be seen.

It is bounded on the East, with Æzypt; West with the Atlantic Ocean; North, Atlas; and South, Lybia.

Natures of the People.

Fertility.

The People to this day spend their lives in Hunting, and stay but three or four days in a place, as long as the Grass will serve their Camels. This is the cause the Countrey is so ill peopled, the Towns so small in themselves, & so remote from others; for Toffet, a great City in their esteem, contains but 400 Housholds, and hath no Neighbors within 300 miles of it

This Countrey aboundeth with dates, which which is the chief Diet of the people; but this sweet meat hath sowr sauce for it commonly rotteth their teeth betimes. The air is of that nature, that if any-one be troubled with the French Disease, he shall here find remedy.

Of the Numidians and Lybians are five Peoples. Peoples, Zenaga, Guenzaga, Terga, Lemta, and Berdena, and live all after the same manner and order, that is, without orders or manners at all.

They are Idolaters, Thieves Murtherers, Ideots, except some sew Arabians that are mingled among them of Ingenious Disposition, and addicted much to Poetry.

Their Garments are of base Cloth, Apparel; scarce covering half their bodies. The Gentlemento be distinguished from the rest, wear a Blue Jacket with wide sleevs: their Steeds are Camels, which they ride without saddle or bridle. Their Beds are Mats made of Rushes, and their food is oft-times Patience with an Empty belly. This Countrey aboundeth with Serpents and Scorpions, so that daily some are found dead by their venomous biting.

Their chief Cities are Staphilet, Danfen, Dara, and Techoret, a Town very courteous to Strangers.

Lybia hath on the East, Nilus; West, Lybia, the Atlantick, Ocean; North, Numi-

L 3

dia.

Pumidia and Lybia.

midia; and South, the Land of the Ne-

This Countrey is a Defart, dry and fandy, utterly void of Springs and Rivers, fo that a man may travel eight days or more without finding water. The Defarts are of divers shapes, some covered with Gravel, others with Sand, both without water; here and there is a Lake, sometimes a shrub, or a little Grass. The Merchanis that travel to Tombuto, or other places this way, carry water with with them on Cameis; and if water fail, they kill their Camels, and drink the water, which they wring out of their guts. They live without form of Law, in manner of bruit Beafts: they are most notorious Thieves, and dangerous to Merchants; yet there live among them ma-By Africans, civil, courteous entertainers of Strangers: in this Country of Lybia were two of the Sybils that prophested of Christ, and zirrius the Heretick.

> Thus much of Numidia and Lybia.

Of the Land of Acgrees.

I Igrarum Terra, or the Land of the Negroes, either is so called of the River Niger, or of the black colour of the Inhabitants. It hath on the East, Ethiopia Superior; West, the Atlantick Ocean; North, Lybia; and South, the Kingdom of Manicongo in Ethiopia Inferior.

The Inhabitants at most want the use Natures of reason, most alienate from dexterity of the People. of wit, and all Arts and Sciences; prone to luxury, and are for the greater part Idolaters. The Countrey is abundantly Riches. stored with Gold and Silver, very fine and pure. The River Niger here, as the Nilus in Ægypt, overfloweth the adjacent Fields for the space of 40 dayes, and in fo many more recollects his waters into his proper Channels.

The chief Provinces or Kingdoms

(of which here are twenty five) are: Gualata: this Province was subdued do us or by the King of Tombuto; a beggarly, Provinthievishlying Countrey, as any is in the ces. World; they ancint their hair every day with the fat of Fish, for great gallantry, whereof they sink exceedingly. The Women esteem it their chiefest parts of goodly feature, to have large brealts.

The Land of Negros.

breasts, which by Art and stretching fome have them hanging to their Navel.

Guinsa.

Gninea confineth with Gualata; here there is neither Town nor Castle, but Mina, built and fortified by the Portugal, for their better trading here. They have fome snakes here of thirty foot long ; Spiders as big as the palms of ones hands: store of Camelions, blue Parrots, and many forts of Apes. They esteem it a great part of beauty to have a flat Nose.

Tombutum_

Tombutum: this is the richest Prince in all this part of Africk, keeping a Royal Palace; he hath some Scepters that weigh 13000 pound weight a piece: The King will admit no Jews into the City, he hateth them fo, yet he loveth and maintaineth a great number of Learned men.

Malli.

Melli a Countrey of three Hundred miles in length, nath the richest, civilest, and industriousest Inhabitants of any amongst these Negrites.

Cano.

Cano is a Countrey abounding in Lemmons and Pomgranates.

Gialofi.

Gialosi: the people hereof are of that admirable nimbleness that they will leap on a Horse when he gallopeth, and stand upright when he runs fastest.

Benin: here the people go naked until they are married, and then are clothed

thed from the waste to the knees: the King hereof hath 600 Wives, with all which twice a year he goeth in pomp; the Gentlemen have some 80, fome 90; the meanoft 12: Mon and Women pinck their bodies, putting thereon greate mixed with colour; here they offer their wives to Strangers.

Nubia stretcheth from Gaoga unto Nilus, having the Egyptian confines on the Nubica. North; and Defarts of Goran on the South. Dangala is their chief Town, and hath 10000 Families; but ill built, their Houses being Chalk and Straw: the Inhabitants with their Traffick to Cairo become rich; there is in this Kingdom great store of Corn, Sugar, Civet, Sandal, and Ivory. They have a strong poyson here, the tenth part of a Grain whereof will kill a man in an quarter of a hour, one Ounce is fold for 100 Duckats.

Bornum: here the people have nei- Bornuma. ther Children, wives nor names, but are distinguished by some external accident, Gaoga: this Kingdom hath neither civility, letters, nor Government. The Gangas chief Towns of these Provinces are, Tombutum, Genny, Agadez Guangara, Songum, and Choninam, the third City in estimation of all Africk.

Thus much of the Land of the Negros.

ETHI-LS

Benin.

Ethiopia Superior, or the Empire of Prest, ter John.

His is t'e greatest and powersullest
Prince in all Activity Prince in all Africk; his Dominion begins at the entrance of the Red-Seasand stretcheth to the entrance of the Island of Seine, North; East, on Ægypt, and the Defarts of Nubia: and on the South-side, on Monemugi. It contains in compass 4000 Italian miles. The Regi-Eertility. on is scarce in Wheat, but plentifullin Rice, Barley, Peafe, and Beans. They have abundance of Sugar, Minerals of all forts, and infinite Herds of Oxen and Sheep; they have no Coyn of Gold or Silver, Salt is the most current money. The Mountains are full of Basill and other odoriferous Plants. The People are much inclined to Barbarism, destitute of learning, not to be credited unless they swear by the life of their Prince: they hate a Smith equally with the Devil; their colour is gene-

Natures of the People.

The Natives are generally base and Idle, the better fort have the modesty to attire themselves though it be but in Lions and Tigers Skins; their Religiois mixt, Christians they have, but yet differ from rally Olive-tawny.

from us, forthy Circumcife both sexes. They have a custom in Dobas, one of the seventy tributary Kingdoms of this Empire, that none of their Men may marry till he hath killed 12 Christians; the Emperous Court restanct long in any one place, but is moving, as well for Housing as Retinue, for it consists of Tents only to the number of 6000: and encompasseth in, about 12 or 13 miles.

Their chief Rivers are Albas, Toteasis, Rivers.

and Nilus.

There are in this Empire 70 tributary Kingdoms; the chief whereof are:

Barnagasso: this Kingdom is situate gasso. upon the Red-Sea: it stretcheth from Suachen almost to the mouth of the Streights; it hath no other Port on the Red-Sea but Frecco, neither hath the Prester any other Port in all his Dominion but this; and of late the Turk hath taken this, with that of Suachen, and forced the Governour of this Province to compound for the yearly sum of 1000 Ounces of Gold.

Tigramahon: this Kingdom lyeth be-Tigramatween Nilus, Marabo, Angote, and the bon. Sea. It hath in it Cazunio, supposed to be the Royal Seat of that Queen that visited Solomon.

Angote is between Tigramahon and Amare; in this Kingdom Iron and Salt Angote. is current money.

A-

Ethiopia Superior.

Amara is situate in the midst of the Countrey, there is a steep Hill dilating it self in a round form, many dayes journey in compass. It is situate in a Plain, extending it self every way without other Hill in the same, for the space of 30 leagues, the form is round; the height is such, that it is a days work to ascend from the bottom to the top; the air above is wholesom and delectable, and they live there very long without sickness; there are 34 Palaces on the top, spacious, sumptuous and beautiful, where the Princes of the Royal blood have their abode with their Families.

20:23

Xoa: this kingdom hath store of Corn and Cattel.

Goyame.

Goyame: this kingdom hath plenty of Gold: here only, and in the Hills of the Moon, is found the Unicorn, which is feldom feen, only the Horn is found, which he casteth in manner of the Harr.

Fatigar

Fatigar: Fatigar is a Lake on the top of a high Mountain, 12 miles in compass, stored with Fish; and thence run many Rivers stored with the same Fish.

Eurgere.

Guegere was sometimes call'd Mero. The Inhabitants are confederate with the Turks and Moors against the Abassines: it is an Island situate in the River Nilus.

Ethicpia Superior.

The chief Cities of this kingdom are Saba and Zambara; besides these 2 there is none that have above three thousand Houses in them, but these are populous and magnificent, with Towers, Temples, triumphant Arches, Obelisks, Pyramides; and the like tokens of Industry, Antiquity, and Mainster tiquity, and Majesty.

Saba was founded by the Queen which visited Solomon, and was the Mother-City of the Empire. It hath 5000 Houses great and sumptuous; the Streets spacious, with Portals and Pent-houses; it hath sour choise Gates, all Alabaster and Jasper, wrought with antique works; the great doors of Cedar, curiously carved; the wayes that lead to these for the space of two leagues, are set with Palms, Planes, Oranges, Cedars, Cypress, and other Trees on both sides, for shade and fruit. Near to this City are mines of Gold, Gardens, and other places of pleasure and prosit, Zambra is greater, containing 30000 Houses and innumerable concourse of people. It stands in the Kingdom of Caffates, and near the great Lake, called hereof Zambra, where the Emperour leaving his wonted manner of removing up and down in Tents, hath fixed his Court Royal; and yet without the City are many Tents belonging to the Court.

The

The other Cities are Cossonum, Zameta, Aruma, Eranco, and Suachen; befides the Kings Court, which is as a wandering City; for with his tents and Pavilions belonging to him, he covereth no less than ten miles.

Euild-ings.

Divisior.

Their Houses in Ethiopia are for the most part round; and all of Earth; so troofed: covered with thatch: compassed with yards: They sleep on Ox-Hides; they have neither Table nor Table-Clothes, but have their meat served in on wooden Platters; some eat Flesh-raw; others broyl it.

The Person of this Emperour is very much honoured; nay adored by the Common People, to whom he sheweth himself but thrice a year, (viz) Christmas, Easter, and Holy-Rood.

Thus much of the Ethiopian Empire.

Of Ethicpia Exterior.

Ethiopia Inferior, called also Exterior hath on the East, the Red-Sea; West, the Æthiopian Ocean; North, Terra Nigrarum; and Southern the Ocean. The usual division of this Region is into five parts, (viz) Aian, Benomopata, Zanzibar, Caforia, and Congo.

IO

Aian after the Arabian account, con-Aian. taineth all that Region that lyeth between the mouth of the Red-Sea, and Quilimanci, being for the most part on the Seacoast inhabited by the said Arabians but in the Inland-part thereof are People of a black heathenish Nation.

It comprehendeth two Kingdoms, A-del and Adea; the former of which extendeth it self from the mouth of the Red-Sea, to the Cape Guardasu, South and West: it bordereth on the Dominion of Prester John, about the Kingdom of Fatigar.

It aboundeth with Flesh, Honey, Wax, Corc, Gold, Ivory. The chief City is Arr : Zeila also and Barbora pertain to this Kingdom, Cities without the Streit on the Sea, much frequented by Merchants. It is stored with variety of Merchandize: and yieldeth some representation of Antiquity in building thereof, consisting of Lime and Stone.

Adea is situate between Adel, Abas- Adea, sia, and the Sea, to which last it is tributary. The chief Towns are. Brava, Pato, and Gogia; these two last belong to the Portugal.

Zanzibar extendeth from the River Zanzibar Quilimanci to Benomotape: It is a low, fenny Ethiopia Exterior.

fenny, woody Countrey, with many Rivers, which by the extremity of moisture causes the Air to be intemperate. From the waste upward they go naked.

Herein are contained the Territories of Melinde, Mombara, Quiola, Mozambique, and others.

Melinde is the name of a Kingdom, and of the chief City thereof. The Inhabitants near the Sea are Moors, and build their Houses after the manner of Europe.

Quiola.

Quilao is the name of a City and Island, which is a Kingdom of the Moors, and extendeth her Dominion far in the Coast. The People of this Island use when they have female-Children born, to sew up their private passages for the Urine; and if they want this signof their Virginity when they are married, they are disgracefully sent home to their Parents, and by them as opprobriously received.

Here are divers other Kingdoms alfo, as Mombara, Mozimba, Macuas, Embeve; and against them the Promontory Prasium.

Monambique. Mozambique: by this name is signified a Kingdom in the Continent, and I-flandalso, with a safe barbour. Mozambisue Island is inhabited by Portugals, which have there a strong Castle. Here the Portugals Ships winter; they have trade trade in the Continent, in Sena, Macura, Sofala, and Cuama.

Sofala is a rich Kingdom, and abounds Sofala.

Gold and Ivory; it lyeth between Cnamo and Magnice, two Rivers. Here the Portugals have on a little Island a Port and Factory of very rich Trade, the people bringing great quantity of Gold for their Cloth and other Commodities; it is supposed that it amounteth to two millions yearly. Orfe is of opinion that this Sofala is that which in Solomon's time was called Ophir.

Besides these Kingdoms before-mentioned here are Gorova, Colta, Norzuge, Moneulo, Baduis, and Monoemagi, which is rich in Gold.

Benomotopa is almost invironed round Benomotowith Waters, having on the West and Pa. South, the River called Rio D' Infanto; on the East, the Ocean; and on the North, the River Quama.

This Countreyis in compass 450 miles, and aboundeth with such store of Elephants, that no less than 5000 are yearly killed, for their Teeths sake. Here are said to be 3000 Mines of Gold; the chief being Manica, Boro, and Quitiani. The Mines nearest to Sofala are those of Manica, which are in wide Champaignes, compassed with Mountains 90 miles in circuit.

The

The places where the Gold is, appear and are known by the dryne's and barrenne's of the Soyl.

In the Mines of Boro and Quiticui, and in the Rivers is found Gold, but not so pure.

The chief Provinces are Motana, Tocoa, Melchucha, Quinibebe, Berfaca, and Banagall.

The chief Cities are, Benomotopa, Zimbas, and Tongum, the Kings Seat.

Natures of rhe People.

All the People of this Region are of curled Hair, and are more ingenious than those which are against Mozambique, Quilon, and Melinde; among whom are many that eat Mans Flesh, and let their kine blood to satisfie their thirst. They punish nothing more than Witch craft, Adultery, and Thest.

Cafraria hath on the East, Rio D'Infanto; West and South, the Ocean; and North, Luna Montes. The People live. like Beasts, and are as black as Pitche Here are in this Countrey besides great herds of Oxen and Sheep, abundance of Deer, Antilopes, Baboons, Foxes, Hares, Ostriches, Cranes, Pelicans, Herons, Geese, Ducks, Phesants, Partridges. In this Countrey near the Cape of good Hope, the People esteem so much of Brass or Iron, and other trifles, that they would exchange their Cows and Sheep sheep, for a piece of old Iron scarce worth four pence.

Congo hath on the East, Aubassia; corgo. West, the Ethiopian Ocean, North, the Land of Negroes; and South, the Hills called Luna montes.

In some by-Provinces of this Countrey of Congo, the Inhabitants are Anthropophigi. and have Shambles of Mans Flesh, as we have for meat. They kill their own Children in the birth, to avoid the trouble of breeding them, and preserve their Nation with Itoln Bratts from their Neighbouring Countries.

The Provinces of this Kingdom are, 1. Matama: this is a Kingdom great and mighty; the Airthereofis wholesom; the Earth outwardly furnished with store of Fruits; inwardly with Mines of Crystal, and other Metals.

Angola was sometime a Province of this Kingdom, but it is now a Kingdom of it self, and very populous. Here are Mines of Silver, and most excellent Copper. They have many kine, but love Dogs better than any other Flesh, and fat them to the Shambles.

These Countreys are very populous, insomuch that they sell to the Portugals yearley 28000 Slaves. The chief Towns are, 1. Benza, called by the Portugals S. Saviours, 2. S. Pall, lying on the Sea-. shore.

Fertility.

shore. It is the principal Haven in these parts.

Thus much of Ethiopia Exterior.

EBPPT.

His Kingdom is confined on the East, with the Arabian Defarts: those of Bara, Lybia, and Numidia, West; South, it is divided from Ethiopia by the great Catarait; and North, with the Ægyptian Sea, being part of the Mediterranean. A Coast dangerous and unhospitable, full of flats, having no Haven but that of Alexandria, which is by a Defart divided from the rest of the habitable Countrey; so that it is neither by Sea nor Land to be invaded, but with much difficulty. It is faid to extend from North to South, 560 miles, and in breadth from Rosetta to Damietta, one hundred and forty.

This Countrey of Egyft is divided into three Provinces, viz. Sahid, Errifia, and Maremina; Sahid exceeds the rest in Line, all sorts of Pulses, Poultery and Cattel: Errisia in Fruits and Rice; and Maremina in Cottons and Sugar. Throughout the Countrey they have no Wines, yet want they none, in that they desire defire them not:here are no trees to speak of, but such as are planted in Orchards, fave Palm Trees only, of which they have great plenty. The people eat little Flesh: fresh Cheese, sour Milk made solid, Roots, Fruits, and Herbs, especially Colocasia, a kind of a Colewort, being their principal Sustenance, bakeing their bread in Cakes upon the Hearth, and mingling therewith the seeds of Coriander.

The wonderful fertility of this Soyl, Fertility. is rather to be admired than expressed; in times past reputed the Granary of the whole world. Amongst other Commodities which this Earth doth yield, and are fetched hence by Forreigners, are Sugar, Flax, Rice, all manner of Grain, Linnen Cloth, Hides, Salt, Buttargio and Cassia being now the principal.

In this Countrey also are store of Cam-Riches. els, Horses, Asses, Oxen, Sheep, and Goats of a very large size; as also Poultry, hatched in a different manner from all other Countreys, not by the sitting of the Hen, but the Heat of Furnaces or Ovens, in which their Eggs are orderly laid in Dung, & by a gentle heat brought to Animation: here are also plenty of Metals, good Wines, and choise Fruits, as Lemons, Oranges, &c.

The fertility of this Countrey pro-Nilus. ceedsfrom the Inundation of Nilus, which from from the fistee ith of June overfloweth the Countrey for the space of fortydayes, and in as many more gathers his waters again; if it flow not the height of fifteen Cubits, then is the Earth deficient of her abundance of Increase for want of moisture; and if above seventeen, it cannot produce its natural operation: but if the mean be granted there is no Countrey can brugg of such abundance; the Corn being all inned before the first of May. During this Inundation the Cattel Ive on Hills, and in the Towns, to which they are driven beforehand; as for the Towns and Villages, they hand all on the tops of Hills; Commerce and entercourse is not a jot diminished, for Skiffs and like Boats supply the places of Horses and Camels.

The River Nilus now in these dayes begins to arise with the Rising Sun on the seventeenth of June, and although seventeen Cubits formerly were the utmost limits of its swelling, yet now it usually riseth to twenty four Cubits. The People here owe not only their Riches but themselves to this River; for the Plague which here oft miserably rageth, upon the sirst of the Flood instantly ceaseth, insomuch as when sive Hundred dye at Cairo the day before, which is nothing rare, not one doth dye the day sollowing.

The People of this Countrey are not Natures black but Tawny, of mean Stature, and of the People. fpare of Body; active and quick of foot, devoted to Luxury; Cowardly, Cruel, and in their dealings with other Men, more observant than faithful; of a wit much inclining to craftiness; Their Women are of the same Complexion with the Men, very fruitful in Child bearing, having three or four at a birth: Those which dwell in the Cities have their Armes and Ancles graced with Bracelets and hoops of Gold or Silver; contrary to the custome in all places else, the Women make water standing, and the Men couring on their knees.

Earpt.

The chief Cities of this Kingdom are, I Alexandria, once the Metropolis of Africa, but now hath nothing left her but her ruines, and those ill witnesses of her perished beauties; only the Walls remain, one without another imbattled, and garnished with fixty eight Turrets. rather stately than strong. The buildings as they are now, are mean and few, erected on the ruines of the former; that part that lyeth along the shore, inhabited only, the rest desclate; the Walls almost quadrangular, on each side a Gate; one opens towards Nilus, another regards Mariotia, a third the Desarts of Bracha, and the fourth the Haven.

Saint

245

Inhabited it is by Moors, Turks, Jews, Christians, Heathens, and Grecians, more in regard of Merchandize. (sor Alexandria is a free Port both for friend & enemy) than for the conveniency of the place, being feated where they have neither Tillage or Pasturage. They keep good ifore of goats, with ears hanging to the ground, which feed among the ruines. In the Isle of Pharos stands a Castle, which defends the entrance of the Haven; ten in the hundred is to be paid for all the Commodities that are there brought ashore, only moneys pay but one and a half; whereof they take an exact account, that thereby they may aim at the value of the returned Commodities, they paying eleven in the Hundred even for such Commodities as are in value unaltered; at so high a rate is this free Traffick purchased, the Mahumetan paying as much as the Christian; the Jews pay unto the Bassa for Custom 20000 Maidens a day but the Traffick of the Portugal, English, and Dutch hither ther, is not discontinued, they bringing fuch Wares to their several homes by the backlide of Africk.

2. Rosetta is another City standing on a branch of the River Nile; the Houses here are all brick, flat-roofed, as they are generally in those hoster Countreys, for the Moors use muchto lye on the tops of their Houses. Raw-hides are here an excellent Commodity, from hence transported into Italy.

3. Caino, a City of marvellous strength, seated on the East side of the River, at the foot of the Rocky Mountain Muccat; it is in compass about eight miles, the Streets narrow, the Houses high, built all of Stone almost to the top; at the end of every Street is a Gate, makeing the Streets as defensive as a Castle: The Houses are more beautified without, than commodious within, being ill contrived, with cumbersom passages; thy are flat and plaistered; above the wall furmounting the roof commonly of fingle brick; their locks and keys be of Wood, even to doores that are plated with Iron. Their Mosques exceed in magnificency, of which there are a great number in this City: here are also divers goodly Hospitals, both for building, revenue, and attendance: the next to these in beauty, are the great mens Seraglio's by which if

-

As with indignation and contumely. The streets are unpayed, and exceeding dirty after Ran, which feldom happens here. In the heart of the Town stands a spacious Cane, which they call a Besessan, in which are sold all kind of Wares of the siner sort. Three principal Gates there be in this City Beb Anfre, towards the Red Sea; Beb Zueila leading to Nilus, and the old Town; and Bebell Futuly, on the North of the City, opening toward the Lake Esbiky.

They are usually visited here, every seventh year, with a dreadful pestilence; yet the City is still so populous, that it is conceived to be in good health, if there die not above a 1000 in a day, or 300000 within that year.

This City is inhabited by Moors, Turks, Negroes, Jews, Cofties, Greeks, and Armenians, who are here the poorest, and every where the honest: most of the inhabitants confist of Merchants and Artificers; and though they frequent no Forreign Marts, yet they have great Commerce with divers other Nations for Silks, Fruits, Wax, and the Sovereign Balfamo, good for all forts; besides many other Commodities of Cotton, Woosl, rich Stuffs, of Cloth of Gold and Silver, and the best Sattins, Damasks, Taffa-Taffaties and Grograms, that are in the whole world: But the main Commodity which comes hither, is brought overland by Caravans from Mecha, as precious Stones, Spices, Stuffs of India, Indico, Gums, Amber, all forts of perfumes; our English have but ill utterance for their Cloths in these hot Countries. Some four miles from this great City stand the Pyramids, Tirnamed the Worlds Wonder.

In this City hath the Bassa his residence, and commandeth as absolute Sovereign; under whom are 16 Sanziacks, and an 100000 Spacheis. It is present death to be drunk here.

Six days journey from Cairo, up the River, stands the City Sajett, where Christ and his Mother were said to have made their abode until the death of Herod.

The other Cities of note in this Kingdom are Sues, a Haven-Town, standing on the North-end of the Red-Sea; Damietta, a Port-Town. There stand also the two ancient famous Cities of Thebes and Memphis, now known only in their ruines.

An incredible number of Cities are reported by Authors to have been in this Countrey of Egypt, 20000 by Pliny; but Diodorus Siculus faith 2000 and Ortelims fays only 300. Great is the difference in account amongst them.

M 2

rence

On the East side of Egypt standeth the -Red Sea, so called of the colour of the Sand. It is famous for the passage of the Israelites through it.

Cyrene.

Cyrene, and the Isle Pharos, are reckoned as parts of this Kingdom: Cyrene hath East, Egypt; West, the Kingdom of Tunis; North, the Mediterranean; and South, the Hill Atlas. In this Countrey stood the Oracle of Jupiter
Ammon, whither when Alexander travelled, he saw for four dayes space, neither Man, Beast, Bird, Tree, nor River.
The chief Cities are Cyrene, Arsiona, and Baria; the Soil is barren of water and fruits; the people are uncivil, and theftuous.

This Country is ill stored with Towns, and hath not many Villages, the People living up and down in scatered Houses, and at such a distance, as if it were in so many Islands. At Cyrene was Simon born, whom the Jews compelled to carry our Saviours Cross.

Isle Phares, or Magrah.

Pharos is a little Island over against Alexandria, in which for the benefit of Sailers was built a Watch-Tower, reckoned one of the seven Wonders of the world.

Revenue.

The Revenue which the Turk receiveth hence, is three millions yearly, two of America.

of which is distributed to support the charge of his Vicegrent Bashaw, and presidary Souldiers.

Thus much of Egypt, and the Continent of Africk.

Of America.

Merica is so called, because Americus Vespusius discovered it.
The most usual name among Mariners is the Western Indies, because, of the West situation; and India, because by that name they express all wealthy if remote Regions.

The generality of the Natives here do worship the Sun, Moon, and Stars; and they have their other Spirits, which they call their Zemes, and adore them in Images made of Cotton-Wool, which oft times by the delusion of Satan seem to move, and utter an hideous noise, that works in these poor Idolatours a great awe lest they should harm them; and the rest of their Customs are answerable to their Religion, beastly: they go naked, and are very lustful people, without distinction of Sex; in many places they are Antbropophagi, and prey upon each other like Wolves; They labour not much to sustain themselvs, but are rather content to take what the Earth can yield without Tillage. This of the Indians in general.

 M_3

and

This new world is very plentiful in Spices, Fruits, and such like Creatures as the old World never knew; burdened with such store of Kine and Bulls, that the Spaniards have killed Thousands of them yearly for their Hides and Tallow; blest with such abundance of Gold, that the Spaniards sound in their Mines more Gold than Earth; a Metal which the Americans exchanged for Hammers, Knives, Axes, and the like tools of Iron.

America is commonly divided by that Isthmus, or neck of narrow passage of Land at Darien, into 2 parts: the one called Northern America, or Mexicana; the other Sombern America, or Perusna.

Mexicans.

MExicana containeth the Northern Tract, and comprehendeth the distinct Provinces of Mexico, Quivira, Nocaragua, Incutan, Florida, Virginia, Norumbega, Nova Francia, Corterialis, and Estotilandia.

Mexico giving name to half Ameri-Mexico:
ca, is now called Nova Hispania. In this Countrey is that excellent Tree called Mett, which hath forty kinds of Leaves, which serve for many uses.

This is an excellent Countrey, full of all variety almost in every kind usual with us, and exceeds in varieties full of wonder: The Mest-Tree they dress like our Vine, and order it so, that it yields them almost useful all necessaries; the Leaves serve them instead of Paper, and of the Vine-Bark they make Flax, Mantles, Matts, Shooes, Girdles, and Cordage: The Spaniards are Masters here.

It aboundeth with golden sanden Ri Riches. vers, and is very much surnished with gold, and glorieth in the Mountain Propochampeche, which is of the same nature as Ætna and Vesuvins.

It hath on the East, Incutan; West, Calformio; South, Peruana; the Nor-M4 thern thern bounds are unknown: it is divided into four parts.

Gallicia Nova. The first part is Gallieia Nova; the principal Cities whereof are, Xalis, Guadaliara, New Mexico, Coanum, Compostella; this is a Bishop See: S. Esprit, S. Michael, where is a Colony of Spantards; stony it is, and rough, yet yieldeth Mines good plenty.

Mechoa-

Mechoachan, containing in circuit 80 leagues, is one of the best Countries in New Spain, abounding in Mulberry-Trees, Silk, Honey, Wax, black Amber. The men are tall, strong and active, and feem to be of a good wit. The chief Towns are, Samforge, Pascuar, Colima, and Valedolit; this is a Bishops See. The chief Havens are, St. Anthonies, and St. James, or St. Jago.

Gra?a-

3. Guastachan, which is most poor in the natural Commodity. The chief City is Tlascalan, the chief City in all these parts, next to Mneico. 2. Villeriche, a port Town very wealthy, because all Trassick of Old and New Spain do pass through it. The Spanish have in it two Collonies; Paunco, and St. James in the Vallies.

Tremistatan. 4. Tremistatan, or Mexico; this is the greatest and noblest of all these four: In it are the Cities of 1. Villarucha. 2. Antithero. 3. Meccioca. 4. Ottopan; and and 5. Mexico, the Seat of an Arch-Bifhop, and of the Spanish Viceroy. It is in compass six miles, and contains 6000 houses of Spaniards, and 60000 of Indians. The people are witty and industrious; good hearty Crastimen, and rich Merchants. In it also is an University, a Printing House, and a Mint for Coynage.

Mericana.

Quivira is seated on the most West-Quiviraern part of America, over against Tartary. It is full of Herbage, and enjoyeth a temperate Air. The people hereof are desirous of Glass more than of Gold: the chief Riches of this Countrey are their Kine, which to them are both Meat, Drink, and Cloth. Her Provinces are Cibola, and Nova Albion.

1. Cibola lyeth on the East side, and cibola: taketh its name from the chief City; the next is Tetontoa.

2. Nova Albion lyeth on the West Nova Albion. towards Tartary. It was first discovered bion. by Sir Francis Drake, and by him called Nova Albion. The Countrey is abundant in Fruit; the People are given to Hospitality, but withal to Witchcrast, and adoration of Devils. The chief City is Nova Albion.

Nicaragua is South East from Alexi- Nicaragua: ico, with whom it agreeth in nature, both in Soil and Inhabitants.

M 5,

The

The Countrey is pleasing to the eye, and abounding in all things necessary: it is as plentiful of Parrots as England is of Crows. The chief Cities are, 1. New Granada. 2. Leo, a Bishops See. It is reported that in this Countrey there is a Tree, that withereth at a mans touch.

Meut an.

Incutan; This Countrey of Incutan is 900 miles in circuit, and is a Peninfula, it is fituate over against the life Cuba, and is divided into three parts. Incutan: Cities of greatest worth are, I. Campechium, Sida, Loncum. 2. Guatsmala; whose chief Towns are Guatimala, Cassuca, and Giapa. 3. Acasamil, vulgarly called Sunta Cruza. The chief Town whereof is Santa Cruza. The People of this Countrey adored the Cross before they heard of Christ.

Plovida.

Florida hath on the East, Mare del Nort; West, Mexico; North, Nova Francia; and South, Virginia. This Country aboundeth in fruits, and hath good quantity of gold and silver. Emeralds are also found here; and here are Turquoyes and Pearles. The principal Cities are Arx Carolina, St. Helens, St. Matthews. Here are also three strong Forts held by the Spaniard, viz. St. James. St. Philip, and St. Austin. Carolina, is a new established Colo-

Carolina.

d Colo-

my of English, being that part of Florida which adjoyns to Virginia, and makes its Northern bounds in the latitude of 36 degrees; and the Southern bounds in 29 degrees; on the East it is washed with the Atlantick Ocean; and on the West it hath that large Tract of Land, which runneth into the Pacifique Ocean.

This Countrey is blest with a temperature of rate and wholsomair, so agreeable and the Aira favourable to the English constitutions, that it hath invited several English from most of the American Islands, to come and live here; it being generally accounted one of the best Colonies that ever the English were Masters of: for here is health, pleasure, and profit to be found, which cannot be met with, in so large measure, in any Countrey of the Indies.

The Natives here, though illiterate, yet Natures are they People of ready wit, and good of the understanding, and generally well proportionate, they are great favourers of the English, with whom they live in love and friendship, and upon all occasions are ready to contribute their assistance unto them: they are generally of a good and honest meaning, contenting themselves with mean Diet and Apparel; much given to Mirth and Dancing, and prone to Hopout.

Monout and valor, which ingageth them in continual Wars one with another, the Countrey being divided into feveral perby Kingdoms, and several Indian Towns. which are generally the habitat on of sheir several Kings; they worship one God as Creator and Governour of all chings, to whom their High Priest offers marifice; but believes he hath something else to do, then to regard humane affairs but doth commit the government thereof to leffer detties, that is to good and evil Spirits, to whom their inferiour Priests make their devotion and Sacrifice; when any of them dye, they interr with the Corps provisions and houshold-Fuffe for the Elizium or next world, which they fancy to be beyond the Mountain and Indian Ocean.

DAMO. dities.

The chief Commodities which this Countrey doth and may afford, are Wines, oyl, filk, cotton, indico, ginger, robacco &c. It abounds also with Fruits. as apricots, peaches, grapes, olives, walnuts, apples, pears, plumbs, cherries, figs, mulberries, quinces, straw-berries, water-melons, marachocks, oranges, limons, pomgranates and pome-citrons; and the earth is very aprito produce and bring to maturity all forts of of garden-herbs, roots, &c. and com: Here are also cedar trees, poplar, bay, Mexicana.

ash, and pine, with several others, whose names are yet unknown; in this Country also are several navigable Rivers, well stored with excellent fish of sundry forts; here are also great plenty of wild Fowl, as Geese, Cranes, Swans, Herons, Curlews, Heathcocks, Oxeys, Brants, Dotterels, Wigeons, Teals, and Ducks and Mallard in an undestroyable quantity; in the Woods also are store of Deer, Hares, Conies, &c. Pheasant, Turkeys, Partridges, Turtle-Doves, Wood-Pigeons, with great variety and plenty of finall birds.

There are two considerable Settle-English ments here of the English, one at Albe-settlemarle River in the North, and the other ments. about the midst of the countrey on Ashly River, which is likely to be the scale of Trade for the whole countrey, as being situated very commodious for shipping.

Virginia hath on the East, Mare del Virginia. Nort; north, Norum bega; fouth, Florida; and West, we know not what limit. It is fo fruitful, that two acres of Land will return our hundred Bushels of Corn. There is said to be rich Veins of Allum, Pitch, Tar, Rosin, Turpentine, store of Cedar, Grapes, Oyl, plenty of sweet Gums, Dies, Timber-trees, Mines of Iron and Copper, and abundance of Fruit, Filhes, Fishes, Beasts, Fowl; and of that Herb or Grain, which they call Maize.

Tempe-

The Air of Virginia is now sweet and rature of wholesom, and the clime of late very agreeable to the English, since the clearing of woods, so that now sew die of the countrey disease, called the Seasoning.

Commodities.

The chief Commodities which this Countrey doth or may produce, are Tobacco, Hemp, Flax, Hops, Rape-feed, Annifeed, Woade, Madder, Pot-Aihes, Honey, Wax, and Silk, if they would make it, Saxafras, Sarfaparilla; it abounds also with all forts of trees, fruits and fowls, mentioned before in Carolilina: Here are also great store of wild Bealts, as Lions, Bears, Leopards, Tigers, Wolves, and Doggs like Tigers, but bark not; Buffelves, Elks, whose flesh is as good as Beef, and their skins as buff; Bevers, Foxes, Poll-cats. Muskcats, &c. And for tame Cattel Cowes, Sheep, Goats, Hogs, and Horses; and there are not only great store, but great variety of Fish.

The Natives are generally well proportioned, flout, of a swarthy Complexion, their hair blackand flaggy, which they wear long; They are of a ready wit, very subtile and 'treacherous: not much addicted to Labor, being too great lovers of their ease; They are much, given to Hunting, and going to Wars with each other, their weapons are Bowes and Arrows, at which they are very expert, but of late they have got the use of Guns and other Weapons; they are very obedient to their Kings; their Priests are accounted Conjurers, and they worthip the Devil for fear, lest he should destroy them. They anoint their bodies with certain Oyls mixt with Bears greafe; their Apparel is but mean, only contenting themselves with something to cover their nakedness: Their Houses are no better than our English Hogsties, and their Diet in meanness is answerable to their Houses.

VCD

That part of the Countrey possessed Division by our English is divided into several of the Country. Counties, in each of which are Sheriffs, Justices of Peace, and other officers, the names of the Countries are, 1. Carotuck 2. Charles, 3. Glocester, 4. Hartford, 5. Henrico, 6. James, 7. New Kent, 8. Lancaster, 9. Midlesex, 10. Naufmund, 11. Lower-Norfolk, 12. Northampton, 13. Northumberland, 14. Rappahanock, 15. Surry, 16. Warwick, 17. Westmoreland, 18. Isle of Wight, and York; in each of these Counties are held petty Courts every Moneth, from which they have Appeals to the Quarter Court, held at Fames Town.

Chief Rivers and Towns.

In this Countrey are several strong and great Rivers, as Chesopeake-Gulph, Cape-Henry, Pawhatan, now called James-River, Pamawnke, now York-River, Rappalsanocks or Tappahanock; the chief Towns are, James-Town, Elizabeth, Dales-gift, Wieoconioco, Bermuda and others.

Maryland

Mary Land hath South, Virginia; North, New-England, and New-York; East the Atlantick Ocean; and Delawair Bay; and West, the true Meridian of the first Fountain of the River Patowmech.

Tempe-As to the temperature of the Air, the rature of Heats in Summer receive such seasonable allayes from gentle Breezes, and fresh showers of rain and the cold in Winter, is of so little durance that the Inhabitants cannot be faid to suffer by either.

Natures of the People.

The Natives as to their complexion, stature, customes, dispositions, laws, religions, apparel, diet, houses, &c. are much the same as those of Virginia; being different Tribes, and Governed by several Kings, as is before shewed.

Nature of the Soyl.

The Soyl is rich and fertile, naturally producing such Fruits, as Fish, Beasts, Fowle, Plants, Gums, Balfoms, &c, as is to be found in Virginia her Neighbour; but the great Trade of Mary Land is Tobacco bacco, which is accounted better than that of Virginia; and fo finds great Vent abroad, infomuch as an Hundred Sail of Ships Trade hither in a year; and though they have here a competent Stock of monev yet their chief way of Commerce is by way of Barter or Exchange of Commodities, and fo for their Tobacco, they are furnished by the Merchants with all necessaries for themselves, Houses, Families, and Plantations.

Mericana.

This province, where it is peopled with the English, is divided into ten Counties, viz. 1. Cecil. 2. Dorchester. 3. Division Kent. 4. Somerset. 3. Talbot. 6. Ann- of the Arundel.7. Baltemore. 8. Galvert. 9. Countrey-Charles, and 10. St. Maries; and Courts, and feveral officers, Sheriffs, &c. as in Virginia; The chief Towns are Calverton, Herrington, Harvey-Town, and St. Maries seated on St. Georges River; beautified with divers well built houses; here the general Asfembly and Provincial Courts are kept: at Maptapany, about eight miles distant, the Governor, Mr. Charles Calvert, Lord Baltemores Son, hath a fair and pleasant house.

The Rivers of Note in this Countrey Rivers. are, Chesopeak, Pattowneck, Patuxent, Ann-Arundel, alias Severn, Saquesabaneck, Choptanck, Namecocke, Pocomoke, with feveral others.

New-York

New York hath its name from his Royal Highness the Duke of Tork, the Proprietor thereof: It is that part of New England which the Dutch formerly seized and called New Netberlands.

Fenility.

It is a Countrey of rich and fertile Soil, well watered with Rivers, as is Mary-Land already spoken of and doth produce the same Beasts, Birds, Fish, Fruits, Commodities, Trees, &c, and in as great plenty as Mary land, and Virgimsa.

Natures of rhe People.

The Natives here are not much unlike the Indians of Virginia, &c. Upon the least offence the Man turneth away his Wife and marrieth again, and the Children begotten by her, the taketh with her the Mannot regarding them, fornication is here permitted. They worship the Devil as the other Indians of Firginia beforementioned do, and are in great fear of him; They have a custom here which I think few women of Europe practife, for when these Indian women find themfelves quick with Child, they keep themselves chast and untouched by man. And the like they observe in the time of their giving suck. These Natives are much given to dancing, Sports, and Recreation, observing festival times: their diet and habit is much like the other Indians, but they beforear and paint their faces with feveMexicana.

several colours by way of Ornament; they feldom give quarter (when they fight with one another) to any fave to women and Children.

There is one confiderable Town in this Countrey, possessed by the English and Dutch called New York, the same that the Dutch built and called New Amsterdam; it is well feated, both for trade and security in a small life called Mubatan, regarding the Sea, made so by Hudsons River, commodious for shipping: the Town is large, containing above 500 well built houses and hath a Mayor, Aidetman, Sheriff, and Justices of Peace for their Magistrates, and a strong fort called James Fort well defended with Men and Ammunition for its security: They have a good made with the indians for the skins of Elks, Deer, Bears, Bevers, Otters, &c. and other Furs; And do likewise enjoy a good trade with the English.

The Northern part of this Virginia is New Engcalled New England, full of good Towns land. and Forts, and is like to prove the greatest, beit, and happiest Plantation of all this Western Continent.

The Air here in New England is found Natures very healthful and agreeable to the En-Pcople. g'ish. which makes them to possesse many Potent Colonies; but the Natives here

are

are governed by their particular Kings, and do much differ in customes and manners from one another, as those Indians inhabiting in Mary land and Virginia. and other parts of America: and do live generally at variance with each other; They have their several Towns and Cities.

Norumbebega.

Norumbega hath on the North Nova Francia; and South, Virginia; the air is of a good temper, the Soil fruitful, and the people indifferent civil; the Chief Town is called Norumbega, and is posfessed by the French.

Nova Francia.

Nova Francia hath on the North, Terra Cortelialis; and South, Norumbega; the earth is barren, the people barbarous; it is inhabited besides the Natives, with some sew French men: the chief Towns are Canada, Sangunai, and Hochelagi.

telialis.

Terra Cor- Terra Cortelialis, or di Laborodorn, hath on the North, Estoitland, and South, the River Canada: the men are barbarous, of colour brown, swift of foot; the chief of their Villages are Breste, Caba Marzo, and Santa Maria. The Natives here live most in Caves, and are excellent Archers.

Effoit-Land.

Estoitland hath on the South, Terra Cortelialis: the Soil is enriched with natural endowments; the Inhabitants are endowendowed with a greater readiness of wit and foundness of judgment, than the other Americans. This Province is called by us English, the New World.

Peruana.

This Promontory is called Elizabeth's Foreland, and the Sea running by it is called Forbishers Streights; this Country yields plenty of Gold, but is extream cold, the people here are cloathed with Beasts hides; and are skilled to make themselves Boats of Sea-Calves skins, in which they venture into the main Sea without danger.

Thus much of Mexicana.

PERUADA.

P Eruana containeth the Southern part of America; it is tyed to Mexicana by the Isthmus or Streight of Darien, being no more than 17 miles broad; others mak it but 12 only; It comprehendeth Castella Aurea, Guiana; Peru, Brasil, and Chile, and is in compass 17000 miles. From North to South, in this Countrey, there runs a continued course of High mountains, whose tops the very Fowls of the air cannot reach by flight; and from thence descend ma-many admirable Rivers, among which Marague and Argenteus are most famous. The one for his extent, the other for his plenty of Silver. The Countrey is exceeding Rich, but the people differ not much from the worst of Beasts; they devour mans Flesh, filthy worms, and what else comes in their way.

Castella Aurea.

Castella Aurea, so called for the abundance of Gold, containeth the Northern part of Peruana, and part of the Isthmus: It is admirably stored with silver, spices, pearls, and medicinal Herbs; and is divided into four Provinces, viz. Castella del Oro, Nova Andaluzia. Nova Granada, and Cartagana.

Castella del Oro, is situate in the very Ishmus. It is not very populous, by reason of the unhealthsulness of the Air and the noysomness of the standing Pools The chief Cities are Nombre de Dios, on the East; and Panama on the West; through these Towns comethall the traffick that cometh between Spain and Peru Nova An- Nova Andaluziah ath on the North dalugia. Castella del Oro; and on the South, Peru. The best Cities are Toccio, now St.

Margarets, and Santa Espritta.

Nova

Nova Granada is lituate on the South-Granada. side of Cartagena. The chief Cities are Fungia, Tochanum, Popaian, S. Foye, this is a Bishope Sca, Palma, and Merida.

da. This Countrey is very strong by reafon of the fituation amongst stony Rocks which environ it. It yieldeth much fruit, and hath some Wines of Gold and filver.

Cartegana hath a fruitsu! Soil, in Cartegana which groweth a Tree, which if any one touch he will hardly escape poysoning. The chief Cities are Cartegana S. Martha, and Venzuela, built on a plain Rock, in the waters of a Lake.

Guiana hoth East and South, the River Guiana.

Maragnon, called alfo Amazon; and West, the Mountain of Peru, and on the North, it hath the main River called Oronoque or Raliana, from Sir Walter Raleigh, who went further than any before him into the Countrey; the River is navigable byreport above a thousand miles. This Countrey is the fruitfullest part of all Peruana; the Inhabitants in Winter dwell in Trees, for fear of Inundations, making on them many artificial Villages, and ranges of buildings. The like they have in Brasile, and the Golden Castle. The chief Towns are Marequito, a safe harbour; Winicapora: nigh unto it is reported that there is a Mountain of Crystal; Manoa, called also Eldorado, the greatest City of America, situate on a Lake of Salt-water two hundred leagues in length; and is by the Spanuards called Eldorado, or the Guilded City, Peru.

Peruana.

City, from the abundance of Gold, both in Coin, Plate, Armor, and other Furniture, which Diego Ordas faw there 3 the other City of note is S. Thome.

Peru hath on the East, the Peruvian Mountains; West, Mare Pacificum or. del Zur; North, Castella Aurea; and South, Chile.

The Soil is luxuriant in all manner of Grain, fortunate in the civility of her Inhabitants, and salubrity of Air; here is great store of Tobacco. The People hold opinion that Men after they are dead and buried, eat, drink, and wantonize with Women, and therefore commonly at the death of any they kill some of their Servants. The Natives are verystrange Idolaters, and worship a black Sheep, Serpents, and other ugly Creatures.

This Province above any other in A-. merica is abundant in gold and filver; the Mines whereof in divers Places yield more of this Metal than of Earth: by which abundance, not Spain only, but all Europe, is stored with more pure and fine

Gold, than formerly it was.

The chief Cities of Peru are 1. St. Michael. 2. Arequipa, seated on the River Plata, and the Haven-Town to Cus-60. 3. Lima, distant about two leagues from the Sea; the Port that serveth it being called Collao. It is an Arch Bishops See,

See, and residence of the Peruvian Viceroy. 4 Cusca, the Seat of the Ancient Kings of this Nation. 5. Giacha. 9. Portoneio. 7. Tomobamba, glorying in her fair Palaces; and 8. Caxemalcha.

Peruana.

Brasile hath on the North, Guiana; on Brasile. the South, Rio de la plate, and Chile: on the East, the Virginian Ocean; and on the West the Mountain of Pern; called the Anadees. These hills are high, craggy, and very barren, full of ravenous Beaits, and poysonous Serpents. Here also live a Mountainous Peple, being hairy all over, going altogether naked, and live without Houses or bedding. This Country is about 3000 miles in compass; the People are excellent Swimmers, and are able to keep under the water for a long space.

The Air here is of a healthful temper; the Earth fat, and always flourithing; great store of Sugars, and wonderful rich Mines, are the finews of this Region. Hence cometh our red wood, which we use in dying of cloaths called Barsile; the Trees of which are of that bigness, that whole Families live in the Arms of one; every Tree being as populous as many of our Villages; for which purpose the Cities here are neither many, fair, nor populous. The chief are S. Anna, Equitum, Ascensio, Pernom bucco, from whence comes that Brasil wood, with us is called Pernanbuck-wood, which they use in dying red cloaths. The People of this Countrey have two ill qualities, as being mindful of injuries, and forgetful of benefits; the Men cruel without measure, and the Women infinite lascivious. In this Region is an Herb called Viva, which if you touch it, it will shut up as a dasse in the night, and will not open till the party that injured it be out of fight.

which

Coile.

Chile hath East, the Virginian Ocean, West, Mare del Zur; North, Peru; and South the Streights of Magellanus. It taketh its denomination from the vehemency of the cold here, infomuch that it is faid, that many are here frozen to death, and hardened like marble. The Countrey toward the mid-land is mountainous and unfruitful; toward the shore level, fruitful, and watered with divers Rivers: the Spaniards find heregood plenty of gold, abundance of Honey, store of Cattel, and Wine enough for their own use. The People are very warlike, and of a Giant like stature, as being (some, of them) eleven foot high. The chief Towns are Arequipoum, St. Fames built by the Spaniard; Cocimbam, Villadives, and the Imperial.

Thus much of America; and of the Continent of the whole World.

Having.

Having thus discoursed of the Continent, and its particular Kingdoms; I will say somewhat of the Seas, and the particulars which lie dispersed in them.

First the

GRECIAN SEAS, and ISLES in them.

They being dispersed in the Grecian, Cretan, Ionian, Adriatick, Mediterranean, Brittish, Northern.

And first of such as are about the Coasts of GREECE.

PPRTUS CULTRUS.

because of the dark mists thence arising; ormore commonly Mare Maggiore, for its greatness. It is a very dangerous shore; full of Rocks and Sands; and for this cause there is on the top of an high Tower a Lanthorn, in which there is a great Pan full of Pitch, Rosin, and Tallow, and the like, in dark nights continually burning, to give warning to Mariners.

ners how near they approach the shore of this Sea. The cheif Isles are Thinnus and Erinthus, little famous. From hence the Sea bending Southwards is brought into narrow bounds, not being fully a mile broad, called Thracius Bosphorus, its site near Thrace, and hath no lse worth naming.

This Streight having continued 26 miles in length, openeth it se f into the Propontis, three hundred and thirty miles in compass, now called Mare di Marmora, so called for the abundance of Marble there gotten

This Island was formerly called Proconefas. The Soil is apt for Vines, and not destitute of Corn, affording also Pasturage for Goats, wherof they have plenty; and incredible numbers of Partridges: it hath a small Village towards the North, with a Haven peopled by Greeks.

The Sea having gathered her waters into a leffer course, is called Hellespont, or the Sea of the two Castles, the one standing in Europe, and the other in Asia; in the same place where once stood Sestos and Abidos, in which the sair Hero and Session and her beloved Leander dwelt.

Here the Turks search and examine all ships that pass that way, staying the Ships three dayes, to the end if any Slave have run away from his Master, or if any

any Thief have stoln any thing, they may in that place be persued and apprehended. Here also they receive the Grand Seigniors Customes: and in effect these two Castles are the principal strength of Constantinople.

In this Hellespont is the Island Tene-Tenedos.

dos; an Island not very big, but exceeding fertil, lying some three miles from the place where Troy stood. It hath a City called Tenedos, having a Calile, and a gallant Haven for all forts of vessellent produceth good store of excellent.

Wines.

Thus much of the Grecian Seas.

The Aegean Sea.

Ellespont of forty miles compass, expatiateth its waters into the Ægean Sea. The chief Islands are Samothracia, Lemnos, Lesbos, Chios, Eubæa, Scyros, Salamis, the Sporades, and the Cyclades, or the Isles of the Arches.

Samothracia, this is a small Isle, and Samothra-little famous; the chief Town is Samia; cia.
beautified with a goodly Harbour, which now by the Pyrates often infesting, is almost left desolate.

 $N \cdot 3$

. Many

Many famous Men were born and Lived in this Countrey, as Pittacus one of the seven wise men of Greece, Alcaus the Poet, Alcimenides his Brother, Diophanes the Orator, and Theophanes who wrote the Acts of Pompey the Great, and Theophrastus that notable Philosopher and divine Orator.

Lemnos.

Lemnos: this Isle contains in circuit 100 miles; The Countrey is plain and barren, if compared with the adjacent Islands: the Western part is dry and barren, the East part more fruitsul. The chief Cities of it are Lemnos, or Meryna yet continuing, though with no great beauty. It hath also 75 Villages, inhabited by the Greeks, except three, which are fortified by the Turks, who are Lords of this Isle, and call it Stalimene. This Isle is famous for a kind of Earth digged here, called in Latin Terra Sigillata, which Earth is fold to cure Wounds, stop Floxes, expell Poysons &c.

Chies or Sio.

Chies, or Sio; this Isle is in compass 100 miles, and famous for the Medicinable Mastich that groweth there on Fertility. Trees. This Countrey yieldeth great plenty of Oranges, Lemmons, Apples, Frunes, Pears, Figgs, Olives, Apricocks, Dates, with Cypress and Mulberry-Trees; and exceeding good Silk is made here. The chief City is Sio, built by

by the Genoeses, but now detained by a strong Garrison-of Turks: It contains 100 fine Houses, some whereofare Greeks, fome Genocles, some Turks, and some Moors; the City it self is unwalled, yet a populous and spacious place spread along by the Sea-fide, having a goodly

The Acgean Jucs.

Harbour for Ships.

In the midit of this Island is the Mountain Arois (now Armifta) producing the best Greek Wines, so praised by the Ancients: at the South, end of the Isle grow the Lentiske Trees, which afford themtheir Mastich: in this place also is the best Honey of the World; it yieles also Corn, Cottons, and Quarries of excellent Marble; Partridges here are an ordinary food, whereof they have an incredible number greater than ours, and many of them kept tame; which feed abroad allday, and at Night upon a call return unto their feveral Owners.

The Women of this City are most beautiful Dames, greatly given to Venery, and for the most part are exceeding proud and sumptuous in their Apparel; the Artificers Wives going in their Sattin, Taffaty, and some in their Cloth of Gold and Silver, adorned with pretious Stones and Gems; their Husbands are their Panders, for when they fee a Strangerarrive, they will presently ask him

whether

The Aegean Jues.

277

whether he will have a Mistress, and so make whores of their own Wives.

Not far distant from Chios stands Smyrna, & the Bay there takes the name from the City; amongst other goodly Temples in this City they had one consecrated to Homer, containing his honoured Image; this was reputed for one of the Primitive Churches of Asia, but now subject to the Turks; The Commodities here are Cotton Wool in abundance, Chamblets, and Grograms.

Leshos or

Lesbos or Mytelene; this lse is in compass 146 miles; the East parts of it are level and fruitful, but the West and South part mountainous and barren; the chief Cities are Mytelene and Methimnos.

This Island produceth excellent Corn, great store of Sheep, Cattel, and Horses, which though low of stature, yet strong and couragious; Mytelene is seated in a Peninsula which regardeth the main Land, strong by Nature and fortisted by Art: Adorned heretofore with magnificent Buildings; and numbered amongst the Paradises of the Earth, for temperate Air and delightful situation: on either side it enjoyeth an Haven, that on the South convenient for Gallies; the other for Ships of good Burthen; All that is lest of this City at this day worth observation vation is the Castle, exceeding strong and manned by an able Garrison, and the Arsenal for Gallies. This Isle is subject to the Turks, and Inhabited for the most part by Grecians: Their Apparel is long seveles Coats of home-spun Cotton; their Dyet Biskets, Olives. Garlick, and Onions.

Eubea, or Nigropont: this Isle is in Eubea or circuit three Hundred forty six miles, and Nigrapont. is separated from the Land of Thessaly by a narrow Channel, over the which in one place there is a bridge that passeth between the Isle and the Continent. This Isle bringeth forth all things necessary for humanelise, and is decored with many good Villages. The chief Cities of it are Nigropont and Calchos.

Scyros: this life is famous for nothing Scyros. In but that it was the Birth-place of Pyrrhus, and the lurking place of Achilles, where in Womens attire he was brought up amongst the Kings Daughters, and deemed a Maid, till by getting Pyrrhus on Dedamia, it was proved the contratery.

Salamis: this life is near unto Mega-Salamis, : ris, famous for the overthrow of Xerxes's Army, by the Athenians and their confederates.

Sporades: these Isles called the Spo-Sporades. rades are in number twelve, the principal.

N 5

al whereof are Milo, Canaton, Assine; and of these Milo is of most note. It is in form round, and in circuit Eighty miles; the Soyl is sufficiently fruitful of Grain and Oyl, desicient only in Wine. Here is good store of Marble, curiously spotted and store of Mill-stones: here is also great quantity of Pitch and Brimstone, and some Sulphury or hot Springs, good for many diseases.

Eyclades.

The Cyclades, so called because they lye in a Circle round about Delos, are in number 53. They are also called the Isles of the Arches, because they lye in the Sea call'd Archipelago. They stand so near together, that in a clear day a Man may see twenty of them together at one time; for which cause it is a dangerous place for Saylers in a storm.

The chief of these Cyclades are Delos, Samos: Coos, whose chief Town is Coos, is inhabited by Turks, only the Villages by Grecians. Patmos also, where St. John the Evangelith wrote his Revelations, being confined by Domitian. The Island is barbarous, but the Countrey it self is barren.

The Island Delos was formerly famous for the Temples of Apollo and Latona; under the Mountain Cynthus, but now nothing but the ruines are to be seen, which affords sair pillars of Marble to such as will fetch them, and other Stones of price both in their Nature and for their workmanship: The whole Island being now uninhabited. The Island Samos is famous for the birth of Pythagoras, and it is faid that Juno was here also born; it doth challenge also one of the Sybils whose name was Pytho and Heriphile; fruitful in all things but Vines: at the South end of the life itood the City of Samia, with a goodly Harbour adjoyning: now (as the re.t) by reason of Pi-rats that infest their Seas, almost altogether defolate. Nigh this Island Samos, lyes the Island Niceria, heretofore Icaria: it is now rarely inhabited, yet abounding with good Pasturage; and produceth also Corn plentifully: it hath no . Haven, but divers commodious Roads. The Island Coos is famous for the birth a of Hippocrases the Physician, and Apelles the rare Painter; it was formerly confecrated to Æsculapius: here lived also. Synus the Physician, Philetas the Poet and Orator, Nicia the Prince and Tyrant of Coos, Ariston the Peripatetick, and Theomnestus, that notable Politician.

Giaras is another of the Cyclades: into this Isle the Romans used to banish.

Delinquents.

The Cretan Ides.

281:

These Islands lye part in Asia, part in Europe, all in that part of the Ægean, which is called the Icarian Sea.

The other Islands lye dispersed about the Greekish, and yield nothing worth relation.

Thus much of the Grecian Islands.

CRETA.

His Island, now known by the name Candie, hath to the North, the Agean Sea; Welt, the Ionian Sea; South, the Libique; and East, the Car-vathian Sca.

It is of circuit 650 miles. Candia, Canea, Rethimos, and Sittia, are the chief Cities of it; and in every one of these is a Governour, and two Counfellors fent from Venice every two years. It is divided into four parts, under the jurifdiction of these four Cities, for the better administration of Justice: and they have a General, who commonly remains Note that candie is in the City of Candie, which is a large & fallen un-famous City, situate in a plain by the der the Sea-side, having a goodly Haven for Jurisdict-Ships, and a fair Arsenal, wherein are ion of the thirty six Gallies. It is exceeding strong, Grand and daily guarded with two thousand Signior. SoulSouldiers; the Walls in compass are about three leagues. The Inhabitants are not costly in their Apparel; the Men for the most part wearing but linnen Clothes, and use no Shooes, but Boots of white Leather. The Women imitatethe Men, wearing Brecches as they do, and boots after the same manner.

The Ancient inhabitants of this Island of Candia, first found out the use of Brass. and Iron, with the fword and Head-piece: and were the first inventers of shooting. in Bowes, and Hunting: Their Women. feldom stir abroad (except it be to Church) but in the Night time; their Breasts, and Shoulders are perpetually. naked, and dyed by the Sun into a Loathfome Tawny.

The second City is Canea, a City very strong and populous. It hath a Castle containing ninety feven Palaces, in which the Rector and other Venetian Gentlemendwell; there lye in it continually seven companies of Souldiers, who keep century on the Walls, and guard the Gates and Market places of the City.

Bethima stand, about the mid-way betwixt Candie and Canea. It is somewhat ruinous and unwalled; but the Citizens have lately built a strong Fortress, to keep them from the invasion of Pirats.

The

Fertility.

Natures

of the People.

The Soyl of this Island is very fruitful, especially of Wines which we call Muscadels, of which they transport yearly twelve Thousand Betts; together with Sugar-candy, Gums, Honey, Sugar, Olives, Dates, Apples, Oranges, Lemmons, Raifins, Melons, Citrons, Pomgranates, yet it is not a little deficient in Corn, the most or greatest part of which is brought hither yearly from Peloponnesus. The Island in general is very populous, the People being much addicted to envy, malice, and lying.

Titus was Bishop in this Island, to whom St. Paul in his Epistle Chap: 1. complaineth, and telleth him that the people of Creta are alwayes lyars, evil Beasts, and slow bellies, wherefore rebuke them sharply, saith St. Paul to Ti-

IWs.

The Islands in this Sea of less note, are, 1. Claudi, at this place it was where the Saylors, St. Paul, and the reit of the Company, hailed over board their Cock-boat and tyed it to their Ship, and fell to Towing, left they should have been funk into Syrtis, a dangerous Gulph upon those Seas, mentioned Alts 27. 16. 2. Dio. 3. Ægelia, of which nothing is famous.

Thus much of the Cretan Islands.

The Jonian Illes.

THe principal Islands of this Sea are Cytherea, the Strophades, Zacynthus, the Echinades, Cephalenia, Corcyra, Ithasa, Leucadia.

Cytherea, or Serigo: this Isle is in Cytherea compass fixty miles, and about some five or Serigo. miles distant from Cape Malo, in Peloponne sus. It was formerly called Porphyrus, from the abundance of Marble whereof the Mountains yield good plenty: defended it is by Rocks, in themselves inaccessible. It hath but one Castle, which is kept by a Venetian.

This Island was formerly consecrated to Venus, it hath divers Harbours, but those smal and unsafe: a delightful Soyl, Inhabited by Grecians, and subject to the Venetians.

In this Isle is the Village Capsalo, which is a Haven for small Barks.

Strophades; these are two Isles now Strophacalled Strivalli, lying against Messenia, des. famous for nothing but Harpyes.

In these two Islands only live a few Greeks, that receive their sustenance of Almes from the Neighbouring Islands.

Zant: this Island is not above fixty z_{nat} . miles in compass, yet is unspeakeably fruitful, producing the best Oyl in the World.

The Jonian Jaes.

285

World. It hath a City of great strength, bordering along the Sea-side, the chief City of the Isle: on the top of a Hill near the Town standeth a strong Fortress, wherein the Governour liveth This City in the Moneth of October and November is subject to fearful Earthquakes, which oft-times subvert the Houses, for which cause they build them very low. It produceth good store of Currais, Olives, Pomegranates, Citrons, Oranges, Lemmons, and Grenadiers.

This Island also produceth excellent strong Wines, both White and Red, which they call Ribolla; but the chief Riches are Currans, which draweth hither much Traffick both from England and Holland, for here they know not what to do with them they have such plenty.

The Islanders are Greeks, a kind of subtil people, and great dissemblers.

In their habit they imitate the Italians, but transcend them in their Revenges: They will threaten to kill a Merchant that will not buy their Commodities: and make no more Conscience to break a Fast than commit murder. He is weary of his life that hath a difference with any of them, and will walk abroad after daylight. They are ever privately armed, and do their Villanies cowardly, upon advantage. Encouraged to Villanies by the remissing softheir Laws; The Labourers do go into the fields with Swords and Partizans, as if in an Enemies Countrey, bringing home their Wines and Oyls in Hogs skins, the insides turned outwards,

The Echinades are certain little I. The E-lands orrather great Rocks, now called chinades. Curzalari. These Islands are in number five, and are famous for nothing but the Battel of Lepanto fought night them.

Cephalonia; this lile is in circuit 156 cephalomiles, and in length 48. It is very Moun-nia. tainous, yet exceeding fertil, yielding Malvasie, Muskadine, Vino Leatico, Raissins, Olives, Figs, Honey, Sweet Water, Mulberry, Pine, Date, and Cypress-Trees, and all sorts of Fruits in abundance; the commodity whereof rebounds yearly to the Venetians, for they are Seigniors hereof. The chief Towns of it are Argostoli, Guiscardo, and Nollo.

And besides the Commodities beforenamed it abounds with Currants, Manna, Chcese, Wool, Turkeys, excellent Oyl, and powder for the dying of Scarlet: but it is unwatered with Rivers, and poor in Fountains. The Harbour of Argostoli in this Island, is Capacious enough for a whole Navy.

Corfu; this Isle is in length fifty four corfu.
miles, in breadth twenty four, and in com-tage.

pals.

pass one hundred and twenty. It is no less strong than beautiful: the Inhabitants are Greeks, and the Governour a Venetian. The City Corfu is situate at the foot of a Mountain, whereon are built two Fortresses, and invironed with. anatural Rock; the one is called Fortrezza Nova, and the other Fortrezza Vechia. The Governour of these two Castles are sworn not to communicate, nor to write one to another for the space of two years, which is the time of their Government; for if these two Caltles were taken, the Trade of the Venetian were of no account. The South part of this Isle is Mountainousand defective in waters, where they sow little Corn, it being subject to be blasted by the Southern winds, at such times as it flowereth: the North part is Level, the whole adorned with Groves of Oranges, Lemmons, Pomgranates, Fig-Trees, Olives, and the like: And it also produceth good store of Wine, Oyl, Wax, and Honey.

Ithaca.

Ithaca; this life now called Valde Compare; lyeth North East of Cephalonia, being in compass 56 miles, famous for the Birth of Ulysses. This Island is now inhabited by Exiles and Pirats.

Leucadia.

Leucadia; this Isle (now called St. Mauro) is only inhabited by Jews: the The Adriatick Sea.

the chief City is St. Maure, not long fince subject to the Venetians, but of late lost unto the Turks.

This Island was once adjoyning to the Continent, and separated by the Labour of the Inhabitants; yet no farther remoed than by a Bridge to be past into; it was. formerly ca led Leucadia from a white Rock which lyeth before it towards Cephalenia, on which stood the temple of Apollo: from whence by leaping into the Sea it is faid, that fuch as unfortunately loved were cured of that Fury.

Thus much of the Ionian Ifies.

The Adriatick Sca.

THis Sea extendeth 700 miles in length, and 104 in breadth. The Islands of th's Sea are neither many, great, nor famous. The chief Islands of this Sea are Lesina, Lissa, and Carzola.

Lesina, this Island of Lesina is the biggest in the Aariatick Sea, and is in cir-Lesina. cuit 150 miles. It is exceeding fertil, and yieldeth all things necessary forthe suftenance of Man. The City is unwalled, and of no great quantity, but they have a strong Fortresse, which defendeth the Town, the Haven, and Vessels in the Liffa; Road.

288 Liffa or Clissa.

The Mediterrancan Sca.

Lissa or Clissa; this Island is in length 20 and in circuit 60 miles. It is beautified with two profitable Sea-Perts, andis subject to the Venetian.

Eurzola.

Curzola; In this Island the chief Town is Curzola; it hath two strong Fortresses, and is commodious both for the Traffick of Merchandize they have, and also for the fine Wood that groweth there, whereof the Venetians make their Ships and Galleys; it is in compass 90 miles, being no less pleasant than profitable, and the most populous of all the rest. The Governour hereof is changed every 18 moneths by the States of Venice.

The other Islands in this Sea are Absirtides, Cheros, Weger, Griffa, and Arbe, the only Havenless Island of the whole Sea, which defect is recompensed by its.

natural pleasantness.

Thus much of the Atlantick Sea.

The Mediterranean Sea.

THis Sea is so called, because it hathits course in the middle of the Earth: The chief Islands of it are Sicilia, Mal. za, Corsica, Sardinia, and the Baleares.

S.L

SICILIA.

THis Island is invironed round with the Sea, and hath in circuit feven hundred miles.

This Island is famous for the worthy Scholars she once produced, viz. Eschylus the first Tragedian of same; Diodorus Siculus, that famous Historian; Empedocles, the first inventer of Rhetorick; Euclide, the samous Geometrician; Archimedes, the accurate Mathematician; Epicarmus, the first inventor of Comedies; Theocritus, the first Author of Pastoral Eclogues; and Panormitanus, the Learned Canonist.

The Soil is incredibly fruitful, excel- Fertility. ling in all forts of Grain, as Corn, Wheat, Wine, Sugar, Rice, Oil, Salt, Allum, all kinds of Fruit, and exceeding good Silk; exquisite Mines of Metal, and the best Coral in the world is found here. The most of the Towns and Villages within land, are built on the Highest Hills, and greatest heights in the Countrey, by reafon it is a great defence in the time of of the air. There are divers grounds (in this Ifland) and Valleys that abound so in Wheat, that the Inhabitants recoil 100 measures for one. In this Countrey is the Hill Hibla, samous for Bees and Honey; and the Hill Ætna, which continually sendeth forth slames of sire.

Carsary Invasion, and from the salubrity

Sicilia.

Natures of the People: The Inhabitants of this Island are very humane, ingenious, eloquent, and talkative; pleasant they are, and esseminate; but generally wonderous kind to strangers. They are also meddlesom, dissentious, and jealous; they Trassick little abroad, and are (though seated in the midst of the Seas) unexpert Navigators: so supinely idle, that they sell their Sugar as extracted from the Canes to the Venetians, and buy what they spend of them again, when they have refined it.

The chief Cities of this Island are 1. Palermo, the Seat of the Vice-roy, fituate in the North-west part, over against Sardinia: it is a spacious City, and well watered with delicate Fountains, having goodly buildings, and large Streets, whereof Strado reale is principal.

The second City is Messina; toward the East, it is impregnable, and graced with a samous Haven, having three invincible Castles, the chief whereof is St. Salvator, by the Sea-side. In this City is held a Fair every year in August, wherein all sorts of Merchandize are to be sold, especially Raw-silk, in abundance. It is said that 8000 Bails of Raw-

Silk

Silk are made in this Island in a year, and 5000 of them fetcht away from them at this publick Mart. About 12 miles from Messina in the midst of a Bay stands Scylla, a Rock mentioned by the Poets, which is now without danger to Sailers.

The Third City is Syracusa; standing in the Southern Coast; a renowned City, and sometime the Metropolitan Seat. Here St. Paul was, and tarryed three dayes, Atts 28. 12.

The fourth City is Trapandy, in the West, over against Biserta in Barbary; it yieldeth passing fine Salt. The Marine here excelling in Ruby and Coral, which setteth half the Town at work, which being refined is dispersed over all Christendom.

The other Cities of note are Catania, placed at the Marine foot of Mount Ætna; Nicosia and Emma, two mid-land Towns, Rudazza, Franca Villa, Bronzo and Argenti, once Agrigentum, where the Tyrant Phalaris lived.

This Island of Sicilia belongs to the Spaniards; there be in it 7 Princes, 4 Dukes, 13 Marquesses, 14 Earls, 1 Viscount, and 48 Barons; besides 3 Arch-Bishops, of Palermo, Messina, and Mont-Royal; under the sirit are the Bishops of Agrigentine, Mazara, and Malta. Under the second are the Bishops of Pati,

Gefa-

Gefalody, and Lipari. And under the third, Syracusa; the Bishop of Catania is under none of them.

MALTA.

His Island was formerly called Melita, and is the place where the Viper leaped on Pauls hand, mentioned Alts 28.2.

This Isle may properly be termed the Fort of Christendom, yet a barren place, Fertility. and of no great bounds, yeilding neither Corn nor Wine, which are daily brought in Barks from Sicilia; yet it yieldeth store of Pomgranates, Citrons, Cottons, Oranges Lemmons, Figgs, Melons, and other Excellent Fruits.

This Island is ten leagues in length, and three broad, the Earth whereof being but three foot deep, is the cause of its not being so fertil. There are in this Island 60 Villages, and 4 Cities, namely, Valetta. Valetta is strong above all other places of the Island, mounted alost, and no where assailable by land, but at the South end; the Walls of the City are not above six soot high on the inside, unimbatalled and shelving on the outside: The buildings for the most part uniform, all freestone, two stories high, and flat at the top: The great Masters Palace is a Princely Structure, having a Tower, which overlooketh the whole Island. The chamber where they sit in Council is finely painted, with their fights by Seas and by Land, both forreign and defensive: The seven Alberges of the Knights be of no mean building, amongst whom the City is quartered: Magnificent is the Church of St. Paul and that of St. Johns; the one the Seat of the Bishop, and the other of a Prior: and St. Johns doth merit regard, not only for the building, but for the entertainment there given; The Jesuits have here a Colledge also, and here are a'fo three Nunneries, one for Virgins, one for penitent whores, and another for their Bastards. They here stir early and late, in regard of the immoderate heat. Their Markets they keep on Sundayes. The Town and Caffle of S. Hermes La Insula, and Malta, seated in the Island upon a Hill, formed like an Escutcheor, held of no great importance, yet kept by a Garison. The Inhabitants are of the African complexion and language, and follow the Romish Church.

The Soyl produceth no Grain but BarRey; Bread made of it, and Olives, is the Villagers ordinary Diet; with the Straw Riches.
they Sustain_their Cattel; Cumminfree-feed,

Riches.

feed, Annis-feed, and Honey they have in abundance, of which they Merchandize, and an indifferent quantity of Cotton Wool.

COKSICA.

His Island is situate against Genoa, in the Ligurian Sea: it is in circuit 325 miles. The Soyl by reason of the Mountains is less fruitful, producing Corn in less plenty, but the best Wines it produceth also Figs, Raisins, and Honey: it aboundeth also with Allum Box-Trees, and Iron-Mines. The chief Cities are Bastia, seated on the North-East part of the Countrey, on a commodious Haven, where the Genoensian Governour hath his residence and a strong Garrison. The other Cities are Marian, Gallera, and Pila; the Principal Havens hereof are St. Florence, in the Northern part, and St. Boniface just opposite to it in the South corner; both of good safety, and capable of the greatest Vessels that frequent the Mediterranean.

This Island is faid to yield excellent Dogs for game, good Horses, fierce Mastives; and a Beast called Mufoli, not found in Europe, except in this Island and Sardinia only; they are faid to be horned like Rams, and skinned like Stags, whick skin is reported to be of fuch incredible hardness, that the Beast being cast headlong against a Rock, receives no hurt.

Sardinia.

Sardinia.

His Island is South from Corfica, and distant from it but 7 miles; it Fertility. is in circuit 560 miles, and is abundant in Corn, and well stored with all forts of Cattel: here is also plenty of Cheese and Hides, and it is reported that in this Ifland there is neither Woolf, nor Serpent, neither Venomous nor hurtful Beaft, but the Fox only, and a little Creature like a Spider, which will by no means endure the light of the Sun, except held by violence; this Isle is generally destitute of River-water; only some Pools it hath. and those very plentiful of Fish.

The People are small of stature, la- Natures borious, given to Hunting, indifferent of the peaceable among themselves, and in some measure courteous to strangers. The principal City is Calliaris, enjoying a goodly Haven, and much frequented by Merchants, the Seat of the Viceroy, and an Archiepiscopal See. The othe Towns are Bossa, S. Raparata and A quilastro; there are in this Island; Arch. Bishops and 15 Bishops.

Sar-

and

The BALEARCS.

Hese Islands are divided into the greater or lesser Majorca, and Minorca. Majorca is about 60 miles distant from Spain, and is 300 miles in circuit. The chief Cities are, 1. Majorca, an University. 2. Palma. The Land of this Island on all sides towards the Sea is somewhat Mountainous and barren, the Inlands more Champian & fruitful; yielding great quantity of Oyl, Wine, and Corn; for the use of its Inhabitants; no hurtful Creatures are here bred.

Minorca is distant from Majorca 9 miles, and is 150 miles in circuit; the Soyl is in some places barren, but generally fruitful. The chief Towns are Minorca and Jana.

In this Island are bred great herds of Cattel, and Mules of a very large cife.

Nigh unto these Baleares are 2 small Islands; the first is called Ebrisa, distant from the Coast of Spain 50 miles, and is 100 miles in circuit; the chief City is 100 miles 100 miles in circuit; the chief City is Tvica; the chief Commodity of it is Salt. Some 10 miles hence is Olbiusa, 70 miles round.

The leffer Islands that lye dispersed about, are, 1. The Vulcanian or Æolian Islands, lying on the Coast of Sicilie, and are in number II; the chief is Lipara, 10 miles round, from whence the rest are called the Liparean Islands. 2. Vulcania. Lipara is planted with Spaniards, and is fruitful, and abounds with Bitumen, Sulphur, and Allum, and hath hot bathes for the diseased.

Vulcania, formerly called Vulcan's Manfion, is a barren I fland, frony and uninhabited; it had three Tunnels, whereat it evaporated fire, but now it hath but one; out of which it smoketh continually, and casts out stones, with an horrible roaring.

3. Strombolo another of these Æolian Islands doth burn almost continually at the top like a Beacon, and exceeding clearly;
so that by night it is to be discerned a wonderful way.

2. The Isles of Naples, which are in number 18. The chief is Ischia, 18 miles round, the chief-Town whereof is Ischia. The 2. is Capra. The Island Capar is a place to which. Offenders are confined; the Air is mild even during winter: the Inhabitants are generally Fithermen and Ship-wrights, being much imployed about the Navy, at Naples; here is a little City in it (whereof O. 3. there.

there is a Bishop) of the name of the Island, having a strong Fortresse so seated, that by one alone it may be desended. And 3. is Ænaria.

3. Ligurian Islands; the chief of which are Elba, whose Metropolis is Cosmopolis. The second Isle of note is Gallinaria.

Thus much of the Mediterranean Isles.

The Jues of the Ocean.

He chief Islands of it are, first those of Zealand and Denmark, which we have already described; the other undescribed are those in the Brittish and the Northern Seas.

The Brittish Islands.

They are divided into the Greater, and Lesser. The greater as, England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland.

The Lesser, as, Orcades, Sorlings, Hebrides, and Sporades.

Britain.

This Island of Great Britain is in compass 1836 miles; it is the most famous Island of the whole World. It is divided into England, Wales, and Scotland, each differing from other in Language, Manners, and Cusstoms.

ENGLAND.

England is bounded on the East, with the German Ocean; South; with the Brittish Ocean; West, with the Irish; and North, with the River Tweed, and a line drawn from it to the Solmay Westward.

This Countrey hath in it 8760 Parishes, 588 Market Towns, 25 Cities, 22 Bishopricks, 352 Rivers, 847 Bridges, 12 Chafes, 61 Forrests, 753 Parks, and not many years since boasted of 134 Castles, beautiful, strong buildings, most of which in the late times of Rebellion, and our uncivil civil war, becam preys to those, whose eyes took not so much delight in their beautiful Structures, as their minds and hearts did in the money that was made of the Stones, Timber, Lead, Glass, and Iron of these sair buildings; and so nothing remains of most of them.

them now, save their Ruines, to testifie the places where they stood; the division of this Countrey is into 39 Shires, to wit:

1. Bark shire. 21. Middlesex. 2. Bedfordshire. 22. Northfolk. 3. Buckinghamshire. 23. Northumberland. 4. Cambridge shire. 24. Northampton. 5. Cheshire. thire. 6. Cornwall. 25. Nottingbamshire. 7. Cumberland. 26. Oxfordshire. 8 Darby shire. 27. Rutlandshire. 9. Devonshire. 28. Staffordshire. 10. Dorsetshire. 29. Shrop shire. 30. Somersetshire. II. Durham. 12. Esfex. 31. Southampton. 13. Gloucester shire. 32. Suffolk. 14. Hertfordshire. 33. Surry. 15. Herefordshire. 34. Sullex. 16. Huntingtonshire. 35. Warwick shire. 36. Westmoreland. 17. Kent. 18, Lancaster. 37. Wilt hire. 19. Leicestershire. 38. Worcester. 39. York Shire. 20. Lincolnshire.

1. Bark shire, This County is about 40 miles long, 24 broad, and 120 in circuit; the air here is temperate, sweet and delightful, and soil plenteous of Corn, especially in the Vale of White-borse; it hath in it 12 Market-Towns, 140 Parishes, and is divided into 23 Hundreds; The chief Towns are, are, 1. Redding, the place where the Affizes are kept for the whole County, 2. Windsor, whose Castle was a Royal Seat ever since the Conquest; it is a Castle for strength, a Palace for State, and hath in it a Colledge for Learning, a Chappel for devotion, and an Almes-house (of decaid Gentlemen) for charity; in this Palace most remarkable; the Hall for greatness, Winchester-Tower for height, and the Turrace on the Northside for pleasure, where a dull eye may Travel 20 miles in a moment: this is the Seat of the Honourable Order of the Garter.

miles in length, 14 in breadth, and 73 in Circumference; its Air is temperate, and Soyl bounteous, and brings forth excellent Barley, no better elsewhere; and great store of Fullers Earth is digged up near Wouborn, in this County; it hath in it so Market-Towns, 116 Parishes, and is divided into 9 Hundreds; The chief Town is Bedford, pleasantly seated; having the River Ouse running thorow the Town in the midst, and a sair stone Bridge built over the same, whereon are two Gates to lock and impeach the passages as occasion shall serve.

3. Buckinghamshire: its length is about 39 miles, breadth 18, and Circumference 138; the Air is passing good, the Soyl is rich, fat, and fruitful, giving abundance of Corn, Grass, and meat, and the best and biggest bodyed Sheep in England, are here in the Vale of Ailsbury: This County is divided into 8 Hundreds, hath in it eleven Market-Towns, and 185 Parishes; its chief Town is Buckingham, a pretty Town, fruitfully seated upon the River Ouse, which Circulates the Town on every side, that only on the North excepted, over which three fair stone Bridges do lead.

O.5

England.

4. Cambridgeshire: this County is about 35 miles in length, 19 in breadth, and 128 in circumference; the Air of this Countrey. is not very much to be liked, yet in the South and Champion part it aboundeth with Corn, and also Saffron, a very Rich spice: it hath in it 8 Market Towns, 136. Parishes, and is divided into 17 Hundreds; its chief Towns are, I. Cambridge one of the famous Universities of England, in which are 16 Colledges and Halls for Students, pleasantly seated, and beautiful structures; the River Came runs through the Town, from whence as some imagine it is called Cambridge: 2. Elye a Bithops See, this. Town glories in its Minster, which presenteth it self afar off to the eye of the Traveller, and on all fides at great distance; not only maketh a promise but gives the earnest of the Beauty thereof; the Lanthorn of this Minster was 20 years in building, cost 7091 pounds, 18 Shillings, 10 Pence, half penny Farthing, and is a master piece of cunning 5. Che-Architecture:

S. Cheshire: is in length 47 miles, in breadth 26, and in circuit 142, the Air is very good, and Soyl fat, fruitful and rich, its chief Commodities are Salt, Mill-stones, and the best Cheese of all Europe; Corn and Cattel: it is Traded with 13 Market Towns, it is divided into 7 Hundreds, and hath 86 Parish Churches, and 38 Chappels; its chief Town is Chester, a Bishops See; it is a fair City on the North side of the River Dee, over which a fair Stone Bridgeleadeth, built upon eight Arches, at either end of which is a Gate, from whence in a long Quadren-wise the Walls do encompass the City, high and strongly built with 4 Gates opening into the 4 Winds, belides 3 Posterns, and feven Watch-Towers; on the South of the City is mounted a stately Castle, strong and round in form, and on the North of the City is the Minster or Cathedral of the Bishops See: This City is almost a just square, the four Cardinal streets thereof (as I may call them) meeting in the middle of the City, at a place called the Fentise, which affordeth a pleasant Prospect at once into all the four.

6. Cornwal: this County is in length about 60 miles, and the broadest part thereof about 40: the Air is very healthful, but withal very piercing and sharp, the Soyl for the most part is Hilly, but out of these Hills they get great riches from the Mines of Copper, and Jin, that are therein: this Countrey affordeth also excellent good blew Slates, and store of Fish also called Pilchards are taken on its Coast; in the Hills also of this County is sound a Diamond Mapen and pointed Ang'e-wife, and smoothed by Nature it self, whereof some are as big as Walnuts; This Shires Division is into 9 Hundreds, and hath in it 22 Market-Towns, and 161 Parish-Churches, its chief Towns are Launceston where the Affizes are kept for the whole County; and Falmouth a Sea-Port Town, whose Haven is so copious that 10. Ships therein may ride at Anchor apart by themselves, so that from the tops of their highest Masts, they shill not see each other, and yet lye most safely under the Winds.

England.

7. Cumberland: is in length about 40 miles, and in breadth about 26; the Air is very piercing, and of a sharp temperature; the Soil though generally hard, and exacting much Toil to improve it, yet is pleasant with the varieties, and profitable with Pearles, which are bred in kind of Mussels, in the Mouth of the River Irt; as they lye gaping and fucking Dew, the Country people gather and sell them to the Lapidaries, to their own little, and the buyers great gain: also pienty of black-lead and Copper is found in this Countrey. It hath nine Market-Towns, and 58 Parish Churches, befides sides many Chappels of ease: its chief Town is Carlisle, a Bishops See; This City is pleafantly feated betwixt the Rivers Eden, Petterel, and Cand, the Cathedral of this City may pass for the Emblem of the Militant Church, Black, but comely, still bearing in the complexion thereof, the remaining figns of its former burning.

8. Darbyshire: this Counties length is about 38 miles, breadth 29, and circumference 130: The Air is good, and very healthful, and the Soylarich, especially in the South and East parts, but in the North and West Hilly and barren; it is stored with Cattel, Sheep, and Corn, Milstones, Crystal, Alabastre, Mines of Pit Coal, Iron, and Lead the best in England: with great store of Mault, both to serve themselves and Neighbours: the Division of this Countrey is into 6 Hundreds and it hath in it 8 Market-Towns, and 105 Parish Churches; The chief Town is Darby, whence the County hath its name. This Town is feated on the West-bank of the River Derwent, where also a small Brook rising West-ward runneth through the Town under o Bridges before it meets with Derwent. which presently it doth, after she hath passed Tenant Bridge in the South-East of the Town; but the Bridge of greatest beauty is in the North-East of the Town, whereon standeth a fair stone Chappel, the steeple or Bell-Tower of Albat-Lowes lowes Church (the chief of 5 in this Town) is both beautiful and high, and was built at the charge of young Men and Maids.

9. Devonshire, is in length about 55 miles; breadth 53; and circuit 202. The air is healthful but sharp, the Soil hilly and woody, yet fruitful with pains and industry. This Countrey affords good wools, and the best and finest kersies in England are here made; and besides plenty of Sea-Fish and Fowls, here are also Veins of Tead, Tin, and some of Silver, and abundance of Bone-lace is made at Honyton, and weekly returned to London: this County hath in it 37 Market-Towns, 394 Parish-Churches, and is divided into 33 hundreds; its chief place is Exiter, a Bishops See, Seated on the River Ex, upon the gentle ascent of an Hill; the walls in a manner are circular or round, but towards Ex, rangeth almost in a strait line, having 6 Gates for entrance, and many Watch-Towers interposed betwixt; in this. City are many stately buildings, with a magnificent Cathedral Church, adorned at the West-end thereof, with so lively Statues of stone, that they plainly speak the Art of those who erected them; on the East part of this City also standeth a Castle, whose prospect is pleasant unto the Sea: in this City are store of Serges made, for: which they have good return.

10 Dorsetshire: this County is in length about:

about 44 miles, in breadth 24, and in circumterence 150: it hath a good Air and fat Soyl, and affords flore of Corn, Cattel, Wool, Hemp, and Timber: the County is. Traded with 18 Market-Towns, hath in it 248 Parishes, and is divided into four Divisions, & those into 34 Hundreds. The chief Town of this County is Dorchester, whence the County hath its name, it is fituated upon the South fide of Frome, and hath formerly been Walled about; and some part thereof is yet standing.

11. Durham: the length of this County is about 30 miles; breadth, 23; and circumference 103: The Air is sharp and very piercing, and for Soyl the East is the richest and most Champion, but the West, Rockey and Moorish, yet recompenseth her possesfors with great gains; from the unexhaustible Mines and Pits of Coals gotten therein; this County hath in it 6 Market-Towns, and 118 Parish-Churches: its chief Place is Durham, a Bishops See, this City is pleasantly feated, and almost wholly compassed about with the River Weere, over which are 2 handsome stone Bridges, one leading out of the SouthRoad into the heart of the City, and the other out of the North Road; this City is graced with a goodly Abby and the Bishops Castle near adjoyning, most pleafantly situated; indeed it is a Castle for strength, and a Palace for State.

12. Eff-

12. Essex: this Counties breadth is a: bout 40 miles, the length 35, and circumference 146: The Air is temperate and pleafant, and Soyl rich and fruitful, yielding abundance of Corn, and Saffron also, a rich Commodity; this Countrey is also well stored with Cattel, Fish, Fowles, Woods, Dc. And great store of Bayes, Sayes, and other Stuffs are made daily at Colchester in this County; The Counties division is into 20 Hundreds: in which are 21 Market-Towns, and 415 Parish Churches, its place of chiefest note is Colchester. This City is seated upon the South of the River Colne, and is walled about, raised upon a high trench of earth but much decaied, having fix Gates of entrance, 3. Posterns, and nine Watch-Towers, and within this City are placed 8 fair Churches; excellent Oysters are here taken called Colchester Oysters.

long, 28 broad, and 138 in Circumference; the Air here is pleasant, sweet, and delectable; and Soyl fruitful: This County affords Corn, Iron, and Woolall passing sine, with good Sider, and excellent Cloth is here made, both for sineness and colour; it is Traded with 20 Market-Towns, hath in it 208 Parish-Churches, and is divided principally into 4 parts, subdivided into 30 hundreds. Its place of greatest note are 1. Gloucester, a Bishops See, well seated upon the River River Severn, the glory of this City is the Cathedral Church in it, whose beauty partly consists in its continued Window-works but hath its lowdest praises from the whispering place therein. 2. Bristol, a Bishops See also; This is a sair City built upon the Rivers Avon and Frome; for Trade of Merchandize a second London, and for beauty and account next unto Tork: this City standeth partly in this County, and partly in Somersetshire, but being a County of it self will acknowledge subjection to neither of them; it is the cleanliest City in England.

14 Hertfordshire: is about 28 miles long, 27 broad, and 130 in circuit; the Air is temperate, sweet, and healthful; the Soyl rich, plenteous, and delightful, yielding abundance of Corn, Wood, and Grass; it hath 18 Market-Towns, 120 Parish-Churches, and is divided into 8 Hundreds: its chief Town is Hertford, being the shire Town, yet not the richest; it is pretty well feated and watered by the River Lee: but it is but a small Town.

miles, in breadth about 33: the Air is most healthful and temperate, and the Soyl so fertil for Corn and Cattel, that no place in England yieldeth better; this County shares as deep as any in the Alphabet of our English commodities, though exceeding in W. for Wood, Woo!, Wheat, & water: it is traded

rish-Churches; and it is divided into 11 Hundreds; its places of chiefest account is Hereford, a Bishops See; This City is walled about, having 6 Gates for entrance and 15 Watch-Towers for defence.

16. Huntingtonshire; this County is small in extent, hardly stretching 20 miles outright. The Air here by the reason of the Vicinity of the Fens, is none of the best; the Soyl is pretty fruitful, and the Vale contiguous to the Fens, excelling for pasturage: this Counties division is into 4 Hundreds, hath 79 Parishes, and is Traded with 6 Market-Towns; its chief Town is Huntington, consisting of one long Street, seated on the Northbank of the rich Medowing River Owse.

3 miles, breadth 26, and circumference 160; The Air here, though not very clear, yet it is both wholesom and temperate, and the Soyl in all places of this County very fruitful: here are very fine broad cloths made, inferiour to none, if not the best in England; great store of Thred is also made at Maidstone in this County, and it abounds also with fine excellent large Cherries, no County in England affording the like in so great plenty; it is Traded with 14 Market-Towns, & divided principally into 5 Lathes, subdivided into 66 Hundreds, and they again into 398 Parishes, its principal places of note are, 1. Canterbury, an Arch-Bishops See, the Metropolitan of England, this City is walled and very strong in Trench and Fortifications, with a beautiful Minster therein; then 2. Rochester, a Bishops See also, the Cathedral of this City is low and little, proportional to the Revenues thereof, yet hath it (though no magnificency) a Venerable as pect of Antiquity therein.

18. Lancashire: is about 57 miles in length, 31 in breadth, and 170 in circuit; the Air here is subtile and piercing; the generality of the som not very fruitful; yet it produceth such numbers of Cattel, of fuch large proportion and such goodly Heads and Horns, as the whole Kingdom of Spain doth scarce the like; here are also made excellent good Fustians in this County: its division is intodreds, besides Fourness Fells, and Lanvasters Liberties: in the North it is beautified with 15 Market Towns, and hath 36. Parishes, bei des Chappels; The places of chiesest account are, Lancaster, pleasantly fituated on the South of the River Lonthe beauty of this City is in the Church, Castle, and Bridge, her streets are many and stretched far in length: 2. Manchester, samous for its Market-place, and Collegiate Church, whose Quire though but small is exceeding beautiful, and for Wood-works, an excellent piece of Artifice. 19. Leist-

with

19. Leicestershire: its length is about 33. miles, breadth 27, and circumference about 169: the Air is gentle, mild, and temperate, the Soyl good, abounding with Corn, especially good Beans; and store of Pit-Coals also are digged up in this County; it is Traded with 12 Market Towns, aivided into 6 Hundreds, and hath in it 200 Parish-Churches: its chief Town is Leicester, stom. which Town the County hath its name; it is a pretty small Town, pleasantly situated; in the Gray-Fryars of this Town was King. Richard the third Hed, but the Stonechest wherein he was laid, is now a drinking trough for Horses at a common Inn, if we will believe common Report.

20. Lincolnshire: this County is in length about 35 miles, in breadth 35, and in circumference about 180, the Air upon the East and South parts of this County is thick. and Foggy, but yet moderate and pleafing; and the Soyl in those parts also is Fenny and Brackish, but in the West and North parts abundantly fertil, pleasant and rich: Its chief Commodities are Corn, Cattel, Fish, Fowl, Flax, and Alablatter; and it is divided into three principal parts, viz. Lindsey, Resteven, and Holland: Lindsey is subdivivided into 17 Hundreds, Resteven into 11, & Holland into 31; in all it hath also 31 Market-Towns, and 630 Parish-Churches: its principal place of note is Lincoln, aBishops See This City hath a pleasant prospect, being situated on the side of a steep Hill; it is very ancient, and hath been more magnisical, as by her many overturned ruines doth appear; the glory of this City is the Cathedral, a very beautiful and magnisicent structure, and a piece of excellent workmanship.

21. Middlesex: its length is about 19 miles, breadth about 14, and circumserence 90 miles: the Air is passing temperate, the Soyl abundantly fertile, and for pasturage and grain of all kinds yielding the best; so that the Wheat of this County hath served a long time for the Manchet to our Princes Table; the division of this County is into 7Hundreds, it hath four Market-Towns, and 73 Parish Churches: its chief places are, 1. London, the Metropolitan of England, and a Bishops See; This is the second City of Christendom for greatness and the first for good Government; it is situated on the North side of the famous River of Thames, over which it hath a stately Stone-Bridge, fuch who only see it beneath where it is a Bridge, cannot suspect it should be a Street, and fuch who behold it above where it is a Street, cannot believe it is a Bridge: although in Sept. 1666. This City fell into the mercy of a raging and devouring Fire, which continued for the space of 4 dayes, bearing down all before it, insomuch that the greatest part of the City was turned to Ashes, with most of the Churches and stately Cathedral of St. Pauls, the glory of the City; yet now Phoenix like, this City out of its ashes is raised to a greater beauty, than ever before it enjoyed; so that now the whole World cannot parallel it for glorious Streets and buildings, all the Houses being now built of brick 5 or 6 stories high, so uniform that they afford great delight and satisfaction to the beholders, every House also having Tiled Pentizes & Iron Balconys, either gilt or curiously painted, by the conveniency of which and also the stoops placed all along the streets about 3 paces from the Houses; the Passengers walking the Streets are not only defended from the Rain in moist weather, but also from the trouble and hazand of the Coaches and Carts; the Royal-Exchange or Burse of this City being a meeting place for Merchants and Tradesmen, is a praise-worthy piece of excellent Architecture; also the Guild-Hall of the City, where the Major and Aldermen of the City meet; and where their Courts of Judicature are kept, is a very stately and sumptuous place; and for the Tower in the East-part of the City, it is a Palace, a Prison, a Liberty, a Town, a Castle, and what not? in it is the Kings Armory, Wardrobe, Mint, &c. This Tower doth not only defend the City and River, but can also offend them at pleasure, if occasion be; many many other stately buildings, and glorious Fabricks doth this City afford; and for Trade it may be said to be the Mart of the World, for thither are brought the Silks of Asia, the Spices from Africa, the Balmes from Grecia, and the riches of both the Indies, East and west. Then 2. Westminster, this City doth so lovingly embrace her Siiter London; there being no vacancy of houfes between them, but Street so joyned to Street, that a stranger cannot distinguish the one from the other. The Abby-Church of this City is beheld as a rare structure, so is the Chappel adjoyning to it, being the burying place of the Kings, Queens and Princes of this Kingdom, in this City also is the Kings Palace called White-Hall, the Banqueting House, which is a very stately Building, from the Top whereof a dull eye may easily take a view of both the Cities of London and Westminster; in this City also are severally dispersed up and down, several Noblemens Houses, many of them littleinferiour to Palaces for state; here is alfo Westminster-hall, where the Courts of Kings Bench, Common Pleas, Exchequer, and Chancery are kept, being the great Courts of Judicature for the whole Kingdom; at the End of which Hall is the Place where the great Convention of the whole Kingdom meets, which is the High Court of Parliament; and lastly in this City and her her Sister London are several goodly Palaces (to the number of 14) much resembling Colledges, in which places the Judges, Serjeants, Barresters, Students, and Practitioners of the Law have their residence and abode.

England.

England.

22 Northfolk: this Gounties length is about 50 miles, breadth 30, and circumference about 24z miles, The Air is sharp and piercing, the Soyl diverse, about the Towns commonly good, the Heaths naked, dry, and barren; the champian grounds abound with Corn & Sheep, and the Heaths with Conies; & great store of Herrings are catched on the Coasts of this County, especially at Yarmouth, where every year on S-Michaels day agreat fair is held for the sale of Fish: This County also affords store of excellent Worsted stuffs, the best of which are made at Norwich; it hath for its commerce and trade 26 Market-Towns, and contains 660 Parish-Churches; its principal place of note is Norwich a Bishops-See, a populous and well governed City, it is situated in a pleasant Valley, upon the River Hierus: houses and Trees are here so intermingled, fo that you may fay it is either a City in an Orchard, or an Orchard in a City, variety and plenty of fine Worsted Stuffs are made in this City, and the large and spacious Cathedral is a great grace to the place.

23 Nor-

23. Northamptonshire: is about 46 miles in length, 18 in breadth, and about 119 in circumference, the Air is good, temperate, and healthful, the Soyl Champian, rich, and fruitsul, its chief commodities are Corn, Cattel, and Sheep; it is divided into 20 Hundreds, Traded with ten Market-Towns, and hath in it 326 Parish-Churches:its principal Towns are, 1. Northampton, whereof the Countytaketh name; which for circuit, beauty and building may be ranked with the most of the Cities of our Land : it is seated at the meeting and confluence of two Rivers, the greater whereof beareth the name Nen; 2. Peterborough a Bishops See, though this Town cannot boast much either of its beauty or pleasant situation, yet the Cathedral thereef challengeth the precedency of England for a Majestick Western Front of Columel-work.

24. Northumberland: this Counties length is about 50 miles, breadth 40, and circumference 145: the Air is very cold and piercing. And though the Soyl of this County be not rich, having neither fertility of Ground for Corn, or Cattel; yet many of the owners of this barren ground, are much enriched by the great plenty and abundance of Sea coals which are here digged up. This County hath 5 Market Towns, and 460 Parishes; its chief Town is New Castle seated on the North-side of the samous River Tine, upon the side of an Hill; from this place are vented abundance of those Sea-Coals, as well to several parts of England, as also to forreign Countreys, by reason of which and the entercouse of Trassick which it hath, the place is grown exceeding rich and populous, having a Haven of that depth that it beareth very tall Ships, and is able to defend them from storms and Tempests; it is adorned with 4 Churches, and a beautiful Exchange or Burse for meeting of Merchants; and fortified with strong walls that have 8 Gates.

ver

25 Nottinghamshire: its length is about 30 miles, breadth 19, and circumference about 110: The Air is good, and wholesom and delectable, the Soyl is rich, fandy, and Claye, and for Corn and Grass so fruitful, that it secondeth any County in England; this County affordeth the best liquors in England: its division is into 8 Hundreds, hath 8 Market-Towns, and 168 Parish-Churches; its chief Town is Nottingham, a Town seated most pleasant and delicate upon a high hill, for building stately and number of fair Streets furpassing and furmounting many other Cities, and for a spacious and most fair Market-place doth compare with the best. This Townhath been formerly walled about, whereof fome part as yet remains, from the Castle to the West-Gate: This Town standingupon a Rock, hath several Vaults and dwelldwelling Houses, with winding stairs, windows, Chimneys, and Room above Room wrought all out of the Solid Rock.

England.

26. Oxfordshire: is about 40 miles long, 25 broad, and 130 in circumference: The Air is mild, delicate, and temperate, the Land fertil, pleasant and bounteous; the Hills loaden with Woods and Cattel, and Valleys burthened with Corn and pasturage; This County is Traded with 10 Market-Towns, divided into 14 Hundreds, and hath 280 Parish-Churches; the principal place of account in this County is Oxford, a beautiful City, a Bishops See, and a famous University, having 17 C. lledges, and 8 Halls, and many most fair Collegiate Churches, all adorned with most stately Buildings, and enriched with great endowments, and most Learned Graduates of all prosessions, that unless it be her Sister Cambridge, (the other Nursing Breast of this Kingdom) the like is not found again in the World; also the library of this University stands like Diana amongst her Nymphs, and surpasseth all the rest of this Land, for variety and multitude of Books, fo that if any be wanting of any subject, it is because the world doth not afford them.

27. Rutlandshire: This County is about 12 miles long, 9 broad, and about 40 in circumference; the Air is good, both for health and delight; The Soyl is rich, and for Corn and Tillage gives place unto none; it hath plenty of Woods and good pasturage for Cattel; its division is into 5 Hundreds, having 2 Market-Townes, and 48 Parish-Churches; its chief Town is Okeham, a fair Market-Town, being the place where the Assistes are kept for the whole County; it is said that if any noble by Birth come within the precinct of this Town, he shall forseit as an Homage, a Shoo from the Horse whereon he rideth, unless he redeem it at a price with money, in witness whereof there are many Horse-shooes nailed on the Shire-hall Door there.

P 2

28. Staffordshire: is about 44 miles in length, 27 in breadth, and 140 in circumference; the Air though good and healthful, yet is very sharp; the Soyl in the North part thereof is barren, the middle part more level, but Woody, the South most plenteous in Corn and pasturage; the principal commodities hereof are Corn, Cattel, Alablaster, Woods, Iron, Pit-coal, Flesh, and Fish: in this County are 13 Market Towns, 5 Hundreds, 130 Parish-Churches; its chief Towns are 1. Stafford, the Shire Town, pleafantly situated on the River Sowe; 2. Litchfield, a Bishops See, whose Cathedral is very praise worthy for the neatness thereof.

29 Shropshire: this Counties length is about 34 miles, breadth 25, and circumference 134 miles; the Air is delectable and good, the Soyl Rich, abounding in Wheat, and Barley, Pit-coals, Iron, and Woods: its division is into 1 & Hundreds, traded with 14. Market-Towns, and hath 170 Parish-Churches, its chief Town is Shrewsbury; which is inferiour to few of our Cities, her buildings fair, her Streets many and large, her Citizens rich, her trade for the most part in : the Staple commodities of Cloth, and Freezes, her walls strong, besides another Bulwark ranging from the Castle, down unto, and in part along the side of the River Severn, through which are 3 entrances into the Town, East and West over by 2 fair Stone-Bridges, with Towers, Gates, and Bars, and the third in the North no less. frong than them.

30. Somersetshire: is about 55 m les long, 40 broad, and about 204 in circumserence: the Air here is mild and pleasing, the Soyl very fertile; the general Commodities of this County are Corn, Cattel, Cheese, Lead; and also Diamonds are got in great plenty, in St. Vincents Rock neer Bristol, very bright of colour, but not so hard as the Indian Diamonds, and being so many and so common, they are less sought after or commended; plenty also of Lapis Calaminaris is found in Myndip Hills in this County; here are 33 Market-Towns, and the Counties division is into 42 Hundreds, in which are

P. 3.

rence

385 Pa-

385 Parishes: places of chief account are Bathe and Wells, a Bishops See, the City of Bathe takes name of the Hot Bathes, it is a place of continual concourse for persons of all degrees, and almost of all Diseases, who by Divine Providence do often find relief there, by reason of the Power and medicinable heat of those Springs; this is a place of great antiquity; and her Sifter Wells also is a City replenish'd with store of Inhabitants, and feemly buildings, and the Cathedral thereof is very beautiful and richly endowed.

3 1. Southampton: this County is in length about 54 miles, in breadth29, and circumference about 155: The Airis temperate, though formwhat thick by reason of the Seas, the Soyl is rich for Corn and Cattel, pleafant for pasturage, and plenteous for woods; the general Commodities of this County are Wools, Cloth, and Iron; it excels also for Honey and B2con: this Counties division is into 37 Hundreds, hath in it 18 Market-Towns, and 253 Parishes; Places of note are 1. Winchester a Bishops See; this Cities situation is pleasant, in a Valley under Hills, having her River on the East, and Castle on the West, the circuit of whose walls are well near 2 English miles, through which open 6 gates for entrance, and therein are seven Churches sor Divine service, befides the Minster, which yieldeth to none in England for venerable magnificence; It could not be Opus unius Seculi, perfected by the contributive endeavours of several successive Bishops: Then 2. Southampton, a Town populous rich and Beautiful, strongly walled about with fquare stone, having 7 Gates for entrance, and 29 Towers for defence, two very stately Keys for Ship's arrivage, and 5 fair Churches for Gods divine fervice; on the West of the Town is mounted a most beautiful Castle, in form circular, and Wall within Wall, the Foundation upon a Hill so topped, that it cannot be ascended but by stairs, carrying a goodly Prospects both by Land and Sea.

32, Suffolk: is in length about 45 miles, in breadth 20, and in circumference about 146 miles: The Air is good, sweet, and delectable; The Soyl rich and fruitful, the general Commodities of this County are Corn, Cattel pasturage, and Woods, Cloth, Seafish and Fowl, and most excellent Butter and Cheese: its division is into 3 parts principally, viz. Cedable, St. Edmunds, and St. Audreys, and subdivided into 22 Hundreds, herein are 28 Market-Towns, and 575 Parish-Churches; its principal Towns are 1. Ipswich, a Town bleffed with such commerce and buildings, that she might worthily have born the Title of a City; whose Trade, circuit, and feat doth equal most places of England. 2. St. Edmonds-Bury, this Town is fweetly and delicately seated on the easie ascent of an Hill, with a river running on the East-side, sull of fair buildings, and a sumptuous Free-School therein.

33. Surry: the length of this County is about 34 miles, breadth 22, and circuitabout 112: The Air most sweet and delectable, the Soyl, though not very rich, yet it is wealthy enough both in Corn and pasturage, and affords the best Fullers earth in Europe: This Counties division is into 13 Hundreds, wherein are seated 8 Market-Towns, and 140 Parish Churches; its chief Town is Kingston, the Town where the Assizes are kept for the whole County, a pretty Town, pleasantly seated on the River Thames.

34. Sussex: it is in length about 64 miles, in breadth 20, and in circumference about 158 miles: the Air is good though somewhat clouded with Mists, the Soyl is rich, and yieldeth great plenty of all things necesfary: the general commodities of this County are, Corn, Cattel, Woods, Iron, and Glasse: it is Traded with 18 Market-Towns. divided into 6 Rapes, viz. Chichester, Arnndel, Bramber, Lewes, Pevensey, and Hastings, and those subdivided into 56 Hundreds, in which are 312 Parish-Churches: its principal place of note is Chichester, a Bishops See; this City is beautiful and large, and very well walled about, it doth much glory in the the Cathedral thereof, being a most curi-

35. Warwickshire: this County isabout 33 miles long, 25 broad, and 135 in circumference, and is feated about the heart of England, and therefore participates with her, in the best both for Air and Soyl; the chief Commodities of this County are Corn, Wool, Wood, and Iron; its division is into 9 Hundreds, wherein are 15 Market-Towns, and 158 Parish-Churches; its chief places are Coventry, aBishops See, a City both stately for Building, and pleasant for situation; being the fairest City within Land, till of late her walls were thrown down for her too much zeal in the defence of the late Rebek lion against her Prince, and Liege Sovereign; then 2. Warwick, is a Town of good account and commerce; feated upon the North-West bank of the River Avon, this Towns situation is most pleasant upon a Hill rising from the River, over which is a strong and fair Stone-Bridge.

miles, breadth 24, and circuit about 112 miles; the Air sharp and piercing, and the Soyl for the most part barren, the principal prosit that the People of this County raise unto themselves, is by Cloathing, for Kendal Cottons are samous all over England:

This County is traded with 4 Market-Towns, and hath 26 Parishes; its principal Town is Appleby, this Town is but bare both of People and buildings, and where it not for the Antiquity that makes it more estimable, in whose Castle the Assizes for the County are commonly kept, it would be little bett er in account than a Village.

P 5

37. Wiltshire: this County is in length about 39 miles, in breadth 29, and in circumference about 139 miles. The Air here is sweet, pleasant, and wholesom, and the Soyl rich and fertil, the principal commodities of this Country are Cloathing, and Wools, it is Traded with 19 Market-Towns, and divided into 29 Hundreds, in which are 304 Parish-Churches; its prin-"cipal place of note is Salisbury, a Bishops See, this City is pleasantly situated, having a River almost running through every Street thereof, and for sumptuous and delicate buildings is inferiour to none: the Cathedral thereof is a most rich and magnificent Church, wherein are as many Windowes, as there is dayes in the year; as many cast Pillars of Marble, as there are houres in the year; and as many Gates for entrance, as there are Moneths in the year; all Europe affording not the like.

38. Worcestershire: is about 32 miles long, 28 broad, and about 120 in circuit; The Air is temperate, and Soyl fertil: but the chief Commodities of this County are Salt, and Perry, which is a kind of a counterfeit terfeit Wine made of Pears, which grow here in every Hedge-row: the division of this County is into 7 Hundreds, wherein are seated to Market-Towns, and 152 Parish-Churches: its chief place of account is Worcester, a Bishops See, this City is pleafantly seated upon the East bank of the River Severn, and from the same is walled in a Triangle-wife about, through which 7 Gates enter with so other watch-Towers for defence, in this City is a very beautiful and sumptuous Cathedral.

39. Yerkshire: this County is in length about 70 miles, in breadth about 80, and in circumference about 308 miles: The Air is temperate and healthful, the Soyl for the generality is reasonable sertil, yielding sufficiency of Corn and Cattel, its principal commodities areCloth, Lead, Allum, Knives, Pins, Pit-coals, and good Horses, &c. Its division is into three Ridings, East-Riding, West-Riding, and North-Riding, and these are subdivided into 31 Hundreds, in which are 46 Market-Towns, and 503 Parish-Churches; its principal place of account is the City of York, an Arch-Bishops See, this is the second City of England; a pleasant : place, large, and magnificent, it stands on a both sides of the River Owse, conjoyned? with a Bridge, wherein there is one Ar. h the highest and largest in England. This C:= ty is strongly walled, having four principals. Gues »

Gates opening into four Winds for entrance, besides several other lesser passages called Posterns; what it lacketh of London in bigness and beauty of buildings, it hath in cheapness and plenty of provisions; the Ordinary in York will make a feast in London, and for the Cathedral it answereth the character, which a forreign Author gives it; Templum opere & magnitudine toto Orbe memorandum, the work of John Romaine. William Melton, and John Thorsebie, successive Arch-Bishops thereof: the Family of the Perries contributing Timber, and of the Vavasours Stone thereunto; appending to this Cathedral is the Chapter House, such a Master piece of Art, that this verse is engraved therein.

Ut Rosa Flos Florum, sic est Domus ista Do (Rose. morum.

As Flower of Flowers we count the

All Houses so this House out goes.

The Riches of this Kingdom confift in the unexhaustible Mines of Tin, Lead, Copper, Iron, and Coals; most delicate Cloths are woven here, which are transported into Germany, Poland, Denmark, Swedeland, Italy, Turky, and the Indies, where they are in high request; yea infinite quantity of Beer is transported here into Belgium, as also Sea-coal, and Butter, Pelts, Hides, Tallow.

This Island is never without the resort of Portugal, Spanish, French, Flemish and The Easterling Merchants.

The Soyl is very fruitful and plentiful, Fertiyielding store of Provision for the Inhabitants, both of Corn, Wild-fowl, Fish, and Flesh, For Wine this Land affordeth none, but hath it transported hither from Spain, France, and the Canaries.

The People for the most part are tall of Nastature, fair of complexion, and of their tures disposition courteous, and free, and too of the too credulous, and apt to believe the fair Peo-Speeches, and pretences of their Enemies, plewhereby it hath often fallen out, that they have lost more by Treaties, than they got by their strength and Valour; they are much given to Maritine affairs, and are good Sould ars both by Sea and Land: they much resemble and are greatly affected with the habit and Language of their Neighbours the French.

The Women are most amiable and beautiful, and attired in most comely fashion, and have the greatest respect and kindnesses from their Husbands, of any Women in the World, sitting at meat with their Husbands at the chief end of the Table, and when walking in the Streets, their Husbands give them the wall, and in other places the Right hand, as counted greatest honour; they are permitted also to Recreate themselves at Playes, Balls, Mascaquerades, &c. and do oftenwalk the Fields, or go to the Tavern with an Acquaintancé or Friend, which is imputed puted no blot or Stain to their Chastity, or Vertue; By reason of which kindness and freedom, the women of England are lesse Lascivious and Vicious than those of other Countries, who are under the great Restraints and Slavery of their Husbands.

males.

Ales is bounded on all sides with the Sea, except on the East, where it is separated from England by the River Dee, and a line drawn to the River Wie. This Principality of Wales is from East to West, about a 100 Miles, from North to South, about 120 Miles; it contains 965 Parishes, 55 Market-Towns, 4 Bishopricks, 67 Castles, 230 Rivers, 99 Bridges, 1 Chase, 6 Forrests, and 28 Parks.

Divifion. This Countrey is divided into 13 Shires;
1. Anglese, 2. Brecknock shire, 3. Cardiganshire, 4. Carmarthenshire, 5. Carnarvansshire, 6. Denbighshire, 7. Flintshire, 8. Glamorganshire, 9. Merionethshire, 10. Montgomeryshire, 11. Monmouthshire, 12. Pembrookshire, 13. Radnorshirewherem are some sair Cities, and divers great Towns. The chief Cities are 1. Caerdist, where there is a commodious Haven. 2. Caermarden, where Merlin was born, begot by an Incubus, whom whom the common People took to be a famous Prophet. 3. Caernarvan, a walled City, and hath a fair Castle, built by Edward the First, wherein his Son Edward the Second was born. Here in the County of Pembrook is Milford-Haven, than which Europe hath not a more noble, or more fafe, or more large, with many Creeks, and fafe Roads. Then 4. St. Davids, which though a place of no great Beauty, alwayes lying open both to wind and Stormes, yet is it a Bishops See, and hath a very fair Cathedral Church, and also a goodly house of free-stone, which is the Bishops Palace. 5. Radnor, a Shire-Town, pleafantly Seated under an Hill. 6. Brecknock, a Shire-Town strongly walled, and Seated upon the meeting of 2. Rivers Howeby and Usk. 7. Cardigan, This Town is Seated on a Steep Bank, her South-Side guarded with the deep River Tyvy, and passable no way but by a Bridge under the Castle; the walls take the Advantage of rifeing Rocks, and Circulate the Town even round about. 8. Landoff, a Bishops See, the glory of this place is in the Castle and Cathedral Church. 9. Monmouth, a Shire-Town, formerly of great Strength and beauty, it is pleasantly Seated betwixt the Rivers Nennow and Wye, three gates yet stand, besides that Tower or Lock of the Bridge, and a Trench or tract of wall running betwixt them on each fide kelds.

side down to the River. 10. Mongomery giving Name to a Shire also, is pleasantly Seated upon the easie Ascent of an Hill overmounted with a fair Castle. 11. Denbith a Shire-Town, beautiful and strongly walled, and on the South-side a Castle strengthened with many high Towers, 12. Bangor, first a City, and afterwards a Monattery of famous Memory, and the first that is read of in the World; it hath been long since Ruinate, so as now there is scarce seen, the face and outward shew of a dead City or Monastery, it hath only the Names of two Gates remaining, one standing a Mile distant from the other, and betwixt which the River Dee now runneth; this place is now a Bishops See. 13. St. Asaph, a Bishops See also, Seated upon the Bank of the River Elwy and Cluyd, it is famouser for Antiquity, then for Building or bravery.

The Soyl of this Countrey, especially Ferti. that which joyneth toward the Sea, is most lity. fertil both for Man and Beast; but for the major part it is more barren, and less fruitful.:∈

Na-

People.

The Men are of a faithful carriage, one especially towards another in a strange tures · Country, and to strangers in their own. of the They are of a temper much inclining to Choler, being quickly moved, and foon appealed, being of all angers the best and noblest.

Scotland.

SCOTLARD.

Cotland is the Northern part of Great Drifain, and separated from England by the River Tweed, and Solway, and the Hills extending from the one to the other. It is in length 408 miles, but of small breadth, no place being distant from the Sea above 60 miles.

This Country is divided into two parts by Divithe River Tay, the South whereof is the fion. most populous, and beautified in manners, Riches and Civility; the North more rude, retaining the Customes of the wild Irish, the ancient Scots, in whose several Territories, these Counties ensuing are contained, viz. the South part 1. Tisidale, 2 Merch, 3. Landien, 4. Liddesdale, 5. Eskedale, 6. Annandale, 7. Niddesdale, 8. Galloway, 9. Carrick. 10. Kyle, 11, Cunningham, 12. Arran, 13. Clivesdale, 14. Lennox, 15. Sterling, 16. Fife, 17. Stratherne, 18. Menteith, 19. Argile, 20. Cantire, 21. Lorne; The North part, 1. Loquabrea, 2. Braidalhin, 3. Perth, 4. Athol, 5. Anguis, 6. Merus, 7. Mar, 8. Buquban, 9. Murrey, 10. Roffe, 11. Sutherland, 12. Cathanes, and 13. Strathnaverne; in this Kingdom also are 2 Arch-Bishops, of St. Andrewes, who is primate of Scotland, and Glascow: The Arch-Bishop. of St. Andrewes hath under him, 1. Dunkeld, 2. Abberdeen, 3. Murray, 4. Dunblan, 5. Brechin, 6. Rosse,7. Cathanes, and 8, Orkney. And under the Arch-Bishop of Glascow, are 1. Galloway, 2. Argile, and 3, Ilet. The Cities and Towns whereof are neither fair nor many: the chief of those that are, are 1. Edenburgh once the Seat of the Kings of Scotland: and the place wherein the Seat and Courts of Justice were held. It is seated in a fruitful Soyl, and wholesom Air, haveing many Noblemens Houses lying about it and abounds with many Springs, and Sweet Waters. The buildings are of unpolished Stone, but the Galleries of Timber, built upon the fronts of the Houses, do rather obscure than adorn them. The City consists especially of one broad and fair Street; which is in length from East to West about a mile, and is the Sole ornament thereof; the rest of the Streets and Allies being of very poor building, and inhabited with very poor People. At the end towards the East is the Kings Palace, joyning to the Monastry of the Holy Cross; and at the other end towards the West is a Castle, which the Scots hold to be in expugnable. this City of Edenburgh is an University alfo.

2. Leith is about a mile distant and is a most commodious Haven, upon the narrow Scottish Gulf, vulgarly called Edenbourgh Frith.

3.S. Andrew, seated in Fife, and well known as an University and Seat of an Arch-Bishop, and Metropolitan of all Scotland.

4. Glascow, the Seat of an Arch-Bishop, and a little University.

5. Striveling also is a little City, where the King hath a strong Castle, upon the brow of a steep Rock.

In general, their Towns and Cities for number, building, or pleasantness, are not comparable to those in England; neither are their Gentlemens or Noblemens Houfes so frequent, or so stately built as the better fort of the English. For their Villages, they are of Clay, covered with straw, being much more frequent than in England, yet not fo commodious within, Among the Kings Palaces that of Edenburgh and Sterling for building, and Fawikland for pleasure of hunting, are chief. In this Kingdom of Scotland are two strange Loughes, Lomund and Nissa, the latter whereof never freezeth in Winter, though never fo extream; and the waters of the other most raveing in fairest and calmest weather, wherein also floateth an Island that removeth from place to place, as the Wind forceth her Spongeous and unfastened Body.

On the West side of this Country are many Woods, and Mountains, and Lakes; on the East-side toward the Sea it is fruitful in Corn, especially in Barley and Oats. It Ferti-abounds lity.

Ireland.

337 abounds in Fish, and hath plenty of Cattel, yet not so big as ours; their Horses are little, but full of Spirit, and patient of labour.

Natures Venery: those that inhabit the South, are of the the best and civillest, and speak the English language; but those in the Northern part are savage and uncivil, termed Silvesters.

About Scotland in the Irish Ocean are above 40 Islands termed Merania and Hebrides: the biggest of these in length exceeds not 30 miles, and in breadth not above 12; the chief whereof is Pomonia, well known by the Episcopal-Seat, and yielding both Tin and Lead.

Thus much of Great Britain.

TRELARD.

This famous Island in the Virginian-Sea is by the English at this day called Ireland, and by the Irish Bardes at this day Banno. It standeth between the Greater Brittain and Spain; being disjoyn'd on the East from England by a tempestuous Sea, termed Hibernicum, not above one dayes sailing; upon the West beateth the vast Ocean; upon the North it hath an Island disjoyn'd no surther than a ship may sail in one day; and on the South it beholdeth Spain

Spain, not distant above three dayes sailing. It contains in length 400, and in breadth division miles; and is divided into sour parts; sion. (viz.) Munster, which is subdivided into six Counties, viz. I. Limerick. 2. Kery. 3. Cork. 4. Waterford. 5. Desmond. 6. Holly Cross in Tipperary.

Lemster, divided into ten Counties, viz.

1. East-Meath. 2. West-Meath. 3. Kilkenny. 4. Caterlough. 5. Queens-County.

6. Kings-County. 7. Kildare. 8. Weifford. 9. Dublin. 10. Wickloc.

Connaught, divided into fix Counties, viz. 1. Clare or Thomond. 2. Gallaway. 3. Majo. 4. Slego. 5. Letrim. 6. Roscomen.

And Ulster, divided into ten Counties, viz.

1. Dunghal or Tyrconnel. 2. Tyrone upper and nether. 3. Fermanagh. 4. Cavan.

5. Monaghan. 6. Colrane. 7. Antrim.

8. Down. 9. Armagh. 10. Lough.

The chief Cities of this Country are 1. Dublin, standing within the Province of Lemster, and in the County of Dublin: it is by the English called Divelin. It is the chief City of this Country, and Seat of Justice, sairly built, and frequently inhabited, and adorned with a strong Castle; sisteen Churches, an Episcopal Seat, and a fair Colledge, and endowed with many Priviledges.

The Houses of this City, as also of the

City

City Waterford, are for the most part of timber, clay and Plaister; yet are the Streets beautiful, and the houses commodious within.

- 2. Armagh; it is the Seat of an Arch-Bishop, and the Metropolitan City of the whole Island.
- 3. Tredagh; a fair and well inhabited Town.

The Fourth City is Cork, confifting almost of one long street, but well known and frequented, this is a Bishops See.

5. Limerick, this Town is compassed about with the samous River Shamon, by the parting of the channel; it is a Bishops See also and the very Mart-town of Munster.

6. Waterford; by some accounted the fecond City in Ireland, it hath a commodious Haven for Shipping. 7. Kilkenny, which for a Burrough-Town excels all the midland Burroughs in Ireland. 8. Kildare, a Bishops See, and much graced in the first Infancy of the Irish-Church, by reason of S. Bridget, who was a Disciple of St. Patrick. 9. Gallaway, which though here placed, may worthily be accounted the third City in Ireland, it is a Bishops See, and hath both strong walls and Castle, and is much frequented with Merchants having a commodious Road and Haven; not far from hence are the Islands of Arran, of which many a foolish Fable goes, as if they were the Mands flands of the Living, wherein none dies at any time.

The People of this Country are general-Naly strong, and nimble of Body; haughty tures of heart; careless of their lives; patient of the of cold and hunger; implacable in enmity; ple. constant in love; light of Belief; and greedy of glory. In a word, if they be bad, you shall hardly find worse; and if good, you shall no where find better.

And for the Commonalty of the Irish Natives, their diet in Necessity is slender, feeding upon Water-cresses, Roots, Mushrooms, Shamrogh, Butter tempered with Oatmeal, Milk, Whey, and Bonney clapper; and when they are dying, Women are hired to mourn over them, who expostulate with the Sick why he should die, and being dead, at his Funeral such outcries are made, such clapping of hands, such howlings and gestures, that one would think their forrows unrecoverable.

The Soil in general is sufficiently fruitful, Fertibut through the idleness of the Inhabitants lity. it is made barren. Amongst other rarities of this Island this is one, that it breedeth no venomous thing: neither will any brought from other Regions live here.

Thus much of Ireland.

The Lesser Islands, are, Orcades, Sorlings, Hebrides, Sporades.

thy.

land.

The Orcades.

These lss are in number 32, and are the most Northern part of Scotland; the chief of which is Pomonia, whose prime Pomo- Town is Kirkwall, honoured with a Bissia. Shops Seat, and strengthened with two Castles. This Island is well stored with Tin and Lead, and is by the Inhabitants at this day called Mamland. In this Island are Seated 12 Parish-Churches, one of them very magnificent for so remote a Country.

Hethy; the second Island of note is Hethy. The People of this Island are great drinkers, but no drunkards: they use the Gothish Language, which they derive from the Norwegians, in whose Possession they once were and of whose qualities they yet retain some smack.

These Islands of Orcades lie in a most rageing and tempestuous Sea; 13. of them are only Inhabited and the other replenished with Cattel; in these are no Venomous Serpents, nor other ugly Vermine, the Air sharp and healthful, and the Soil apt to bear only Oates and Barley, but not a Stick of Shet-Wood.

More North than these, lie the lses of Shetland, by some thought to be Thule, and by the Commentator upon Horace, the Fortunate Island.

THE

The Hebrides.

These Islands are situate on the Westside of Scotland, and are some 44 in number; the chief of which are, 1. Ila, 44 Ila. miles long, and 16 broad; plentiful in Wheat, and Cattel, and herds of Red deer.

The fecond is Iona, famous for the Se-Iona. pulchres of the Scottish Kings, whose chief Town is Sodore.

The third is Mula, which is 25 miles big-Mulz. ger than the other. The People both in language and behaviour resemble the wild I-rish, and are called Red Shanks.

These 3. Islands are plentiful of Corn, Woods, Salmons, and herrings, as the other of Conies, Decr, Horses, and Sheep, where in somethey are wild, and in others without any owners.

The Sorlinges.

Hese Islands are called by the English, Silly, are stuate over against the Western Cape of Cornwall, from which they are distant 24 miles. They are in number 145 of which 10 only are of estimation, viz. Armath, Agnes, Sampson, Silly, Bresar, Rusco, S. Helens, S. Martins, Arthur, and and S. Maries, the chief of all the rest, as being 8 miles in compass, sufficiently fruitful, and strengthened with a Castle call'd Stella Maria. These Islands are well stored with Grass, Grain, and Lead.

The Sporades.

He chief of these Islands are Man, Anglesey, Jarsie, Gernsey, and Wight. Man; this Isle is situate just over against the Southern part of Cumberland, from which it is distant 25 miles: it is in length 30, and in breadth not above 9 miles, and the whole Circumference is about 82 miles; the Air here is cold and very sharp.

The People hate Theftand begging: they use a Language mixt of the Norwegian and Irish Tongues; the wealthier Sort, and fuch as hold the fairest possessions, do imitate the People of Lancashire, both in their honest carriage and good house-keeping, they are Religious and loving to their Pastors, shewing them great Respect. They have here no chargeable tedious Law-Suits, f. r all Controversies are determined by certain Judges, without writingor charges, and them they call Deemsters; and chuse forth among themselves, if any complaint be made to the magistrate for wrongs either done or suffered, he presently taketh up a Stone, and fixeth his mark upon it, and fo delivereth it unto the Party Plaintiffe, by virtue of which he both calls his Adversary to Appearance, and to produce his witnesses; if the case falls out to be difficult and not easily to be ended, it is then referred to 12 Men, whom they Term the Keyes of the Land. The generality of the women of this Island when they go out of Doors, do gird themselves about with the winding-Sheets they purpole to be buried in, and when any of them are at any time condem ned to dye, they are Sewed within a Sack, and flung from a Rock into the Sea.

done

The Soyl is abundant in Flax, Hemp, Oats, Barley and Wheat, with which they use to supply the defects of Scotland; and store of Sheep and other Cattel is this Island stored with all, But of smaller bodies than those with us here in England.

The chief Towns are Balacuri and Rufsin, or Castle-Town, the Seat of a Bishop. The whole Isle is divided into 2 parts, South and North, whereof the one resembleth the Scotch in Speech, the other the Irish: it is defended, by 2 Castles, and hath 17 Parishes, 5 Market-Towns, and many Villages.

Jarsie; this Island of Jarsie is about 10 miles Long, 6 Broad, and 38 in circuit; it farhath 2 little Islands adjacent, the one St. Jie. Albans, the other Hillary Island, it hath 12 Pa-

Sporades.

12. Parishes, and 4. Castles. The Inhabitants speak a kind of corrupt French, they live pleafantly; in Summer-time they catch heregreat store of Fish, especially Congre and Lobsters, the greatest and fattest upon the Coait of England; Woodhere is very scant and Coals very Dear, their best Fuel is Turffs.

The ground is plentiful in Grain and sheep, most of them having four Horns, of whose Wool our true Jarfie Stockings are made.

An-

Anglesye; this Island is in length 20 miles, giesey. and in breadth 17, containing in former times 360 Towns and Vilages; of which the chief are Beumarsh, Newberg, and Abersraw.

This Island is abundantly fertil in all things necessary to preserve the life of Man, especially Corn. This Island also produceth a kind of Stones which are called Molares, as of all other the fittest to make mill-stones, or Grind-stones. This Isle is divided into 6 Hundreds, in which are feated 2 Market-Towns, and 74 Parish Churches.

Gernſ€y.

Gernsey is distant 20 miles from Farsey, to whom it is far inferiour in respect of largeness, but more commodious, because of her safe harbours: it contains ten Parishes the chief being St. Peters. The People use the French Tongue, and in their Ecclesiastical Discipline sollow the Church of Geneva.

The Fields of this Isle in Summer-time are so naturally garnished with Flowers of all forts, that a Man (being there) might conceit himself to be in a pleasant Artificial Garden, the Inhabitants here are not much given to Tillage as they of farsie, though the Soyl be as fruitful; but they take great Delight in planting and setting of Trees of all forts, and especially Apples, by reason whereof they make much Sider; their Commodities are alike, and their helps from Sea not less, but rather more.

In this Isle are many great steep Rocks among which is found a hard Stone called by the French Smyris, which we term Emerill; This Stone is serviceable for many purpofes, and many Trades, and Glasiers, Goldsmiths, Lapidaries, &c.

Wight, this Isle is severed from Hamp- wigh: shire by a little, narrow, and dangerous Streight of the Sea: it contains 20 miles in length, and 12 in breadth. The Soyl is fruitfull; the Sheep bear delicate fine Wool, and the Trees store of Fruit. Here are two Parks and one Forrest; as also 36 Towns and Villages, the Principal being Newport, Yarmouth, and Brading. The Island is very strong especially towards France; it is fortified with three Castles, in one of which is Armour for 5000 Men. This Isle is plenteously stored with Cattel and Corn, and breeds every where store of Conies,

The Hares.

Hares, Partridges and Pheasants.

For Ecclesiastical Government it belonges that to the Bishop of Winchester; and for Civil Government to the County of Southampton, it is fortified with 6 Castles, hath 36 Parish-Churches, and is Traded with 3 Market-Towns, whereof Newport is the chief, a Town well seated and much frequented, t is populous with Inhabitants, and hath an enterance into the Isle from the Haven, and a passage for Vessels of small Burthen unto the Key.

There are divers other Islands, as Demry, Londay, and Chaldey in the Savern See; Thanett, and Sheppy, near Kent; and Holyfarne and Cockat, on the Confines of Northumberland, Oleron, Ree, Alderny, Sark.

Holy Mand

Holy Island; This Island is rockie and full of Stones, unfit for Corn and Tillage; and being so small in account either for Compass or Commodity, and so unpeopl'd and unprofitable, cannot be numerous in Towns and Villages; it hath in it only one Town, with a Church and Castle, under which there is a very commodious Haven, defended with a Block house, situate upon an Hill upon the South-East; The only thing this Island yieldeth is a fit and accommodate aptitude for Fishing and Fowling.

Farne Farne Island; This lyeth 7 miles South-Island Eastward from Hely Island, and on the North fide it hath 2 small Isles adjoying called called Widepens and Staple Island, and 2 lesser than these not far off called the Wambes. This Farne Isle is about 3 miles Long, and as many broad, it is a barren place yielding neither Woods, Coals, Turss, Corn, Cattel, nor pastures; the best Commodity it yields is Fish and Fowle; there is neither Town nor Villagein it only it hatha Tower or place of Fortification belonging unto it, placed well near the middle part of the Isle.

Gle-

Oleron is an Island situate over against the Province of Xaintoigne, and South unto the lsse of Ree, this Island is easie of Access and not very defensible, great quantities of Sait are made here yearly; the principal Town is Oleron, which gives Name to the whole Island; one thing makes this Island very samous, that is, the Maritime Laws which were declared and established by King Richard the sirst of England above 500 yeares ago in this Island, and from hence called the Lawes of Oleron.

Ree; this Island is situate over against Ro-Ree, chel, and is about 10 English miles in length, and 5 in breadth: places of note in this Isle, are La Butte de Mont, 2. St. John de Mont, 3. St. Hillary, 4. St. Martins, the largest, and strongest of them all, from whence the whole Island hath sometimes been called St. Martines.

Alderny, this Island is about 8 miles in Alcompass, of a very difficult access, by reason derny.

Porthern Jands.

349

of the high Rocks and Precipices; it is distant about 6 miles from Cape Hagge in Normandy, it hath in it one petty Town or Village consisting of about 100 Families, and having not far off an Harbour made in the Fashion of a Semicircle, which they call La Crabbit.

Sark, this Island is about 6 miles in Compass, and not far distant from Alderny; it was not peopled till about the 5th of Queen Elizabeth of England; it contains about 60 or 70 Families, in former times it served only for a Common or pasture for Beasts to those of the Isle of Gernsey, to the Governour of which Island both this and Alberny are subject.

Thus much of the Brittish Islands.

The Porthern Juands.

The principal Islands dispersed in this Sea are Groenland, Iseland, Freezeland, Nova Zembla, and Sr. Hugh Willobjes Issland.

the Northern cold Zone; the longest day in fummer being three moneths and a half: it is in length more than 600 miles: The chief Towns are S. Thome and Alba. In this Island the Londoners have met with a good trade of Fishing.

Island

Iseland is about 400 miles in length, and 1sea damnable cold Country.

The People hereof use dryed Fish instead of Bread; their best commodity is their Fish, which they exchange with for-reign Merchants for other things.

The Iseland-Ling is famous over all Europe: The chief Towns are Hallen and Schshelten. In this Island is the Hill Hecklefort, vomiting flames of fire like Ætna in Sicilie; it usually freezeth in this Island for 8 Moneths space together, and is so vehemently chilled with Northern Winds, that it yieldeth neither Corn nor Trees, except Juniper only; yet there is great abundance of Grass: Oxen and kine here have no hornes, but their sheep have; in this Island are bred the Little Doggs known amongst us by the name of Island-doggs, the delight of Ladies: here are white Ravens, white Faulcons, and hares and Beares of the same Colour.

Freezland, the only Riches of this Island Freezeis their Fish, for which Commodity it is never without the Ships of Flemmings, Danes, Scots, Hansmen, and English, much frequented by the lait. It is almost as big as Ireland, and subject to the King of Denmark.

Nova Zembla; this Island lyeth on the Nova z North of Muscovy and Lapland, and is fa-Zem-mous for nothing but the Pigmies, which are here supposed to inhabit.

Q5 Sr.c.

The Oriential Juands.

35I

Sr.H. Island

Sr. H. Willoughbies Island is so called, bew. his cause he first discovered it, and because he was thereabouts frozen to death.

> Thus much of the Northern, and of the European Islands.

The Oriental Jaands.

THe Islands of Asia are either in the Mediterranean, as Rhodes and Cyprus, or in the Oriental Ocean, as Japan, Zailan, Mo-Japan- Inccoes, Java major, and Minor, Summatra, Burneo, and the Philippine.

This Island on the East is situate over a-Nagainst China, of whose nature and qualities tures of the Inhabitants do somewhat participate. It Peo- is in length 200 leagues, and in breadth in le. fome places 30, in others not above 10. It is divided into 66 Shires or Petty Kingdomes.

The Soyl is not very fruitfull, subject to Fertility. much Snow; but the Air is very wholefome, and the bowels of the Earth inriched with divers Metals. This Island in the time of Paulus Venetus, did abound so with Gold, that the Kings Palace was covered with it: They enter not into their Dining Room with their shooes on.

In this Island are two high Mountains, one of which casteth forthflames, on the top whereof the Devil useth to shew himself in a bright Cloud, to them that by long fasting have prepared themselves for the fight. The other called Figeniaris is by some leagues higher than the Clouds. The chief Cities are Meace and Bandum an University, and 3. Ofsucay, a great and renowned City, conceived to be the richelt in all the East, of so great Trade that every ordinary Merchant is faid to be worth 30000 Crowns; 4 Sucungo as big as London with the Suburbs. 5. Edoo, a much fairer than that, and the chief Seat of one of their Kings. 6. Firando, a Seat Royal also of some other King.

This Island is said to be frequented by the Jesuits, of whom 200 is said to live here.

Ormus: this Island is exceeding barren, Ormus: s and yet of it self a Kingdom, and sull of trade, the inhabitants are 'Ανθεωπόφαγοι.

Zelon: this famous Isle is not far distant from the point of India called Cape Comerein; it is in form resembling an Egg, and for fertility may be compared to any Country in the whole Universe; It abounds in lity, Odoriferous Aromatical Spices, with whole woods of the best Cynamon that ever the Sun saw, besides fruits, Oranges, Lemmons, furmounting those of Spain: also here are found the best Smargads, Rubies, Amber-Greese, through Asia: this Island is about 250 miles in length, and 150 in breadth; the whole:

ORC

and 150 in breadth, the whole circumference about 800 miles; it is exceeding populous and stored with many Towns: the place of greatest note is Colmucki, the seat Royal of the chief King of this Island; situate on a capacious Bay in the South west of it, and of most trade in all this Country; many great Ships laden with Cynamon, Gems, Elephants, and other Indian Commodities going yearly hence; this place by the Portugals (who fortified it) is called Columbus. The Inhabitants are egregious tures Panyms, they hold that on the high Peak of the (called by the Europeans) Columba, Adam was there created, and lived there, and thither do their Pilgrims refort apace, where on the top of a high Mount is conspicuously setthe Idea of a horrible Cacodamon, inveloped with a Cloud of Arms and fedulously looked unto. The truth is, this Island is so happy in pleasant fruits, that some have

A19-

Ri-

ple.

The Moluccoes are usually reckoned fix, luico- but many other Islands are subject to them, the chief whereof is the King of Terenate, who is said to have had 70 Islands under his subjection, none of these Islands are above fix leagues in compass, enriched with ches. Cloves, but of other fruits barren and poor; in Ternate is an exceeding high hill, which lifts his head above the Airy Regions of the clouds; and seems to conjoyn with the si-thought it was the place of Paradife.

ery Elements, it casts out continually bright-Flames mixed with a dark smoak.

The Oriental Mands.

In these librads of the Moluccoes is said to be the Bird of Paradife, that flyeth continually, having no feet to rest on : the Hen layeth her Eggs (if you will believe it) in ahole of the Cocks back. The 6 Islands of note amongst the Moluccoes are, 1. Terenate, 2. Tidor, 3. Macir, 4. Rachian, 5. Machian, and 6. Botone, abounding with Cynamon, Ginger, Nutmegs, Mastick, Aloes, Pepper, but most of all in Cloves, but not very well furnished with necessaries for the life of Man.

The Moluccoes are better proportioned Inhathan any other Indians, brown of colour biand mean of Stature, and for Valour they tants. have not their like in India, especially those of Terenate; chosing rather to dye than flyc.

Amboya is a fertil Island producing Oran- Amges, Citrons, Lemmons, Cloves, Coquos, bnyna. Bonanus, Sugar-canes, and other fruits be- or ing a very fertil Island; The Inhabitants are boy. simple, live sparingly, and attired like other the Moluccans: These Islanders are said to be Cannibals or Man-eaters, this Amboyna is one of the Islands of the Sindeor Selebes, of which there are four in number, the other 3 are Selebes, Gilolo, aed Magassar. Sele-Selebes: which gives name to the rest, bes. hath under it many leffer Islands, it is large and rich, the Soyl exceeding fertile, the People tall and comely, and of colour not fo much black as ruddy; the chief Town is Sion.

Gilolo Gilolo: this is a large Island, exceeding plentiful of Rice, and well stored with wild Hens, the Inhabitants resembling those of the Selebes, the chief Town is Batachin.

Macassar: it is of large extent, also plentiful of Rice, Flesh, Fish, Salt, and Cottonwool, not destitute of Gold and Pearles, and well stored with Sanders of several colours.

Banta is distant from Amboyna some Banta 24 Dutch miles, and comprehends about or 5. miles. The chief City is Nera, which is Ranchief not only of Banda but of the Moluccoes: In this Island are more store of Nutmegs than else where in the Moluccoes, for which cause they resort hither from Java, China, and Mallaca.

Java is an Isle both great and famous, Fava Major judged to stand in the Gulfe of Bengale; in it are many Kings, most of which are tributary to the Emperor, entitled Mataran, it is oval in form, and in circuit not much inferior to England, abounds with all forts of Ariches romatique Spices; of which store, Pepper is the best and most seasible Merchandize.

And so doth Java minor, abound with all Fava fort of Spices, it is said to be 2000 miles in Micompass: and to be very near the firm Hor. Land, Terra Australis Incognita, or the Southern Continent. The

The Inhabitants are for the most part Ma-Inhahometans; their colour is black, fo is their bi-Actions; they are dismal, strong, impatient, tants. and subtil, and strong-limbed and excellent Swimmers.

The Oriental Juands.

This Island by Scaliger is called the compendium of the world, the Inhabitants feed on Rats and Mice.

Their chief Cities Fortam, Sarrabaia, Tuban, Matura, but Bantam is of most Traffick, frequented by Portugals, Dutch, and English, in which every day are three several Markets, here Merchants when they come may buy a Woman for their fleshly and Worldly business, which at their departure they fell again.

The King of Turban is the richest King and mightiest in all Java. They have many Horses, of which they make great account; they deck them with furniture of Gold, Silver and the counterfeits of Dragons and Devils on their Saddles, they ride and mannage them with great skil. North from Javais Madara, a fertil Island of Rice. Aros- Mabay is their chief City, the people are Thee- dara. vish and given to Spoil, they captived some of the Hollanders that went thither on Shore to buy Commodities. Here in these parts they have Bats as big as Hens, which the People rost and eat. Also near Java is the Isle of Baly, abounding in Bulls and Buffals, Goats, Swine, with many kind of Fowls, Baly.

Fruis

Fruits and Metals. Here the Women are burned with their dead Husbands.

Bock-

Bocuro: this is so large an Isle, that the compass is said to be 3 Moneths Sayle.

Burneo. Burneo: in this Island they are partly Moors, and partly Gentiles: they worship the Sun and Moon, whom they think to be Man and Wise, and the Stars their Children: they salute the Sun at his rising, and handle all their publick affairs in the night, at which time the Councellors of State meet, and ascend some Tree, viewing the Heavens till the Moon rise, and then go to the Senate house; the greatest riches of this Island are Camphire, Agarick, and some Mines of Adamants.

In it they have two Kings, and two Royal Cities situate in Salt water, to wit Borneo and Lavi; The King of Borneo keeps the greatest State, and is not to be spoken with but by the mouth of some of his own interpreters, he is served in his Palace by no other attendants, but either Maids or Women.

Suma-

Sumatra: this Island by some is esteemed the greatest of the Eastern Islands, Stretching most 700 miles in length, & 200 in breadth, The Air is not very wholesome, by reason of its situation under the Line. This Island is said to lye directly under the Equator, the Inhabitants are 'Aubscartopase!

The Inhabitants feed on Rice, Millet, Sagu,

Sagu, and Fruits. Their Riches are Pepper, Ginger, Cassia, Silk, Benioyn, Gold, Tin, and Iron, as also Camphir, Agarick, Wax, and Honey in great abundance, with store of Cotton.

This Island is divided into several Kingdomes; the chief whereof is Acheen who as he precedes the rest in State, riches, and power, so is he foremost in tyranny.

In the Mountains of Sumatra live Man-Eaters, which use the Skuls of their eaten enemies instead of mony, exchanging the same for their necessaries. The Attendants of this King are for the most part Women, who are expert as their weapons, using both Peeces and Swords.

Avira Insula, these Islands lye West Avifrom Sumatra, and the Inhabitants are also rate.

faid to be as those of Sumatra.

Philippinas; these Islands are many in num-Phiber, and some of them are very rich in Rice, lipi. Hony, Fruits, Birds, Beasts, Fishes, Gold; en-nas. These Islands are Subjects of friends to the Spaniards. These Philippian Isles are reckoned by Maginus to be 1100, They were discovered in the time of Philip the Second of Spain, and from him took their Name. These Islands produce the fairest Figgs in the World, store of Cotton-wool, and store of Mines of several Metals,

The Spaniards have here a Bishop and Arch-

The Oriental Juands.

Archdeacon, and beside other religious men, as Augustinians and Franciscans, they have seven Colledges of Jesuits. The Peo-Inha- ple worship the devil, who oft-times appears to them in conference, in most ugly tants. Thape.

There is amongst them an Island of Negroes, inhabited with black People, almost as big as England. Here are also those black People, called Os Paupas, Man caters, and Sorcerers, among whom Devils walk familiarly; and if these wicked Spirits find one alone, they kill him, wherefore they use alwayes to have company. The chief of these Philippine Islands in the possession of the Spaniards, are four, viz. Lusson, Minbanao. Tandair, and Pallohan.

Luss.

Lusson, affirmed to contain in compass 1000. miles, is beautified by the Spaniards with a fair City, Seated on a commodious Haven, which they call Mamilla; in which resides the Deputy or Lieutenant Governor for all the Phillippine Islands, and their Bishop also for ordering Church Affairs there.

Mindanao, is 380 leagues in compass; in. danao. it are many good Towns, as Cailon, Pavados, Subut, &c.

Tan-

Tandair, this is more fruitful than any of dair. the rest, and of good extent, and 160 Leagues Circuit, more specially called Phillippina, because first discovered, and so named.

Pol-

The Oriental Jands.

359

Palloban, this Island with the rest is rea- ban. fonably well stored with Bulls, Kine, Horfes, and Mares, and affords the like Commodities as the other Phillippine Isles do; there are thought to be a Million of People subject to the Crown of Spain, in the Philippine Islands.

Before I leave these Eastern Islands I will give you a short survey of those Towns and Castles which the Spaniard hath got into his possession, not only in these Islands, but also on the Continent. 1. In Cambaia they have the Towns of Tany, Basa, and Daman; as also the Island of Din, 2. In Decan or Canora they have Chaul, and Goa, the Spanish Viceroy's residence. 3. In Mallaver they have Chalen and Colan, two places of good strength. 4. In Zeilan they have fortified Columbus, bragging of one of the best Havens in the world. 5. In Siam they are Lords of Mallaca, and the adjoyning Castle. And last of all, to secure their Spice-trade in the Moluccoes they enjoy Terenante: yet for all these Fortresses the English and Hollander will not be hindred from Traffick with these Indies.

Thus much of the Oriental Islands.

CPPRUS.

THis Island is of length 200, large 60, and in circuit 600 miles.

This Island yieldeth infinite Canes of Su-Fertility. gar; Cotton-Wool, Honey, Oyl, Corn, Turpentine, Allum, Verdegrease, Grogram, store of Metals, and Salt, besides all sorts of Fruits and Commodities in abundance, as Saffron, Figgs, Raisins of the Sun, Citrons, Oranges, Pomgranates, Almonds, Coriander, Rubarb, Colliquintida, Scammony &c. Sope ashes, Brass, Iron, some small store of Gold and Silver, Green Soder, Vitriol, Orpiment, white and Red Lead, and divers kinds of precious Stones, amongst which the Emerald and Turkey are the chief.

This Isle lyeth in the Gulf between and Syria; having Egypt to the West; Syria to the South; Cilicia to the East; and Pamphylia, North.

This Island boasts of the Birthes of Æsclipiades, Solon, Zeno, Apollonius, and Xenophon; it hath one Arch-Bishop and 3 other Bishops, The Metropolitan of Nicosa, the other Bishops of Famagosa, Paphus, and Amathus who live upon Stipends.

Na-The Inhabitants are generally strong, of the nimble, of great civility; of great hospitality. Peo- to their Neighbours, and exceedingaffectiople.

nate to Strangers.

The principal Cities of this lile are, 1. Nicosia, environed with Mountains, wherein the Beglerbeg remaineth. It is circular in form, and five miles in circumference; the Buildings are low, flat-rooft; the entrance little, for the most part ascending by stairs for the more difficulty in entring.

2. Famagusta, the chiefstrength and Seaport in it. It is feated in a Plain between two Promontories, in form well-nigh quadrangular indifferently strong, and containing two miles in circumference; it stands almost opposite to Tripoly.

In the City Famagofa, was Saint Barnaby born, here suffered Martyrdom under Nero, and in the same City buried, in this Townslfo was Solon that famous Philofopher born, and Paul and Barnabas Sailed out of Syria, and lived in this Towne; it was formerly called Salamais.

Selina, Melisso, Paphos, Fontana, and Morosa, are the other four special Towns in this Island. In Paphos stood a notable Temple built by Pigmalion in the honour of Venus, here also dwelt Elimas that wicked magitian, whom the Lord by the hand of Paul strook with blindness, here Sergius Paulus the Proconful was converted, and here also were Paul and Barnabas Imprisoned for preaching the Gospel.

The greatest impersections of this Isle is scarcety of water, and too much plenty of fcorch-

The Affrican Jaes.

363 fcorching heat, and sabulous ground, and it is also annoyed with Serpents.

Thus much of Cyprus.

我们见证会。

R Hodes is situate in the Carpatian Sea, over against Caria a Province of Iesfer Asia; it is in circuit 120 miles, and takes denomination from Rhodes the chief City, . which is situate on the East part of the Isle on the bottom of a hill, and the brink of the Sea, so that it injoyeth a fair and safe Haven for Commodities, and for strength it hath 2 Walls, 13 high Towers, five Bulwarks, befides divers Sconces and out-works. It is inhabited only by Turks and Jews, the Christians having free Commerce and Traffick in it all the day time, but on pain of death leaving it at night.

Here the Grand Seigniour maintains five Gallies; no day passeth wherein the Sun here shines not clearly: The Air is here most temperate, produceing Fruits abundantly, and rich pastures sprinkled with Flowers, and flourishing Trees: in this Isle was St. Paul: here was Cleobulus, one of the 7. Wise Men of Greece, born; and Charles the famous statuary, who made the Coloffus that stood in this Isle which was of Brass, and 70 Cubits high.

Col-

West of Rhodes lyesh Scarpano, an Island of 70 miles compass.

Thus much of Rhodes, and the Islands of Asia.

The African Jues.

THese are in the Æthiopick Sea, as Madagascar, Socotora. In the Atlantick Sea, as S. Thomas, The Princes Isles, The Gorgades, The Canaries, Azores, and Hesperides.

MADAGASCAR.

T'His Isle is by the Portugal denominated St. Lawrence. It is one of the greatest in the Universe, extending in length 1000 English miles; the breadth in some places being 230 miles, The best known Bay is that of Augustine, where our Ships ride.

The Inhabitants are exceeding black, and Nahave limbs of great strength and compo-tures fure. Both Sexes good naked, only a linnen of the Cloath about their Middles: they use pink- Peo-

ing

Ri-

Ri-

pinking and cutting their Breasts and Faces: Gold and Silver is of no value among them, but the beades of Aggats, Bracelets, Glasses, Bells, and such like, they esteem well of. They have Cattel both great, many, and good, and for a Bead or two of two-pence price, you may buy Sheep and Beeves of good bigness and taste. The Sheep here have their Tayls weighing 16 or 20 pound.

The lsle abounds in all good things necesches. fary for mansule, as Copper, Gold, Iron, and Silver.

> Their Towns of note are Roma Augustine, Santo Jacobo, Matatana Angoda, and Herendo.

Adjoyning to this Island of Aladagascar, are ever all other Islands as 1. Meottey, 2. Chamree, 3. Mobelia, 4. Johanna, 5. Mauritius, and 6. Englands Forrests, of those Mauritius is the greatest, but Mobelia the best Inhabited; it is about 20 miles long and 16 broad, abounding in Goats, Hens, Coco-nuts, Lemmons, Oranges, Pome-Citrons, Sugar-Canes, Pulse & c. the Natives black, strong and able bodies, both Sexes go naked, only some Leaves about their Middle to hide their Shame.

Socotora; this Isle lyeth just at the entrance of the Red Sea, and in length 60, and in breadth 24 miles. It is rich in Aloes, Gums and Spices; yet it wanteth most things convenient for vital fustenance.

The

The African Jues.

The Inhabitants are tall of stature and linhaashy colour. The Portugals have here fortifi- tants. ed two Towns, Coro, and Benin. From this Island Socotora or Zocratina comes our Aloes Zocratina; the People are Christians and adore the Cross most Superstitionsly, and give themselves much to Inchantments.

S. Thomas; this Isle is in compass S.Tho-180 miles, and is so fruitful in Sugar, that mas. forty Ships are laden with it every year. The prime City is Pavoason, an Episcopal See, inhabited by Portugals and Negroes:

The Princes Island; this Island lyeth The nigh unto the Isle of S. Helen, and are both Prinunder the command of the Spaniard. Both fland. these Islands are very sruitful, and yield store ? of Figgs, Lemmons, and Oranges. &c. which grow here all the year long. Nears PrincesIsland are thelsles called St. Mathem, St. Gross, St. Paul, St. Conception, Ascension, the Isle of Annobon, and 7 other Islands called by one common Name Barbacene, none of them deserving any further discription, save the nameing only. Viante and

The Gorgads; these Islands are in num. The ber nine, and are called Insula Capitis viri- gads dis: they all do abound with Goats; the chief of them is St. James, whose chief Town is Riberia, at this time fortified by the Spaniards. The Name of these 9 Iflands, are 1. St. Anthony, 2. St. Vincent, 3. Buenavista, 4. St. Lucies, 5. Insula Salis,

265

lis, 6. Del Fogo, 7. St. Nicolas, 8. St. Maie and o St. James.

The

The Canary Islands; these Islands, in for-Cana- mer ages call'd Fortunata, are in number fery I- ven, (viz.) Grand Canaria, La Palma, Teneriffa Lancarota, Hierro La Gomera, and Forte Ventura; they are now subject to the King of Spain. At La Palma, or Palus, our Ships touch to Refresh themselves in their Voyage towards America. In these Iflands the Men lend their Wives like Horfes, or any other Commodities; from these Ganary Islands, comes our Canary wine; they are plentiful also in Barly, Honie, wax, Sugar-Canes, Goats, Kine, Cammels, but their grand Commoditie is woad.

Grand Canary preceeds the rest in greatness and excellency, for thither all the other Isles Tene- repair for Tryals and Justice: Teneriffa is riffa. thought to equal it inwealth and circuit. This Island is the highest Land in the World being 15 miles high. This Ise is distant from the Grand Canary 60 English miles.

This Island Teneriffa, hath no water but from a Cloud that hangs over a Tree: and at Noon dissolves, and so is conveyed into several perts.

TA.

Madera, this Island is very fruitful of Madehoney, wax, rich Fruits, Sugar Canes, rich wines, and a plant called Mader much used in dying of Cloathes; the chief City hereof is Fouchial a Bishops Seat: about 40 miles distant

The African Jues. distant from this Isle is another fruitful Island of Corn and Fruits called Holy Port, about Holy 15 miles in Compass; the chief Town Porto Port. Santo.

Azores; these are in number nine, of Azowhich Tercera is chief. They are abounding res. in no rich commodity, only they afford much Oad, which hath made them most famous, and best enriched them. The names of the other eight Islands are St. George, S. Michael, S. Mary, Fayall, Pyco, Gratiofa, Flores, and Corno. The Island Fayal is with us of greatest note, for our noble Sr. Walter Rawleighs Victory over the Spaniards, 1597.

Hesperides; these Islands are situate not Hespefar from the Gorgades. These Islands are sup-rides. posed to be they where the Daughters of Atlas dwelt, where grew the golden Apples, kept by a Dragon, and taken hence by Hercules: and here was supposed to be the abode of the bleffed Creatures, said to be called by the Elysian Fields, so oft memorized by the Poets. These Islands are called Mayo, Sal, and Bonanista; they are distant from the Continent of Africk some 100 furlongs. In these Islands it is said the weather is continually fair, the seasons all temperate. The Air never extream; to conclude, Africa affords not a sweeter place to rest in than here.

- Thus much of the African Isles.

The

THe American Isles are either in the Virginia Sea, as Mare del Nort; or in the Pacifick Sea, as Mare del Zur.

The Islands in the Pacifick Ocean are, 1. Insula Solomonis, which are in number many, the greatest being Guadalcanal, S. Thome, and S. Isabel. the Islanders are of a yellowish colour and go naked. These Iflands by some where supposed to be the Land of Opbir; There are also other Islands in this Sea, called Insula Latronum, named from the Natives Thest, who stole Magellanus Cock Boat, when he first entred in, and also the Island California, &c.

The Janus of the Mirginian DCCAR

Re Margaricca Cubagna, the Bacaloes Boriquen, Jamaica, Cuba, Bermudes, Hispaniola, Carribby Isles, or Antilles, and New found Land.

Mar- Margarica Cubagna; these two Islands garica are situate nigh unto Custella Aurea: they cubag- are desicient in Corn, Grass, Trees, Waare deficient in Corn, Grass, Trees, Water, but they abound in precious stones, Trini- which make some amends for these defects. dado. Nigh unto these is the Island Trinidado, well

ftored

The American Jaes.

stored with Tobacco of the best.

369

Boluccoes; these are certain Islands lying Bolucagainst the influx of Canada, nigh unto Cor- coes. terialis. The People of this Island in a formal expression of reverence use to rub their Noses, or stroke their Foreheads. These Iflands abound with Cinamon, Ginger, Nutmegs, Cloves, Mastick, Aloes, and Pepper; but are not very well furnished with necesfaries for the life of man: The chief of the Isles which pass under this name are, 1. Terenate, 2. Tidor, 3. Macir, 4. Rachian, 5. Machian, and 6. Batone, none of them above six Leagues in compass, many not so much: the whole Cluster of them being but 25 Leagues in circumference.

Boriquen, or St. Johns, is 300 miles long, Boriand 70 broad, traversed with rough mountain which yields many Rivers. The Spaniards have there some Towns; the chief whereofare St. Johns, and Port Rico.

Jamaica is almost as large as Boriquen, Jamaand is now in the possession of the English; it is about 35 Leagues East-ward of Hifpaniola and 20 Leagues Northward of Cuba, and is somewhat inclining to an Oval form, being about 170 miles in length and 70 in breadth.

The Air is heremore temperate then in Tempeany of the Carribby Isles, being alwayes rature cooled with fresh Breezes that constantly of the blow Easterly, and refreshed with frequent fhow-

The American Ides.

370 showers of Rain, and Dews falling in the night; and by reason of its continual Verdure, very delight som: for here the Trees and Plants are never difrobed of their Summer-livery, every Moneth being to them as our May and April; and the dayes and nights are alwayes of an equal length, and nere the Sea Ebbs and Flowes seldom a. bove a soot; Hurricanes are here seldom or never feen or known, which all the Caribby-Isles are much pestered with, having sometimes by the violence of those Gusts, their Ships forced out of their Roads, and on shore their Houses blown down, and provifions & E. Rooted out of the Earth.

htey.

This Island hath both in its Rivers, Bayes, Roads, and Creeks, abundance of excellent Fish, and though few of them are of those common forts known to us here in England, yet there are great variety of those appropriated to the Indies, especially the Tortoife, which they take in great abundance; here are also store of tame Fowles such as are common with us, and great plenty of Wild-Fowles, both of fuch as we have in England and others unknown to us: and for Fruits, it abounds with Oranges, Pomgranates, Cocao-nuts, Limes, Guavars, Mammes, Alumee supotas, Suppotillias, Prickle-Apples, Prickle-Peares, Grapes, Sowerfops, &c. and all kinds of Roots common to us here in England, as Raddish, Let-TICE.

tice, Cabbage &c, are here also to be found; with great store of Horses, Cowes, Sheep, Goats, Hogs, Afinegoes, and Mules. and also the Menchenele which is a kind of Crab so common in all the Caribby-Isles ; and here are Snakes and Guianas, and Alicators, which are very voracious creatures, yet feldom do they prey upon a Man, as being very easie to be avoided, for he can move only forwards, and that he doth with great swiftness, and krength, and is asflow in turning, some of them are 10, 15. 20 foot long; their backs are Sca'y and impregnable, so that they are hardly to be killed, except in the Belly or Eye, Muskettoes and Merry-wings, a fort of stinging Flics are here also found, though seldom in the English Plantations.

The Commodities which this Island af- comfords, are excellent Sugars in great plenty, modi-Cocao, the principal and most benisicial ties. Commodity of the Isle, Indico, Cotton, Tobacco, Hides, Tortoile-shells, Fustick, Redwood, a kind of Log-wood, Cædar, Mathogency, Brasilietto, Lignum vite, Ebony, Grandavilla, &c. Salt, Pepper, Ginger, Piemente or Jamica-Pepper, Guacum, China Roots, Sasparilla, Cassia Fistula, Tamerindes, Vinilioes, Achiots or Anetto, Contrayerva, Allocs, &c, and Cochaneile also is here produced by a plant that growes in this Island, but as yet the English want experience

R 4

Town perience how to husband it.

The chief Town of this Isle is St. Jago or and st. Jago de Lavega, six miles within Land, North-West, seated in a Plain, a Town of considerable account, where our English Governour resideth, and where the chief Courts of Judicature are held, which makes it to be well reforted unto and Inhabited: here they have their Havana in which the better sort recreate themselves every Evening in their Coaches, or on Horseback as the Gentry do here in Hide Park: 2. Pafsage, a Town seated on the mouth of the River, fix miles distant from St. Jago, and as many from Pert Royal; here is a fort raif. ed by the English, the better to secure the fame; 3. Port Royal, formerly called Cagway, very commodious for shipping; the Harbour two or three leagues cross in most places, and hath every where good Anchorage, which is fo deep, that a Ship of a 1000 Tuns may lay her sides to the shore of the point, and load and unload with planks afloate; this Town is so well inhabited that Houses are here as dear Rented as if they were in London: yet its fituation is very unpleasant, as having neither Earth, Wood, or fresh water, but only made up of hot loofe fand: here is one of the strongest Castleshis Majelly hath in America, in which are mounted about 60 pieces of Ordnance well guarded with Souldiers ; 4. Pors

110-

The American Ides.

Morant, 5. Old Harbour, 6. Point Negril, 7. Porte Antonio, &c. with several other good Bayes, and Harbours: in this Island are a very great number of English to 15298 and upwards.

Laba: this is a rich Isle, and in it is a Laba...

Bishops See called St. Jago.

Ciba: this Island is more Northerly, Ciba and extends it self 300 leagues in length; and ba. 20 in breadth, full of Mountains, Woods, Fens, Rivers, Lakes both salt and fresh: the Woods are replenished with Swine and Line; the Rivers with golden Sands; and the Soyl is replenished with Ginger, Casfia, Mastick, Aloes, Cinamon, Sugar. The chief Cities are S. Jago, a Bishops See; and Hanana, a safe road for Ships, and the Staple of Merchandize. Here rides the King of Spain's Navy; till time of year and conveniency of wind serves to wast them homeward. The other Towns are S. Christophers, and S. Trinity; not far hence are the Lucacii, above 400 in number, the chief of which are 1. Baliama, 2. Lucayoneque, 3. Abacoo, 4. Biminy. 5: Labaquen, 6. Viemo, 7. Curateo, 8. Gotao, 9. Oquaate, 10. S. Salvador, 11. Le Triangulo, 12. Samana, &c. These Islands are best commended for the beauty of their Women.

The Islands of Barmudes, or Sommer Isles. Barlie East-ward of Virginia and Carolina, a- mudes bout 400 Leagues from Hispaniele: all these

Rs

The American Jues.

these Isles together are like a Cressant, and inclose very good Ports, as, Great Sound, Herringtons Inlet, Southampton, and Pagets, &c. The greatest of those Isles is St. Georges, about 5. or 6. Leagues long, and almost throughout, notabove a quarter a Third or half a League broad; the others of them are much less.

Ferti-

The Earth is exceeding fertil, yielding lity. yearly two Crops; their Maize they gather in July and December: here are excellent Fruits, as Oranges &c. and Mulberries both white and Red, where breed abundance of Silk-wormes which Spin Silk; in these Isles are no venomous Beatts, their Spiders are of divers colours, and in the hot weather they make their webs fo strong, that oftimes the small Birds are intangled and catched in them; here are store of Fowle, among which a great many Cranes, with a Sea-Fowle that breeds in holes like Rabbets. They have pretty store of Hoggs, and plenty of Tortoises; which is their ordinary food, whose meat is very delicious; here are also Cedar-Trees which differ from all others in several respects, but the wood is very sweet; there is neither Stream nor Fountain in these Isless so they have no fresh water for their occasions, but that of wells and Pits, which Ebbs and flowes with the Sea: the Air is here fo temperate and exceeding healthful, that it

The American Jues. is rare to hear of any one that dieth of any

diftemper but only old Age.

The chief commodities of these Isles comare Oranges, Couchaneil, and Tobacco, modiwith some Pearl, Ambergreece, and Tor-17. toise-Shels, and with these they drive some small trade; The English have a powerful Colony in these Isles, there being about 4. or 5. Thousand Inhabitants, who have strongly fortified the Approaches, which with the Rocks in the Sea renders them Impregnable.

Hispaniola is East-ward from Cuba, it is Hispacalled by the natives Haiti; it containeth niola. in compass 550 leagues, enjoying a temperate Air, and fertil Soyl; rich in mines, Amber, and Sugar. This Island hath many. high and cragged Hills overlooking the deep and dark Valleys; but in many places it is most beautiful and flourishing. It feemeth to enjoy a perpetual Spring, the Trees alwayes flourishing, and the Meadows cloathed in green. The chief Towns are Dominiga, S. Jago, St Thomas, S. John, and Portoroyo.

The Caribby Isles or Antilles, are many carin number, the chief of which are Barbado. ribby w - es, St. Christopher, Neivis of Mevis, An. Isle, or T tego, St. Vincent, Dominica, Montferrat, le. Anguilla, and Barbada.

Barbadoes, is the best Colony the Eng- doeslish have amongst all the Caribby Isles, and though

though it be but of small compass, not above 8 Leagues in length, and 5 in breadth, yet are they able to Arm 10000 fighting Men. This Isle is Governed by Lawes affimulated to those of England, with some sew Lawes appropriate to themselves; they have here few Rivers of fresh Springs, but most of their Houses have wells or Cisterns, which are alwayes supplied with Rain water; here is also a River which the Inh abitains call the Thigh River, from the top of whose waters is gathered an Oyl which serveth them to burn in Lamps.

Temthe Air.

The Air is very hot, especially for 8 Months, yet not so but that Travell and ture of Labour is sufferable; and though the Air be very hot, yet is it also very moist, which causethall Iron Tooles, as Knives, Swords, Locks; Keyes, &c. to rust, so that without constant usage they will soon become eaten up with Rust. The dayes and nights here are almost through the year of an equal length, the Sun rifeing and fetting about 6. except about October, and then there is some small difference.

Fer-

This Isle is very fertile, bearing Crops all tility. the year long; and the Trees, Fields and Woods alwayes in their fommer Livery and delightful Verdure; they have here in their Seas several sorts of Fish, as Cavalos, Cony-Fish, Green Turtles, &c. which of all other are the most delicious, with several other

Sorts

Sorts appropriate to this, and the rest of the Caribby Isles; here are also almost all Sorts of English Herbs and Roots, and several forts of Fowles, and great variety of fmall Birds; but no Beafts or Cattel but what are Tame and brought to them here, as Camels, Horses, Alinegros, Oxen, Bulls, Cowes, Sheep, Goates, and Hoggs in great plenty; here are also snakes a yard and an half long, scorpions as bigg as Rats, and Lizzards, but neither of them hurtful to Man or Beast, Muskettoes, Cock-roches, and Merry-wings which are very Troublefom in the night in stinging; and here are Land-Crabs in great abundance, which are found good to eat; and a small Flie called Cayo, whose wings in the night as it: Flies cast forth a great lustre, and the Indians do commonly catch them, and tie them to their hands and feet, and make use of them in stead of Candles, which are forbidden them; here are also abundance of Fruits, as Dates, Oranges, Pomgranates, Citrons, Lemmons, Icacos, Cherries, Raifins, Indian Figgs, Pine-Apples, the rarest Fruit in the Indies; with several other Sorts; and for Trees here are great varieties, fit for several uses, as the Locuits, Mastick, Redwood, the prickle yellow-wood, Iron-wood Tree, Cedar, Cassia, Fistula, Colloquintida, Tamerine, Cassavy, poyson-Tree, Physick-Nut, Calabash, the shell of which Tree serveth

The American Ides.

veth them for Troughs, co carry Liquid things in, and of the Roncon of whose Bark is made Ropes and also Flax; Lignum vita, and Palmeto, with several others.

Comties:

The chief Commodities of this life are: modi- Sugars, Indico, Cotten, and Ginger in great abundance, Log-wood, Fustick, and Lignum Vita.

Ghief

This Isle is severed into 11 Precincts or towns Parishes; in which are 14 Churches and Chappels, and is throughout befet with housesat no great distance from one another, it is so taken up with Planters; but the chief Towns are 1. St. Michaels, formerly called the Bridge-Town, or Indian-Bridge, fituate at the bottom of Carlifle Bay, in the Southern part of the Isle, which Bay is very capacious deep and secure for Ships, being big enough to entertain 500 Vessels at once; the Town is long containing several Streets, and graced with abundance of well built Houses, here is the place of the Governours Residence or his Deputy, and here are their Courts of judicature kept: it hath-2 strong Forts opposite to each other for its defence and security of the Ships, but the Town is ill seated, the Ground being lower than the Banks of the Sea, by which means the Spring-tides flow over, which occasions it to be more unhealthful than the other parts of the Isle; 2. Little Briftel, formerly Sprights Bay, situate about 4 Leagues from from St. Michael, a commodious Road for Ships, well frequented and strongly defended by two powerful Forts; 3. St. James, formerly called the Hall, seated not far from Bristol, here is a good Road for Ships also, and is a place of considerable trade, in this Town is kept the monethly Courts for the Precinct; 4. Charles Town about two Leagues from St. Michael, in this. Town are weekly Markets, and Monethly Courts for the Precinct; there also are several good Bayes belonging to this Isle, as: Fowle Bay, Austins Bay, Maxwel Bay, &c. and here are divers Caves, some of which are very deep, and large enough to hold 520 Men, and those Caves are often the Sanctuaries of such Negro-slaves as run: away, and it is supposed that these Caves were the habitations of the Natives.

St. Christophers: so called from Christo- St. pher Columbus, the Soyl of this Isle is light Chriand Sandy, very apt to produce several stopher forts of Fruits, provisions and Commodities; as Sugar, Tobacco, Cotton, Ginger &c. but it is very impassible through the midst of this Isle, by reason of its several great and steepy Mountains, between which are Springs of hot and Sulphurous water, with horrid Precipices and thick Woods; it is divided into 4 Quarters or Cantons, 2 poffessed by the English, and 2 by the French, they keep constant guard at their Forts, the the English have 5 Churches, one at Sandy Point, one at Palm Tree, another neer the great Road, and 2 at the inlet of Cayoune; and at Bass Terre (neer the Haven where Ships lye at Anchor) the French have a Town of good bigness, with many pretty Houses in it, and Store houses for the Merchants; here is a fair and large Church, a publique Hall for administration of Justice, an Hospital for sick people, and a stately Castle, being the residence of the Governour, pleasantly seated at the Foot of an high Mountain.

Nievis

Nievis or Mevis: lyeth not far from St. Christophers, and is but small, not above Mevis. 18 miles in circuit, it is indifferent fertil, and hath store of Deer and game for Hunting; here are divers Springs of fresh water, and one Spring of hot and Mineral water, fot curing of several Distempers; there are 3 Churches in this Isle, and it hath a Fort wherein are mounted several pieces of Ordnance for the security of the Ships in the Road, or Harbour called Baty Bay, as also the publick Store house; this Isle as the rest of the Caribbies, is troubled with Muskettocs, Chigus, Murigoins, and other stinging Flies, which do much annoy the Inhabitants; it is inhabited by about 3 or 4 Thousand, who live well, and drive a Trade for fuch things as they have occasion for, by exchanging such Commodities as the

The American Alles.

Isle produceth, as Sugar, Cotton, Ginger, & c Antego, this life is about 6 or 7 Leagues Antein length, and about the same in breadth 80. in many places, and is very dangerous for shipping by reason of the Rocks which encompass it, here are great plenty of sish amongst which is the swordfish, and also store of wild Fowle, Venison, and tame Cattel; the Commodities it affordeth are Sugar, Indico, Ginger, Tobacco, &c. The Inhabitants are about 8. or 9. hundred, they have but few Springs of fresh water, but most of the Inhabitants have made several Cifterns and ponds for the preferving of Rain water.

St. Vincent is about 20 miles in length St. and is in breadth of a fertil Soyl, yielding Vinabundance of Sugar Canes, which grow cent. naturally without planting, it is well watered with Rivers, and affordeth many safe Roades, and convenient Bayes for shipping; The English have here some fmall fettlement, but are not very power-

Dominica, is about 12 miles in length, Domiand 8 in breadth, on the West side of it is a nica. convenient Harbour for Ships: it is very Mountainous yet not without many fertile Vallies; produceing several Commodities, but chiefly Tobacco, which is planted by the English, but the Natives here are Canibals and very Barbarous, which does much hinder the comeing of the English to settle here. Mont-

Montserrat, is of small extent, not ex-Montferrat ceeding to miles in length, and of less breadth, it is much inclined to Mountains, which are well Cloathed with Cedar and other Trees; and the Vallies and plaines are very Fertil; it is most Inhabited by the Irish, who have herea Church for divine worship.

Anguilla, is about to Leagues in Enilla length, and 3 in breadth, the Inhabitants of this Isle are English, which are computed to amount unto 2 or 3 hundred, who are but poor, the Isle being reported not to be worth the keeping.

Barbada, this is an Isle of no great ex-Barbatent, not exceeding 14 or 15 miles in length, and of no confiderable Account to the English, who are possessiours of it, yes: is it of a fertile Soyl and well stored with Cattel, Sheep &c. And may produce several good Commodities were it well managed.

New

New Found Land, is an Island in extent Found equal to England, from whence it is distant Land. about 600 Leagues, lying about half way between Ireland and Virginia, and is only severed from the Continent of America by an Arme of the Sea, like that which separates England from France; The North and West parts of this Country the Native Indians Inhabit being but few in number, but a more ruder.

The American Ides.

ruder and savage fort of People, than those other of America.

It is a fertil Soyl, and is inriched with Fertiplenty of Fish especially Cod, and Poor lity. John, which is the principal Commodity of this Isle, and is grown to a settled Trade here, it hath store also of Land and water-Fowle, and is well stockt with Deer, Hares, Otters, Foxes, Squirrels, and other Beafts, which yield good Furrs, and besides store of Fowle, it yields abundant of Trees fit for Timber, Masts, Plancks, and fundry other uses.

It is famous also for spatious and excellent Bayes and Harbours, and within the land for the variety of Fresh springs; whose waters are exceeding delicious; at Ferry Land in the province of Avalon is a stately house belonging to the Lord Baltemore; here are 3 or 4 hundred Vessels Freighted every year with Codd and Poor John.

Thus much of the American Islands. And also of all the Islands throughout the whole Universe.

Certain

Df Trabel.

Coyn.

Cartain Precepts and Observations for those that do intend to Travel.

Let him that intends to travil observe these Precepts.

In the first place let him solicite God daily for his protection, and let all his actions take beginning in him; let him omit no day wherein he offers not up his Orisons to God, for his gracious protection in his intended purposes: let him be sure to observe this well, to keep constant to his God, and he shall find him to be a special friend in his greatest extremity.

2 Let him have a special care before he go, to leave a careful Friend at home, that will keep credit with the Merchant that furnishes him with mony abroad, lest his Friend's ill payments at home drive him to wants abroad; and for an ordinary expence to one that will live moderately some 50 or 60l. sterling will serve to defray a Travellers Diet, and necessary Apparel.

3 For his outward necessaries, which are Cloathes, Books and Mony, let him carry no more with him than necessity requires. For his Apparel, let him not charge himself with overmuch luggage; and let him be sure in what Country soever he comes (unless he will make himself ridiculous) that his Cloaths be in sashion. For his Books let them be few or none, especially such as are prohibited, less upon suspition he be searched, (as they are at every Gate in Italy) he may bring himself into danger: Also for the more caution, let the Notes of his observations be taken in Ciphers or Characters; but provided that he bealwayes ready to give a sained interpretation. And for his mony, let him carry no more with him then will desray his charge unto the next place he is to have his Bill payd; and let him be wary he shew not any quantity at any time about him, since Thieves have commonly their Spies in all Innes, to enquire after condition of Passengers.

4 Let him also before he go learn some knowledge in the Art of Cosmography, for if he be ignorant of that, he will not know where he is, nor which soot to set forward: and also if he desire to learn the Language of each Kingdom, (that is in most use in his own Countrey) let him resort to those places where the best Language is spoken; those are Leipzick in Germany, Orleance in France, and Florence in Italy.

5 For his observations, when he cometh into each Kingdom let him observe the fruitsulness of each Country the commodity and rarity wherewith each Country aboundeth and is adorned: Let him observe the polity of each State, and therein the Courts of each King or Prince, with the Courtiers, Entertainments, Offices and Fees: Let him also observe the traffick of Merchandize, and the commodity they carry out, and most want, with their Havens, Roades for ships, and the value of ter

Of Travel.

Coyn in each Country, and the several current pieces.

Likewise in the Observation of any City, if the Traveller may without suspition, let him climbe up one of the highest Steeples, where having taken the situation of the City, he may, at his comeing to his Inn, draw the form of it.

6 Let the Traveller take these Precepts along with him: If he intend a journy to any place, let him take the seasonablest time of the year, and sittest time to Travel, which is Spring and Autumn and he shall do well to go to cold Climes in Summer, and hot Climes in winter: And if the journy he takes be long, let him not acquaint, no not his Companions nor Friends in his journey, the furthest end thereof, but rather from City to City, and profess he intends to go no further; and instead of the Companion, let him have alwayes fuch Books as may fitly accord with his Travels, which he may carry without danger.

Let him also when he comes to any City, enquire for the best Inne, especially in Germany, and also at night in Italy, for he may take a short Dinner at any Inn in Italy, so he lodge safe at night. In all Innes, especially in suspected places let him bolt or lock his Chamber Door; let him take heed of his Chamber-fellowes, and let him have alwayes his Sword by his side or his Bedside; let him lay his Purse under his Pillow, but alwayes folded with Garters or something he first useth in the morning.

7. Besore he takes any journy, is it be in the morn:

287 morning let him eat a small Breakfast, that ill smells may not offend him; and let him dine sparingly, lest his after noons motion hinder his digestion; but let him sup freely. The season of the year and nature of the Clime is to be respected in Diet; in cold Regions let him take hot com-Fortable things; and in Summer and hot Regions

let him take such things as will cool the Blood;

it is dangerous to drink when his body is heated, unless he sirst make water and wash his mouth;

and when he is heated, let him not fuldenly expose himself to cold. In the Inn let him have a care to dry his Feet or his Neck if he be wet, and it is not amis if he hath the skill.

8Likewise I advise a Traveller to be so wary wherever he comes, not to venture on any new thing, till the example of another give him confidence. Let him reprove nothing in another Mans House, much less in a Commonwealth; in which kind it is not amiss to seem dumb, or tongue-ty'd, so he diligently imploy his Eyes and Eares to observe all profitable things. Let him be courteous to all, especially to his Hoste, the Children, and his fellow sojourners in the House; but in all actions let baseness be shunned, and decency embra ced: If he apply himself to the custome of those amongst whom, he lives, he shall gain their loves. And as he ought, to be humble with decency. And without basens so in Germany he shall do well to feem losty, though not to be proud, where they will take a man to be of base condition, if he be too courteous and Officious.

o And

9 And as a Traveller ought to have a flow tongue, and his mind locked up, so let him have a clear and chearful countenance; let him speak sparingly, and feldom speak of his own Common wealth, or private Estate, or good qualitics; and let him take this for a general Rule, that nothing doth more preserve a Traveller out of dangers; or fooner deliver him in danger, than a moderate and discreet use of his tongue; let him shan a talkative companion, or not seem to hear their questions; let him not enquire after the secrets of Religion, nor desire to be present at those Rites. Also I advisea Traveller to avoid all combats or single Duels, especially in Italy, but if it be so that he must needs venture his body, let him provide means before hand how to escape after Vi-Clory.

10 To conclude, these things are very requisite in a Traveller; the eye of a Hawk (to see affar of) the Eares of an Ass, (to hear the lest whispering) the Face of an Ape, (to be ready to laugh in soothing) the Mouth of a Hog, (to eat what seever is set before him) the Back of a Camel, (to bear burthens patiently) the Leg of a Hart, (to fly-from all dangers) and a full purse to defray all.

charges liberally.